Petitioners gain signatures to ask for election

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

A petition circulated in the Quail Run — Valley Station area has more than enough names to ask for an election on annexation by Hoover, said Margie Rasey, a representative of the Quail Run — Valley Station Committee to Study Options.

The group expected to deliver the petition to Hoover city officials Wednesday, she said.

Rasey said the petition already had the necessary signatures, but that the group circulating the petition was trying to contact everyone in the area "as a courtesy."

An annexation election can be called when two voters from each quarter-quarter section along with owners of at least 60 percent of the property in question sign a petition calling for the election, according to Hoover City Attorney Jack Harrison.

A successful petition does not necessarily endorse annexation, but merely calls for an election, where annexation will be approved or disapproved.

Before the election, Hoover must decide if it wants to annex the property.

If Hoover decides to do so, the city sends the petition to the Shelby County Probate Judge's office. The probate judge verifies the legitimacy of the petition and calls the election if the petition is valid.

Even though the majority of homeowners in the subdivision may have signed the petition, there has been disagreement about the proposed annexation.

Supporters say annexation will bring more services and will be limited to the specific boundaries of the Quail Run — Valley Station subdivision.

Opponents say if people wanted more services, they should have moved to a city and that annexation of this area brings annexation closer to surrounding areas.

Some of the benefits of annexation offered by its supporters are improved police protection, garbage and trash service and donations to schools.

Questions have surfaced regarding what commitments Hoover could make to the subdivision and there is some confusion over exactly what services would be available at what charge.

William Billingsley, president of the Hoover city council, has said that the city can work out specifics with a group if both sides are seriously considering annexation.

Billingsley gave assurances that Hoover would not agree to annex any area if the city could not provide the same quality services it gives to the rest of its citizens.

A petition opposed to annexation of the Quail Run — Valley Station area by Hoover included names of 89 residents of adjoining areas and 17 residents of the subdivision. The petition was recorded in the Shelby County Probate Office July 1.

However, Harrison said, city officials naturally assume that all are opposed to annexation who do not say they are for it.

To be annexed, property must be contiguous to other property that is already a part of the city. Unless the Quail Run —

Valley Station area is annexed, property on the other side of it is not eligible for annexation.

But eligibility for annexation does not take away freedom of choice, Rasey said. The same procedure of petitioning and voting for or against annexation would apply if residents in the surrounding area chose to pursue annexation, she said.

The Hoover mayor, city attorney and president of the city council have all stated that Hoover's policy is not to try to force annexation on unwilling areas.

They have also said that See PETITION, Page A-2

Pelham inks pact for privatization of sewer system

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

An agreement reached last week between officials representing the City of Pelham and a private firm should bring additional sewerage service to Pelham by mid-1986.

The Governmental Utilities Services Corporation of the City of Pelham signed — after a week long negotiating process — a letter of intent with Parsons Municipal Services, Inc., a Pasadena, California firm that will bring a waste treatment system to the city.

Parsons will be joined in the privatization project by Engineering Science of Atlanta.

Privatization of sewer services means a private firm will build, operate and maintain a waste treatment system in Pelham. The city will contract with the firm through their representative, the Governmental Utilities Services Corporation, and must guarantee a certain number of customers for the system.

Members of the Governmental Utilities Services Corporation are appointed by the Pelham City Council.

Pelham Mayor Bobby Hayes said this week that the privatization agreement is "a gigantic step" for Pelham. "This will allow us to develop a tax base that the city can operate under because it makes all of the land in the city available for development."

Hayes also noted the sewerage service would be a positive note for many of the city's current residents who are experiencing problems with septic tanks.

The Pelham waste treatment project is scheduled to be handled in three phases, Hayes said.

The initial phase involves running a line from the intersection of Hwy. 119 N and I-65 along Hwy 119 until its intersection

Leeds bill resurfaces

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

A bill before the legislature that says Shelby and St. Clair Counties shall pay school taxes to Jefferson County for Leeds students doesn't worry superintendent Ellie Glasscox.

But the possibility of opening the door to a broader interpretation does concern him.

The reason a bill was introduced last year by Rep. Sonny Moore, and this year by Sen. Bill Cabiness, is to help students who live in the portions of Leeds which lie in Shelby and St. Clair Counties.

Without the bill, these students will have to pay tuition to attend Leeds' schools.

Glasscox said figures last year showed the county would have to pay a little over $500 for the Leeds students.

What concerns the superintendent is the possibility of a court ruling that the bill applied to other areas where the tax bite would be more severe.

One such area is Riverchase, now a part of Hoover, which may eventually establish its own school system.

Bicyclist injured in accident

A man riding a bicycle was injured in an accident with a large truck and trailer in Columbiana last Thursday. Charlie Edward Howell, a resident of Highway 47 South in Columbiana, was treated at the Shelby Medical Center emergency room and released the same afternoon. Howell was injured after his bicycle veered in front of a gravel truck on Highway 47 in Columbiana last Thursday afternoon. Chief Howell Horn of the Columbiana Police Department said the driver of the truck was not at fault. Howell may have had a dizzy spell which caused him to ride in front of the truck, according to emergency officials. Although the truck did not actually hit Howell, it appeared that a trailer attached to the truck knocked the bicycle from under him, they said.

Shelby County school enrollment increases by 300

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

There are nearly 300 more students in Shelby County schools than there were when school closed in May.

At least that was the case last Wednesday, when the enrollment stood at 13,180. However, Superintendent of Education Ellie Glasscox said he expects that number to climb.

Prior to the opening of school, it was predicted the increase would be between 300-500.

If the growth could have been spread evenly across the county, it wouldn't be so much of a problem, Glasscox said.

The fact that the growth is centered in already overcrowded schools in the north end of the county makes the situation more difficult, Glasscox said.

Inverness Elementary experienced a significant jump in enrollment. With 137 additional students, the school now has an enrollment of 780.

Pelham High School had the biggest increase, Glasscox said. Last Wednesday, the school had an enrollment of 1,040 — an increase of 160 over last year, with the possibility of more students coming in after Labor Day.

The high school was one of five schools in the county where portable classrooms have been moved in to accommodate the growth.

Glasscox said two units are already at Pelham and two more are being brought in.

Other schools where portable units have been added are: Columbiana Middle School, Montevallo Elementary School, each with one unit, and Riverchase and Thompson Elementary, each getting two units.

The superintendent said the central office is trying to locate two additional units. He said one may be needed for a special education class at Montevallo Middle School, and the other will be placed at Shelby Elementary, where a combined second and third grade class has grown too large and must be separated.

Even though schools in the northern part of the county were the ones hardest hit by the increase of new students, Glasscox said schools which didn't have any overall growth still had a spurt in kindergarten enrollment.

He said the area where enrollment increased the most was in the kindergarten program, which added nine additional units, bringing the total number to 44.

There also was an increase in special education units, the superintendent reported, with the tentative number of new units now at 11.

Glasscox said there were 743 teachers when school opened Aug. 26. But two kindergarten teachers and another elementary school teacher have been hired since then.

However, he doesn't expect the number of additional teachers to be more than five.

Piney Road to be widened

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The Shelby County Commission accepted an $8,000 check from Chambers Development Co. for the widening of Piney Woods Road off County Road 14 in Beat 12.

Subject to agreements still being worked out by County Engineer Gary Ray with residents over right-of-way, the county will widen the road by two to three feet of pavement and two feet of shoulder, Ray said.

The 16-foot road needs to be widened because of extra traffic that will be brought by a subdivision to be developed off the road, Ray said.

Sight distance improvements will also be made by cutting down two hills, he said.

About 12 homes are now located on Piney Woods Road, he said.

The road work, being financed by the developer of the subdivision, will be fit into the county schedule at some point after agreements with the residents have been finalized.

The commission also agreed to add another privately-financed project to its next list of work to be contracted.

If residents of a short, unpaved road off Highway 80 South fund paving, the county will base and prepare the road, Ray said.

Ray also reported that clearing of trees at the Shelby County Airport for visibility safety has been done.

In other business at last week's meeting, the commission:

- *hired tax assessor-elect Bob Thompson to work in the tax assessors office for the next month with a $1,000 salary to help prepare him to take office in October, and

- *set budget hearings for county departments for September 4 at 9 a.m.

TES PTO raising funds

The Thompson Elementary School Parent-Teacher Organization is making plans to kick off the annual fund-raising drive that last year brought 18 new Apple computers to Thompson Elementary.

The computers were purchased with monies remaining after the group fulfilled its commitment to the TES budget, PTO president India White said.

As in years past, the fund-raising effort will involve the sale of cookies and candy distributed by the D&S Candy Company. The sale this year will feature a new brochure with new cookie and candy offerings and new prizes available to the TES students who sell the cookies.

White said that the PTO's commitment to the Thompson Elementary School budget for the '85-'86 school year is $17,500. Should the proceeds from the fund-raiser exceed that goal, they would again be applied to some specific area of need such as the computer purchase.

TES students kicked off their sales campaign on Tuesday of this week.

Parents are asked to attend a kick-off this Thursday, Sept. 5, at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Bill

Another problem with the bill, Glasscox said, is that it isn't clear how the tax is to be figured. If it's based on a percentage of the tax from the area in question, which would include business, the county could stand to lose a large amount of tax money, Glasscox said.

Last year, Moore sponsored two bills to help the Leeds group. One would have allowed the students to attend Jefferson County schools, the other provided for the payment of taxes from the two counties in which they reside.

Glasscox said he went along with the bill allowing students to attend Jefferson County schools but fought the tax bill.

Now that the bills have been combined into one, the superintendent vowed to fight it too.

with US 31 then south from that intersection until the system ties into the city's current waste treatment lines.

Ground breaking for that project is scheduled for mid-December of this year with a projected completion date of May 1986.

Hayes said the initial phase will make the treatment system available to almost all of the commercial customers within the city and should begin quickly to spur economic growth.

Phase two of the project, with scheduled completion by December 1, 1986, should make waste treatment available to 90-95 percent of the city's residences.

Among the major subdivisions to be included in phase two are Brookfield, Cahaba Valley, Oak Mountain Estates, Chandalar, Indian Hills and Royal Oaks.

The final phase of the project will bring waste treatment to the area around Hunter's Glen subdivision in Deer Springs.

Hayes said a small waste treatment plant currently owned by the city would be physically moved into that area to provide services because running system lines into the area would be cost prohibitive.

The final phase is scheduled for completion by December 1987.

Petition

Hoover has made no decision on whether it wants to annex the area or not. When the city receives the petition, it will take up that question.

A study of the economic feasibility of annexation of property in Beat 12 says the city would lose money for 10 years.

Another objection to annexation of the area by Hoover is that much of Hoover is in Jefferson County.

County school system eligible for energy grant money

A program begun in the Shelby County school system a year and a half ago is beginning to pay dividends.

The school system is eligible for additional federal grant money as the result of energy audits that have been conducted in a number of schools.

An Aug. 30 news release from Sen. Jeremiah Denton's office reports a total of $17,870 of federal grant money available for the Shelby County school system.

The next step will be for the board of education to see if the money applies to the type of projects that have been defined in the audits and to determine if matching funds are available.

At the Aug. 20 board meeting, the board approved paying $2,400 to Energy Management Consultants for audits the firm conducted last year at approximately 14 schools.

The Department of Energy Institutional Conservation Program picked up $3,600 of the $5,000 bill.

If the federal agency had paid for schools where a previous audit had been conducted, the board's cost would have been less, said education superintendent Ellie Glasscox. However, the agency did not allow duplication.

Glasscox said another audit was done in schools which had been inspected in 1978 because the old audits are no longer valid. No work was done after the first audit, he explained, because funds were not available.

Even though this makes the board responsible for $2,400 of the audit cost, financial coordinator Jim Davis reminded board members the money is already on hand.

He said an energy conservation program that was conducted in the school system had resulted in a $2,500 savings which had been put aside to use for such a purpose.

"We hired Energy Management so we could be eligible for federal grant money," Davis said. "Now we're beginning to get it and I believe more is going to follow."

Crop insurance offered

September 30 is the last day to apply for crop insurance for barley and wheat in Shelby County, according to Richmond P. Morrow, a representative of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

Crop insurance covers unavoidable loss of production resulting from adverse weather conditions, wildlife, earthquake or fire.

"Three coverage levels (50, 65 or 75 percent) are available for insurance protection. Additionally, FCIC offers three optional price elections for valuing production lost or damaged," Morrow said.

A new crop insurance plan, called Actual Production History, is available this year to producers of wheat, barley and oats, in addition to corn, grain sorghum, peanuts, cotton, rice and other crops. Producers of these crops may now qualify for higher yield guarantees by proving their yield history. Rates have been developed to offer reduced premiums for producers with above-average yields.

"With the increased cost of producing a crop, it makes good sense to take a look at this new concept," Morrow said.

To find out more about the APH plan, producers should contact a local authorized agent. To select an agent, producers may check the list of agents at their local ASCH office. September 30 is the deadline for applications.

Hot Off The Press

by Jim Parks

Picks: so far so good

Bits and pieces from the editor's notebook...

If you don't count the scores, I'm five for seven on Parks Picks of county high school football games last week.

Six for seven if you don't count the Shelby Academy-Escambia contest which was cancelled twice because of Hurricane Elana. That game was to be played Tuesday night — barring any more storms — and my vote still stands on SA. You might think I already know the score because the paper comes out on Wednesday after the game; but remember, prestime is Tuesday afternoon and I made my prediction Monday night.

Congratulations are in order for last week's winners: Montevallo, Chelsea, Vincent, Thompson, Shelby County High and Warrior. Get the poop on each game, Page D-1.

This week my picks are:

•Shelby County over Briarwood Christian by 10.

•Tarrant over Calera by 3.

•Chelsea over Marion Institute by 14.

•Coosa Valley over Escambia

by 2.

•Montevallo over Pelham by 6.

•Shelby Academy over South Choctaw by 7.

•Vincent over Lincoln by 10.

I hope no one got a hernia trying to pick up last week's Reporter. It was our second largest edition of the year, containing a 48-page Football tab and a 40-page Shelby County Fair Catalog.

Sports Editor K.A. Turner worked hard on Football '85, and if you enjoyed it, let her know. Also, thank the advertisers for their support. Without them, none of this would be possible.

Also, everyone is invited to the fair in Columbiana next week. It runs Monday, Sept. 9, through Saturday, Sept. 14, and will feature various 4-H shows, a midway with rides, a beauty and talent contest and all the cotton candy you can stick on your face.

Kmart of Pelham placed third among 17 stores in the Muscular Dystrophy fundraiser this past weekend thanks to your support. The local store raised $2,147 of the $15,000 raised among Kmart stores in two area districts.

Also, a special thanks goes to the folks who sat in the dunking booth: District Attorney Billy Hill, Pelham Mayor Bobby Hayes, and councilmen Ken Maynard and Willard Payne.

I tried to test out a couple of new metal woods at Oak Mountain Golf Club Sunday. My wife gave them to me on our fifth anniversary. Said she hoped I got to use them before my sixth.

If Oak Mountain pro Benny Smallwood hadn't kept folks moving, I wouldn't have gotten to use them before my seventh.

There were more golfers there than you could shake a pitching wedge at. Rust began to set in on my driver as I waited to tee off.

I wondered where everyone from Mobile had gone during the storm...

Finally, Benny ordered a shotgun start. And when he pulled out his shotgun, we all started.

I was lucky, actually. I had the pleasure of playing with three folks who were no better than I, but teaming with them put me on the tee 30 minutes sooner.

The only trouble with playing in this situation is the guys behind you won't allow you time to hunt for lost balls.

One golfer even said it would be worth it to him to give someone a new ball and let him drop just to keep things moving. I searched my golf bag frantically for a couple of old balls with chips...

Golf is fun just about all the time, but Sunday was not the most relaxing experience I've ever had. In fact, my group didn't get in but eight holes before it got dark.

With the birdie I would have gotten on No. 9, my score was... Gee whiz, I seem to be out of space.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

Thanks for remembering...

You stop and you look back and you remember, the things that were and the things that are and the things you hope will come your way. And if you're wise you'll say Thank You, to God and to the folks who made your life worth living.

Through these four months since April we have been blessed by God who kept our world beautiful, and by dozens of friends whose little acts of love have meant so much.

So I want to say Thank You. And tell you, one and all, Amy is getting better and better, a little bit every day.

They had the school reunion last week. Dozens and dozens of boys and girls who passed through the halls of Shelby High came together in Birmingham to take a night off to remember.

I don't know how much fun they had. I guess they had bushels of fun. I don't know how much they remembered. I'd suppose they remembered hundreds of half-forgotten moments. I don't know how the years have treated them. I'd guess they have traveled first class all the way. I don't know how many little things they did, down through the years, to make life brighter for someone. I'd wager they stopped to smell the roses and listen to the bluebirds.

But this I do know. They took time off to send a beautiful gift to an old gink who couldn't be there. The gift is lovely. And the words makes a fellow proud.

So I want to say Thank You. To Ruth Kite and Joyce Seale Meshad and Gladys Martin Sawyer and Arthur Davis, Allie Claire Cooper Dorough and Betty Lyon Rush and Tyler Fancher Lansford for making the whole thing possible.

The weekly Good Morning column written by Milton Bird is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member FDIC.

Shugart appointed Calera postmaster

Franklin F. Shugart was installed as the new postmaster of Calera August 28 in a ceremony attended by his family, friends and co-workers.

Shugart's appointment as postmaster was effective June 22, and he has been working in the Calera post office for about a month and a half.

Before coming to Calera, Shugart was officer-in-charge at Pelham.

Shugart began his career with the postal service as a letter carrier in Birmingham in 1966.

From 1979 until 1982 he served as a supervisor at Irondale, Woodlawn and at the main office in Birmingham.

Shugart described himself as "customer-oriented" and said courteous service will be his main priority.

"I intend to make Calera the best post office. I just want it to be number one," Shugart said.

He invited customers to come to him for help with any postal problems.

Charles D. Moore, sectional center manager for over 200 offices in Alabama and postmaster of Birmingham, administered the oath of office to Shugart.

Shugart and his wife Jackie have two children, Roger and Kelie, and three grandchildren.

He replaces Betty McGowan, who transferred to Texas.

SMC trustees approve budget

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

A budget calling for $19,402,867 for operating expenses and $437,000 for capital equipment was approved by the Shelby Medical Center Board of Trustees at an August 27 meeting.

The expected gain from operations is $27,143.

Expenses have been held at or below last year's levels, said Keith Heartsill, assistant administrator of finance for the hospital.

No reduction of personnel has been budgeted, he said.

Board members also approved a four-year plan to return property taxes improperly paid to the hospital in 1980 and 1981.

About $42,000 in total will be paid in annual installments, beginning this October, Heartsill said.

The board asked management to change the hospital's professional liability coverage from St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co. to the Alabama Hospital Insurance Trust to save money.

A report from the finance committee cited the difference in premiums for the coming year as $130,000.

The board advised hospital management to seek the best plan in other insurance categories.

Members also made changes in the SMC pension plan to comply with changes in federal pension law.

The changes are positive for employees, Heartsill said. The eligibility age to enter the pension plan was lowered from 24 to 21 and one-half, the amount of hours to be counted as a year's service was reduced and the length of permissible leaves-of-absence were extended, he said.

The board also changed its September 24 meeting from 7:30 p.m. to noon.

Farm bureau makes award presentations

The Shelby County Farm Bureau annual meeting was held at the Columbiana Farm Bureau Building with 75 members attending a covered dish supper.

Certificates were awarded to Staci Bearden, Tad Atchison, Janice Tucker and Joe Smith for attending the Youth Leadership Training Seminar.

Special recognition was paid to winners in the Women's Sewing Contest, including first place winner in the children's division, Renee Kennedy. Lorene Hughes, who modeled in Huntsville in the adult division, attended.

Congratulations were given to the 4-H winners at local, state and national levels. John Jones thanked the Farm Bureau for its support of the 4-H program.

Terrell Guthrie noted that of the 2,000 campers at the 4-H center this summer, 50 counties were represented.

"This would not be possible without the support of so many of the farm groups," he said.

Grant Gober, the Shelby County Extension Coordinator, encouraged all the farmers to use the new computer which is tied in with Auburn University. He recommended the computer be used at nights and on the weekends when the lines are not as busy.

Crowning of the new Miss Agriculture and the talent winner was changed to Saturday, September 14, to allow more people to enter the contest.

Steven Peoples, Young Farmers president, invited young farmers in Shelby County to participate in his group.

Joel Bearden was re-elected president. Other officers elected were vice presidents Douglas Kent and Randall Morris and secretary Nina Kent.

Plott: Shelby County football on record

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

In the fall of 1988, Bill Plott, a "cub reporter" for the Anniston Star, was assigned to cover a high school football game between the Lineville Aggies and the Shelby County Wildcats.

In what Plott remembers as a very exciting ballgame, the Lineville team sent their visitors back to Columbiana with a 21-13 loss.

"That snapped Shelby County's 45 game winning streak," Plott said. "I never thought then that I would be in Shelby County or writing about that team."

In the fall of 1985, Bill Plott,

Director of Information Services at the University of Montevallo, published the Shelby County Football Record Book. The book recounts and preserves the history of football in Shelby County. A history in which, fittingly enough, one of the first teams Plott ever wrote about figures significantly.

William J. Plott gained a degree in journalism from the University of Alabama in 1965 and immediately went to work, first for the Anniston Star then the Tuscaloosa News and finally for the Montgomery Advertiser. Bill Plott was what the profession terms a "hard news" writer, covering governmental and general assignment beats. But Plott — a self-professed 90-pound weakling who played only a little basketball in high school — loved sports. To make a little extra "coffee money", Plott would finish his news duties then freelance as a sports writer.

As he covered sports, Plott began to love sports. He also began to take an interest in local sports history and in sports records.

"It was just something that grew and grew," Plott said. "I remember wondering at those early games who won the same game last year. So one day, I decided to look it up and see."

That decision, made almost two decades ago now, has provided Plott with a life-long hobby. It has also provided football fans of first Calhoun and now Shelby County with a football record book that, in Shelby County's case, traces football to the turn of the century.

Except for a two-year stint as the Advertiser's executive sports editor, Plott has never been a full-time sports writer. But that did not stop him from spending more than 200 hours in research for the Shelby County record book or compiling a personal file that he now feels includes something about almost every football playing high school in the state.

"I couldn't enjoy working in sports full time because I had too much contact with too many people who took it too seriously," Plott said. "It quit being fun for me."

Plott came to Montevallo in 1980, and was so tired of sports that he didn't watch a high school football game — his second favorite sport behind baseball — that year. But the next fall that rolled around found Plott back at the small-town football fields again. It was easy for him to remember that special atmosphere created, he said, when a town gets behind its team.

Memories, after all, are a large part of what Plott tries to preserve.

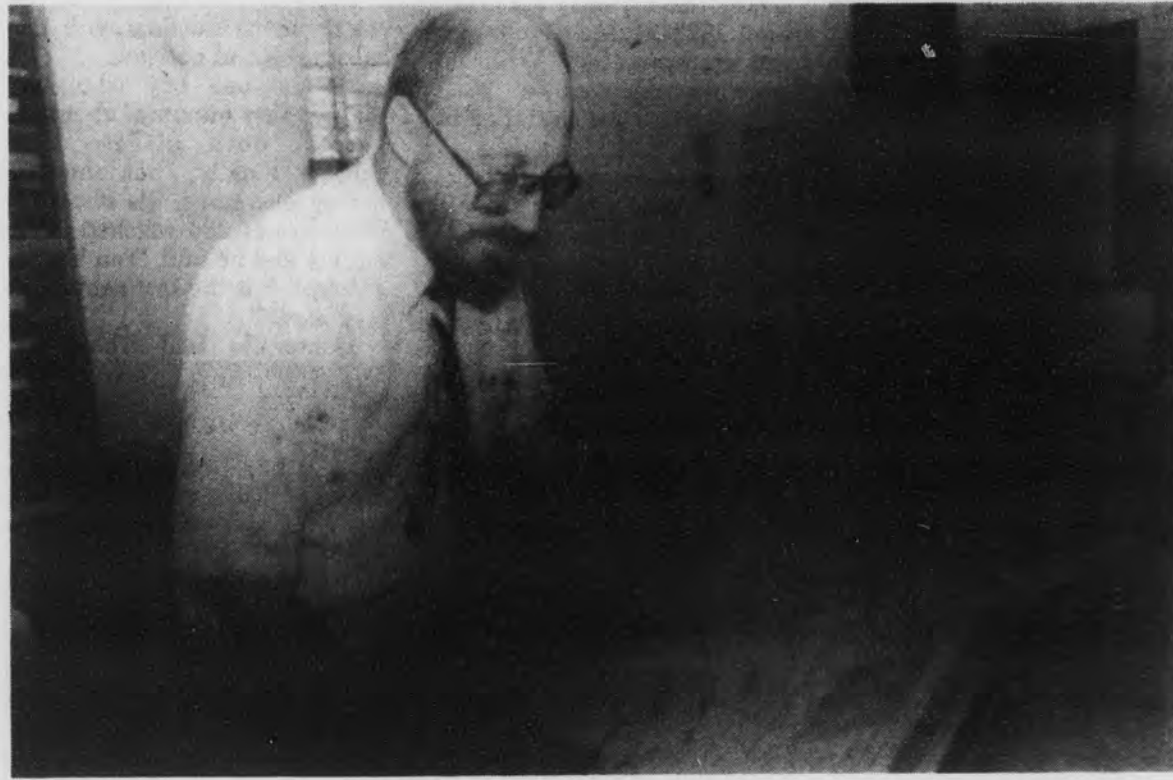

"My memory is terrible," Plott admits and surmises that it could be a motivating factor in his desire to preserve sports history for everyone.

Plott did some initial work on the Shelby County project two years ago, but found the task was going to be larger than the amount of time he could dedicate to it.

Work started again in earnest this spring, and Plott's finished product was delivered last week to the high school boosters at Montevallo, Thompson and Vincent who will sell it for $3 each as a fundraiser.

"I've spent a lot of hours on this thing," Plott said. "I just hope the people enjoy it."

"Anyone who writes does it for two reasons, to inform or to entertain," Plott added. "I hope this can do both."

Although Plott does have other interests — community theatre and coaching his six-year-old daughter's t-ball team among them — collecting sports facts in a major portion of Plott's life.

"When other people watch TV I'm pouring over old notebooks," he said. "It's a good thing my wife has at least a little interest in that sort of thing."

His wife, Nancy Wiltach, is a journalist as well.

Maybe that makes her a little more understanding on the days when Bill Plott's record books are also his favorite companions.

From the Shelby County Football Record Book

Football came to Shelby County on Nov. 1, 1912, when Shelby County High School was defeated by the Sylacauga Aggies, 44-0. A brief account of the game in the People's Advocate cited a player named Christian as playing well for Shelby County.

The following week the county's first notable football injury occurred when Tierce Milstead, the son of Rev. H.M. Milstead, suffered a broken arm "between the wrist and the elbow." That came in a 57-0 loss to the Howard College reserves.

No other results have been found for that first season, nor has the name of the coach turned up. However, in 1913 it is known that Paul O. Luck was the coach and Shelby County's record was at least 4-1-1, with the apparent first win in the school's history coming in the opener against Sylacauga. Shelby County won the game 21-13.

Shelby County remained the only high school in the county with a football program until 1928, enjoying mostly winning seasons. The most notable was probably 1923.

Led by Coach Carl Barclay the Wildcats put together a 7-1-1 record, losing only to the Birmingham-Southern College reserves, 3-0. The tie was a scoreless battle with powerful Simpson of Birmingham. The field goal by the BSC reserves was the only score made against the Wildcats all year.

The remarkable performance earned Shelby County a berth in the first state playoffs ever held in Alabama. Four teams were selected to participate on the basis of regular season performances. Shelby drew Cullman in the opening round and lost, 7-0, to the eventual state champion.

Shelby County went from that extraordinary season to the disbanding of its team five years later. Ironically, the temporary discontinuance of the team came at the time the second Shelby County football team arrived. Shelby had no team apparently from 1928-30 due to economics and transportation. When the sport was resumed the Shelby County Reporter said football had been discontinued a few years earlier because "bus students could not remain after school for practices and also the fact that the last season of football left the school in debt a little more than three hundred dollars."

The second county school to pick up football was Vincent. There is evidence of a football game being played in Vincent as early as 1920, but it was apparently a town team rather than a high school team.

Paul W. Jones was the first college-trained coach at Vincent, succeeding Fred Ballenger who had started football there the year before.

Jones recollections included the following:

"I was 18 years old when I started coaching at Vincent. Half the boys on the team that first year were older than I was, but I had a wonderful time."

"We had no school buses or anything like that. The year I started there was one horse-drawn wagon over at Thompson that picked up about 15 or 20 kids and that was the only public transportation. I had a little car and the principal had a car and we'd get one or two others, pile into them and to go the games."

"All of the games were played on open fields. Nobody had a stadium at that time. Fans just stood on the sidelines with the substitutes and coaches."

"I had one boy who had played every minute of about six games, both offense and defense. Finally, I took him out during one game. He stood on the sidelines and watched for a minute and he said, 'You know, coach, this is the first game I've ever seen!'" added football next, the former in 1930 and the latter in 1932.

Montevallo's first team was coached by Leon Hicks and the Bulldogs made their first debut with a 31-6 loss to Piper-Coleman High of Bibb County. Montevallo got its first known win the following year, 32-0, over Shelby County.

Thompson fielded its first team in 1932 under Coach J.T. Greene. The Warriors played their first game ever against Shelby County and lost, 40-0. Later that year they got the school's first win ever, defeating Ridge Grove High of Chambers County, 19-0.

"This is the first year that Thompson High School has ever had a football team," commented a newspaper article on Thompson's first game in 1932, "and in view of the fact that ninety percent of the boys had never seen a game, their showing was highly complimented by a large number of Columbiana people who saw the game."

The years after World War II saw the eventual growth of football-playing school from eight (twelve counting private schools and black high schools later closed by desegregation). The post-war years also saw Shelby County schools become state powers in several classes.

The fifth school to take up football was Calera, adding the sport under Coach Brittan Waters in 1950. Calera's debut was a 41-0 loss to Montevallo, but it also got its first win that same year, defeating Jemison, 14-0.

Chelsea added football in 1967 under Coach Richard Conkle, who returned as head coach last year after several years' absence. Chelsea lost its first game to Sand Rock, 34-0, but also got its first win that year, defeating perennial state power Notasulga, 20-12.

One of Chelsea's losses that first year was to Glenn Vocational High School of Birmingham, 19-7. It was an historic occasion as Glenn broke a 42-game losing streak that Friday night, a state record that has

PODIATRY CARE

There is no need to live with painful bunions.

Bunions are painful and ugly. They affect over two million Americans young and old. Some have suffered for 20 or 30 years from this painful, disfiguring outgrowth of bone at the inside of the big toe.

Until recently relief from bunions meant major surgery in a hospital under general anesthesia, following by 5 to 14 days of hospitalization and lost time from work and relaxation for up to two additional months.

Many people are walking—and even running—today who have utilized this new surgical procedure to relieve the pain and suffering associated with bunions. Older persons are especially excited about this new surgery since it requires no general anesthesia and heals so much faster. Since the surgery is accomplished through a small incision, there is much less pain afterwards because the normal anatomy of arteries and nerves is barely disturbed.

Not only does this surgical procedure drastically reduce the time lost from work and other pursuits of life, (which has kept many from obtaining needed relief), but insurance companies like it too. The operation can be performed at ALABAMA PODIATRY CARE, usually in less than 30 minutes, and does not require the costly hospitalization needed for the traditional surgical procedure. The patient can recover in the comfort of his or her home environment and the new technique requires fewer follow-up visits. Pain medications are less likely to be needed and the reduced anxiety of recovering at home speeds the healing process.

AU student Jamie Brasher travels, studies

Jamie Brasher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Brasher, was among those who participated in an eight-day travel-study program called "Researching Design in New York," August 24-September 1. The travel program was sponsored by the Department of Consumer Affairs of Auburn University where she is majoring in fashion merchandising.

The major focus was the study of fashion merchandising in the retailing center of the world. The retailing chain was followed from a fiber producer through to a buying office to major retail outlets. The program included visits to a designer's studio and product development workrooms.

Important costume, decorative arts and textile museum collections were viewed. Students met people behind the scenes: designers, executives, managers, coordinators and buyers.

Time devoted to serious study was balanced with free time for independent activities, sightseeing and theatre visits.

pete in the state's largest championship program.

The first team in Shelby County to ever to undefeated was J.W. Curtis' 1947 team at Vincent. The Yellow Jackets did it in an unusual fashion, winning six games and tying four. Vincent won the season's opener against Verbena, then tied Shelby County, Oak Grove, Montevallo and Talladega County (Lincoln) in succession before winding up the season with five straight wins.

Vincent's somewhat peculiar undefeated team started Shelby County schools in the trail to a number of perfect records. Vincent added another in 1971. Chelsea had perfect marks in 1972 and 1973, Calera in 1974 and 1981, Montevallo in 1960 and 1977, and Thompson in 1972, 1976 and 1982.

The 1960 Montevallo team won Shelby County's first state championship by finishing on top in the Birmingham Post-Herald's poll.

Thompson's last undefeated team went 14-0, winning the then-Class 3A state championship under Coach Larry Simmons. That is also the most games ever won by a county school in one season.

Shelby County High has had the most undefeated teams with five. Last year's team that went 12-0 under Coach Ricky Seale before losing in the third round of the state playoffs is still fresh on the minds of most fans. But Shelby County's other four undefeated teams are just as remarkable.

The other four were all in a row from 1962-65. When you throw in four games at the end of the 1961 season and one at the start of the 1966 season, the result is a 45-game string without a loss. The only blemish on the streak was a tie with Lineville in 1964. Lineville also broke the streak with a 21-13 win in 1966. All except the very last win in the streak were under Coach Don Bulger.

The Alabama High School Athletic Association started its state playoff program in 1966. Since then county schools have made twenty-four appearances in the state playoff. That's an average of almost two schools per year making the playoffs. It's a record that few other counties can match.

Montevallo Police Chief Allen Needham
...rides for the blue

Montevallo police chief likes show ring

Montevallo Police Chief Allen Needham and Duke's Red Rooster always try for a blue when they enter the show ring. And that's what Needham was hoping for at the Montevallo Band Boosters' Labor Day event in Orr Park.

But even if the 11-year-old Racking Horse stallion didn't win the class, Needham said he would be happy if the horse worked to his satisfaction.

"The judge doesn't always see things the same as you do," Needham observed, "and you're in for a lot of frustration if winning is all that matters. Of course I want to win, but I mainly ride for the enjoyment of it."

However, the police chief has gotten a lot more than enjoyment in the years he's been showing. At his home in Chelsea, Needham has bushels of ribbons and boxes full of trophies he's collected from show ring appearances.

At the Montevallo Band Boosters' annual Labor Day event, Needham planned to ride Rooster in the open class, and either he or his son Ricky were going to show his seven-year-old stallion, Duke's Double Image in the Men's Racking class.

Another entry from Needham's farm at the Montevallo show was a two-year-old filly named Duke's Mary Kay - a newcomer to the show ring.

Still another entry, and a consistent winner, was seven-year-old gelding Society's Entertainer, ridden by Needham's wife Mary in the ladies' class of the show.

Although winnings don't cover the cost of showing a horse, and many hours of training have to be put in after Needham gets off work, the police chief still insists that he gets a lot of pleasure from showing.

School board buys N Shelby site on 119

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

The Shelby County School System is one step closer to acquiring a new middle school site in North Shelby County.

At the Aug. 20 board of education meeting, approval was given to pay $20,000 in earnest money for approximately 40 acres on Cahaba Valley Road. The total price of the land is $480,000.

Earlier in the summer, the board had agreed to take a 60 day option on the site which is part of a larger tract owned by the Sorrell family.

Education superintendent Ellie Glasscox told the board that studies have been done to make sure the property is suitable for school construction.

Because of the continued growth in the North Shelby area, Glasscox said the site also will lend itself to the construction of an elementary school at a later date.

"It's geographical location is ideal," Glasscox said of the land located about a half mile southwest of the intersection of 119 and County 14.

Even though the land is costing $12,000 an acre, Glasscox said the board needs the property. Since the zoning is A-1, it does not need to be rezoned for school construction.

The superintendent also mentioned that two sites in the 280 area are being considered as possible locations for a new high school.

However, in another area of the county, a new high school is closer to reality. Glasscox said bids on the new Thompson High School may be taken in December.

At the last board meeting, architect Al Dampier gave the board an update on building plans. Depending on materials, he said building costs would amount to $5.8 million or $6.3 million.

Dampier said the 140,000 square feet of floor space in the new one-story building now includes 53 classrooms 800 square feet in size, a room for business education subjects, several laboratories, a centrally located library, a bandroom, a gym with a seating capacity of 1,800 and a 700 seat auditorium.

As the board examined the plans, the superintendent pointed out that corners had been cut where possible while still serving basic needs.

In order to be prepared for a larger student body than the school presently has, Glasscox said plans allow a 25-30 percent increase in enrollment.

The new school site is located behind Southwind subdivision between County Roads 26 and 264.

Glasscox expressed optimism that the school might be finished in time for the beginning of the 1987 school year.

Festival set at Brierfield

A variety of sounds will fill the air on Saturday, Sept. 7, at the Brierfield Ironworks Park.

Beginning at 11 a.m., the high pitched drone of chainsaws will be heard during the 3rd annual Forest Festival and Woodman Competition, and at 7 p.m. an old-fashioned country singing featuring the Primitive Quartet will take place.

Sponsored by the Brierfield Fire Department, the Forest Festival includes equipment displays such as skidders and knuckle-boom loaders, a log loader competition and three categories of chainsaw contests, precision, speed-cut and hot saw.

From North Carolina, the Primitive Quartet sings gospel and spiritual songs in the original mountain style using mandolin, bass fiddle, banjo and guitar.

Admission for the singing is $3 advance and $4 at the gate. Kids 12 and under are admitted free.

Throughout the day and night, the Brierfield Fire Department will offer barbeque and other concessions.

The Brierfield Ironworks Park is located seven miles south of Montevallo just off Alabama Highway 25.

For more information on the Forest Festival, call Bill Brown at 665-1881 or 665-2382. For information on the singing, call the park at 665-1856 or call 926-4433.

Take a hike at the library

by Nancy Woosley
Shelby County Library System Director

As temperatures at night cool down and a "hint" of autumn weather can be felt in the air, thoughts turn to the pleasures of the outdoors amidst the colors of warm golds, bright oranges and brilliant reds.

The beauty of clear blue skies and "nippy" breezes invite strolls along woodland trails and serious cross-country hikes. The outdoors provide potential enjoyment for individuals of all ages.

Explore some of the possible attractions in a variety of publications found in the public libraries of Shelby County.

Colin Fletcher, considered by many as the most eloquent, authoritative and readable writer on the subject of backpacking, has published a complete revision of his famous book that Field and Stream has called "The Hiker's Bible."

Updated and enlarged, the Complete Walker III is filled with the sound advice and realistic suggestions on equipment and gear, clothing, campsites, food and trail dangers like snakebite and poisonous plants. A sense of the mystique and the solitary challenges of hiking is supplied in a guide tempered by Fletcher's wit and rustic humor.

The Sierra Club is well known for its defense of the nation's environment and wilderness areas. Walking Softly in the Wilderness emphasizes the importance of minimum-impact camping techniques for fragile wilderness areas as well as discussing basic equipment, skills and preparations for hiking trips.

This Sierra Club book devotes attention to cross-country travel, winter snow hiking, camping with children and illnesses related to backpacking. There are excellent sections on caring for equipment when not in use, a point often overlooked in other works.

Local residents are fortunate to have well-blazed trails nearby at Oak Mountain State Park. Park authorities request that hikers register with them in case emergency situations arise.

Other state and national parks throughout the United States also present opportunities to savor the beauty of each region.

A review of Rodney Albright's Walks in the Great Smoky Mountains or Tennessee Trails by Evan Means will reveal a number of quality southeastern trails.

Heading west? Take a look at Hiking the Big Foot Country or the Guide to the Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

For those who desire a little more challenge, the Appalachian Trail Conference has published detailed guides for each segment of the Appalachian Trail, from Georgia to Maine.

The Blue Ridge Parkway was the result of a 1930s WPA project to preserve and encourage appreciation for the scenic wonders of these mountains and valleys.

David Catlin has produced a lively and compact on-the-spot guide to the region's features in A Naturalist's Blue Ridge Parkway. Photographs and drawings help identify special points throughout in addition to reviewing geological history and natural inhabitants.

Expanding on this approach somewhat, the Audubon Society's Field Guide to the Natural Places of the Mid-Atlantic States presents additional areas of interest for exploration.

Walk around to the nearest local library to start plans for that next outdoor adventure, or call ahead to identify materials on a particular region of interest. For further information, call the Mildred B. Harrison Regional Library at 669-3171.

Pantherettes get bowl bid

by Margaret Bishop
special to the Reporter

What does the NFL Super Bowl and Pelham High School have in common? This year, quite a bit!

Eleven members of the Pantherette Dance Team will be part of a nationally recognized dance team which will be featured at January's Super Bowl in New Orleans.

The dance team, known as the American All Stars, is made up of outstanding dancers from all over the United States.

Pelham High is the only school in Alabama and one of only 10 schools in the country to have 11 dance team members selected as All Stars.

The 11 Pantherettes were chosen this summer and have been busy ever since preparing for what promises to be an exciting year.

In October, they will travel to New Orleans where they will join other team members in a special performance at the Tulane University Homecoming game to be held at the Superdome.

Special activities in October also will include rehearsals, costume fittings, more rehearsals, a special luncheon and photo sessions and press conferences - all in preparation for the Super Bowl.

In January, the All Stars will return to New Orleans as guests of the NFL for Super Bowl Week. On Super Bowl Sunday, they will present the Twentieth Anniversary Pre-Game Extravaganza which will also include introductions of all the former Most Valuable Players from the previous Super Bowls.

In addition to their activities with the All Star dancers, the 11 Pantherettes will continue to perform with their team at school and community functions.

American All Star Team members selected from the Pelham Pantherettes include: Melanie McDanal, Teresa Fraser, Julie Clarke, Beth Parker, Dava Bishop, Kristen Wright, a 1984-85 All Star and a 1985-86 All Star staff member, Tammy Gafnea, Carmen Cleveland, Jennifer McRoy, Angela Newman and Kimberly Wright, also a 1984-85 All Star member.

As team sponsor, I worked with the girls all summer getting them ready for the All Star tryouts and am continuing to work with them, preparing them for their current performing season.

In October, I will accompany the girls chosen as All Stars to their first performance in New Orleans.

The Pantherettes are a comparatively young team of very talented dancers, who this year have a lot to be proud of already.

On the average, they practice more than 10 hours a week together as a team perfecting their routines. They are a credit to Pelham High and the community as a whole.

In competition this summer, the Pantherettes were rated superior plus, which earned them an invitation to the Southeastern Regional competition to be held in December.

With 11 All Stars this year, the team promises to be an outstanding in the future, and next year's goal will be to place all 24 team members on the national dance team.

Featured dancers

Students in TES program digest books

by K.A. Turner
 Staff Writer

Eight-year-old Natalie Williams learned something interesting in a book she read this summer.

"This book is about two friends who find out girls can do anything," Natalie said of the book Girls Can Be Anything. "Girls don't have to be nurses, they can be doctors."

Enriching and mind-expanding experiences — that is what the ERC parents support group at Thompson Elementary School designed their summer reading program to provide. In Natalie's case — and others — that is apparently what happened.

Of the 60 students involved in the TES Enrichment Resource Center program, over 50 percent were involved in a summer reading program designed and sponsored by the ERC Parents Support Group at TES. Twenty of the students read the 15-book minimum — chosen from an approved reading list — required to win an award at summer's end.

Skip Coulter, chairman of the committee that designed and implemented the program, said that students were urged to read for comprehension then developed language arts skills when they wrote brief reports on each book read.

"Three men boarded the Abraham Lincoln in search of a sea monster," wrote Will

Tucker heads emergency services agency

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is part of a series about Shelby County government and the services it provides.

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

Anyone who needs help to protect property or life can turn to the Shelby County Emergency Management Agency, formerly the Civil Defense Agency.

The agency has provisions to cope with problems ranging from natural disasters such as floods and storms to spills of hazardous materials and nuclear attack, said Bill Tucker, director and coordinator.

In the event of a nuclear attack, the federal government has surveyed each county for the buildings that offer the best shelter and given the information to local emergency management officials.

Industrial buildings with large basements are best-suited as emergency shelters, Tucker said.

The southern part of the county is designated as a crisis relocation area, he said.

"If higher authorities suspect nuclear weapons might be dropped, we would start moving people out of known target areas," Tucker said.

North Shelby County is listed along with Birmingham as a low priority target area because of industry, he said. Residents of these areas could be moved to the southern part of the county in a nuclear emergency.

The civil defense office building itself, a structure partially underground, could serve as an emergency operations center. In case of a serious emergency, the local government would be operated from that building.

More commonly, the building serves as a haven for county residents, especially those from nearby mobile homes, in stormy weather.

During tornado warnings and other severe weather, the building opens. In a bad ice storm about five years ago, 50 people came.

The civil defense building is the first shelter to open, with others being opened if needed. In an emergency, people should call to see if it is full and, if so, find out where else to go for protection. The number is 669-6091.

When going to a shelter, people should remember to bring prescription medicines. Although emergency medical technicians may be on hand, medical services are not as readily available, Tucker said.

People can take precautions to protect themselves by taking warnings seriously and watching for bad weather.

A relatively inexpensive way to keep up with bad weather is to purchase a weather radio which alarms for about $40, Tucker said.

One of his tasks is coordinating assistance. If a tree falls and is blocking a road, people can call Tucker and he will arrange for highway workers to move it.

He invites people to call his office with questions and to check with him about any dangerous situations.

Tucker stressed that he cannot offer help if he is unaware of a problem, saying that people sometimes complain that the county offered no aid in cases where it was not asked for beforehand.

Along with weather-related problems, the office must deal with the danger of exposure to hazardous materials.

About six months ago, a pipeline ruptured near Sterrett, spilling about 400 gallons of gasoline, he said.

The first move was to stop incoming traffic because a cigarette tossed out a window could have ignited the spill.

The nearest house was evacuated and incoming trains were cautioned to move through slowly and carefully.

Crews from the pipeline company helped with cleanup and the worst damage was that the fish in a nearby creek died, Tucker said.

In another case, the office worked with Jefferson County emergency officials to find some people lost in a canoe on the Cahaba River. They were supposed to meet friends at a designated bridge, but fortunately, were waiting safely...at the wrong place.

Tucker and Office Manager Annette Martin are the only employees of the Emergency Management Agency.

Whenever help is needed, however, there is no shortage of volunteers, he said.

He praised the 17 volunteer fire departments in the county.

Tucker keeps a list of owners of four-wheel drive vehicles who have offered to help if assistance is needed in places not easily accessible.

The Shelby County Amateur Radio Club is especially helpful because communication of emergencies is a problem. There are no warning sirens operated by the county, although some cities have them, Tucker said.

Law enforcement and emergency officials are also helpful and officials from other counties and from the state can be called if necessary, he said.

Tucker, who was born in Shelby County and returned around 1970 after 26 years in the Marine Corps, has headed the civil defense office since 1977. He lives south of Alabaster.

Annette Martin, office manager, also works with the planning commission and the solid waste department. She is a resident of Shelby.

SMC has speakers on health care topics

As part of a new "awareness campaign," Shelby Medical Center is offering a speakers bureau of health professionals for civic group meetings.

Physicians and dentists are available to speak on topics such as cardiology, hypertension, preventive medicine, pediatric dentistry and stress, said Steve Martin, SMC public relations director.

A slide presentation focusing on hospital equipment also is available.

SMC's cardiac catheterization lab, one of only about 20 in Alabama, the CT scanner which eliminates much exploratory surgery and the nuclear medicine department are part of the technology highlighted in the slide show.

"We tried to carry the theme of pride and community spirit, as well as to inform people about the hospital," Martin said of the presentation.

SMC will provide a meeting room at the hospital that can accommodate up to 100 people if organizations need it, Martin said.

The slides will be shown at the Shelby County Fair in Columbiana at SMC's booth.

A medical staff directory, brochures and other hand-outs will also be available at the booth.

Anyone interested in learning more about the hospital can call the SMC public relations department at 663-3546.

Retirees

Recent retirees from Shelby Medical Center were given plaques commemorating their service at a reception August 14. SMC Administrator C.L. Denton, left, and Nursing Administrator Brenda Carter congratulate retiring nurses Virginia Jones and Billie Glass, both of Calera, and Gladys Stinson of Wilsonville. Jones worked at SMC for 10 years, Glass for 20 years and Stinson for 11 years.

Valley School hosts ET event

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

ET came to Pelham August 24.

More than 80 emergency medical personnel gathered at Valley Elementary School on both Saturday and Sunday to attend ET, but it was not the little space creature that made millions for Steven Spielberg.

Instead, 80 people whose worth when an emergency strikes cannot be measured in dollars gathered for Emergency Training '85, a 16-hour continuing education course for all emergency medics.

ET '85 was sponsored by the Pelham Fire Department and coordinated by Lt. Danny Endress, director of Emergency Medical Services at Pelham.

It offered medics a chance to complete their continuing education requirements for the year in an intensive seminar setting rather than having to travel from one training course to another throughout the year.

EMT basics, intermediate EMTs and paramedics from throughout Jefferson and Shelby counties attended the conference lectures taught by local experts in several fields.

Offerings ranged from basic airway management to assessment of trauma patients to cardiac drugs and EKG with many offerings in between.

Jim Furhmeister, an assistant district attorney in Shelby County; and Chuck Taylor, a Pelham Police evidence technician; gave a lecture on the EMT and the crime scene.

Dr. Oliver Fletcher, a physician from Inverness who is a part of the emergency department at Lloyd Nolen Hospital, offered advice on reports and record keeping.

Charlie Warren, a paramedic instructor at UAB who is also a North Shelby fire-medical, lectured on cardiac problems.

"Through this weekend course, a medic could get everything he needed except CPR training," Endress said.

The Birmingham regional emergency services coordinator,

BREMSS, and Valley Elementary helped to co-sponsor the two-day training event.

Dale's Country Kitchen and Gardner's Bakery, both of Pelham, catered the food.

Shelby County medics attending the conference included persons from North Shelby, Pelham, Helena, Alabaster and Montevallo fire departments, SHELCO Fire and Rescue and Central Shelby and Hank's Ambulance Services.

School texts at Alabaster library

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

This is a catch-up year for textbooks," says Evan Major, the school system's textbook program coordinator.

Most years, new texts are selected for just one subject. This year however, texts are being considered in six subject areas: business education, career education, special education, music, drivers education, and foreign languages.

Although teachers in those subject areas will be reviewing the textbooks, the public can also see what publishers are offering for use in the schools.

The Albert L. Scott Public Library in Alabaster is one of the 23 libraries in the state where the books are being placed. Although boxes of the texts have been arriving at intervals, librarian Gail Smith said all of the books have not come in yet.

Lucille White, president of the Jefferson County South chapter of the National Organization for Women, said she found fewer than 200 of the 500 books at the Alabaster location.

But that was more than at the Georgia Road Library in Birmingham, she said, where there were only 80 books.

Public hearings on textbooks are held in the state office building in Montgomery in September, and the state textbook committee makes its selection in October, sending the list to the state board of education. The state board votes in December.

In January, school districts receive a list of books from which to choose.

Major said teachers from each school, who teach in the subject area, first review the books and make recommendations for final approval to a committee appointed by the board of education.

Although the state allocates a certain amount of money per pupil for texts, based on last year's enrollment, Major noted the money is never enough to furnish a text for each student.

Increased enrollment, inflation and other factors are reasons the allocation falls short, Major said. However, the local school board supplements the state's allocation so every student can have a book, Major said.

Elvin Hill Elementary School Principal Ann Head is chairman of the present textbook committee. Members are: teachers Donna Thornton, Vincent; John Draper, Pelham; Sherry Kellum, Thompson High School; Arthur Greenlea, Pelham; Orthenia Turner, Montevallo Middle School; Earl Niven, Chelsea, who is a parent.

New books

Annie Belle Payne, assistant librarian at the Albert L. Scott Memorial Library in Alabaster, unpacks school textbooks and puts them on the shelf for public inspection. The textbooks being considered for use in the school system next year are in six subject areas.

Wildcats score comeback win

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Shelby County High School Wildcats borrowed a page from an old script last Friday night.

As a result, the 'Cats gave new head coach Randle Cassidy a 12-6 win over the Pelham Panthers in the season opener for both teams.

Following the example set by Cinderella, SCHS team of 1984, Wildcat David Wood pulled in a touchdown pass from Chris Gould with less than 15 seconds remaining in the game to give Shelby County its winning margin.

"This is so much like last year," Pelham coach Kevin Crook said after the loss, alluding to the touchdown completion that gave the 'Cats an overtime win in 1984 season opener for both schools. "It's like a bad replay."

Though the 1985 script left the 'Cats playing the role of Cinderella once again, a strong first half effort by the Panthers did give Pelham fans a time to cheer as well.

"We do some things well then turn around and do others poorly," Pelham head coach Billy Tohill said. "But these kids are still working hard and they have an excellent attitude. They still want to be winners."

Cassidy, on the other hand, witnessed steady improvement in his Wildcats through the game, a fact that pleased him.

"It feels good to have some questions answered," he said early this week. "One thing we found out is that we do have an offensive line."

One of the critical areas of concern for Cassidy as he entered his first season with the Wildcats, the SCHS offensive line "improved on every series" of the opener. "You could just watch them gain confidence as the game wore on," Cassidy said.

In addition, Cassidy applauded the team effort his squad demonstrated in their win.

"It brought us closer as a team," he said. "It seems a different kid would come through in each crucial time."

Statistically, Ambrose Woods led the SCHS offense with 160 yards on 31 rushing attempts. Older brother David, whom Pelham coach Billy Tohill called extremely under-rated, scored both the Shelby County touchdowns, one on a fumble recovery and one on a seven-yard pass from Chris Gould.

Ira Underwood and Johnny Boose also had pass receptions for Shelby County. Underwood's converting a critical fourth down situation late in the ballgame.

Three critical turnovers — two interceptions and a fumble — hampered the Pelham offensive effort in the second period after Richard Croom staked the Panthers to a 6-0 halftime lead with field goals of 36 and 28 yards.

Tohill did see good play on defense, however, especially from linebacker Bret Jones.

Two young defensive ends, Carvis Jones and Paul Kellogg, also drew note from Tohill for their play as did noseguard Ronnie Fulton.

In addition, Tohill said, Tony Jeffers continued to exhibit consistent play especially on defense.

Cassidy found something in addition to an offensive line in the win over Pelham — a new nickname for his defensive unit.

"Our elastic defense was at it again," Cassidy said. "They would give and give and give then suddenly play take-away."

"They just played well as an over-all unit," he added, and cited interceptions by Tim Billingsley and David Wood as being among the big plays.

"We learned a lot coming from behind," Cassidy said. "I wouldn't want to have to do it every week, but we're taking these one at a time."

SCORING SUMMARY

Richard Croom converted first half field goal attempts of 36 and 28 yards to give Pelham a 6-0 halftime lead.

David Wood capped a long Shelby County drive early in the fourth period when he recovered a Wildcat fumble and advanced it 19 yards for a TD. The PAT failed.

Chris Gould connected with David Wood on a seven yard TD pass with 14 seconds remaining to give Shelby County a 12-6 lead and the win.

Montevallo blanks Calera 17-0

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Montevallo Bulldogs had some unusual defensive heroes following their 17-0 opening game shutout of the Calera Eagles last week.

But that was OK with MHS coach Richard Gilliam, who saw his team take out most of the run-and-shot from Calera's new pass-oriented offense.

"It's an unusual offense," Gilliam said. "You usually don't want your defensive backs to be the game's defensive leaders, but that is what happened."

Three interceptions by Slade Blackwell, a fourth by Danny Kelly and good tackling by Steve Spears, Sean Roberts and Andy Anderson were high points in the Bulldogs' defensive play.

Quarterback pressure from Demetrius Paschel, Tommy Layton, Bingman Shaw and Charles Townner and fumble recoveries from Shaw and Danny Fancher were instrumental in making sure the Eagles run-and-shot offense shot only blanks against Montevallo.

While Calera was able to mount some successful drives on the ground — largely through the scrambling of senior quarterback Mark Jones who had 91 rushing yards on the night — penalties, turnovers and quarterback sacks combined to keep the Eagles from striking it rich with their offense adopted from the Houston Gamblers.

"I'm not really disappointed in their effort, Calera coach Danny Alverson said. "We had ninth and tenth graders who played very well and we learned a lot about ourselves, not all of it negative."

Gilliam saw both positive and negative points in his team's offensive performance. While the Dogs were able to mount almost 300 yards in total offense and posted 17 points, four turnovers served to kill at least two Montevallo drives inside the Calera 20 yard line.

Charles Devinner led the MHS offense with 85 yards in 18 carries, one good for a touchdown. Youngster Albert Miller had the best average among Bulldog rushers, gaining 29 yards in only three attempts.

Gilliam cited the blocking efforts of guards John Mayhall and Charles Townner, tackle Chris Bowmar and fullback Sean Roberts as being factors in the success of the Montevallo ground game.

For Calera, youngsters Kenny Richardson, John Gilliam and Ray Ross earned Alverson's approval for their play in their first varsity games. In addition, Eagle seniors Joey Killingsworth, Erwin Jones, Mark Jones, Shane Schroeder, Byron White and Chuck Amos showed the kind of effort and field leadership Alverson expected of them.

Dove season is just around the corner, so now is the time to set up your shoot for opening day. In Alabama dove season is divided into two zones — North, where Shelby County is a part, and South.

The North zone will continue a split season this year. The first season opens Sept. 14 and runs through October 26. The second season runs December 14-30. According to Sam Spencer of the Alabama Game and Fish Division, dove season will open at 12 noon on September 14. The remainder of the season shooting may begin 30 minutes before sunrise and end at sunset. The South zone, which includes only nine counties (Baldwin, Coffee, Covington, Dale, Escambia, Geneva, Henry, Houston and Mobile) will have a straight season — October 5-December 3. Shooting may start at 12 noon daily and end at sunset.

BAITING...

There has been a lot of confusion as to what is legal in dove shooting. Baiting is not legal, but shooting over planted fields may be. I suggest you check with your local Conservation Officer. In my conversation with Spencer he explained that a natural planting was legal to shoot over. That would be, to the best of my knowledge, shooting over a field that had been planted and turned. In some cases — planted only. Some crops grow without turning, that would be a natural planting. Whether a field is legal or not may be a judgement call by the conservation officer.

If you are planning a dove shoot, it's best to have the local conservation officer visit the area several days before the date and give you a decision. It could be very embarrassing to receive a fine for something you thought was okay. Just remember this, for sure — cracked corn won't grow at all and corn on top of the ground won't either. By the way, ice cream salt is not a crop.

"Until next week it's been a little piece of heaven."

The final golf tournament of the season at Buxahatchee County Club also was one of the biggest as 85 golfers gathered in Calera to play the Ross Bob Mullins Memorial Tournament.

The tournament, sponsored annually by the First National Bank of Columbiana to benefit the athletic program at Shelby County High School, is named for a former bank president there.

Calera's Hugh Morrison shot a two-over par 73 to win the championship flight of the tournament.

Montevallo golfer David Minshew finished second with a 74, Calera's Dusty Ellison third with a 75, Alabaster's Tom Jungkind fourth at 75 and Birmingham golfer Jim White fifth at 76.

Birmingham's Milton White won the first flight of the tourney with a 74. A 76 brought Alabaster's Jim Shubert a second place finish, Calera's Bill Geeslin finished third at 77, and Columbiana golfers Charlie Tidwell and Henry Payne both shot 78 to finish fourth and fifth, respectively.

Columbiana golfers tacked down the top five spots in the second flight, Jim Alston winning it with a 79. Conrad Fowler finished second at 80, Kerry Nivens, third at 81 and Bob Bolton and Jim Bryant fourth and fifth at 82.

Columbiana's Terry Davis won the third flight with an 83. Reid Long of Alabaster shot an 84 for second place, then Columbiana golfers Beaver Mobley, Bob Upton and Jason Shaw finished third, fourth and fifth.

Alabaster golfers finished first, third and fourth in the fourth flight, Jack Zuiderhoek winning the flight with an 88. Randy Anderson and Buddy Glasgow finished third and fourth with 94s.

Columbiana golfers Homer Joiner and L.C. Franks finished second and fifth at 90 and 96.

Columbiana golfers also swept most of the fifth flight, Dana Vansant winning the top prize with an 89.

Charles Price, Jeff Jones and Frank Waldrop finished second, fourth and fifth, while the tournament's only woman golfer, Lois Blair of Calera, finished third with a 97.

Warriors trounce Jemison 26-7

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor
The Thompson Warriors survived early troubles and showed lightning-fast power in the middle rounds as they bested the Jemison Panthers 26-7 as the two high school football heavyweights battled in Alabaster last Thursday night. The Warriors and Panthers engaged in a slug-fest through two rounds of the season opener for both schools. "It was a real battle," THS coach Billy Woodham said following the win. "We were just lucky to be playing 22-25 people while their guys were going both ways."

The Warriors scored a quick jab early in the second period when Dana Washington hauled in a tipped pass from Shane Horrell for the Warriors first touchdown of the season. The Panthers answered quickly, putting together a run-pass combination that backed Thompson into the ropes and sent the Warriors into their halftime dressing room down 7-6.

Thompson turned the tide of the fight in the third period. The Warriors scored with a strong drive then followed with an interception and a second touchdown that effectively knocked Jemison out of the game. "We really got things together in the second half," said Thompson's Kevin Ballard. "We went straight at them in the third quarter and got them tired then we just got after them." Warrior Kevin Duke, who made an insurance TD reception in the fourth period, credited a halftime adjustment with the Warriors second half improvement on offense.

"They came out in a 5-2 defense instead of the 6-0 split we had prepared for," Duke said. "The coaches made some adjustments at the half and we were able to pass more effectively, especially using our roll-back pass patterns." "Our over-all effort was just better in the second half," added Dana Washington, who made two TD receptions and a big interception during the game. "We didn't play as well in the first half but our second half effort showed that this team has a big heart."

Woodham, as the THS defensive coordinator, was pleased with the improvement his unit made in the second half. "We hurt ourselves being out of position in the first half, but did a much better job as a unit in the second," he said. The efforts of defensive end Van Neal, tackle Mark Smith, and linebackers Kevin Ballard and Dennis Null caught Woodham's attention in a second half that saw Jemison mount only 50 yards in total offense. In addition, defensive backs Clarence Carter and Dana Washington — both of whom had interceptions — played well, Woodham said. Offensively, coach Barry Jones cited the play of his offensive line as a strong point in the game. "For a first game, the entire unit played well," Jones said. Their play enabled the Warriors to mount a balanced rushing attack with quarterback Shane Horrell, fullback Jimmy Frazier and tailbacks Demetrius Gaiters and Otis Bivins. Three of the four Warrior touchdowns came via the airways where Horrell completed seven of 13 tosses for three touchdowns. Dana Washington caught two of the scoring passes, Kevin Duke hauling in the third among his five receptions.

SCORING SUMMARY

Thompson scored early in the second quarter on a seven yard pass from Shane Horrell to Dana Washington. The PAT attempt failed. Jemison took a 7-6 lead when Merritt Bowden connected with Kenneth Underwood on a seven yard scoring pass, Bowden adding the PAT. Thompson scored twice in the third period on a 29 yard pass from Horrell to Washington and a 21 yard run by Horrell. Both PAT attempts failed. In the fourth period, Horrell hit Kevin Duke with a 25 yard scoring pass, Randy Littleton adding the PAT.

Horrell has big game

Thompson Warrior quarterback Shane Horrell (10) passed for three touchdowns and ran for a fourth in leading the Warriors to a win over Jemison in the season opener for both schools. The Thursday night game, which is becoming the traditional opener for Shelby County football action, attracted almost 6000 people to Thompson High School. (photo by K.A. Turner)

Elena puts SA on hold

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor
The Shelby Academy Raiders ran into a fast-moving, powerful opponent last weekend... and Elena won the battle. The class III hurricane that slammed into Alabama's Gulf Coast early this week with almost 130 mile per hour winds claimed as one of the least of her victims the Raider's scheduled game with Escambia Academy of Atmore. Complying with warnings from forecasters, Escambia cancelled the scheduled Saturday evening game early Friday morning, planning to play it Monday evening. Fickle Elena played a trick on the football planners, however, and waited until Monday to come ashore, thus causing yet another postponement of the scheduled opener for both schools. Because it is a region contest, the game must be played. Because it comes at the end of a two-year contract that may not be renewed, Escambia did not want to move the game to Shelby's home field. At press time Tuesday, the Raiders were scheduled to play in Atmore on Tuesday evening barring weather complications. The Raiders would then have only Wednesday and Thursday to prepare for their date with South Choctaw this weekend, while Escambia would have only two days to prepare for their date with Coosa Valley on Friday.

Riggins leads Vincent to victory

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor
In high school football coaching, a pleasant surprise is a rare treat. Vincent coach Harold Garrett was treated to a pleasant surprise in his Jackets' opener against Oak Grove, and he enjoyed it. "I have felt really good about this team and I felt good about the game going into it," Garrett said, "but they played even better than I thought they would. The result was a 23-3 win for the Yellow Jackets and a good start to the 1985 season. "We went into the game with 12 players who had never played in a varsity game before," Garrett said. "Two of our senior starters have never played varity ball before but they all played well." Though Garrett was pleased with the play of his newcomers, it was an old-timer — and an unexpected one at that — whose all-around play probably made the biggest difference in the game. Reginald Riggins, part of a talented stable of Vincent runingbacks, accounted for 14 of the Jackets' 23 points on the night. Riggins scored twice enroute to a 109-yard rushing performance despite the fact that he was not a starter in the backfield. Riggins also made a tackle for a safety, caused a fumble and

Wilson signs bb scholarship

Kenny Wilson, a member of the 1985 Calera Eagles area champion and state tournament basketball team, has signed a basketball scholarship with Lurleen B. Wallace Junior College of Andalusia. Coming off of a senior season that saw him average six points and 10 rebounds per game for the Eagles, Wilson will play for coach Ricky Knight in his first season as head coach of the LBW Saints. "Kenny will help us a lot with our inside game," Knight said last week. "We will run a lot and he is quick enough to beat the other big men up and down the court." Wilson will be joined at LBW by another former county player, Tony Hamilton of Vincent.

Utter claims first win as Hornets sting Thorsby

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

Make new friends but keep the old, one is silver and the other gold...

The lyrics to an old song proved a true treasure for the new-look Chelsea Hornets in their season opener with Thorsby.

The Hornets parlayed the combination of an old friend — a stingy defense — and a new one — the Notre Dame box offense — to a 6-0 win over Thorsby, keeping Mike Utter undefeated as a head coach.

"I sure hope we can keep it up a little longer," Utter said of his undefeated status after winning his first game as a head coach. "It feels real good to get one out of the way."

Utter went on to compliment his Hornets for their effort in the opening win, calling it "a real good one in a new situation."

In addition to their work with a new offense, Utter praised the Hornets for their defensive preparation and gave credit to assistant Lee Hibbs for his work with the defense.

"They did an excellent job getting ready to play," Utter said, noting that Thorsby could accumulate only 78 yards in total offense on the night.

In addition, Chelsea played take-away with Thorsby on five different occasions, Larry Offord, Allen Moody and Mike Beavers recording interceptions, and David Shaw and Heath Moore making fumble recoveries.

The heart of the old-style defensive effort against Thorsby was the Hornet linebacking corps, Utter said. Robert Bur-cham led all tacklers with nine individual stops and five assists, Mike Beavers added seven individuals and six assists plus the interception and Mike Pittman recorded nine total hits.

STATS
Chelsea		Thorsby
9	FD	3
170	rushing	78
34	passing	0
3	turnovers	5
115	penalty yards	100

The Hornets' new friend on offense — the Notre Dame box formation — proved valuable against Thorsby and holds even more promise for the future.

"I think as the season goes along, the kids will get even more comfortable with it," Utter said of the offense that churned out over 200 yards during the game.

Familiarity, Utter added, should do a lot to remedy the three turnovers and 100-plus yards in penalties that kept Chelsea out of the endzone on a couple of occasions and caused one long score to be called back.

Running out of the box, almost every Chelsea runner posted a four-plus yard per carry average.

Larry Offord, the quarterback of the offense from his tailback position, led all rushers with 113 yards and a touchdown. Offord also had a 70 yard scoring run called back on a penalty.

Utter also cited the running of Allen Moody and Lavoy Rich as good efforts for the Hornets.

"I think the kids handled everything really well," Utter said. "They kept playing good defense and I was pleased with the first showing of the offense."

Make new friends, but keep the old...

Larry Offord ran five yards for a touchdown on the Chelsea Hornets second possession of the first period. The PAT attempt failed.

CVA loses opener 22-18

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

"A big heart can only do so much," said Coosa Valley Academy head coach John Niblett. "Sometimes you have to have a body to go with it."

The Coosa Valley Rebels showed what Niblett called a lot of heart in their season opener with Warrior Academy last Friday night. But being out-weighted an average of 35 pounds on the line of scrimmage and a slow start proved too much for the Rebels to overcome as they dropped a 22-18 decision to the visitors from west Alabama.

STATS
CVA		Warrior
12	FD	16
90	rushing	283
245	passing	50
90	penalty yards	50

we gave them too much early to overcome their advantage," Niblett said. "Even then, we played well enough in the second half that, if we had made our conversions, we would have won the ballgame."

Perhaps more important than the scoreboard loss is the probable loss to injury of two Rebel starters during the game: Darren Robertson and Larry Doss, to knee injuries.

Doss is the biggest CVA lineman at 215 pounds and his loss, Niblett said, is probably for the season.

"It's going to be hard to prepare," Niblett said, "because it leaves us only 17 players to work with."

Despite the problems in the game, however, Niblett saw some very positive points in the opener, especially in the second half.

Except for a tipped pass in the third period that led to a Warrior score, the Coosa Valley defensive adjustments shut down the Warrior offense in the second half while the CVA offense got on track for three touchdowns.

Standouts within that offensive effort included sophomore quarterback Tad Niblett who passed for 245 yards and one touchdown and rushed for another score, and senior split end Scott Thompson who had six receptions for 110 yards and a score.

Defensively, Niblett began this week to shuffle his personnel looking for a more aggressive combination of players.

"We need to be a little more aggressive to win ballgames," Niblett said, "but I think we can make some adjustments to do that."

Swapping Robert Strickland to a defensive end and Toby Green to linebacker is one possibility Niblett will experiment with this week, adding Green's talents to those of Bobby Crumpton who was the leading tackler for CVA in the loss to Warrior, recording 10 individual tackles and four assists.

SCORING SUMMARY

Warrior scored twice in the first half, once on an 18-yard pass play from Billy Witherspoon to Lee Drummond and once on a six-yard run by Jim Logan. Conversions following both scores left the halftime margin 16-0.

Coosa Valley scored early in the third period when Kerry Shaw broke a 45-yard TD run. The conversion attempt failed.

Scott Thompson's six yard touchdown reception of a Tad Niblett pass gave the Rebels their second score of the third period. Again, the PAT attempt failed leaving the score 16-12.

Witherspoon scored on a one-yard plunge for Warrior to increase their lead to 22-12 early in the fourth period.

Niblett scored on a six yard run late in the game for Coosa Valley. The PAT failed leaving the score 22-18.

(3) In Memory

IN MEMORY OF LAKE HARRIS
 Son, it's been 11 years now Since the hand of God Came down one day For an untold reason He took you away And left behind a family With a broken heart For we had never imagined Being apart. You were always there to lend a hand. We thank God for the short life of this loved one. Much too short and oh, so brief. You left behind a trail of grief. Yet we are not completely apart. For we carry you deep within Our Hearts. Often a lonely heartache And many a silent tear Always beautiful memories Of one we loved so dear. You are not forgotten Nor shall you ever be As long as life and memories last. We will remember thee. Your voice is still within our home. Our heads are bowed with sorrow. Your memories linger still to help our sad tomorrows. Some day flowers will bloom again. The sun will brighter be. Then we'll feel no more pain. For I know your face we'll see. We love you son, we miss you so. As only a family can do. As long as life's blood flows We will always remember and miss you, Son.

James and Lavada Pate

IN MEMORY OF FRANK WHITENER
 In Memory of Frank Whitener who passed away one year ago today. To a Daddy and husband we all loved so dear. We all miss you so much. I know Jesus wants you to rest and be with Him. We are just waiting for that call from Heaven on high. Where we can stroll all over Heaven with you. Love from your children, grandchildren and wife, Whitener Family

Shelby Bank to affiliate with 1st Ala. Bancshares

Willard Hurley, chairman and CEO of 1st Alabama Bancshares, announced Monday that an agreement has been signed for the purpose of affiliating Shelby State Bank with 1st Alabama Bancshares.

The agreement is subject to approval of appropriate regulatory authorities.

1st Alabama Bancshares is a multi-bank holding company with 124 bank offices throughout Alabama. As of June 30, 1st Alabama had consolidated assets in excess of $3.5 billion, and consolidated deposits of $2.8 billion.

On the same date, 1st Alabama capital was approximately $323 million, the largest capital of any bank or any bank holding company in Alabama.

Shelby State Bank, with home offices in Pelham, and branches in Columbiana, Helena and Montevallo, on June 30 had assets of $32 million and deposits of $29 million.

According to Shelby Bank President Ken Kirkland, "officers and directors of Shelby Bank studied all options before determining that affiliation with 1st Alabama Bancshares was to the very best interest of Shelby Bank customers and stockholders."

Kirkland said, "the affiliation was prompted by rapid growth of the Jefferson-Shelby corridor, the need to be responsive to changes within the banking industry and to insure providing present and future customers total bank services."

Kirkland added that "our bank will continue to operate with the same management and employee personnel, with emphasis on local and personalized services."

Tenure board rules for Goggins

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

Calera High School Principal Danny Goggins has won another round in his battle to keep his job.

On Friday, the Alabama Tenure Commission ruled the recommended transfer of Goggins to Shelby Elementary School was "arbitrarily unjustified."

The commission, which had previously upheld Goggins retaining his post at Calera, further stated the transfer was done for "personal and political reasons."

Goggins said he was pleased with the ruling and wants everyone, even those who opposed him, to work together to have a good school year.

However, this won't be the end of the road in the ongoing struggle between Goggins and the board.

Board attorney Sonny Conwill said he anticipates the board appealing the case back to the circuit court.

Conwill said there has never been any evidence presented to prove the transfer was motivated by personal or political reasons.

He added that Goggins and his attorneys are only supposed to argue what is on the record, and personal and political motivation were never brought up at Goggins' hearings.

The board voted May, 1984 to transfer Goggins, following the recommendation of Shelby County Education Superintendent Ellie Glasscox who cited lack of community support.

Goggins asked for and was granted a hearing with the board upholding the transfer.

The case then went to the tenure commission which ruled the transfer would cause loss of status. Because he would have been working 11 months instead of 12, the transfer would have caused Goggins to take a $4,000 pay cut.

Judge Robert Armstrong got the case next when the board appealed it to circuit court. He overturned the tenure commission's ruling, saying Goggins would not lose status.

However, he told the tenure board to keep Goggins. See GOGGINS, Page A-2

Traffic light approved for Ball Park Road

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The state has approved funding for a traffic light for the intersection of Ball Park Road and Highway 119 in Alabaster.

The proposed light provoked mixed responses from city officials.

Councilman J.D. Draper said at a September 5 council meeting that the light may back up traffic during school hours.

Mayor Roger Wheeler, on the other hand, feels the light will relieve traffic congestion. During peak traffic periods, a car might sit 30 minutes waiting to get off Ball Park Road, Wheeler said.

Wheeler said a light, along with a new 119 tie-in to County Road 11 would better facilitate traffic flow.

Highway 119 will be four-laned from the Alabaster First Methodist Church to Highway 31, Wheeler said.

He was not sure when the project would be completed, but said the state would take bids November 16 and probably start work soon after.

The project will cost about $500,000.

The state has also approved funding for railroad signals at Ball Park Road, said City Clerk

Oh no, Annette

What's this? Has our fair Shelby County Tax Collector gone astray? Rumor has it, she can't add. Actually, the "arrest" of Annette Skinner by Sheriff Buddy Glasgow and Chief Deputy James Jones is a publicity stunt for the March of Dimes "Jail for Bail" campaign. "Celebrity Court" will be held at the Pelham Plaza Mall this Thursday and Friday to raise money to fight birth defects. Local public figures and community leaders will be "apprehended" on these days and placed in the celebrity jail until they can raise enough money by telephone pledges to make bail. Also, anyone can make a $25 donation to the campaign and have a friend "picked up and jailed." Call 663-1667 to have someone arrested. See related story, Page C-5. (photo by Jim Parks)

Columbiana locked over pipe payment

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

Mayor Buck Falkner tossed the matter of who will pay for the pipe he ordered for a new Big B Drugstore in Columbiana back to the company that sold it.

The council deadlocked during last Thursday's meeting when a vote was taken for the city not to pay the bill. The mayor said he wasn't going to pay for the pipe either.

"I'm going to let Sherman Pipe take action," he said. "They can sue the city and if the city wants to sue me, that's O.K."

Falkner ordered a little over $1,000 worth of driveway pipe for the new construction two months ago.

If he had not helped in getting costs down, Falkner said the drugstore would have located elsewhere.

Legal questions and the absence from meetings of first one council member and then another, delayed a vote on the matter.

Falkner said if the council had voted right away and refused to buy the pipe, he had been prepared to pay for it himself.

"But things have happened to change my mind," he said. "I've been through some kind of hell these past two months."

The mayor said he had lost sleep over questions which were raised on personal gain to himself from the sale of the land for the drugstore, and about the matter being referred to the state ethics commission.

Falkner, who is a realtor, was the agent for the sale of the land on the corner of the State 25 bypass and County 70.

Kindergarteners share likes and dislikes about going to school

School is a new experience for many of the 968 children who are enrolled in kindergarten in Shelby County this year.

Even though the school system had to do some shuffling to take care of 118 additional students, the five-year-olds are settling in with ease and adapting to their new routine.

Kindergarten enrollment was up in all but four schools this year, said Central Staff Coordinator Rebecca Nail. Schools showing a decrease were: Chelsea, Montevallo, Shelby and Wilsonville.

At some schools, she said rooms used for other purposes were "freed up" for classes. At other schools, mobile classroom units were moved in to provide more space.

Two classes use one large room at Inverness, where the kindergarten enrollment jumped from 77 to 128.

Thompson and Vincent had increases of 33 and 21 respectively. Thompson's kindergarten enrollment is now 202; Vincent's is 94.

In their second week of school, kindergarten students were going about the business of learning, playing and finding out how to get along with each other.

The Reporter visited several kindergartens last week to find out what the new students liked and disliked about school.

"I like to cut and glue," said Sabrina Sanders, a kindergarten student at Calera Elementary. She said she also likes using play dough and playing with blocks. She could think of nothing she didn't like about school.

CES student Jhamari Nevitt said he likes to color with crayons, read stories, and play outdoors. Although he doesn't mind naptime, Jhamari said he doesn't like to go to sleep.

Kristinna Skelton from Elvin Hill said she likes to write her name, draw, and play in the family center. "I don't like people hitting me," she said.

EHS student Shawn Mitchell didn't dislike anything about school. His favorite activities are playing in the living center and on the playground.

Sara Lupardus from Shelby Elementary likes sitting "like Indians" at group time and singing songs. Her favorite book is about Smokey, she says.

United Way

UA Division Chairman Ken L. Williams, right, reveals goals for Shelby County's 1985 United Way Campaign. Reid Long and Leo Karpeles, South and North Shelby County section chairmen, respectively, view their quotas during the final orientation Friday luncheon, attended by more than 50 volunteers at Riverchase Country Club.

UW sets $550,000 goal for Shelby County

A final orientation meeting was held last Friday for all Shelby County volunteers of the 1985 United Way Campaign.

Shelby County Division Chairman, Ken L. Williams, hosted a luncheon at Riverchase Country Club for more than 50 volunteers, and announced a $550,000 goal for Shelby County.

The seven section chairpersons responsible for their respective areas are: Leo Karpeles, vice president, general manager, Taylor-Mathis of Ala. Inc.; Pelham-Riverchase-280 Corridor, large employer accounts; Reid Long, partner, Scott-Long Realty, Inc.; balance of Shelby County, large employer accounts; Ken Kirkland, president, Shelby Bank - all other employer accounts; Tax Collector Annette Skinner, public employees, state, county and municipal; Steve Sears, Montevallo attorney and Jim King, Pelham accountant - doctors, dentists, architects, accountants; Mrs. Mollie McGregor, public relations, YMCA Birmingham Metro-special gifts, civic groups and others.

"We've successfully recruited more than 50 VIP volunteers for the 1985 Shelby County United Way Campaign," Williams, president of Alabama Insurance Exchange, said. "We've all been trained and oriented on our projects and our goals. We are ready to get out the message that SOMEBODY CARES and that 'somebody' is all Shelby Countians. Every company, every citizen owes part of themselves back to the community in which they reside or make their livelihood. It's our volunteer group's responsibility to communicate what United Way means to this community, how many more services are needed because of our exploding population and economic growth, and why support for this campaign will dictate future services. $550,000 is not a lot to expect back from the community when weighed against the United Way services we're using in this community."

Burroughs gets computer bid

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The Shelby County Commission awarded the bid for a new $300,441 data processing system for the county government to the Burroughs Corporation at Monday's regular meeting.

Elizabeth Borders, head of the data processing office, expects the new system to be brought in to a new third floor office around the first of January.

She said a six-month transition period would move county departments from the old system to the new computer.

The new computer was first bid in June, but the commission decided to rebid the system after it failed to reach an agreement with Burroughs, the bidder at that time also.

The commission and Burroughs disagreed over the corporation's responsibility for environmental specifications such as air conditioning and electrical wiring.

Borders said the problem resulted from a change in plans after the project was originally bid.

At that time, the computer was expected to be installed on the first floor, already wired and air conditioned. When the move to the third floor was planned, "we were trying to work with a contract that did not suit our situation," Borders said.

In accepting the terms of the new bid, Burroughs agrees to outline what kind of environmental specifications the computer will need and inspect wiring, air conditioning and flooring after it is installed, Borders said.

If the work meets with the corporation's approval, warranties will then be the responsibility of individual contractors, she said.

Installation costs were bid at $29,933.

Pipe

torney general's opinion had said his action was legal, the mayor reiterated that he had helped the business locate here to help the economy of the city.

"I acted in good faith," he said.

Councilman William Rasco brought up the matter of paying for the pipe, saying it had been left hanging long enough.

Making the motion the city not pay the bill, Rasco said he thought it would leave the city open to pay for "everything that comes along."

Agreeing with him were Willard Cross and Jessie Jones. Voting against the motion were Frank Owen, Harold McCord and the mayor, whose vote created a tie to defeat the motion.

commission to re-examine the case to determine whether the transfer was done arbitrarily for personal or political reasons.

Goggins and his AEA attorney Victor Price took the case to the state civil appeals court which upheld Armstrong.

Although the principal considered going to the state supreme court with the case, he and Price decided to go back to the tenure commission instead.

Goggins said the 1984-85 school year was an excellent one and he feels that will continue.

"I feel that everyone has become more understanding," he said.

Schools schedule open house event

Schools in Shelby County will be holding open house this month for parents and the community.

High schools will be open on Thursday, Sept. 17; middle schools on Thursday, Sept. 19 and elementary schools on Tuesday, Sept. 24.

Since the opening time will vary, each school will notify parents when to come.

"We are proud of our record of promoting excellence in education," said Shelby County School Superintendent Ellie Glasco.

"The performance of our boys and girls on standardized tests and in academic competition is a testimonial to the quality of instruction being offered by the faculty and staff in each of our schools," he said.

Glasco encourages parents, public officials and other members of the community to visit the schools during open house and see for themselves what is being accomplished.

"I am sure they will be very pleased and excited about the opportunities the Shelby County school system affords its students," the superintendent said.

Children

the playground and reading. But he doesn't like to have to leave his dog Rusty at home.

Meghan Carey from Valley thinks it's fun getting up early and riding the school bus. She doesn't like it when it's time to go home though, and she doesn't like homework.

VES student William Bruser doesn't like to go home either. When he's at school, the playground is his favorite place to be.

Artney Patterson from Valley likes learning things, and one day she even got to play the piano. What she doesn't like is not being able to talk when she wants to.

The games and toys in her Valley classroom appeal to Tasha Crumpton.

"I like Legos things you build with," she says, "and different puzzles and number games." She says there's no kicking at school though, and no biting or pinching either.

Sobhan Turner likes Thompson Elementary School and her teacher.

"My mama brings me," she says, "but I can go to my room by myself." What she doesn't like is having to stand in line.

Rodney King, another Thompson student, likes playing outside. TES student Kenny Crowder says he likes everything about school, especially baseball.

Youth football looking for new Pelham field

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

Th Pelham High School football field will no longer be the home of the Pelham Youth football Panthers.

The youth league's parents voted recently to search for a new site for their games rather than pay a $1,500 field rental fee for use of the high school facility.

The 1985 season marked the first time that Pelham athletic director Billy Tohill had specified an amount for use of the field.

The request followed, and was a result of, Tohill said, a controversy concerning payment of a promised donation from the league to the high school in 1984.

In past years, the Pelham Youth League has made a donation to the high school for yearly use of its field.

After the 1983 season, that donation was $750, youth league president Bob Boggs said last week. But following the 1984 season, the league did not make a cash donation. Instead, it donated a set of scales to the high school athletic program, Boggs said.

When Pelham High athletic director Billy Tohill was approached by the league concerning the 1985 season, Tohill told Boggs something would need to be worked out about a cash payment for 1984 and a specific contract signed for 1985.

Youth league officials asked that a meeting between Tohill and the league be set up so that a compromise could be reached, and Pelham Mayor Bobby Hayes set that meeting in late August.

After viewing the contract signed by youth league officials for the 1984 season, Boggs said he felt the league did owe the high school some money.

League officials and Tohill then agreed to a compromise figure of $875 for the 1984 season, and Boggs said youth league treasurer Sue Sciascia wrote a check for the amount and gave it to Tohill at the close of the meeting.

League officials decided to have parents vote on the $1,500 fee for 1985 before agreeing to the rental.

Following the meeting, however, Sciascia stopped payment on the check after meeting with other youth football board members.

Instead, Boggs said, parents voted at a later meeting to give $500 to the Pelham High program and look elsewhere for a place to play in 1985, probably at the Pelham City Park if a regulation scoreboard can be obtained.

"I'm just sorry all of this had to happen," Boggs said late last week. "There have been some hurt feelings on both sides and that hurts the kids."

Tohill said that he was not trying to keep the youth program off the field at Pelham but simply wanted them to share the financial burden for upkeep of the field.

"I want to have a good relationship with them, but not all at our expense," Tohill said and noted that while the Pelham varsity, B-team and junior high teams will play a total of 14 games on the field this season, the youth league planned to play 42 games.

Tohill added that field up-keep at Pelham is expected to exceed $12,000 this year and he does not feel $1,500 is too much to ask the youth league to pay.

Glasscox to attend education conference

Shelby County School Superintendent Ellie Glasscox will participate in a national education conference in Washington D.C. later this month and will also meet with Rep. Richard Shelby.

Glasscox will join approximately 500 other educators in the nation's capital on Sept. 18 for the three day conference.

"I Care About Quality Education," is the theme of the conference, which will emphasize the federal role in maintaining quality in the nation's elementary and secondary school systems.

Representatives of government, industry and the media will join educators at the conference to speak about their interest in the nation's public schools.

Glasscox plans to meet with Shelby Sept. 19 to talk about the potential for cooperation between educational institutions and private business and industries.

He also plans to discuss how partnerships between local and state governments and the federal government might be used to improve the quality of education.

During his talk with Shelby, Glasscox will also urge the congressman to support the continued funding of the federal programs that have proven to be effective locally. These include Chapter 1, vocational education and special education.

The superintendent will also offer his views on pressing educational needs that the federal government must be willing to meet.

Dot Henry. She did not know when the signals would be installed.

At the meeting, the council accepted two unpaved streets which residents wanted to dedicate to the city for maintenance.

Although the city had wanted 40 feet of right of way, it agreed to accept the streets off County Road 11 with only 30 feet of right of way at a September 5 meeting.

The roads will be graded and given periodic maintenance, according to the city clerk.

The council also announced a zoning hearing for the new, annexed part of Alabaster, set for last Tuesday.

That area has not been zoned, but the plan conforms pretty much with existing use, said Ron Johnson, chairman of the city planning commission.

Hot Off The Press

by Jim Parks

Pick the winner

Congratulations goes to Rita Parsons of Westover for winning $25 in last week's Football Contest.

The contest runs each week in our Sports Section, and anyone except Reporter employees and their families can enter. The games - both high school and college - can be found in each ad on the page. Note that the games are two weeks in advance to give everyone time to get their paper and make the picks.

The object is to pick the winner and list the corresponding ad on the entry form. Also, there is a tie-breaker at the bottom of the form, in case two entries are the same.

I can't win the $25, but I still can make the picks.

So far, my Parks Picks record stands at 12-3. I was 6-1 two weeks ago and 6-2 last week.

Congratulations goes to last week's winners: Shelby County, Tarant, Chelsea, Pelham, Shelby Academy and Vincent.

Parks Picks for this Friday are:

- Briarwood over Marion Institute by 10
- Vincent over Calera by 14
- Chelsea over Marbury by 12
- Montevallo over SCHS by 6
- Pelham over Berry by 2
- Shelby Academy over Cahaba by 14
- Thompson over Chilton County by 6

Customer says husband arrested for exchanging shirt

Letter to the Editor:

Recently, my husband and I had the opportunity to be totally embarrassed in the fair city of Columbiana and I wish to express my concern over this publicly.

While I will refrain from mentioning the name of the establishment, I feel all store-owners could benefit from my experience in "how NOT to treat a customer."

On a fair day in August, I purchased a shirt for my husband. I was delighted to find such a bargain, a nice shirt for $5. When I took the purchase home, my husband tried it on and alas, it did not fit properly. (Being a bit portly, he needed a different cut...)

I returned to the store, with shirt and receipt in hand, to make an exchange. At the store I was told the sale was FINAL and no refund or exchanges could be made. When the shirt was purchased, no mention was made of "final sale." Like most shoppers, I was a bit distressed to learn I now had a totally useless garment on my hands. I talked, wheeled and argued with the store manager to no avail.

My husband was also perturbed to learn that the store manager would not exchange the shirt. So, we got back into the car and returned to the store. We talked to the assistant manager about exchanging the shirt and she said we would have to talk to the manager. She went to the back of the store to get her. While she was gone, I got a shirt for the same price and brought it to the checkout counter and laid it beside the shirt to be exchanged. The assistant manager returned and said the manager could not talk with us. My husband said he would make the exchange himself; he picked up the shirt and put it in the bag leaving the original shirt with the assistant manager, and walked out.

As soon as we got in the car the manager and assistant manager appeared outside and got our tag number. We proceeded to the police station and told the chief of police what happened, he said he didn't blame my husband, he would have done the same thing. He took our name and phone number in case he heard from the manager.

We returned home and received a phone call from the chief of police. The store manager had pressed charges against my husband for "disorderly conduct." We went to the police station where my husband was fingerprinted, photographed and bail was posted. Presently, we are waiting for our court date.

My question is this: what would it have hurt the manager of this establishment to just exchange the shirt?

In the long run, a lot of grief and embarrassment could have been avoided. I, for one, will never go into that particular establishment again. And like any good American, I have told all my friends, neighbors and casual acquaintances about the way I was treated.

What ever happened to "good 'Ole Southern hospitality, service with a smile," and customer satisfaction?

Citizen objects to coach's language

Letter to the editor:

I was recently invited to a meeting in Mayor Bobby Hayes' office involving Coach Tohill from the Pelham High School. Mr. Tohill started the meeting using a vocabulary so offensive it would, to use the expression, "make a sailor blush."

When he was asked by Mayor Hayes to remember there was a lady present, Mr. Tohill's response was, "If that lady doesn't like what the H--- I'm saying she can put her a-- on a chair in the hall." He then continued speaking as he had been without further effort at control from the mayor.

I am not concerned for myself. I was offended, but I will have no further dealings with Mr. Tohill. I am extremely concerned for the children in our high school who have this type of teacher thrust upon them. He does not belong in a position where he can freely subject our impressionable teenagers to this type of verbal abuse.

The parents in this area have long been concerned over the quality of education offered in our area schools, and I urge all of you to stand up and be counted, as I have been told this is not the first incident of this type involving Coach Tohill.

Let's force our school board to act and choose quality teachers who will be good role models for our children. Let's rid our system of those who would be better teaching longshoremen.

Mother asks for return of graveside angel

Letter to the Editor:

Seventeen years ago, September 3, 1968, my son, John, died of hyaline membrane disease and was buried in the Elliottsville Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Alabaster. He was only two days old, but he was a beautiful little boy.

Two years later our precious 5 year old son, Mark, died of a heart problem and was buried next to his brother. My husband and I bought a beautiful little marble angel to watch over our two sons. That little angel meant very much to us and she was always there with our little boys day and night.

Why have I written this letter? Because around the last of August, someone took our little angel. They had to pry it off the base to get it, but they managed. You have no idea how hurt we were when we discovered this horrible crime. Why would someone take something like this from a child's grave?

At first I was so upset, I could hardly talk about it. But as I thought of the person who so callously took my babies' angel, I began to realize what kind of person they must be. They are either very troubled or very mean-hearted and I feel they must need our prayers desperately.

If anyone has seen this little angel, I would greatly appreciate hearing from them. The angel is 16 to 20 inches tall and is made of a marble-like substance.

Maybe you saw it or know something about it, or if the person who took it will just take it to the cemetery and leave it where they found it, nothing will be done to them and we will cement it to the base.

This angel means very much to us. We could replace it, but it would not be the same. Please help us find it.

Thank you
Nancy Lucas

Writer misses general practitioners

Letter to the Editor:

Ever since Mr. Reagan was elected to office, we have seen and felt changes being brought into our society. The field of medicine seems to be the place where this legislation is bringing about the most drastic change.

We in Shelby County have felt this change, and we can see the effect by the empty beds at Shelby Medical Center.

We can know from the many hospitalization insurance companies being established and the free information services offered by our hospitals that the medical profession today is in a state of panic and confusion. This condition should reveal that the medical profession no longer has a foundation or a base, and from the spiraling cost of medicine these past 20 years, we should understand that this profession is moving in the wrong direction.

In our agrarian society, the general practitioner was the foundation of the medical profession. He stayed in his neighborhood and rural community practicing medicine in his clinic.

The family was an important part of the medical profession, for the sick were nursed at home by their family with the help of the family physician. The general practitioner only referred the critically ill patients who were in need of a specialist to the hospitals; therefore, only the doctors who specialized located their offices in and around hospitals.

By the end of World War II, when the G.I. Bill gave the young men returning home from service the opportunity to go to college, many chose to become doctors. Their teaching and training was centered around large hospitals.

Doctors who were released from the military service had spent their entire practices working in large, well-equipped hospitals. As these doctors entered private practice, they made hospitals the hub of the medical profession.

Hospitals which had been built to meet a need and were financed by non-profit or charitable organizations became a booming business. Hospitalization insurance sky-rocketed and for-profit hospitals entered the profitable medical field.

Doctors no longer practice medicine in their clinics. They use their offices only to examine patients and relay them to the hospital.

Their clinics are often only rented suites which consist of an office to collect money, several examining rooms so the patient can be prepared for the doctor's approach and a waiting room which no longer even contains a tropical fish aquarium. One Shelby County waiting room did not even supply a magazine rack. Old, out-dated medicals were stacked unneatly on the floor.

These doctors may have two such suites, and they may practice out of three different hospitals. They remain mobile and move with the flow and can cover both Jefferson and Shelby counties.

The general practitioner who once served as the family physician has become only a part of history, and patients are no longer given a choice. If they receive medical treatment, they are to be sent to the hospital where their hospitalization insurance will pay both doctor and hospital bills.

Hospitalization insurance has long been priced out of the reach of the middle and lower income people; therefore, this cost has been passed on to industry.

Our industries have absorbed this cost by increasing the price of goods. Our products today can no longer compete in the world market, and this medical cost has played a big part in the closing of our industrial plants.

The largest insurer in the world is the federal government, and Mr. Reagan has been forced to place limits upon our hospitals and doctors in an attempt to stop the drain on our treasury.

The limits which were placed upon hospitals by medicine has put our hospitals, both for-profit and non-profit, in a life and death struggle. They are offering free advice and free testing. The purpose, of course, is to have the opportunity of referring patients to a physician that uses the hospital.

Most every week we read of a new medical insurance company that is being established. These companies at first were being organized by a group of doctors who practiced out of a particular hospital.

Now the national hospital chains, in their fight to compete, are entering the hospitalization insurance business. All of these programs are designed to keep patients flowing into the hospitals.

As our mobile doctors seek which hospital will become their most profitable base, Shelby Medical Center should take the initiative and fill the void left in our communities by replacing the family clinic.

If Shelby County could give the people a choice by offering outpatient insurance, only, this hospital could fill a growing need in the medical profession, that could have a great impact upon the outrageous cost of medicine.

It is a known fact that patients recover more quickly when they stay active and remain in their home environment.

People have become more health conscious and they are being kept informed by our mass communication system on the prevention, treatment and cure of disease. We can see by the joggers, the bikers and the people walking along our highways that the tendency today is toward preventive medicine.

Our county hospital can meet the needs of these people by offering periodic checkups using its X-rays, laboratories and medical equipment.

Both industry and labor can reap benefits from this lower cost of medical insurance, and these benefits will be passed on to the people in lower utility bills and a cheaper finished product.

The county could even see the return of the general practitioner, who has a desire to practice medicine in his own clinic and who will be a good friend and neighbor in his community.

But most importantly, the people, who have no desire to spend time in the hospital, would not be required to pay for plush rooms, the unnecessary conveniences and services offered by our for-profit hospitals. We could spend our money instead in Florida staying in a plush hotel or taking a cruise on the Royal Viking.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

Recalling good feelings

The folks at Union United Methodist Church were recalling, out loud, the good things about their church and the people who went to church there. It made a fellow proud he was there, a good feeling inside that lasted all day.

I talked with Uncle Bob Nolen at the Nursing Home. I had watched it rain in sight of my home for three weeks. I asked Uncle Bob what you'd if you had been in whistling distance of a rain for three weeks and didn't get a drop. "You'd do without," he chuckled. The school bus stopped on the road to Saginaw. Cars were lined up both ways. Everybody just sat there waiting, without making a sound. No matter now that, five minutes ago, everybody was in a hurry. After a while this little boy came through the open door and made his way up a little hill.

One day at Shelby Memorial Hospital a lady and four kids stood outside an open window and talked to a man inside. I wondered how you'd measure the love around that one window. Maybe if I had tried I could have found out their names. But love has a thousand names.

We got to the wash-hole in Longshore's pasture around ten o'clock. On the way we had stopped at a dewberry patch and an apple tree at an old house place. Everybody jumped in but this one guy. He always went along and never got wet. He just walked up and down the bank in his birthday suit. "You're just a bank walker," we told him, and he smiled from ear to ear.

Panthers whip MHS Bulldogs 25-0

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The intra-county feud between the Montevallo Bulldogs and the Pelham Panthers was everything a dog-and-cat fight should be — fast and furious. It also ended about like you would expect a dog-and-cat fight to end, if the cat is a big, strong Panther.

After playing nose-to-nose for an entire half, the Pelham Panthers flexed their muscles to take a 25-0 win over the Montevallo Bulldogs last Friday in Pelham. It was a game in which depth and no rest for a weary Bulldog defense played major roles.

"We're going to have some sore folks on Monday," Montevallo coach Richard Gilliam said after the Friday game. "Our second half turnovers prevented us from getting enough offensive opportunities to get back in the ballgame and they were able to drive on our defense."

"We blocked well over-all on offense tonight," Pelham coach Billy Tohill said. "The offensive line did a good job and our fullback, Winfred McCall, blocked better tonight than at any time since I have been at Pelham. He had a very fine ballgame."

Tohill said also that the Panthers ability to rest some people for short periods in the early part of the game paid dividends late in the third and fourth quarters.

"Our offensive and defensive lines are basically different now," Tohill said, "and even though we have people playing both offense and defense at linebacker, we substitute for them so they can get rest periods as well."

Montevallo, Gilliam said, did not have that luxury of depth, especially after a third quarter

Anderson and Chris Bomar.

But a fumble ended the drive deep in Pelham territory, and the Panthers made some adjustments that helped them defense the veer from that point.

Defensively, Tohill noted the efforts of linebacker Bret Jones, defensive tackle Larry Shelton, and defensive ends Carvis Jones and Paul Kellogg. See PELHAM, Page D-7

injury kept Charles Towner out of the rest of the game. The Bulldogs most experienced lineman, Towner's absence made Gilliam commit to one defensive set without much stunting and that contributed, he felt, to Pelham's ability to mount long drives against his team in the second half.

The Bulldogs mounted a long drive of their own in the first half, Sean Roberts and Charles Devinner running the outside veer behind blocks from Clinton King, Mike Kimbrell, Andy

Jackets squeak by Lincoln in 14-13 win

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

Little things often make a big difference.

Two little things — actually two plays — made the difference in the Vincent Yellow Jackets 14-13 win over Lincoln Friday night.

In a game that close, Yellow Jacket head coach Harold Garrett said, those two plays really stood out.

The first key play was an easy one to spot. Using their regular punt block rushing assignments, Jackets Dexter Keith and Pat Yowe broke through to block a Lincoln punt early in midway through the second period.

Keith, who got credit for the block, was a brand new addition to the punt block unit — an addition that paid instant dividends.

George McConico picked up the loose football and returned it 30 yards for a touchdown, bringing the Jackets to a 7-7 tie.

The last key play was not as noticeable, but in Garrett's eyes possibly more critical.

Leading 14-13 and facing a third down call deep in their own territory, Vincent's Hugh Kidd — who had blocked well in the backfield all night, Garrett said — took a straight hand-off, broke it against the grain and rushed for 33 yards to a first down. From that point, the Jackets were able to end the game playing offense.

"We weren't really pleased with a lot of things," Garrett said early this week, "but I guess you would rather play badly and win than play badly and lose."

Offensively, Garrett expressed concern over a lack of execution by his team and the inability of the coaching staff to "open up" the Vincent offense.

"We are making some mistakes, but I think they are correctable through coaching," Garrett said. "We also have to get to a point where we can throw the football when we want to, not when we have to." Garrett indicated the Jackets would spend time this week working on a more open and efficient offense.

One positive point that Garrett noted on offense, however, was the blocking of Vernon Kidd in the backfield.

Defensively, Garrett said he

For the Record

UM wins volleyball opener

The University of Montevallo volleyball team picked up where it left off a year ago by beating Alabama A&M 15-1, 15-6, 15-8 to open the 1985 season.

The Lady Falcons, who finished 49-14 last year, had little trouble beating A&M for the 11th consecutive time.

UM converted 91 percent of their service opportunities and had a good team attack percentage of 31 enroute to the win.

Returning NAIA all-American Candi Nicholas paced the UM offense with nine kills. Transfer Missy Youngblood recorded 27 assists at setter.

Kidd has dependable foot

Hugh Kidd's foot was literally the difference in the Vincent Yellow Jackets win over Lincoln Friday night as he kicked PATs following both Vincent scores in the one-point win.

"You don't realize how dependable he really is," Vincent coach Harold Garrett said, "but I really can't remember a time this year or last that he has missed an extra point."

Auburn tickets remain

Tickets to all of Auburn's home games and to the Georgia Tech game in Atlanta are still available from the Auburn Athletic Ticket Office.

Individual tickets to each of the home games and the Tech game in Atlanta are $15.

Tickets are available by writing the Auburn Athletic Ticket Office, Box 351, Auburn, AL 36831-0351.

Raiders beat two opponents in one week

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Shelby Academy Raiders had a rare and unique opportunity to win two high school football games last week.

Let it never be said the Raiders let opportunity slip through their fingers.

Dewayne Kervin's team went from 0-0 to 2-0 in four days last week, winning a 28-8 Hurricane Elena-delayed decision over Escambia in Atmore on Tuesday night then taking a 17-0 decision over South Choctaw on Friday.

"I think we're all a little tired," Kervin said early this week after taking his team on road trips of 190 and 150 miles. "We felt we could win these first two, and I'm glad the circumstances didn't prevent us from doing that."

The circumstances did, however, keep the Raiders from looking as good against South Choctaw as their coach hoped they might.

"These kids have to learn to deal with success a little better," Kervin said. "They have never been able to line up and play with people like they did these two teams, and we didn't have a good second half against South Choctaw. We didn't stay together as a team."

Being "mentally tired," Kervin felt, was at least partially to blame for the mistakes that allowed two second half touchdowns to be called back in

BMX riders win big

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

Shelby County and Oak Mountain BMX riders are bringing a lot of national number plates home to Alabama following racing in Louisville Kentucky's grand nationals.

Pelham's Brad Birdwell, the national number one in his 13-expert class last year, gained a national number one standing as a 14-expert and added a national number one in the 14-cruiser class to his growing list of BMX riding accolades.

"He is something of a phenomenon," said Oak Mountain BMX spokesman Steve Cumbo, numbering Birdwell among the most talented BMX riders in the country.

Alabaster's Bo Cumbo raced to a fourth place finish in the 14-novice class. Alabaster brothers Jason and Jimmy Fortenberry raced well in 10-expert and 14-expert respectively, and both could receive national plates when final tallies are in.

Pelham's Brian King ended the national ranked among the top 20 in his 16-cruiser class and among the nation's top 40 in the 16-expert class, also putting him in line for a possible national plate.

Two of Oak Mountain's girls came home with national number two plates in hand, Danna Irwin as an eight-year-old and Nattalie Underwood as an 11-year old.

Eric Zupko should finish among the top three in the nation when final points in the nine-expert class are tallied, while Scott Underwood and Michael Morton are ranked among the nation's top 40 in their classifications as well.

"We were all extremely happy with the kids from this area and from Alabama," Cumbo said following the trip. "They rode well enough to make everyone proud."

Wildcats run over Lions for 32-11 win

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

What happens when you take speed and point it in the right direction. If you are the Shelby County Wildcats, good things happen.

Some halftime adjustments plus the running of Ambrose

Woods added up to a 32-11 win for Shelby County as they played a not-too-gracious host to the Briarwood Lions in the season opener for BCHS. Woods raced for 250 yards and three touchdowns to pace the Wildcats to their second win of the season, most of it coming in the second half when good blocking and raw speed enabled Woods to get around the corner of the Briarwood defense.

"In the first half, they stacked their linebackers and brought them hard on every play," SCHS coach Randle Cassidy said. "We didn't adjust as well as we should have initially, but after we talked at halftime we were able to get Ambrose outside."

"Getting Ambrose outside," Briarwood coach Rocky Sayle agreed, was probably the key to the game.

"When they changed their blocking assignments at the half we didn't adapt well," Sayle said, "probably just one of those things that goes along with a first game and kids who have very little game experience."

Sayle also noted that his defense became less aggressive as the game wore on and began to miss tackles in the second half.

"That's our fault as a coaching staff for not teaching them to tackle well enough," Sayle said. "We'll definitely work on that this week."

Sayle did, however, see some things that pleased him in his team's first game effort.

"We were able to move the ball at time, especially in the first half," he said. "We were not able to do that against them last year."

County defense continued to improve, Cassidy said, in giving up less than 100 yards in total offense to Briarwood.

Cassidy tabbed linebacker Edmund Buie as perhaps the most outstanding defensive player of the night, his stats including one interception. David Wood, Tim Billingsley, Jasper English and Tony Revis also drew praise from SCHS coaches for their defensive work.

Offensively, linemen Kevin Morris, Jonathon Davis and Buie were cited for their play along with backfield players Ambrose Woods, David Woods and Chris Gould.

David Woods, Cassidy said, set the tone of the game early in the first half when he took a short pass from Chris Gould, broke away from the defender and went 82 yards for a score.

A negative aspect of the win for SCHS is the loss of tailbacks Johnny Boose and Phillip Howell to injuries. Boose is expected to miss four weeks with a knee problem and Howell two weeks with an ankle injury, leaving the 'Cats without much depth at what had been a strong position.

Chelsea scores second straight shutout win

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

It was the first play from scrimmage for the Marion Institute Tigers. The Chelsea Hornets, making their first road trip under new head coach Mike Utter, dug in opposite the MI team.

There was tension, then a flurry of action. Then Chelsea's David Shaw leapt to his feet after sacking the Marion quarterback.

The Chelsea defense had made its presence known.

The rest, as they say, was history as the Hornets secured their second shut-out win of the season - 18-0 over MI.

"He really nailed the quarterback before he could move," Utter said. "That set the tone for the entire game."

The tone of the game for Chelsea was defense. A defense that allowed MI less than 50 yards in total offense for the game, a defense that caused five turnovers and a defense in which every Chelsea Hornet had a part.

"I think every person on the team had at least one tackle," Utter said. "They were really spread out, and it's allowing a lot of folks to get some game experience that should help us down the road."

Linebacker Mike Beavers and defensive lineman Robert Burcham led the Chelsea defensive unit, Beavers picking off two passes and returning one for a touchdown and Burcham getting in on eight hits to lead the team in that category.

Utter also applauded the play of others such as Mike Pittman and Daryle Whitaker and the coaching preparation of Lee Hibbs.

The sound play of the Chelsea defense continued to support an improving offense effort, and Utter noted improvements and more maturity in the offensive efforts of his team during the some little things to hurt ourselves with this being a new system, but we fix things each week."

Utter sees, if the effort and work continue, his Hornets becoming a good offensive football team as the season progresses.

STATS

Chelsea	FD	Marion
12	rushing	1
168	passing	37
37	turnovers	9
0	penalty yards	5
30		15

The Chelsea offense found — once again — a leader in tailback Larry Offord. Offord rushed for 121 yards and two touchdowns to pace the Hornets, while Allen Moody added 60 yards.

Utter also noted improvements in the play of center Tommy Kelley, whose centering in the shot-gun style Notre Dame box offense is a critical factor in every play. In addition, guard Brian Brasher and tackle Robert Burcham are making the right side of the Chelsea offense a productive place to run.

"We've played everybody we have in both of our ball games," Utter said, "and we have seen good things from a lot of people."

Utter knows the Chelsea schedule will get tougher down the road but hopes experience gained now will help some newly game-tested Hornets in a tight situation later.

SCORING SUMMARY

Larry Offord scored on a first quarter run of nine yards and a third quarter run of 11 yards to give Chelsea a 12-0 lead.

A Mike Beavers interception and 15 yard TD return added an insurance score in the fourth period.

Pelham track star gets UAB scholarship

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

Steve McDonough has become the first Pelham track athlete to gain a college scholarship.

McDonough signed recently to run cross country for the UAB Blazers. McDonough also plans to participate in the newly formed track program at UAB, running the mile, two mile, 1500 meters and possibly the steeplechase.

McDonough was a three-year letterman in both track and cross country for Pelham.

He gained entrance in the state track meet each of the three seasons and went to the state meet in cross country for two of the three years, earning all-state honors each year.

In 1985, McDonough finished first in the state in the two mile and fourth in the mile run enroute to an all-state performance and an invitation to the exclusive meet of champions.

"Starting with Steve," said Pelham track coach Kevin Crook, "the distance runners have been the basis of the track program here at Pelham."

"UAB is getting a good one to build their program with," Crook added.

Warriors come close against Bibb County

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

So close, but yet so far... One foot may have made the difference in a win and a loss for the Thompson Warriors last Friday night.

After giving up 27 unanswered points to the Bibb County Choctaws on their home field in Centerville, the Warriors rode good execution of a two-minute style offense to three touchdowns of their own by the one minute 30 second mark of the fourth period.

The Warriors then recovered an on-side kick that would have given them the ball, but the kick was judged to be a foot short of the necessary 10 yard distance required for on-siders and the Choctaws had the ball and the game in their hands.

"It would have been interesting to see what would have happened," THS coach Doug Wheeler said. "I felt like we were moving the ball well and had them a little off balance."

We could have won the ballgame," he added, "but we didn't have any business being 27 points behind to begin with."

Defensive execution was a major problem for the Warriors on their first road trip. While Wheeler noted that his interior linemen were giving away a lot of size and weight to a strong Bibb County offensive front, the THS coach believes his group can still play better defense than they showed against the Choctaws.

"At times they simply overpowered us," Wheeler said.

Conversely, the THS offensive front was one of the brightest spots in the loss.

Rebels strike like lightning to beat Escambia

Swarming defense

There was no rain in the Harpersville area Friday night, but Escambia Academy was struck by lightning.

The Coosa Valley Academy Rebels "jumped on" their visitors from south Alabama quickly, CVA head coach John Niblett said, scoring once on the opening drive and posting an 18-0 halftime margin enroute to a 36-12 win.

"We were just quicker and more aggressive than they were early, and that made the difference in the ballgame," Niblett said.

The game showed "200 percent improvement" from the Rebels loss a week ago, a loss marked, Niblett said, with a general lack of aggressive play by his team.

"I'm content with our improvement," Niblett said after having won his first game as CVA head coach. "A coach is never satisfied, but I'm definitely pleased with the kids improvement."

One of the major areas of improvement, Niblett said, was the Coosa Valley defense. After a personnel shuffle that moved Kerry Shaw to the defensive line and Bobby Crumpton and Toby Green to linebackers, all three played well. Shaw led the CVA defensive stats with 12 individual tackles and four assists, including three sacks. All came while playing opposite a 240-pound lineman for the visitors from Escambia.

168	passing	70

Mark Rettig, Neil Rasmussen, Steve Glass, John Love and Brian Moore "blocked like we are capable of blocking" on the offensive line, and that allowed several CVA players to have good offensive games as well, Niblett said.

Robert Strickland ran up 196 rushing yards and scored twice to lead the CVA ground attack. Mike Payne made two touchdowns grabs among his three catches on the night, good for 128 yards.

And sophomore Tad Niblett continued to run the Rebel offense well, passing for 168 yards and two scores and scoring twice on the ground.

"Most of what we saw tonight was positive," Niblett said. "The kids continue to play with character and showed even more oneness than before."

The Rebs will take a couple of days off from practice this week with an open date on the schedule this weekend. Niblett wants some bumps and bruises to have time to heal and to give his players a chance to "do something else they may want to do for a couple of days."

Robert Strickland opened the Rebels scoring in the second half with a 55-yard touchdown run to increase the lead to 24-0.

Mike Payne caught his second TD pass of the game later in the third quarter, a 40 yard toss from Tad Niblett.

Escambia's Kevin Woods put the visitors on the board with a one yard run late in the third quarter.

Coosa Valley answered when Robert Strickland scored his second TD on a three yard run early in the fourth quarter.

Woods scored again for Escambia, this time on a two-yard run to make the final score 36-12.

All PAT attempts in the game failed.

Alverson says his Eagles won't quit

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

"We've got two choices here," said Calera Eagle coach Danny Alverson after his Eagles' 34-0 loss to Tarrant this week. "We can either keep fighting or hang up our shoes and go home. I'm going to keep fighting, because I know these kids won't quit."

As Alverson looks back on the first 0-2 start in his coaching career, it is the little things — the growing pains — that are causing problems for his team.

Little things like little people — a noseguard that weighs 130 pounds but who continues to improve — or little mental errors — the four turnovers suffered by the Calera run-and-shoot offense — or little numbers along an offensive line that has born the brunt of Calera injuries — the latest loss of Joey Killingsworth to a deep thigh bruise.

STATS
Tarrant		Calera
15	FD	9
311	rushing	49
40	passing	96
3	turnovers	4
125	penalty yards	10

But in the second week of a season Alverson admits may hold more growing pains, the Eagles are also beginning to show growth.

"There are some positive things in all of this," Alverson said. "The biggest asset in all of this is that these kids are still excited about playing. They're not making excuses and are working harder every day."

One of the biggest positive points on the field against Tarrant was a run and shoot offense that began to shoot straight. Calera quarterback Mark Jones completed 11 of 19 passes in the first half before leaving the game early in the third quarter with a should injury.

"It was the best Mark has looked and it will give us something to build on," Alverson said.

Senior wide-out Byron White caught the ball well in the first half, Alverson added, hauling in five receptions for 60 yards.

Offensive linemen Killingsworth, Erwin Jones, Byron Devinner, Bret Holcomb, Chuck

Amos and Greg Peoples continued to play well, giving up only their second sack in two ballgames — two ballgames in which Calera passed an average of 35 times.

Defensively, Amos continued to play consistently well on the line, leading all Calera defenders with 16 tackles.

"We're not that down," Alverson said. "We'll keep playing hard and eventually something good will happen to this team."

Vincent Yellow Jackets

was pleased with his team showing, especially with the fact that their take-away — give-away totals for the year improved to a plus seven.

The Jackets claimed seven turnovers against Lincoln, Robby Green with two interceptions and Gary Peterson with one and Reginald Riggins, Pat Yowe, Hugh Kidd and Demetrius Melton with fumble recoveries.

The Jackets gave up only two turnovers, leaving them five on the plus side. Added to a plus two figure from last week, Garrett is pleased that his defense is taking the ball away from opponents a lot more often than the offense is giving it away.

Individual stand-outs on defense included Derek Whitfield with 11 tackles, George McConico with nine tackles, Peterson with eight tackles, the interception and a fumble-causing hit, Riggins with eight tackles, two fumble-causing licks and one fumble recovery and Vernon Kidd with eight tackles.

SCORING SUMMARY

Early in the second period, Lincoln quarterback Linn Pearson gave the visitors a lead with a one yard TD run. The PAT kick was good and Lincoln lead 7-0.

Vincent scored mid-way through the second period when George McConico turned a Dexter Keith punt block into a 30 yard TD return. Vernon Kidd's PAT tied the score at 7-7.

A Pat Yowe fumble recovery at the Lincoln 16 set up the final Vincent score, Reginald Riggins getting the tally on a three yard run. Kidd's PAT — the eventual difference in the ballgame — was good for a 14-7 lead.

Lincoln scored on a one yard run by Pearson after a long pass play to draw to within one point at 14-13. On the Lincoln PAT attempt, a low snap caused the Lincoln holder to scramble and Vernon Kidd, Hugh Kidd, Glen Morris and Derek Whitfield combined to make the stop and preserve the win.

the game with South Choctaw. In addition, the Raiders lost a fumble on the South Choctaw one to end a third drive.

"We just didn't stay sharp mentally," Kervin added, "so we didn't improve from the first game to the second. That was my biggest disappointment of the week."

But on to the positive points. Take for example, a Shelby defense that allowed less than 100 yards in offense against South Choctaw and less than 130 against Escambia.

Kervin credited his front five with much of that defensive success.

"We don't have a lot of folks breaking into the open thanks to them," he said. Vince Pickett, Mike Williams, Brad Stamps, Ched Burton and Ricky Shaw made up the Shelby defensive front, with Burton the leading tackler in the win over South Choctaw.

Ray Smith also had a good game against Choctaw, making one interception and one fumble recovery from his corner position on defense.

The Raider offense had its finest moments in the opener with Escambia, a game in which Kervin said his offensive unit executed well.

Senior quarterback Doug Thomas passed for 84 yards and rushed for another 40 in the game, giving him over 120 yards in total offense for the game.

Mike Upton led all SA rushers with 113 yards, most of it coming over the strong-side blocking combo of guard Vince Pickett and tackle Ched Burton.

Burton was the Raider's leading tackler in the Escambia game with seven total hits. Lee Jarvis and David Mims recorded fumble recoveries in the game.

"Last week was a crazy week," Kervin finally said with a sigh. "I'm just glad we got through it."

SCORING SUMMARY

SOUTH CHOCTAW
Shelby scored mid-way

through the first quarter when Doug Thomas connected with Jeff Dunaway on a 42 yard scoring pass. The PAT attempt failed.

The Raiders moved to a 9-0 halftime lead when Vince Pickett hit a 37-yard field goal late in the second period.

Mike Upton's two-yard TD run ended the Shelby scoring midway through the third quarter. A Thomas to Kelly Tibbals pass was good for the conversion and a 17-0 final.

ESCAMBIA

Shelby scored twice in the first half, once one a three-yard run by Mike Upton in the first period and once on Doug Thomas' second quarter one-yard run.

Vince Pickett conversion made the halftime score 14-0.

Escambia scored in the third quarter following an interception, but the Raiders answered with fourth quarter tallys by Upton and Thomas.

Again, Pickett's PAT attempts were good and Shelby finished with a 28-8 win.

Laura Shorter: the Lord knows what's best

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

Space travel was only a dream when Laura Shorter was born. In fact, the airplane had yet to be invented when the Calcis woman came into the world a century ago.

Even though science has come a long way during her lifetime, Shorter points out there is one thing man will never be able to do.

"Man has made a heap of things," she says, "but he can't make a living soul."

A deeply religious woman, Shorter made her commitment to Jesus when she was 10-years-old and says He has been with her since that day.

"I don't know why I've lived so long," she says, "but the Lord knows what's best."

Not only has Shorter had a long life, but a healthy one as well. In 100 years, there has only been one occasion when she had to visit the doctor.

Her daughter, Willie May Worthington, says her mother had a bad cough 12 years ago and she couldn't get rid of it.

"We took her to the doctor and he gave her some medicine which cleared it up." Now Shorter only visits the doctor for annual checkups.

Her mother can read without glasses, Worthington says, but the only book she's interested in is the Bible.

Although she has a big family Bible, the one she reads from most of the time, was given to her by a granddaughter as a Christmas present eight years ago.

"She watches television some," Worthington says. "But the program has to have a lot of action or something of a religious nature."

When her mother listens to preaching she likes, Worthington says the elderly woman is apt to shout something like, "Go ahead Bud!"

Shorter and her late husband Fletcher founded the Duncan Chapel AME church after moving to Calcis in 1919.

Worthington says her mother still attends services which are held at the church on the second and fourth Sundays.

Sitting on the front pew, Worthington says her mother often leads the singing in her still strong voice.

Without much urging, Shorter will sing her favorite hymns for a visitor. They are: What a Fellowship and Dark Was the Night.

The church also inspires her mother to get out and walk, Worthington says. Since it is only a short distance from Worthington's home, where Shorter

Brindley appointed UM vice-president

Dr. Joseph D. Brindley, executive assistant to the president and director of university and public affairs, has been named the University of Montevallo's second-ever vice president, effective in September, UM President Jim Vickrey announced recently.

Vickrey said Brindley's title will be changed to vice president for university and public affairs as part of a trustee-approved streamlining of the institution's administrative structure.

"I am pleased that Dr.

Brindley has agreed to become only the second vice president in UM history," Vickrey said. "I am also pleased to have an opportunity thus to reward him for eight years of superior service to the university."

Areas for which Brindley will have administrative authority and responsibility include State and Federal Relations, Information Services, Development, Faculty-Student Service, Alumni Affairs, Annual Fund Giving and the University's Riverchase Center in North Shelby County.

"I am very pleased that Dr. Vickrey and the UM Board of Trustees have expressed confidence in my ability in electing me for this position. I accept the challenge with great enthusiasm," Brindley said.

Brindley, a native of Blount County, holds a bachelor's degree from Jacksonville State University (1964), a master's degree from the University of Alabama (1966) and a doctorate in educational administration from the University of Alabama (1976). In addition, he was a Kellogg Fellow at Michigan State University in 1971.

He has been at Montevallo, where he holds a faculty appointment in school administration in the College of Education, since the fall of 1977. He was the first new staff member hired at UM by Vickrey when he became president in August of the same year.

Prior to joining the staff at UM, he served as an elementary and secondary school teacher for eight years, director of community services at Snead State Junior College in Boaz for five years, special consultant for community colleges in the University of Alabama Institute of Higher Education Research and Services for two years, and assistant director of postsecondary education with the State Department of Education for two years.

He is also a former legislator, having served in the Alabama House of Representatives from 1974-1977. He resigned his house seat, in fact, when he came to UM.

He is married to Dr. Syble Hazelric Brindley, associate professor of health education at Montevallo. They have two children, Andy, a student at the University of Alabama, and Beth, a student at Montevallo High School.

Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk will visit the University of Montevallo September 18-19 to take part in the newly-established Hallie Farmer Lecture series.

He will address the public on "United States and Soviet Relations" Wednesday, Sept. 18, at 8 p.m. in Palmer Auditorium.

Rusk has also scheduled informal meetings with Montevallo students that Wednesday in Comer Auditorium at 10 a.m. and again at 3 p.m.

The former secretary of state for the Kennedy and Johnson administrations will speak to a student convocation on Thursday, Sept. 19, at 10 a.m. in Palmer Auditorium.

At present, Rusk is the Samuel Sibley Professor of International Law at the University of Georgia. He also serves as advisor to the "Georgia Journal of International and Comparative Law" and the International Moot Court team.

A native of Cherokee County, Rusk attended public schools in Atlanta and received an A.B. degree from Davidson College in North Carolina. He was named a Rhodes Scholar and continued his studies at Oxford where he earned a B.A. in 1933 and an M.A. in 1934.

His background in law and his previous teaching experience both come from the University of California School of Law at Berkeley and Mills College in California where he was associate professor and dean of the faculty.

His work with the Department of State began in 1946 during World War II. He became assistant chief of the Division of International Security Affairs and was later named assistant to the Secretary of War. In 1950, Rusk became assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

DEAN RUSK
...coming to UM

The public is invited to attend all events of the Hallie Farmer Lecture series, which is named in honor of the former chairperson of the UM Social Sciences Department.

Dr. Farmer was also a crusader for political reforms in Alabama in the 1940s and '50s. She successfully campaigned for state prison reform, the repeal of the state poll tax and improvements to the legislative process in Alabama.

She was one of three women to be inducted into the Alabama Women's Hall of Fame when it was created at Judson College in 1971.

The lecture series, established this year, is funded by donations from friends and former students of Hallie Farmer and the University of Montevallo.

stays part of the time, the elderly woman takes daily strolls to the building which holds so many memories for her.

Although Shorter isn't able to do much around the house, Worthington says her mother can make her own bed and sometimes helps with the sweeping.

One of the things Shorter enjoys are trips into Vincent or to one of the shopping malls around Birmingham.

Displaying her sense of humor on one of her trips to Vincent after her 100th birthday, Shorter greeted a friend with the announcement she was now "sweet 16."

Shorter's husband, whom she married in 1905, was a railroad man, so she was left to plow and work the farm in his absence. However, she always found time for community activities.

Worthington remembers her mother teaching reading and writing when adult education classes were held in the community. She also recalls her mother being active in the PTA and serving several terms as president.

Shorter was also one of the founders of the Lilly B. Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, and the Home Mutual Aide, a group dedicated to assisting the sick and helping with the burial of the dead.

Life has been good to her Shorter says. "If you let Jesus be your leader and your guide," she explains, "you come out more than conqueror."

Shorter was one of ten children born to Zeke and Sally Hughley of Opelika. Her birthday is Aug. 25.

When she was growing up, the only transportation available was her own two feet or the family's horse drawn wagon or buggy.

However, there were occasional automobile rides because the family she worked for owned one of the first cars in town.

During her lifetime, Shorter has witnessed the world change around her.

But some things don't change. As she sings a favorite hymn, keeping time with her fingers, it's obvious that time hasn't changed the faith she found 90 years ago.

Shorter and her husband had seven children, three of whom are still living. Worthington and her brother Walter live in Calais; Clinton, who keeps his mother part of the time, lives in Leeds.

Shorter has two living brothers: Robert Hughley, Idlewild, Mich., and Charlie Hughley, Chester, Pa.

The family tree also consists of 15 grandchildren, 29 great grandchildren and 23 great-great grandchildren.

Reunion shared at family homestead

Letter to the editor:

I feel the urge to report on a week-long family gathering at our home, featuring our two sons, two daughters-in-law and five grandchildren, all down from Washington and New York for the event.

Even before the horde of nine loved ones descended on our little hill, I managed to cut and infect my important right thumb. Three trips to doctors failed to restore the member to usefulness, with the consequence that I could only watch as my eleven-year-old grandson dug in his search for the long-forgotten artesian well back in the woods near the old family homestead. And, I couldn't even challenge my sons at tennis — I could only assure them that I would have won.

But, when it come to washing dishes some three and four times daily, I was found to be up to the task — no interference there. But, my daughters-in-law with the help of their husbands, prepared delicious meals — that made dishwashing almost a pleasure, while adding a few unwanted pounds to my wife, Bernell, and myself.

Anthropologists report that man's emergence from apes was made possible by the placement of his thumb opposite his fingers, enabling him to pick up things and to throw accurately. As my thumb is still useless, I guess you know where that leaves me.

It has been said, "There is nothing so beautiful as the pitter-patter of little feet, as they load up to go home."

My wife and I are exhausted with love — thank God for families and reunions.

nurses are praised

Letter to the editor:

You know, it's nice to see credit given when credit is due, i.e. nursing care at Shelby Medical Center, by one of your readers this week.

If you think about it, isn't that what counts when comparing SMC to Birmingham hospitals? Except for a few specialties, the services and the physicians are the same. Most of our area physicians are on staff in at least one Birmingham hospital and at

Nunnelley honors grads

Nunnelley State Technical College honored five Shelby County summer graduates at a August 28 assembly and reception.

Automotive mechanics student Arthur Timothy Pilgreen of Calera, cosmetology student Tamela Gail Roy of Helena, electronics student Roger Dale Hamilton of Montevallo,

Humane Society will hold Dog of the Year contest

The Humane Society of Shelby County will hold its First Annual Dog of the Year Contest.

along with your picture and story to the Humane Society of Shelby County no later than October 16.

The winner will be announced at our Open House, Sunday, Oct. 20 at 2 p.m. The winning picture and story will be chosen by popular vote at our Open House, Oct. 20.

Program offers conservation aid

The Alabama Resources Conservation Program (ARCP), enacted by the Legislature of Alabama on January 30, 1985, established the Alabama Agricultural and Conservation Development Commission for the purpose of allocating cost-share grants to individuals for conservation purposes.

This program, funded through interest on oil windfall profits is for the encouragement and financing of soil conservation, water quality improvement, and reforestation and forest improvement practices in the state.

The commission will, through the state department, allocate funds received by the commission for the cost-sharing grants to the soil and water conservation districts. Any land holder whose land lies within a conservation district are eligible for these funds. Cost-share shall be available for conservation practices needed to reduce erosion, improve agricultural water quality, or improve forest resources.

In order to qualify for a cost-share grant, an eligible person shall file an application for allocated funds and have a conservation plan approved by the conservation district in which the applicant's land is located.

Eligible practices include such items as permanent vegetative cover establishment, terrace systems, diversions, grazing land protection, conservation tillage, sod waterways, animal waste control facilities, forest tree planting, forest tree stand improvement, etc.

For a complete list and specific requirements on each practice, contact the local soil

Foster children eligible for Medicaid

More Department of Youth Services children will be able to find foster homes because of a recent agreement between three state agencies.

As of September 1, children placed by DYS in foster homes were eligible for Medicaid services.

Medicaid Commissioner Faye S. Baggiano said that many children with records of delinquency currently living in DYS facilities would benefit from placement in foster family homes. Foster families in Alabama have been reluctant to accept DYS children because the children had no health care benefits. If a DYS foster child got sick, the foster family was responsible for the medical bill.

The new agreement will remove the foster families' medical liability and make the children easier to place.

In addition to DYS and the Alabama Medicaid Agency, the State Department of Pensions and Security will certify the eligibility of children for the program.

The agreement will also be financially beneficial to the state. Currently, the state pays the full cost of medical care for children in DYS facilities. The federal government will pay 72 percent of health care costs of Medicaid-covered DYS children. DYS will pay Medicaid's state share of the medical costs — 28 percent.

Rabies vaccinations checked this month

Beginning this month, representatives of the Shelby County Health Department will begin door to door follow-up on the rabies law which requires every owner of dogs or cats to have their animals vaccinated annually.

Earlier in July, all veterinarians in the county participated in a week long program to give vaccinations at a reduced rate. This resulted in a good response overall. However, some areas had a very low number vaccinated and these areas will be targeted for follow-up. Each owner will be asked to present a current tag or vaccination papers for each animal. If they cannot show proof of vaccination a notice will be issued by the inspector. The owner will then have 10 days to provide proof of vaccination. A penalty fee will be charged by the veterinarian for these late vaccinations.

If the owner fails to comply with the notice, further legal actions will be taken by the Health Department which can result in a fine of up to $500.

and water conservation district, Alabama Forestry Commission or Soil Conservation Service. The office is located at Columbiana and the telephone number is 669-7136.

Applications will be accepted for 30 days beginning September 16. Landowners will not be contacted directly, but interested participants should regard today's announcement as notification of the program.

Kennedy wins sewing contest

Renee Kennedy of Alabaster won first place in the Alabama Farm Bureau sewing contest children's division.

Kennedy was recognized at the annual meeting in Columbia, which about 75 members attended.

In Huntsville, Kennedy's 8-year-old daughter, Brooke, modeled the original design which was inspired by the Victorian period.

The dropped waist features a wide ribbon sash and insertions of lace and "entre-deux" combine with puffing. Front and skirt follow this style in a lace-edged ruffle. The three-quarter sleeves have similar designs with wide lace beading and ribbon threaded with it.

Splawn goes to nat'l meet

Postmaster Billie A. Splawn of Wilton is one of the more than 2,000 delegates who attended the 82nd Annual National Convention of the National League of Postmasters in the nation on Aug. 20-30.

The central theme of the convention is the rededication to serving America and continuing efforts toward improving postal service deserved and paid for by all our nation's citizens.

Postmaster R. Fain Ham-bright, National President of the League of Postmasters, reminded delegates to the convention that, "Because of your efforts, Americans enjoy the most reliable postal system at the lowest cost of any industrialized nation on earth. And, service is still the most important product we have to sell."

"It's Postmasters like Splawn who make our nation's Postal Service both personal and responsive to the needs of citizens in the largest city to the smallest hamlet."

"Postmasters are often the only evidence of federal government in thousands of small communities. The post office is more than just a place to send and receive mail, it's the center of life in the community."

The League, as a professional management organization, has led the fight to preserve equitable postal service in rural areas of the country and the mandate to provide reliable service at a price our citizens can afford.

Troubadour band is winner of third annual horse show

Gusts of wind whipped dust clouds into the faces of exhibitors and spectators at Montevallo's Labor Day Horse Show.

Thunder sounded in the distance, and for a brief time, rain fell.

But when it was all over - after 46 classes - the band boosters found they'd had another successful show.

Show Chairman Martha Ann Eisenberg said there were 255 entries in the third annual event. She said the threatening weather had undoubtedly kept some exhibitors from coming.

In addition to the horse show, the band boosters also had a variety of entertainment on tap during the day.

There was Dixieland and Bluegrass music, a karate demonstration, a performance by the Troubadour band, a space bounce, pony rides and a dunking machine.

The Labor Day event also featured arts and crafts and a barbeque meal for hungry visitors.

All proceeds from the event went to the high school band program.

Wetting a line

Despite a horse show and various other forms of entertainment in Orr Park on Labor Day, these young fellas found their enjoyment in fishing in Shoal Creek.

Nice halter.

Kevin Miller admires the halter on Wayne Booth's pony as the two exhibitors wait to enter the show ring in a halter class for ponies, 50 inches and under.

Booth wins

most points

Kelly Booth wanted to be high point winner of the Montevallo Band Boosters' Labor Day Horse Show.

She had accomplished that feat last year on her Quarter Horse, Ace. Now she wanted to do it again on her Palimino, Sister Sandy.

When the points were totalled up last Monday, the 14-year-old rider from Helena found she had accomplished her goal.

200 enrolled in county community college

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

The Shelby Community College Center officially opened its doors to students last week, welcoming over 200 to its initial quarter of instruction.

The center, which is currently housed in Oak Mountain State Park, is the result of a consortium effort by five area colleges designed to meet the post-secondary educational needs of the Shelby County area.

Nunnelley State of Childersburg, the consortium's fiscal and administrative agent, Lawson State Community College of Birmingham and Bessemer State Technical College are currently offering courses through the Shelby center.

Jefferson State Junior College and the University of Montevallo were also a part of the original consortium mandated by state officials to serve the needs in the Shelby County area, but neither school is offering courses in the location during the current fall quarter.

"Pap" Morris, a North Shelby resident who is part of the administrative staff at Nunnelley, is serving as the Dean of Instruction for the Shelby Community College Center. Morris said last week that the number of students registered for the fall quarter equalled his wildest dreams for an initial enrollment and officials were pleased with the center's reception in its initial term.

"We are very pleased with the progress so far," Morris said. "Everyone here at the park has bent over backward to help us with opening the facility and the representatives of the various colleges have been very cooperative in ironing out details for instruction."

Sara Connell, Director of Academic Service, said the computer science technology courses offered during the initial quarter were by far the center's most popular offerings. She added that requests for additional courses are already coming in, and officials hope the curriculum offerings can be expanded by the winter quarter which begins with registration December 2.

"We've had so many positive comments from people in the area," Connell said. "Most of them feel it's about time there were courses available in this area." The current quarter of instruction began September 5 and will continue through November 27.

Courses are being offered on a collegiate schedule and hours gained are from the accredited institutions making up the consortium.

Ribbon Cutting

First Place has opened its tenth Birmingham area store at Inverness Plaza on U.S. 280 in Shelby County. Shelby County Probate Judge Tommy Snowden cut the ribbon during the grand opening ceremony as owners Mike and Bud Darnell and manager Kent Bailey look on. Speaking on behalf of the company, Mike Darnell said, "We are a first class operation. We offer money back guarantees on products and services, free coffee for customers, and a convenient schedule for the working man or woman as well as for the whole family." First Place also has two franchise stores in Gadsden. (photo special to the Reporter)

SCCT presents play at Strand Theatre

The Odd Couple will be performed by the Shelby County Community Theatre in Montevallo September 12, 13 and 14, according to Mary Frances Tipton, president of the group's board of directors.

She described the Neil Simon play as a "classic comedy about the conflicts between two divorced men living together. One is a messy slob and the other is a super-neat fanatic."

The play is being directed by Pam Middaugh.

The character of Oscar Madison will be played by Karl Perkins and Felix Ungar by Marty Everse.

Acting as Madison and Ungar's poker-playing friends will be George Inzer, Wayne Beatty, Wes Westphal and Larry Smith.

Sharon Morgan and Joanie Alvey will be the Pigeon sisters.

"The big excitement is not just the play, but that we're moving into a new building," Tipton said. The play will be performed upstairs at the recently renovated Strand Theatre in Montevallo.

The old balcony has been refloored and walled in, making a lovely small theatre, she said.

Another special note about the play is that the Saturday performance will benefit the Mary Alice Ballentine scholarship fund for a University of Montevallo theatre student.

Ballentine was one of the founders of the community theatre.

This year's scholarship recipient, Naomi Metz, designed the set for the upcoming play.

Tickets for the Saturday performance will be $10. To purchase a Saturday ticket, call Tipton at 665-6499.

Tickets for Thursday and Friday performances cost $5 for adults and $3.50 for students. For information, call the Strand box office at 665-5134.

RSVP VOLUNTEERS
...vital to SMC

Volunteers meet at hospital

Members of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program met for a luncheon at Shelby Medical Center in August. The volunteers viewed SMC's community slide presentation and learned of the hospital's awareness campaign.

The volunteer program is an organization of men and women over the age of 60, who volunteer time and services to their communities. They serve in nursing homes, help senior citizens with small chores around the home, serve as tutors and monitor isolated and home-bound individuals.

At SMC, the RSVP volunteers operate the first floor information desk and deliver magazines to patients.

"We are fortunate to have the RSVP volunteers at SMC. Their service is invaluable to the hospital," said Assistant Administrator Sylvia Sumners, who is in charge of SMC's volunteer programs.

UM announces plays, films

A spicy comedy, a powerful drama and a charming children's story headline the University of Montevallo's 1985-86 theatrical season, while 10 classic film presentations round out the theatre department's offerings.

UM Theatre opens its season with Rumpelstiltskin, the last tale of a magical creature whose powers can change straw into gold. A sparkling dramatization by Charlotte Chorpenning, America's leading children's theatre playwright, "Rumpelstiltskin" is supercharged with romance, comedy, action, music, dance and colorful 14th century costumes.

Special children's performances will be held Oct. 1-4 at 10 a.m. in Palmer Auditorium. A performance for the general public is scheduled for Oct. 5 at 1 p.m. Tickets are $2 for general admission and $1.50 for groups of 20 or more.

Next on the bill is Agnes of God, an electrifying drama about a court-appointed psychiatrist who is asked to determine the sanity of a young nun accused of murdering her own baby.

A favorite of the critics when it ran on Broadway, this drama crackles with tension and has been applauded for its riveting characters.

As Montevallo's entry in the American College Theatre Festival, Agnes will run Nov. 6-9 at 8 p.m. in the Reynolds Theatre. Tickets are $4 for the general public and $2 for UM students.

A special bonus to UM theatregoers will be a scholarship benefit production of Samuel Becket's Waiting for Godot. It will run for two nights in November to raise money for the department's scholarship fund.

UM's spring offering is Niccolò Machiavelli's The Mandrake, a spicy story of fun and foolery set in Italy in 1507. This effervescent comedy chronicles the woes of an ancient miser who cannot satisfy his sensuous young wife. The script's modern translation promises dialogue as smartly up-to-date as Neil Simon.

The Mandrake is scheduled for April 16-19 at 8 p.m. in the Reynolds Theatre. Tickets are $4 for the general public and $2 for UM students.

In addition to the stage plays, UM Theatre will bring 10 classic films to campus. These include: two Ingmar Bergman films, The Seventh Seal and The Dove, September 29; Tennessee Williams' cannibalistic Suddenly Last Summer with Elizabeth Taylor and Montgomery Cliff, October 27; and the award-winning Woman in the Dunes, November 11.

Also showing will be: The Wild Ones, starring a young Marlon Brando, November 24; Roman Polanski's Knife in the Water, December 8; and Mickey One, directed by Arthur Penn and starring Warren Beatty, January 28.

Also coming soon to Montevallo will be: Alphaville, a science fiction film, February 23; Franco Zeffirelli's The Taming of the Shrew with Ms.

Taylor again and two-time hubby Richard Burton, March 30; the Italian film Gospel According

March of Dimes holds jail and bail

The March of Dimes is holding its first "Shelby County Jail and Bail" September 12 and 13 to raise money to fight birth defects.

A "Celebrity Court" will be held at the Pelham Plaza Mall from, where community leaders and officials will be jailed until they can raise enough money by telephone pledges to pay their bail.

This "fun-raising" event is chaired by Annette Skinner, the county tax collector. Other committee members are Jim Davis and Susan Coyne.

In Alabama each year, 8,000 babies are born with birth defects, Skinner said.

The committee has been seeking volunteers for the event, and will pick people up for their incarceration as well as return them to their home or job.

The March of Dimes even offers "to have your spouse, boss, best friend or best enemy served with a warrant, picked up by law officials and hauled off to 'jail'."

For more information, call 933-6801.

Potential bestsellers beckon library patrons

by Nancy Woosley

Life settles into a regular routine as summer vacations end, children return to school and the fall football season opens. Pockets of time present new opportunities for pursuing any one of the potential best sellers soon to be available in the public libraries of Shelby County.

A highly gratifying blend of the mysterious and the macabre is found in Ray Bradbury's Death is a Lonely Business. This first novel since 1962 for the master of the supernatural tale presents a murder mystery in which a detective and a young writer seek the killer who has left bodies among the dismantled remains of a California amusement pier. Bradbury's use of a melancholy group of characters, a cheerless setting and a mournful tone adds to the sense of spine-tingling suspense.

A practical and potentially very popular how-to book for couples considers money-management and related financial concerns. Love and Money by Sylvia Porter and other contributors offers guidance to all kinds of "couples" on shared financial decision making, prenuptial agreements, budgeting, investing, and earnings. Going one step further, six budget makeovers demonstrate how advice can be implemented by couples from varied income levels and life-styles.

Think of the most sinfully delicious deserts imaginable and the name of Maida Heatter is brought to mind. Her latest collection of tempting concoctions further enhances her reputation, providing the means to put that "final touch" on the perfect meal — or diet!

The emphasis of Maida Heatter's Book of Great American Desserts is on U.S. Cooking — traditional favorites, national oddities and American expressions of classic creations. The difficulty of these "scratch" recipes range from beginner to intermediate. Readers are warned as to which recipes require greater talent and time. A valuable introductory section reviews equipment, supplies and techniques.

Allistair MacLean is back with the kind of novel that sparks one of those high adventure suspense movies. The hospital ship San Andreas finds itself in the midst of German U-boats and planes as an on-board saboteur adds to problems by killing all the lights. Without the 'red crosses,' it is a matter of shoot first and ask questions later. Bos'n Archie McKinnon manages to "save the day" with intuition, determination, and "seat of the pants" efforts but not before the reader is kept "on edge" with nail-biting scrapes and absorbing sleuthing.

Additional titles of interest are: •Kurt Vonnegut offers another hilarious tale with Galapagos, a story about the end of the world told by a million-year-old ghost. •A Palm Springs millionaire calls on two Los Angeles police detectives enjoying an all-expense paid busman's holiday to investigate the year-old unsolved murder of his son in Joseph Wambaugh's Judith Martin's wit and wisdom, previously revealed in Miss Manners' Guide to Rearing Perfect Children, turns to an examination of what democratic etiquette should be in Common Courtesy: In Which Miss Manners Solves the Problem that Baffled Mr. Jefferson. •The third book in Piers Anthony's Incarnations of Immortality series is titled With a Tangled Skein. The Irish lass Niobe takes on the duties of one of the three Fates in order to avenge her dead lover.

Supermarkets feature nutrition

Food World and Piggly Wiggly will join more than 8,000 supermarkets throughout the United States in celebration of the American Heart Association's (AHA) first annual national community nutrition event - American Heart's Food Festival.

The event is scheduled for September 8 through 14.

Food World and Piggly Wiggly will display Heart Happy

Food posters and bag stuffers to inform customers of the foods low in fat and cholesterol.

The Food Festival is designed to bring to the attention of the American public, an awareness of the AHA's lifesaving messages about nutrition and health.

According to the American Heart Association, more than 50 percent of middle-aged Americans have high cholesterol levels where the risk of heart disease begins to rise sharply.

"By making prudent choices in the foods we eat, blood cholesterol levels can usually be controlled in otherwise healthy people," Dr. Phillip Watkins, president, Alabama Affiliate, said.

During the Food Festival, the AHA hopes to bring to residents of Alabama educational information that they will be able to use to enhance their own health and that of their families.

Staff serves commission, county employees and public

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The Shelby County Commission office keeps busy with a variety of financial and book-keeping duties as well as making sure county operations comply with state regulations, according to Myra Davis, commission clerk-administrator.

Davis serves as acting treasurer of the county, maintaining balancing in checking accounts and transferring funds to cover all withdrawals. She assists the commission and county department heads with budget hearings and requests.

The office approves purchase orders and checks to see that departments do not spend more than is allotted to them.

The commission staff prepares semi-annual and annual financial statements and updates commissioners on county revenues.

The office must make sure the county complies with state regulations when a grant is received. The staff also monitors compliance with the state bid law and revenue sharing regulations.

Workers frequently serve as a clearinghouse on county information, either providing information or referring people to other departments. Davis said they receive calls about zoning, roads, the health department and various other county services.

Records from the airport authority, and county departments are kept in the commission office on the first floor of the courthouse. Personnel files, bill payments and insurance papers are some of the kinds of information kept there.

Payment of all county employees is coordinated through the commission office. Insurance for employees, county vehicles and the courthouse building itself is also managed in the office.

Davis, an Alabaster resident, has headed the office for two years. She has worked for the county since 1974, first in the probate office. About seven years ago, she transferred to the commission office.

Mary Green, Calera, is a budgetary clerk who works with the computer. Cecilia Ebert, Columbiana, works with book-keeping and purchase orders.

Estelle Summers, Harpersville, is the payroll clerk. She also works with tax reports. Book-keeper Ruth Sims, Columbiana, handles revenues and deposits.

Connie Thomas, Alabaster, is accounts payable clerk, coordinating due dates of county bills by computer. Gloria Wyatt, Columbiana, is deputy clerk and handles insurance claims and premiums and various other duties.

Organist to play Bach at UM

Concert organist Delbert Disselhorst will take part in the University of Montevallo's "Phenomenon Bach: II" series with a recital of "The Six Trio Sonatas of Bach" on Thursday, September 12.

"This will be an unusual opportunity to hear a performance of the entire six trio sonatas since they are rarely found in one concert," said Dr. Betty Louise Lumby, UM professor of music.

Bach, whose 300th birthday is being celebrated this year, composed the sonatas for this talented eldest son, Wilhelm Friedemann.

Stylistically, they represent a fusing of trio sonata technique, as seen in the works of Corelli, with the Italian Concerto style of Vivaldi, she said.

The recital will begin at 8 p.m. in Palmer Auditorium and the public is invited.

Disselhorst is professor of music and chairman of the organ department at the University of Iowa. As a concert artist, he has performed in the United States, Canada and Europe.

He appeared as a recitalist for the Region VI American Guild of Organists Convention in Kansas City in 1979 and for the Regional Convention in Milwaukee in 1981. Concert tours in Europe have included numerous recitals in Denmark, Germany and France.

A native of Illinois, Disselhorst earned both her bachelor and master of music degrees from the University of Illinois where he graduated as a Bronze Tablet Scholar.

As a recipient of a Fulbright grant in organ, he studied with Helmut Walcha in Frankfurt, Germany. He holds a doctorate of musical arts from the University of Michigan.

Disselhorst's recital is the second of five concerts in the "Phenomenon Bach: II" series at Montevallo. Other performances include; organist Timothy Wissler, September 19, organist Thomas Spacht, October 10; and organist Charles Snider, October 17.

This is the second UM series honoring the great composer. The first was presented last fall.

Pelham makes comeback win over Huffman

The Pelham 95-pound youth Panthers scored twice in the fourth quarter to take a 14-6 comeback win over Huffman.

Pelham quarterback Shawn Hall completed three of five passes for the youth Panthers good for 68 yards and two touchdowns.

Jeff McPeters was the Panthers leading receiver with two catches for 62 yards.

Derek Cunningham scored a PAT for the Panthers.

The Pelham defense gave up only 20 net yards in the game behind five tackles each from James Morris, John Kilpatrick, Joey Roberto and Derek Cunningham. Roberto also had an interception in the game.

The win left the 95-pound Panthers with a 2-0 record in pre-season play, their first win a 18-0 decision over the Thompson Youth Warriors.

Montevallo Elementary checks students' health

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

Results of a health fair held last week at Montevallo Elementary School may alert parents to potential medical problems of their children, according to Shirley Harrington, a teacher who helped coordinate the event.

Showing in eight Western classes, Kelly earned four blues, a second, two thirds and a fourth.

A rider since the age of ten, Kelly has been showing for the past three years in hunt seat and halter classes as well as in Western classes.

"Horses are a family hobby," said Mrs. Ann Booth, explaining that Kelly's younger brother Wayne has joined his sister on the show circuit.

Ann said the family went to Tulsa, Oklahoma in August, where Kelly and 17 other young people from Alabama competed in the American Junior Quarter Horse World event.

The children were given blue recording cards which will be used at each year's health fair for new notes and comparison to old information.

Harrington, a speech language pathologist; and Linda Cicero, a physical education teacher; coordinated the fair. Other members of the planning committee include Gary Harrelson, a Montevallo physician; Jimmy Jones, MES principal; Jessie Powell, a registered nurse with the Shelby County Health Department; Sharon Anderson, president of the parent teacher organization; and Bonnie Alexander, bookkeeper for MES.

Dr. Mike Mahan and his assistants gave dental checks at the fair.

Health department nurses Paula Watts and Annette Garrison checked for head lice. Parents recorded height and weight.

Nannette Meline, a University of Montevallo professor, and speech pathology and audiology students gave hearing checks.

Linda Cicero and Tim Ray, MES physical education teachers, and Dr. Syble Brindley of UM and university physical education students, checked for scoliosis, percentage of body fat and physical fitness.

Dr. Michael Anderson had planned to give vision checks, but was unable to do so because of illness. Harrington was not sure what the school would do about missing the vision testing.

In the past, the school has made some of these health tests throughout the year. Harrington said the tests were coordinated for the two-day period, with others added.

Annexation bill stalled

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

A bill requiring a county-wide vote before any part of Shelby County could be annexed by a city outside the county has been blocked in the Alabama Legislature.

Sen. Earl Hilliard of Birmingham objected to the bill, preventing it from passing along with the other local bills being routinely approved in the special session, said Sen. Butch Ellis of Columbiana.

Ellis said he immediately filed objections against all local Jefferson County bills.

The annexation bill is the only local Shelby County bill being held, he said.

The bill had already passed the house of representatives, with two dissenting votes from Jefferson County legislators, said Rep. Sonny Moore of Sterrett.

Shelby County representatives tried to block Jefferson County bills in the house after the bill was stalled in the senate, but were unsuccessful, Moore said.

Although one legislator can block a local bill in the senate, that is not necessarily true in the house of representatives, he said.

A representative's objections can be overcome with a vote by two-thirds of those present to suspend the rules and vote on the bill despite the objection, Moore said.

The two Shelby County representatives are outnumbered by 17 Jefferson County representatives, he said.

A number of Jefferson County bills had already been approved by the Legislature before the battle over the annexation bill arose, Moore said.

"They had passed most of the bills they wanted before this came up in the senate," he said.

He gave the example of a bill to increase the Birmingham mayor's salary, saying that had this not been previously approved, Jefferson County might have wanted it badly enough to withdraw the objection to the annexation bill.

Although the bill could still have a chance of approval technically, if the Rules Committee put it on a special order calendar, Ellis said this is highly unlikely to ever happen.

With the special session expected to end this week, both Ellis and Moore saw little chance for it to pass this time.

Rep. John Tanner, who introduced a similar bill in the last session, co-sponsored this bill. He said he felt the bill had a better chance of passing without his name on it because he had been identified with the controversy over last session's bill.

This session's bill is different because it is a constitutional amendment, Tanner said, a change designed to give the legislation "more force and effect, to better withstand legal attack," he said.

A constitutional amendment needs a two-thirds vote to pass.

Fire chief fights illegal dumping

by Elizabeth Patterson
Staff Writer

The majority of fires the County 17 Volunteer Fire Department was called to last winter were the result of people dumping garbage illegally and burning it, said Bobby Holsomback, assistant fire chief.

Fires averaged one or two a month, he said.

In the Brantleyville area around County Road 260, there are probably 25 or 30 illegal dumping sites, he said.

County 17 Fire Chief Ray Hutchinson said everything from household garbage to dead animals have been dumped along the roadway.

"Vinyl siding is a real problem when we are called to a fire," Hutchinson said. "It doesn't burn; it melts and puts off a toxic fume that can really make you sick.

"We had five fire calls during the last dry season," he said, "and we expect more fires with the upcoming dry season."

Hutchinson said he frequently patrols highways 270 and 260, keeping an eye out for would-be litterbugs, and he has even caught a few.

"One man pleaded with me not to prosecute him, if he would pick up his garbage and take it to a dump," Hutchinson said. "He did and I let him go. But from now on, I'm going to prosecute. The sheriff's department said they would be behind me 100 percent."

Hutchinson also has the help of Brantleyville residents who call him if they happen to see a vehicle, loaded with trash, drive into the area.

The Shelby County Sheriff's Department serves as the base unit for the County 17 Volunteer Fire Department, and Hutchinson said all he has to do is push the button on his portable radio to get a deputy.

The problem, however, is not limited to the Brantleyville area, said County Engineer Gary Ray.

"If you were to go out and start driving back roads, you would probably find well beyond a hundred sites that we don't even know about," he said.

When employees of the Department of Public Works are working in an area where dump sites have been reported, they remove the garbage.

"People have got to understand," he said.

Drivers' licenses may be issued by mail

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

A new procedure for issuing drivers' licenses from Montgomery instead of from each county may be repealed, according to Shelby County Probate Judge Tommy Snowden.

Snowden said a bill is being considered by the Alabama Legislature this session to continue to issue the licenses at county level.

Under the new system, people would apply for licenses at the probate office and receive a temporary license.

The probate office then would send the film and information to the state Department of Public Safety. In about 30 days, a picture license would be mailed to the address given by the applicant, said Major Harold Hammond, chief of the department's drivers' license division.

Snowden criticized the new procedure as inconvenient for the public. He objected to changing the issuing "when you have a good thing for the people and they like it."

He cited the delay in receiving a new picture license and the possibility of the license being lost in the mail as flaws in the

Commission discusses paving and Talladega water plant

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

County Engineer Gary Ray is working on a priority list of unpaved roads for the Shelby County Commission.

The commission will be having "serious talks about getting some of these roads paved," said Commissioner Gregg Rushton.

The commission was responding to a request by Laston Etress that a dirt road off State Highway 145 near Spring Creek Church be paved.

"We're going to look at all of them and try to figure out which one carries the highest priority," Commissioner Harold Davenport said.

Commissioner John Ames stressed the need to study the budget before committing funds to any new road projects.

Priority needs will be judged by the amount of traffic on a road and the number of homes it serves.

The commission also discussed its financial involvement with the water plant in Talladega County.

Davenport said Shelby County See COMMISSION, Page A-3

Sight aided

The week of October 7-13 is Alabama Lions Sight Conservation Week, and Columbiana Mayor Buck Falkner has signed a proclamation to note the observance in support of sight conservation. Among the many fundraising projects of the Columbiana Lions Club is the annual candy sale. Carl Jones, secretary/treasurer of the local club and candy sale chairman, already has started selling the chocolate bars for $1 each. Buyers not only get a good candy bar, but the wrapper is good for $1 and $2 off pizzas at Pizza Hut. (photo by Jim Parks)

Calera opens bids for projects, sets trash pick-up regulations

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

Bids for the expansion of Oliver Park, opened at Monday's city council meeting, were higher than anticipated.

The two bids received were $500,000 and $529,429. The council had expected around $300,000, Mayor George Roy said.

The project will be re-evaluated for where cuts might be made and other possible ways to lower the cost at a meeting of the Parks and Recreation Board, set for this Thursday, he said.

The council tentatively accepted a bid for its road resurfacing project. A $262,088 bid from Central Alabama Paving was accepted, contingent on approval by Carr and Associates, the engineering firm for the project.

At a September 9 meeting, held a week late because of Labor Day, the council adopted a trash pick-up policy. Customers will call the city hall to arrange the service, which will be available on Wednesdays, said Lemoyne Payton, city clerk.

The service is not new, but the guidelines are, she said.

People will be notified by mail of the new rules which take effect October 1.

No items over 200 pounds or more than 15 feet long are eligible for the service. Other regulations include the bagging of leaves and grass, the placing of trash on curbsides, and the stacking of limbs, brush and trees in the same direction.

A $11,200 bid was awarded to Cummins of Alabama for "repowering" the city's 1960 diesel fire engine.

At the September 9 meeting, Joe Middlebrooks announced his resignation from the Industrial Development Board. The council will probably fill that vacancy at its next regular meeting, set for September 30, Roy said.

Licenses

new procedure.

Hammond said, however, that the plan will help cut fraud.

"Some say it's inconvenient, but all we're asking for is a valid Alabama address," he said.

Hammond said criminals come to Alabama because its system makes it easy to get a false license.

Without a correct address, an applicant will not receive the license through the mail.

Hammond said the decision to change to a centrally issued licensing system was not "a snap decision."

He said he has felt this system would be better for some time.

The change could not be made, however, until the current contract for picture licenses with Polaroid expired. That contract expires the end of this year,

Hammond said.

A new contract has been awarded to Imaging Systems, a division of National Business Systems based in Fort Wayne, Ind. That company makes 70 percent of all picture licenses in the US, Hammond said.

The department made an administrative decision to accept the bid for central-issue picture licenses June 28, Hammond said. The change should take place the first of next year, he said.

The bill being considered by the Alabama Legislature provides for licenses to continue to be issued by county probate judges or license commissioners, with the county offices forwarding the negatives to the state Department of Public Safety for filing.

Dumping

tand that it's depriving the county of other services for us to have to stop and clean" when crews could be doing other work, Ray said.

"This is a pride thing. People should have enough pride to keep the county clean," he said.

If a property owner is allowing trash to be dumped on the land without approval from health officials, the owner can be ordered to clean up, Ray said.

In cases where dumping is being done without the property owner's permission, the person dumping can be ordered to remove the garbage, if that person is found.

The Shelby County Health Department searches through the garbage for names when it receives a complaint, said Harry Edwards, an environmentalist with the office.

Once enough indication of ownership is found, such as several envelopes or magazine subscriptions with names and addresses, that person can be sent a notice to remove the garbage, Edwards said.

After three notices have been

sent, the health department gives the file to the district attorney's office for prosecution, he said.

According to the sheriff's department, the penalty for illegal dumping is a $500-1,000 fine. However, with those who are burning the garbage to destroy evidence, the charge could be arson, a felony, if woods were to catch fire, said Officer John Mitchell.

The owner of the garbage is responsible for its legal disposal even if he or she has paid someone else to dispose of it, said Jim Hollins, environmental supervisor of the health department.

Usually dumping in an area is consistently done by the same person, Hollins said. "Once we crack down on that person, it eliminates that garbage site," he said.

Although fighting illegal dumping is "a never-ending battle and there will always be some," Hollins said the goal is to get enough of the regular dumpers to stop.

It was down with the old, up with the new, in moorings for the traffic lights at the intersection of State 25 and US 280 in Harpersville. Mayor J.W. ty should "not give Talladega County money until the problems are worked out."

The Economic Development Administration, the federal agency granting the funds for Talladega County to refurbish the plant, has objected to a plan for Shelby County to be part-owner of the plant.

County Attorney Butch Ellis said a lease protecting Shelby County's rights in the plant is a possibility.

The two counties had been planning to contribute half of $1.7 million needed to match the EDA grant to Talladega County.

Shelby County's participation in the reopening might lead to a county-wide water distribution system in the future.

"If the EDA sees our participation as essential, or at least advisable, I believe they'll approve practically whatever they have to approve to get us in," Ellis said.

Commissioners were concerned that if Talladega County failed to operate the plant, Shelby County not have invested funds without some right to continue pumping water into the county.

If the ownership plan falls through, "We'd have to have some sort of lease that gave us some rights to go in should they not be generating water in the future for some reason," Ellis said.

The commission also directed its finance committee to make arrangements for a loan of about $460,000 for interim financing for the AgriCenter.

Pelham adopts gross receipts fee system

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

The City of Pelham will employ a gross receipts system of levying license fees beginning in 1986.

With a representative of the city's Chamber of Commerce giving vocal support to the new system, the Pelham City Council voted last week to adopt the gross receipts system instead of the current privilege license system currently in force.

With license fees based on gross receipts, the Pelham Chamber of Commerce estimates the city's license revenues will increase approximately $250,000.

Chamber president Dr. Doug Clark attended the council meeting to thank the group for their handling of the matter.

Traffic light suggested for Columbiana intersection

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

"It's got to be the busiest place in town. I'm afraid someone is going to get killed there."

Columbiana councilwoman Jessie Jones was talking about the morning school traffic at the intersection of County 34, which leads to the middle school, and the state 25 bypass.

Bringing the matter to the attention of the council at the Sept. 5 meeting, Jones said she thought a traffic light was needed at the intersection, and urged the council to take whatever action was necessary to get one.

She suggested only turning the light on during the peak traffic hours of 7:15 - 8:30 a.m. and 2:15 - 3:30 p.m.

"I want us to do something, even if we're turned down," she said.

Mayor Buck Falkner promised to write the state highway director and district highway director to see what might be done.

Police Chief Howell Horn said the state had done a study of the intersection several years ago and turned down the city's request for a light.

A heavy flow of traffic has to be on the road for an 18-24 hour period to warrant a traffic signal, said district highway engineer Jim Braden.

Braden also pointed out the state does not install traffic lights that will only be operating for short periods during the day.

He said the state has many requests for signal lights, but there is only money to pay for the installation of ten.

The price of a fully activated four way signal, Braden said, is in the neighborhood of $40,000 - $50,000.

"I think we have been able to come up with a solution that will be acceptable for both the city of Pelham and the businesses here," Clark said. "We appreciate being able to work with the mayor and council on the matter."

The gross receipts system passed will levy tax on the basis of a $100 minimum plus .075 percent of any gross receipt over a variable value.

That value is determined by what type business the license is issued for.

Clark said in most cases the amount will be $75 per additional $100,000 in revenues.

A maximum cap for license fees has been set at $5,625.

Pelham mayor Bobby Hayes said an explanation of the new system will accompany the privilege license fee notifications that the city normally sends out in December.

The new fees take effect January 1, 1986.

Pelham officials invite any interested business operators to pick up a copy of the ordinance at the Pelham City Hall after October 1.

Bails raise big bucks

Bits and pieces from the editor's notebook... Shelby County raised just over $16,000 in the March of Dimes Jail for Bail fundraiser last week.

County Tax Collector Annette Skinner, who served as county chairman of the project, said more than 50 area community and government leaders were "arrested" during the two-day event. They each had one hour to "make bail" by calling friends and business associates and most raised more than $500 in pledges.

The gold star goes to Pelham Mayor Bobby Hayes for soliciting $1,200 in pledges, the most raised among the "jail birds." Among the big names making pledges was U.S. Sen. Jeremiah Denton who helped post bail for Wilsonville Mayor Frances Phelps.

"Anita Sanders, state coordinator, said this project was the most successful in the state," Ms. Skinner reported.

The fun is over, but contributions can still be made to the March of Dimes, care of Annette Skinner, P.O. Box 1298, Columbiana, AL 35051.

Congratulations, this week, goes to Jason Shaw of Columbiana for winning $25 in the Reporter's Football Contest. He only missed four games.

This week, September 17-23, has been proclaimed Constitution Week by President Reagan, and Mildred B. Harrison, Regeant, David Lindsay Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Shelby County, wants everyone to take just a minute to remember just what the Constitution means to us.

The National Society of the DAR reminds all citizens that the freedoms of religion, press and speech and the rights of petition and assembly are guaranteed to us by the Constitution. "We must be vigilant to protect our rights and freedoms; for one lost to us, they can never be regained. Read your Constitution."

Wednesday, Sept. 18, is the 90th anniversary of chiropractic. This art of drugless healing was started in the United States by Dr. Daniel David Palmer in Davenport, Iowa.

History has it that a janitor in Palmer's building, who had been deaf for 17 years, bent over and something popped in his back. Upon examination, Palmer found a vertebra out of place, which he adjusted. Suddenly, the janitor could hear.

The art of chiropractic is something of a phenomenon. On their 90th anniversary, we salute all area chiropractors and their profession.

The nose knows

Edwin Pitts was a short, stubby boy with a round face and a grin and two baby-blue eyes and a nose, broken in a ball game two years before, that sort o' squatted down between the two, like maybe it was holding 'em apart

Edwin was a shortstop on a early Shelby High baseball team, in the days when folks like baseball, and went to see it, yelling for the home team like it was something special, with your gal close as red-eye gravy on rice, and the lamp turned so low the sparks in the log fire looked like lightning bugs.

It was a Friday, the day after Thursday, as Friday always is. They had the ball diamond scrapped as slick as a skinned bluegill, with not a pebble in sight, all the way from Harry Gordon's goose lot to the tennis court back of Mrs. Rosa Teague's high back porch. That is, they thought they had--

February had come and gone, chasing after a groundhog; and March came and went, following a fickle wind; and April came along, dressed in a high blue sky, with rain in her face and rooster-head violets in her hair.

"You'll play short," coach said, as if it didn't matter that Edwin couldn't hit a gentleman heifer with a landing net. There were other guys around who could sprinkle Harry's goose lot, and now and then rattle one off the tin top of Mr. Montgomery's manual training house.

It was the last of the third when some gink hit a ground skinner that tipped a pebble and settled on the tip end of Edwin's squatted-down nose. When they got to him, blood was squirting, like out of a spring, and Edwin was wiping at it with his hand and making funny noises in his throat like maybe the ball had got in there.

"Oh, my gosh," he moaned, "oh, my gosh." He was feeling around with his hand, like he was hunting for his nose. And when he found it, flattened like a stepped-on maypop, he whimpered: "Yep, it sho is."

"What sho is?" somebody asked.

"I-it's the same nose I got busted before," he groaned.

Pelham adopts $3.2 million budget

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

The Pelham City Council this week adopted a $3.2 million operating budget for the city's 1985-86 fiscal year.

The council took only a few minutes during their regular Monday meeting to approve the budget which includes a 10 percent raise for city employees who did not get an across-the-board raise last year.

The budget would spend $3,285,198 during the fiscal year which begins October 1. Predicted income for the city during that period is $3,270,791.

The city's fire and police departments take the largest slice of the budget pie at $834,000 and $730,000, respectively. Between the two, those departments currently have 45 full-time and three part-time employees plus four full-time and one part time dispatchers.

The administrative budget, the sewer budget, the engineering/public works budget, the sanitation budget and the park budget are the next five items in projected expenditures for the city.

The city will count on sales tax as its highest revenue source for 1985, projecting some $1,900,000 income toward the budget from that source.

Pelham will then count on an additional $130,000 from various state and federal sources, $537,000 from county-shared sources such as ad valorem taxes and $583,000 from privilege licenses to supply large amounts of the budget needs.

Pelham Mayor Bobby Hayes said the council needed only four and one half hours of budget hearings to approve the projected budget, due in large part to the hard work of department heads and administrative personnel in preparing the various budget proposals for the city.

In other matters:

•the council acted on a recommendation from councilman Jim Phillips to begin investigation of a new water storage tank for the city.

Pelham will look into the possibility of building a million gallon tank in order to meet the demands for water within the city.

Pelham remains under a water moratorium that limits use of water for non-essential purposes in all areas of the city on certain days of the week.

A new tank would give Pelham enough storage capacity, Pelham officials feel, to meet the daily demands of the city and keep enough water in storage to supply firefighters and other essential services at any time.

Cost of the new tank is expected to be $750,000.

•the council re-appointed Dan Spitzer to the city's industrial development board.

•Councilman Ken Maynard asked that residents of Chandler subdivision remove the rocks and cement blocks many have placed in the water valleys which border lots in the subdivision.

Maynard said that the rocks were proving dangerous and, since they were on the city's right-of-way, should be removed.

Duncan recovering from attack in Selma

Deann Duncan of Calera was beaten and two other students at a Selma college were shot last week when the husband of one student tried to make his wife leave the school, according to Randy Lewellen, chief of detectives, Selma Police Department.

Duncan, 24, is in satisfactory condition at Carraway Methodist Medical Center, where she was in intensive care for a day.

She was in class at the George C. Wallace Community College

when Earl Jerome McGahee fatally shot his wife, Connie

McGahee. Another woman, Cassandra Lee of Demopolis, also was shot and is in serious condition at Selma Medical Center.

Police do not know why McGahee attacked the other two women.

McGahee is being arraigned this week on charges of capital murder and first degree assault, Lewellen said.

Jury not allowed to consider lesser charge

Ronald J. Anderson was found guilty Wednesday of murdering his wife. Jurors, many of whom were upset about their decision, said they had wanted a lesser charge to consider.

Anderson admitted shooting into the trailer where he had earlier left his wife Shirley, but pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

Shirley Anderson died on the way to the hospital following the Jan. 28, 1984 incident.

However, Circuit Court Judge Bill Rabren told the jury they could not consider the insanity defense since the court had not found any evidence Anderson was suffering from a mental defect or disease at the time of the shooting.

Defense attorney Eason Mitchell asked for a mistrial, pointing out that it is improper for a judge to comment on the evidence.

The motion was denied, but Mitchell said he will appeal the case at the Oct. 28 sentencing.

Rabren also refused to let jurors consider the lesser charge of manslaughter which is included in a murder charge if there is evidence to support it.

"We wondered if there were lesser charges we could consider," said one woman juror who asked that her name not be mentioned.

"But we were given no leeway. Our only choice was a yes or no on the charge of murder."

During the jury's deliberation, jury foreman Mickey Harbin said three notes were sent to the judge for clarification on the law and to find out if other options were available.

The judge's replies were that he could not help them further, Harbin said.

District Attorney Billy Hill joined defense attorneys Mitchell and Bruce Green in asking the judge to give the jury the manslaughter option and to allow them to consider the insanity defense. Rabren refused to do so.

After two hours of deliberation, the jury found Anderson guilty of murdering his wife and guilty of assault on Albert Hamm, a family friend who was wounded in the shooting.

Mitchell and Greene used a unique defense in the case. They contended Anderson was chemically dependent on alcohol, and at the time of the shooting, was in withdrawal.

Circuit Court defendants plead guilty

Erthe Lee Middleton, who was charged with murder in the shooting death of his girlfriend Rosemary Brazzle, pleaded guilty last week to a lesser charge - intentional killing in the heat of passion.

The Birmingham man shot Brazzle last year in the parking lot of the L.M. Berry Company on U.S. 280 where she was employed. He will be sentenced Oct. 28.

Other defendants pleading guilty in Circuit Court last week were:

• Bernard Thomas Finneran III, burglary third degree, sentenced to 15 years under the habitual offender act.

• Waverlyn Taylor, two counts of theft third degree, sentenced to six months on each count; forgery third degree, sentenced to six months at hard labor for Shelby County. Although testimony brought out the fact that Anderson had been drinking during the day, the defense claimed he did not have enough alcohol in his system for a correct chemical balance, causing him to act irrationally.

Dr. Doyle Prescott Smith of Hattiesburg, Miss., an authority on alcoholism, testified that Anderson exhibited classic symptoms of a person in withdrawal.

On the stand, Anderson told the court he experienced a sense of unreality during the shooting - that it seemed to be taking place in a dream.

According to testimony at the two-day trial, events leading up to the shooting were as follows:

Anderson and his family had been visiting with Hamm at his trailer on Spring Creek Road near Montevallo when the two men got into an argument.

Anderson told his family to get in the car, that they were going home. However, his wife and youngest daughter stayed behind.

When he arrived at his residence on County 155 just over the Chilton County line, Anderson got his gun and started back, stopping to buy ammunition along the way.

Arriving back at the trailer, Anderson started firing at the dwelling.

Police arrived a short while later and found Anderson kneeling on the ground. He was taken to the Shelby County jail where he remained until the trial.

Assistant DA Jim Fuhrmeister assisted Hill with the prosecution.

Jury foreman Harbin said that eight members of jury, which consisted of nine women and three men, were upset with their lack of options in considering a decision.

"After all," he said, "we had a man's life in our hands."

labor for Shelby County.

• David Lee Saxon, felony possession of marijuana, given a two year suspended sentence with a two year probation.

• Jamie Jenkins, burglary third degree, sentencing to be Oct. 28.

• An alias warrant was issued for John Owens for failure to appear.

• Twenty-four cases were continued.

Bookmobile has history of reaching out

What did St. Clair County and Shelby County share in 1962 and 1963?

What do Cecile Scott, Rose Grady, Sandra Hughes and Sherry White have in common?

What can hold three thousand books and travels more than 100 miles on some days?

What do most Shelby County residents recognize but don't know much about?

The answer to all the questions above is the Shelby County bookmobile.

St. Clair County and Shelby County shared a bookmobile in 1962 and part of 1963. Every two weeks the bookmobile changed counties. In 1964 Shelby County obtained a new bookmobile of its own and no longer rotated with St. Clair County.

The first bookmobile librarian was Cecile Scott. In 1964, Rose Wood Grady took over. Sandra Hughes became bookmobile librarian in 1981 and Sherry White in 1985.

The present bookmobile is 11 years old and can hold three thousand books. It is on the road three days a week and travels six different routes serving a total of 50 stops.

Most Shelby countians recognize it but don't know much about it. After two weeks as bookmobile librarian, Sherry White shared some first impressions:

"The bookmobile faithfully continues to serve county residents who live far from Shelby County libraries and people who are home-bound. The rapport between the bookmobile staff and the borrowers is amazing. The borrowers cooperate in every way possible. Some of them bring treats for the bookmobile staff and all of them bring smiles. The recent retirement of librarian Sandra Hughes has caused real sorrow on the routes but the borrowers have welcomed me warmly.

"We no longer serve public or private schools primarily because Federal regulations forbid us to do so and because the schools now have adequate libraries of their own.

"Rose Grady circulated three million books, many to school children, between 1964 and 1974 when the original Shelby County Bookmobile was replaced with the present vehicle. Our present emphasis is on community and neighborhood stops. Because the bookmobile is wearing out, we will try to plan longer stops in locations convenient to neighborhoods and communities. Federal funds available after October 1, 1985, will enable us to serve senior citizens, homebound borrowers, and mentally retarded borrowers with alternative services such as books-by-mail, collections of special-interest books, depository arrangements in central locations, and home delivery of books through other Federal agencies and community volunteers."

Rose Grady has written a fond account of the early bookmobile years. The first stop on the first day of operation of the Shelby County Bookmobile in January, 1964, was Dunnivant. Snow was on the ground. What a trip. Rose works in the Columbiana Library now and has offered to share her memories with anyone who is interested.

There are changes ahead for the bookmobile. Registration of bookmobile borrowers for the new county-wide borrower's card is under way. The cost of gas, maintenance, and books is higher than ever.

"We must modernize our procedures to keep in step with the other Shelby County libraries - including collecting overdue fines and requiring the use of the new county-wide card. Some stops must be consolidated, some dropped, and some added," White said. "But, so long as borrowers wait in stores and parking lots, in rural areas and in new suburbs in the county, that easily recognizable bookmobile will try to come, will try to be on time, and will try to bring the best books possible. We're not just getting older, we're getting better."

Call the bookmobile librarian at the Mildred B. Harrison Regional Library at 669-3171 if you have questions or need more information about the Shelby County bookmobile.

Bill

The bill sponsored by Moore would then have to be approved by a vote of Shelby County before it would become law, Tanner said.

After Moore's bill passed the house, Tanner introduced another version of the bill — a constitutional amendment which would require approval of the state electorate before becoming law. That bill had not come before the house for a vote as of last Monday.

Tanner said he had a new strategy in mind for the next session, but that its success would be threatened if the plan was made public.

"I am going to continue to fight Birmingham annexation into Shelby County with every ounce of energy I can muster and with every moral fiber," Tanner said.

Ellis said Shelby County legislators will try again in the next session "with absolute certainty."

Moore said the bill will be pre-filed when the next session begins. He said Shelby County legislators should immediately block all Jefferson County bills until the annexation bill is safely through.

When and whether the move will be successful "depends on how much of their Birmingham legislation they're willing to sacrifice. I would think that at some point, with all they want, they're going to say, 'We've got to make a deal,'" Ellis said.

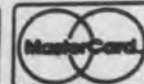

All objections to Jefferson County bills would be withdrawn if the objection to the annexation bill was withdrawn, he said.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU SMELL GAS.

Natural gas has no odor of its own. We add one for your protection. Here's what you should do if you smell gas.

If the odor is slight, and it's near an appliance, it may simply mean a pilot light is out and needs relighting. But if there's any doubt, give us a call.

If the odor is strong, leave the building. Don't flip the light switches. Don't use any other electrical equipment. Don't light a match or candle or try to find the leak yourself. Be sure everyone is out, and call us from a neighbor's phone.

If the odor is outdoors, call us immediately. Don't wait for others to do it.

You can reach us anytime. If you smell gas, one of our servicemen will come right to your home and make a thorough inspection.

Natural gas is one of the safest energies you can use. And together we'll keep it that way.

Pinyans: training animals with lots of love

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

Although the Pinyans now have only two cats and one dog living with them just south of Alabaster, they have shared their home with Siberian tiger and lion cubs, chimpanzees, skunks and various other exotic animals.

Through Pete Pinyan's work with zoos in Birmingham,

Oklahoma City and Fort Worth, he and his wife, Billie, had the opportunity to love, train and doctor a host of unusual animals.

Two of the special ones were Judy and Lola.

Until recently, Judy was the only elephant the Pinyans knew that could play a harmonica.

In Oklahoma, Judy entertained crowds with 45-minute shows that included rhumba dancing. The elephant responded to subtle commands, doing one trick when Pinyan crossed his arms, another when he would light a cigarette, moving through the act.

The Pinyans' 10-year-old son would ride Judy to a 40-acre lake, where she would lie on the ground to let him get off, plow through the water "like a submarine," and roll over, playing until called back, Pinyan said.

Animals must be trained by encouragement, not demands, Pinyan said. "You have to lead them and make them want to do it."

Mrs. Pinyan trained Lola, a chimpanzee, to eat with silverware and dishes, ride a tricycle, jump rope, brush her hair and a variety of other human-like activities.

"You raise them just like a baby," he said.

Lola did not take catnaps, Mrs. Pinyan said, but slept "just like a baby. She was just as hard to wake up and keep awake if she was not through with her nap."

Lola loved to play in the bathtub as much as any baby does too, chasing the soap as it floated away, she said.

The hardest trick was teaching Lola how to jump rope, Mrs. Pinyan said, because she could not throw the rope and jump with Lola at the same time. "I sat down and cried with her."

Mrs. Pinyan enlisted the aid of her children after school to throw the rope while she jumped with Lola.

In the mornings, Lola would follow Mrs. Pinyan, holding out her cup until she filled it half with coffee and half with milk.

She taught Lola to brush her hair, powder her face and even use lipstick.

The Pinyans are originally from Texas. Mr. Pinyan grew up north of Fort Worth on a farm and ranch. He trained horses for riding, gave riding lessons to people and also did some rodeo work.

When he met his future wife, who grew up near the zoo in Fort Worth, she turned his interest in animals toward the zoo.

Pinyan began working with birds and monkeys in the zoo there, a move inspired not just by his love for animals, but also by romance.

The zoo offered more money and more steady work than riding horses, and that security aided in the Pinyan's eventual marriage.

Pinyan came to the Birmingham Zoo as curator in the late 1950s and found much work to be done.

"When I came, they were losing three or four monkeys a day," he said. Proper veterinary medicine and a general clean-up of the zoo improved the animals' health, he said.

Pinyan said his goal was to make people proud of the zoo so they would know their tax money was being well-spent.

The Pinyans were the first to raise a Siberian tiger cub and the first to get such tigers to reproduce in captivity, he said.

The cub loved water and would sneak into the bathtub if a tubful of water was left unattended, Mrs. Pinyan said. It slept with their son.

She was greeted in the mornings by Muffin the lion cub slinking down the hallway and pouncing in her path.

Another lion cub, Curly, came to the family as "one solid sore with a spot of hair on the top of his head," she said. After four weeks of special baths, the cub was sleek and fat, with shining hair.

Pinyan retired from the zoo eight years ago.

He recently was called back, however, to help one of his elephants.

Mona had crawled into the moat outside her living quarters and gotten stuck.

Alabaster church gets potatoes to keep and potatoes to give away

On Sunday, members of the First United Methodist Church of Alabaster were asked if they would like some potatoes from Sand Mountain.

Their answer was yes, and two days later they were told seven and a half tons of potatoes would arrive Thursday.

Half of the potatoes are being sold and half will be given to charitable institutions and those in need.

The church's pastor, Rev. Tom Hammons, explained the potato deal came about as the result of a conversation with a Methodist minister on Sand Mountain.

He said Rev. Dorsey Walker told him potato brokers would only pay two and half cents a pound for potatoes which cost farmers four cents a pound to dig.

The potatoes couldn't be left in the ground because of the harmful effect on next year's crop, Hammons said, so the farmers were offering them to churches.

"We got them on consignment," he said, "for church members who placed orders and for restaurants and various other institutions such as the jail who wanted to buy some."

Hammons said the farmers gave the church a free sack to donate to charity for every sack that was sold.

The 100 pound sacks of potatoes, which were stacked in the hallway of the Sunday School building after delivery, sold for $10 apiece.

Child support collections up

Through the first nine months of fiscal year 1985, statewide, regular child support collections totalled $12.7 million, an increase of $5.5 million over the same period the previous year, the state Department of Pensions and Security announced last week.

"Of the $12.7 million collected through June 30, $5.7 million of that amount was collected from absent parents whose families receive Aid to Dependent Children benefits," said Leon Frazier, commissioner of the state Department of Pensions and Security.

Collections from those parents help reimburse federal and state governments for the cost of providing welfare benefits to those parents' families.

In addition to support collected in ADC cases, another $7 million was collected from absent parents whose families do not receive welfare payments.

"Helping these families obtain support makes it less likely that they will have to go on welfare," Frazier pointed out.

During the quarter which ended June 30, collections from absent parents whose families receive welfare totalled $2.5 million, an increase of $400,000 over the previous quarter.

Also during the quarter, collections in non-ADC cases totalled $3,087,000, an increase of $687,000 over the previous three-month period.

"The income withholding law and the dedicated, cooperative efforts of county Pensions and Security staff, district attorneys and court staff are the reasons for the increased collections," Frazier said.

Pinyans

Zoo workers tried to get Mona to move for more than 12 hours, but she would not budge, Pinyan said.

"When I got there, she was trembling and jerking," he said.

Pinyan said it took him about five minutes to lead Mona out of the moat. He said the trick was not pushing and pulling the elephant, but leading her.

"If you're a trainer, and an elephant knows you, it will follow you anywhere," he said.

Barber and Foster have first

Phillip Barber and his father-in-law James Foster decided to try their hand at growing cotton two short years ago.

Barber hadn't grown cotton before and it had been 20 years since Foster had farmed. But the Harpersville men are doing well.

Last week, the partners were the first local producers to have their cotton ready for ginning.

Sam Florey, who ginned the crop at the Coosa Valley Gin in Vincent, said the first bale weighed 560 pounds, noting that an average bale weighs around 500 pounds.

Barber and his father-in-law anticipate making 70-75 bales from the cotton grown on the 50 acres they own and rent in Harpersville and Vincent.

The two men farm on a part-time basis. Barber teaches at the Area Vocational School; Foster works for Kimberly-Clark.

Explaining how the partners got started with their farming venture, Barber said, "I thought it was something I'd enjoy and I wanted to see if I could make a go of it."

Foster agreed to join in the venture and the new growers started off planting 18 acres. Their first crop produced 23 bales.

"We had an early spring this year," Barber noted, "and we were the second growers in the county to plant." He remembered the date was Good Friday, which fell on April 6.

Growing conditions were favorable until last month, Barber said, when insects and too much rainfall caused problems and cut down on their yield.

County extension agent John Jones said there are 40 cotton producers in Shelby County who farm approximately 5,000 acres of land.

Arthritis Foundation sets fundraiser

This month, like every other month of the year, more than 83,000 Americans will be told by their physician that they have some form of arthritis, according to the Arthritis Foundation.

"Most people don't understand the seriousness of arthritis," said Henry Teel, a volunteer for the Alabama chapter of the Arthritis Foundation. "They don't understand how many people have it and how much we need public support to help them."

One-third of all American families has at least one member with arthritis, and one in every seven people has some form of the disease. Each year, an additional one million people will learn that they have arthritis, joining the 36 million Americans who already have it.

Yet, public support for arthritis is extremely low. Last year, the arthritis foundation only raised about 73 cents per American with arthritis for its programs of research, education, information, and service.

The Alabama chapter of the Arthritis Foundation is raising funds to continue the programs of patient services, public and professional education, and, of course, research.

On Friday, Sept. 20, from 8 p.m. until midnight, the public is invited to join the chapter for an evening of fun and fundraising. Joe Giattina and the Bama Cardinals will provide the music of the big bands in the main ballroom of the Birmingham Hilton.

Merchants have donated items that will be auctioned to the highest bidder. Whatever you want, the chapter will have it - everything from a wedding, donated by the Wedding Chapel, to an eight-day vacation for two at the Nassau Beach Hotel, provided by Adventure Travel.

If you haven't been affected by arthritis, consider yourself lucky - and consider helping those less fortunate. Tickets are $10 and can be obtained by calling the Alabama chapter of the Arthritis Foundation at 870-4700.

New economist

Newbury joins extension service

Paula Newberry is the new home economist with the Shelby County branch of the Alabama Cooperative Extension Service. Newberry began work September 3. Before coming to Shelby County, she worked with extension offices in Jefferson and Bibb counties. Although much of her previous work has been with 4-H, Newberry will be working with adults to provide information ranging from how to remove stains to when food is safe to eat, she said.

She will be working with educational programs in areas relating to the family, including food, clothing family life and housing, she said. Fact sheets are available through the mail and may soon be in stands around the county. People may also ask questions over the telephone. Classes on subjects such as knitting or microwave cooking are also offered around the county. A native of Florence, Newberry received a bachelor's degree in home economics education from the University of North Alabama and a master's degree in home economics education from the University of Alabama. Before her work with the extension service, she taught school in Winston County.

VA offers incentives

The Veterans Administration will offer special incentives to employers hiring certain disabled veterans in an effort to "bridge the gap" which has prevented some from being employed. "Despite intensive placement efforts, some disabled veterans who are well-trained and otherwise qualified for employment may not be able to secure employment," said James W. Conway, director of the Montgomery VA Regional Office. "A lack of work experience, an employer's special training requirements, or the nature of the disability can contribute to severe placement problems." Special provisions of the VA's vocational rehabilitation program allow payments to employers to encourage the placement of disabled veterans who have completed training but who may be difficult to place due to their disabilities or lack of experience. The payments can cover up to nine months of work experience or on-job training to enable the veteran to adjust to and maintain employment. Under a written agreement with the employer, VA will pay for direct expenses that result from hiring the veteran and which do not exceed one-half of the wage paid to other employees in the same or similar jobs. Only private sector employers, including non profit agencies and organizations, are eligible for this incentive program. Payments may not be made to public employers, including federal, state and local agencies. Employers who wish to participate should contact Gordon Laird, Vocational Rehabilitation and Counseling Officer, at the Montgomery VA Regional Office.

Ben Vereen to perform

Internationally acclaimed singer, dancer and actor Ben Vereen will appear with the Alabama Symphony in a concert Saturday, September 21 at the Birmingham-Jefferson County Civic Center Concert Hall. Vereen, performing in the second half of the concert, will bring to Birmingham the one-man show that won him the "Entertainer of the Year" award from the American Guild of Variety Artists. Single ticket prices are $25, $20 and $15. For season ticket subscribers to either the Master Series or the Pop Series of the Alabama Symphony, tickets are priced at 20 percent below the single ticket price. Reservations for the concert are being taken now and seats can be reserved early by calling the symphony office at 326-0100.

DPS workers

The Department of Pensions and Security provides a wide range of services. Among the 33 workers in Shelby County are, left to right, Donna Jones, John Valdmanis, Helen Eads, Sue Bates, Clara Roberts, Marty Lucas and Rene Williams.

DPS helps children, adults

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The Department of Pensions and Security offers help for the elderly in need of nursing care, abused children and adults, single-parent families who need to collect child-support from the absent parent, people wanting to adopt children and many other services.

Many of the programs have financial eligibility requirements.

The Aid to Dependent Children Program offers financial aid for children who have lost one or both parents.

A supplemental pay program helps the elderly get nursing care at home instead of having to live in nursing homes. Transportation aid to medical facilities is also used a great deal by the elderly.

DPS also works with district attorneys to collect child support. Rene Williams, director of the Shelby County DPS office, said the county expects to collect $300,000 in child support this year.

The department is responsible for investigation of child abuse and neglect complaints. Although children are sometimes taken from homes and placed in foster homes, other times they are able to stay in the homes, monitored by social workers in the ongoing protective service program.

Shelby County has 25 homes licensed for foster care, when that option is necessary, Williams said.

If homes are not available in the county, children can be placed outside the county, she said.

A protective service for adults deals primarily with the elderly. Many of these cases involve self-neglect, Williams said.

Sometimes the situation can be corrected through the use of a DPS homemaker. The county has five such employees who help care for the elderly's needs in their homes, Williams said.

A new Medicaid waiver program helps DPS make it possible for the elderly to remain at home. For those who are eligible, Medicaid will help DPS fund services such as homemakers, said Jeanette Niven, the department's supervisor of adult services.

DPS operates a day care center in the Montevallo area, offering low-cost day care for up to 97 county children who are eligible.

Although day care centers must be licensed by the state DPS, individuals offered child care in their homes must be licensed by the county DPS, Williams said.

Food stamps are also handled by the county DPS.

People wanting to adopt a child apply to DPS. Applications are evaluated by social workers and given final approval by the state DPS, Williams said.

Because of a heavy workload and a shortage of funds, DPS not only welcomes, but needs volunteers to help make these services available.

Among those served by the county office are approximately 22,000 households with food stamps, 350 recipients of Aid to Dependent Children, 185 elderly with supplemental nursing care funds, 75 in foster care, 160 children with protective service and 60 or 65 elderly with homemakers, Williams said.

These services are provided by a staff of 33.

Program supervisors are Gerie Kelly for food stamps, Jeanette Niven for adult service and homemakers, Lynn Lucas for child support and other public assistance programs such as aid to dependent children and Sue Bates for the clerical staff. Chris Miller will become supervisor of foster care, protective service and adoptions September 30.

Other workers in the county DPS are Judy Bates, Henrietta

Bishop, Carolyn Cain, Marilyn Campbell, Sybil Caver, Nita Collins, Myrtle Cupp, Lu DeLoach, Helen Eads, Wanda Gaut, Connie Grier, Agnes Harris, Ruby House, Donna Jones, Judy Jones, Sharon Looney, Marty Lucas, Kay Massler, Clemmie McGinnis, Audry Middleton, Barbara Moore, Margaret Nabors, Ron Oswald, Kit Payne, Clara Roberts, Margaret Thornburg, Betty Underwood and John Valdmanis.

The office is located in Columbiana in the Community Services building.

Savings Bonds sales high

Hugh B. Jacks, president Bell South Services and Alabama Volunteer State chairman for United States Savings Bonds, reported sales of United States Savings Bonds in July reached their highest monthly total since January 1980, and their best for any July since 1979, with reported sales of $506 million.

The sales total represented a 59 percent increase compared to July 1984. For the first seven months of 1985, sales have increased approximately 25 percent compared to the same period last year, to a total of $3.09 billion.

Jacks also reported sales in Alabama for July 1985 were $4,841,668 bringing the total sales this year to date to $48,223,313. Bill Schroeder, Shelby County Volunteer chairman, announced sales of $50,582 during July 1985.

Series EE Savings Bonds earn market-based interest rates if held at least five years from purchase date or November 1, 1982, whichever is later. The semiannual rate in effect from May 1 through October 31, 1985 is 9.49 percent. Holders of Series E Bonds and Savings Notes also receive market-based rates if they hold their securities to their first interest accrual date on or after November 1, 1987. Actual yields under the market-based rate system are determined when a bond is redeemed.

Consumers can obtain the latest rate and other useful information about Savings Bonds by calling toll-free, 1-(800) US BONDS. In metropolitan Washington, DC, the number is USA 8888.

Effort pays off in ribbons

by K.A. Turner
 Staff Writer

The Shelby County Fair concluded a full week of activities in Columbiana last week, a week full of lights, games and midway rides.

But to many Shelby Countians, the most important and enjoyable aspect of the county fair is the competition, competition among the many exhibitors in the scores of divisions of competition that are a part of the Shelby County Fair.

Whether it was pickles or pictures, cattle or canned goods, Shelby County exhibitors went all out to make their contributions to the Shelby County Fair attractive to both judges and the crowds of viewers who came to see the exhibits.

Ribbons were plentiful among the standing exhibits when judging concluded on Monday afternoon. Ribbons and trophies delighted youngsters showing animals throughout the week.

While not every entry won a ribbon, everyone at the Shelby County Fair — exhibitors and viewers alike — won something through the hard work of countians everywhere who took part in the fair.

Leslie, Frances Phelps, Bonnie Schrader, Randy Vaught, Fay Vickery, Bonney Williams, Roger and Catrina Davis and Lillian Garrett.

Myra Horton of Columbiana won first place in each of the five categories in which she made entries in the dried fruits and vegetables division.

Horton, JoAnn Holcombe and Ozelle Eaves shared the first place finishes in the canned fruit division.

First place winners in the canned vegetables division included Karen Schrader, Roby Coan, Myra Horton, Nancy Hicks, Ozelle Eaves, Shirley Bevard, Earline Foster, JoAnn Holcombe, Fay Vickery and Jo Anna Shiflett.

Dot Epperson, Margaret Walden, Sherry Morton, Ozelle Eaves, Carol Hill, Maxine Vernon, Jackie Adkins and Lynn Wilson were the first place winners in the canned preserves division.

First place winners in the canned jelly division included Jackie Adkins, Dot Epperson, JoAnn Holcombe, Mozelle Eastis, Ozelle Eaves, Lillian Garrett, Fay Vickery, Nancy Hicks, Myra Horton and Glen and Martha Whitfield.

In the canned jams division, first place winners included Bonnie Schrader, Myra Horton, Jean Etrass, Emma Carden and Debbie Harkins.

Wildflower group plans project at Oak Mt

Alabama Wildflower enthusiasts were recently given the go ahead by Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources State Parks Director, Sidney B. Bledsoe Sr., to begin a long term project of beautifying State Parks.

The Alabama Wildflower Society will hold its annual meeting at Oak Mountain State Park on Saturday, Sept. 28.

A special highlight of this meeting will be planting wildflowers at the park's Treetop Nature Trail. The trail, which opened August 3, features owls and hawks which have recovered from injuries but are nonreleasable due to sustained impairments. Park visitors can view the birds of prey in a natural setting from a handicapped-accessible boardwalk at treetop level.

The society's Birmingham Coordinator, Margaritte Persons, said the group is adding to the beauty of the Treetop Nature Trail by propagating wildflowers at the site. Mary Burks of the Alabama Wildflower Society is chairperson of the special committee that has chosen to adopt Oak Mountain State Park as its wildflower propagation project.

Commission seeks overtime exemptions

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer
The Shelby County Commission is seeking support for federal legislation exempting county and city governments from overtime provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act.
Last April, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that local governments can no longer be given compensatory time off to make up for overtime.

Responding to that regulation, the commission passed a resolution August 26 that county employees cannot work overtime unless the commission first approves it.
The commission will be working out the details of how to deal with emergency situations and overtime already accumulated later.

The legislation exempting local governments is cosponsored by U.S. Sen. Jeremiah Denton.
The commission voted to send copies of the bill to the Alabama

County Commissions Association and the Alabama League of Municipalities, asking for support of the bill.
As part of its preparation for compliance with the new regulation, the commission will be advertising bids for time clocks before the next commission meeting.

Face lift

The old soldier cemetery near Shelby Springs is getting a facelift, thanks to a number of Shelby County volunteers. Work days in the cemetery have been set for Saturday mornings this fall. (photo special to the Reporter by John Brasher)

Cleanup gets started in Civil War cemetery

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

Shelby County's old Confederate soldier cemetery — located on a knoll near the old Shelby Springs hotel — is in store for a facelift.

A facelift is what members of the Shelby County Historical Society are calling the first phase of their current project. The plans involve restoration and upkeep of the cemetery in which rests over 100 soldiers who died in the hospital located at Shelby Springs during the final years of the Civil War.

"It's going to get a facelift," said Barbara Roberts, chairman of the committee to restore the soldier cemetery, "but first it's had to have a shave to remove a beard created by many years of growth and neglect."

Roberts and members of her committee joined other volunteers last Saturday for the first of several work days at the cemetery. Members of the Boy Scouts and Sons of the American Revolution joined Historical Society workers in beginning to clean off the scrubby pines, fallen limbs and debris that clutter the old cemetery.

Roberts said last week that the clean-up of the old cemetery site is only the first phase of total restoration project.

Currently, plans include having the more than 100 Confederate graves identified and honored by placing tombstones at them and restoration of the century-old stones marking the civilian graves located along the perimeters of the site.

In addition, some landscaping work will be done and the Historical Society hopes eventually to place a memorial marker at the site and fence the grounds.

Among the workers during Saturday's face-lift were Tom and Elaine Smith with their children Time and Christine; Blake Higdon, Michael Poskey, Trea and Chris Johnson; William Phillips, John Brasher, Greg Roach, Kate and John Reese and Barbara and Ed Roberts.

Additional work-days will be held each Saturday morning until the cemetery grounds are clear enough to proceed with further restoration.

Anyone interested in lending a helping hand should contact Barbara Roberts at 871-6942.

PODIATRY CARE

Laser Surgery: A New Approach To Improving Podiatric Care

WHAT IS A LASER?

A laser is a device which generates an intense beam of light. This light beam is man-made and is not known to occur in nature.

IS LASER SURGERY A NEW TECHNIQUE?

No. Lasers have been used in surgery for more than 12 years.

WHAT IS A LASER USED FOR?

There are many uses for laser light, but the one which interests us at Alabama Podiatry Care is its use in treating some common disease conditions. For instance, we are now successfully treating ingrown nails, fungus nails, thickened nails, warts, tumors of all types, and enlarged scars. In some cases no anesthesia is required. It may also be used for patients in the soft tissue surgery of bunions, corns, calluses and other deformities of the foot. At Alabama Podiatry Care, laser is also being used for surgical correction of selected bone problems.

WHAT DOCTORS USE THE LASER?

Podiatrists, ear, nose and throat specialists, plastic surgeons, neurosurgeons, and ophthalmologists use lasers for surgery.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

The laser beam is a concentrated and amplified beam of light which can be focused down to 1/500 the size of a human hair and has the capacity to vaporize, seal, and even stimulate human tissue to heal itself. As opposed to removing diseased or damaged tissue by cutting with a knife, burning, or chemical destruction, the beam of light is focused on the tissue and it is instantly vaporized. The light from the laser beam is readily absorbed by most solids and liquids, especially water, of which human tissue is 70%. The energy from the laser is absorbed by the water in the tissues turning it to steam and literally vaporizing it away. The remaining solid tissue is then merely wiped away.

ARE THERE ADVANTAGES IN LASER SURGERY?

Some of the advantages the patient enjoys are the virtual elimination of common recurrences which often plague the conventional forms of treatment. This is because vaporization is complete and the precision and exactness of the technique cannot be accomplished with any other instrumentation available today. The laser beam can be controlled and guided to any depth even as little as the skin tomato without damaging the underlying area. This results in only the diseased tissue being eliminated with no damage to the surrounding healthy tissue which is always traumatized with conventional surgery. Post-operative effects such as pain, swelling, drainage and healing are always much less with lasers. As a result of these attributes of laser, healing is swift, with immediate mobility, resulting in fewer post operative visits, decreased medical costs to the patient, and virtually no time lost from work in most cases.

WILL MY INSURANCE COVER LASER SURGERY?

Insurance companies recognize the benefits of laser surgery and, therefore, will cover laser surgery procedures.

UM focuses on quality; reduces enrollment

Having shown last fall with the largest percentage increase in enrollment in public higher education in Alabama that the University of Montevallo could be larger if it chose to be, UM Trustees authorized a return this fall to its policy-based size of 2,400-2,600 regularly admitted students.

This planned reduction in enrollment, believed to be unprecedented in the state, has been achieved, President Jim Vickrey reported.

"Final figures will reveal a fall '85 enrollment of 2500 'regularly admitted students,' including 550 or so new freshmen," he said. "Those numbers, are very close to the target figures we adopted last year as part of a 'five-year admissions plan' approved several years ago."

Vickrey praised Admissions and Records Director Bob Doyle and his staff for the results. He also noted, "These figures and this planned reduction are made even more remarkable by the fact that student applications for the 1985-86 academic year ran 12 percent above last year's comparable numbers."

Noting the recent news stories about the academic credentials at Auburn University and the University of Alabama, Vickrey also reported that "the 'quality' of new Montevallo freshmen is higher than ever. When final ACT data are available, I expect to see yet another increase in average scores," he added.

Late pitch-out

Montevallo Bulldog quarterback Slade Blackwell makes a late pitch-out on an option play as a Shelby County High defender slams him to the ground. The Wildcat defense limited the Bulldogs to only

What youngster, when faced with a problem or with a fight, doesn't wish for a big brother to help along the way.

How many "youngsters" are like Shelby County Wildcat Ambrose Woods, lucky enough to have a big brother who can do the job.

The Woods brothers of Columbiana — like the legendary Woods brothers of racing fame — are racing through SCHS opponents. In Friday night's 27-7 win over Montevallo, little brother Ambrose contributed over 100 yards in rushing offense while big brother David gained over 100 in receiving yardage, each scoring twice.

It is a combination SCHS coach Randle Cassidy is pleased with.

"We felt like we needed to take some of the pressure off Ambrose so we opened up our offense," Cassidy said following his team's third win of the year. "Tonight, at least, it worked out real well."

STATS
SCHS	Montevallo
19	FD	7
185	rushing	69
147	passing	96
3	turnovers	2
90	penalty yards	15

David Woods scored the Wildcat's first half touchdowns, one on a one-yard run from scrimmage and one on a long pass from Chris Gould. "We knew we could just run Ambrose for three yards and a cloud of dust for the rest of the season," Cassidy said, and noted that both David Woods and Gerald Lawson did a good job in taking some of the offensive responsibility.

Chelsea learns lesson; moves to third win

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

"Sometimes you have to learn a lesson," Chelsea coach Mike Utter said early this week. "We were just lucky that we learned our lesson the easy way."

Trailing twice in a ballgame they expected to win was enough to put the Chelsea Hornets "feet back down on the ground" and teach them a lesson, Utter said. Thankfully, the Hornets learned quickly enough to score a 13-9 come-from-behind win over Marbury last week.

"They were a better football team than I had been told they were," Utter said, "and we didn't play our best ballgame."

"We'll be better prepared in the future because I'll see to that," he added.

Utter was pleased, however, with the character his team showed in the comeback win.

"Once they realized what they had to do, they settled down and got the job done," Utter said. "It was a team effort and a team win and the kids showed a lot of poise when the game was on the line."

The Chelsea defense, which had recorded shut-outs in their two previous games of 1985, did not fare as well against Marbury.

The Hornets gave up a field goal on Marbury's opening drive of the game then surrendered their first TD of the season on a short drive in the third quarter.

Each time, however, the Hornets answered with scores of their own, both coming on key plays from Allen Moody and David Shaw.

Shaw was moved to the wing-back spot in Chelsea's box offense when Chris Alverson could not play due to illness. Shaw responded with two touchdown catches and good play, Utter said.

STATS
Chelsea	Marbury
12	FD	5
158	rushing	173
103	passing	47
2	turnovers	1
25	penalty yards	40

Moody both ran and passed well from his halfback position, Utter added.

Larry Offord continues to key the Chelsea running game, rushing for over 100 yards against Marbury. It was the Hornet's ball-control offense that made the difference in the fourth period, Chelsea's final drive using the clock and scoring with less than a minute remaining the game.

"We're still making a few mistakes, but we correct more of them each week," Utter said. "The thing I liked most was the kids' confidence in the game. They knew we could find a way to win it."

SCORING SUMMARY
Marbury recorded a 30-yard field goal early in the first period and took a 3-0 lead into the dressing room at halftime.

On the Hornet's opening drive of the second period, Allen Moody hit David Shaw with a 35-yard scoring pass. Moody's PAT made the score 7-3.

Following a Chelsea turnover, Marbury scored on a short drive late in the third period.

With 30 seconds remaining in the game, Moody again teamed with Shaw on a 15-yard TD pass that gave Chelsea a 13-9 win.

For the Record

Governor honors hunters and anglers

Governor George Wallace has proclaimed September 28 as Hunting and Fishing Day in Alabama.

Emphasizing that "hunting and fishing have always been popular in Alabama," Wallace also noted in his proclamation that Alabama's 1.8 million sportsmen have also made outstanding contributions to conservation, safety, recreation and the economy.

Wallace's proclamation coincides with President Ronald Reagan's designation of September 28 as national Hunting and Fishing Day.

Golfer Arnold Palmer has been named the Honorary Chairman for national observance of the Hunting and Fishing Day. Palmer encouraged all citizens throughout the nation to do something on September 28 that would enhance their enjoyment of the outdoors.

Ducks Unlimited gathers at Sheraton

Ducks Unlimited, a national conservation group, has set October 3 as the date for their fall conservation gala at the Sheraton Mountain Brook Inn.

The need for Alabamians to support Ducks Unlimited has been graphically illustrated, officials say, by the recent decline in populations of frequently hunted ducks in Alabama.

Tickets to the event are available from Mark's Outdoor Sports in Vestavia. The ticket will include a one year membership in Ducks Unlimited, free cocktails in addition to the dinner and a chance at both a gun and a Honda ATC three-wheeler.

UAB Lady Blazers off and running

The University of Alabama Birmingham Lady Blazers volleyball team has announced an eight-game home schedule that will bring eight different special events to UAB's Bell Gymnasium.

The Lady Blazers, including former Thompson High standout Ashley Sargeant, hope to use a third place finish in last year's Sunbelt Conference Tournament as a spring board to their best season ever in 1985.

Pizza Hut restaurants and Birmingham's Channel 42 will host the UAB Invitational Tournament September 20-21, and six additional home dates will feature other specials ranging from fan appreciation nights to community-church volleyball nights.

For more information on the Lady Blazers, contact Bettie Doss of the UAB Lady Blazers Booster Club, 631-7436.

Lions maul Marion for first win of '85

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

Briarwood Lion head coach Rick Sayle stepped back to look at the progress of his football team after their Friday night win over Marion Institute.

"We got to let a lot of people get some playing time and that was good," Sayle said.

"We came off the ball better than in our first game and that was good."

"We tackled better this week than last week and that was very good."

The Briarwood Lions beat Marion Institute 35-0. Perhaps, that was best of all.

"We're not in top form yet," Sayle said, "or at least I hope we're not, but we did see some good things."

The game's second half also provided a dramatic example of the additional maturity of the Briarwood team over the Lion squad of a year ago.

Briarwood led MI 20-0 at the halfway point of last year's contest, but Sayle said the Lions shut down in the second half and did not play well.

In 1985, however, the Lions mounted a 21-0 lead at the half and by the late stages of the third quarter had put the game away, 35-0.

STATS
Briarwood	MI
9	FD	5
111	rushing	28
55	passing	17
3	turnovers	5
55	penalty yards	96

"This year the kids continued to work real hard and do what needed to be done to win the game," Sayle said. "I'm proud of them for that as well."

Among the many good points, Sayle specifically highlighted his team's tackling performance — a problem area a week ago — as a much better effort. "We worked on that all week so it needed to get better," Sayle said.

Scoggins leads Falcons

The University of Montevallo volleyball team — paced by former Thompson Lady Warrior Janice Scoggins and NAIA All-American Candi Nicholas — won the College of Charleston Invitational volleyball tournament last weekend.

The Lady Falcons breezed undefeated through the round-robin event, losing only one game in the six matches they played.

UM took wins over Coastal Carolina, Limestone College and host Charleston on Friday. On Saturday, the Lady Falcons downed Rollins College, South Carolina-Spartanburg and Frances Marion.

In the championship game, UM again defeated Rollins in a three game match.

Nicholas was named the MVP of the event after ringing up 78 attack kills and a .47 attack percentage for the tourney.

Scoggins dished out 184 assists from her setter position in the seven tournament games to win a place on the all-tourney team.

With their seven wins, the Lady Falcons record moves to 8-1 for the year.

The dove hunting season in Shelby County opened last weekend with hunters throughout the area reporting an abundance of birds at which to shoot.

One of the county's biggest shoots was held Saturday at Kent's Dairy Farm near Alabaster, where Mike Kent said over 60 hunters bagged almost 250 doves.

"There can be a lot of birds today and none tomorrow," said Alabaster's Len Lee, one of the hunters at the Kent Farm shoot, "but it was a good start to the season. A lot of people killed a lot of birds."

The dove season in Shelby, and many of the surrounding counties, is once again split in 1985. The first half began last Saturday and will run through October 26, legal shooting times from 30 minutes before sunrise to sunset each day.

The second half of the season runs from December 14 through December 30 with the same shooting times allowed.

Daily bag limits and possession limits have been set at 15 birds.

Other local hunters traveled to shoots in neighboring areas and also reported good results for the opening day of the season.

Shelby hunters Jack Jones and Edward Smith attended a family shoot in Chilton County, and both bagged the limit.

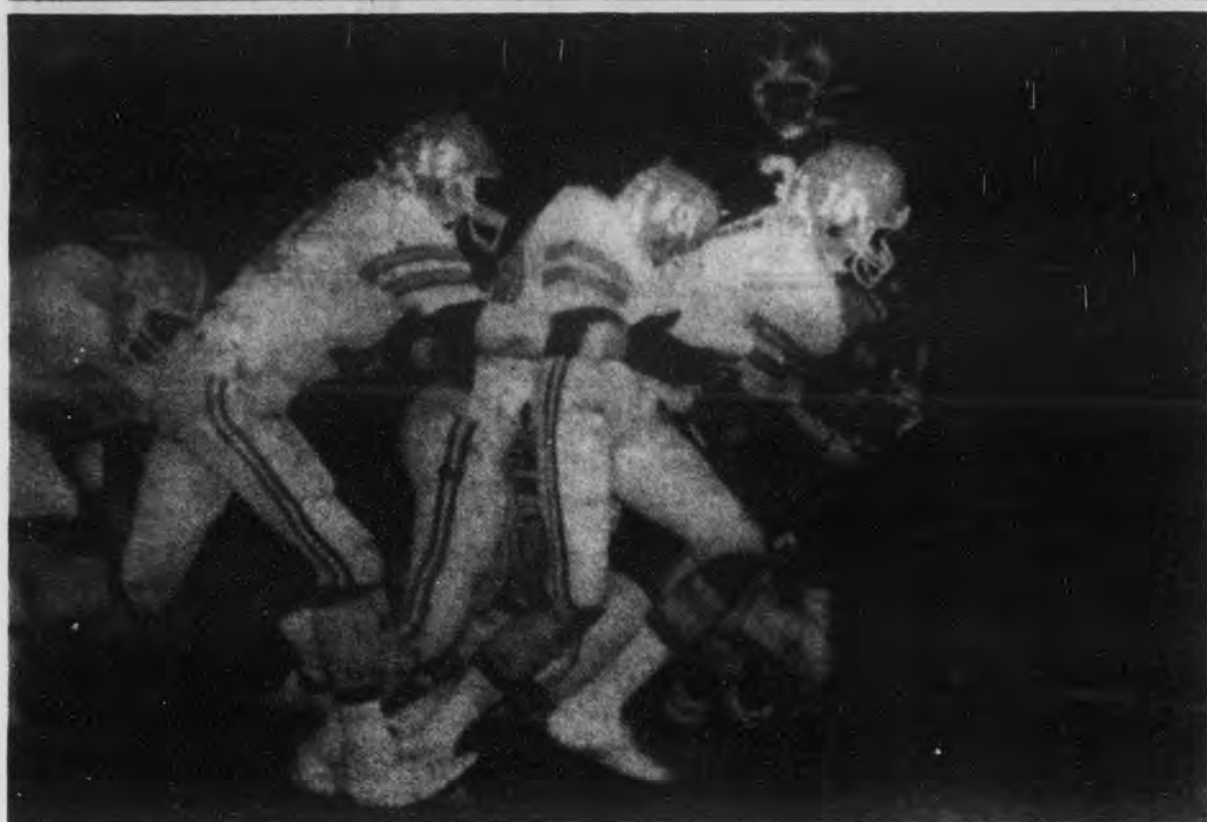

"There are plenty of dove this year," Jones said. "If the first day is any indication, it ought to be a good season."

Panthers fall to Berry Bucs

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

Coach Billy Tohill and his Pelham Panthers ran into "an excellent football team" Friday night. And when Pelham met Berry, more often than not the meeting was a hard one.

"They have a fine football team that is big and aggressive," Tohill said. "Sometimes those big guys look good coming off a bus but then can't play," the Panther coach added. "These were good looking athletes and played as good as they looked."

As a result, the Pelham Panthers had to recover not only from a 19-7 loss when they gathered in Pelham on Saturday, but from some bumps and bruises as well.

Panthers Jim Burrowbridge (collarbone) and Greg Frank (shoulder) played the entire second half of the Berry game with injuries and their status as of early this week was questionable.

Halfback Billy Fant has a deep bruise to the sternum following a good hit from Berry, and other Panthers are bruised as well.

"It was a sore bunch Saturday morning," Tohill said.

Lack of field position may have been as evil an enemy for the Panthers as their Berry opponents during the first half of the game.

STATS
Pelham		Berry
10	first downs	18
213	rushing	35
77	passing	50
3	turnovers	0
75	penalty yards	70

The Panther defense stayed on the field the majority of the first half, but gave up only 10 points in a situation where Tohill said they easily could have allowed three touchdowns.

"We were in such bad field position we couldn't even think about opening up our offense," Tohill said, "so the defense was on the field constantly."

In addition, Berry's big defensive line harried Pelham quarterback Mike Bramblett throughout the game, requiring Pelham backs to pick them up with double team blocks and allowing Berry to blitz with some success.

The Pelham passing game, however, was improved on the night when Bramblett had time to throw, Tohill said.

Jackets edge by Eagles

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Vincent Yellow Jackets ran their record to 3-0 last Friday night with a win over the Calera Eagles.

But the 14-13 final margin was a little surprising to both Vincent and Calera coaches.

"We were lucky," said Vincent's Harold Garrett, and noted that the Calera team had improved since their opening loss to Montevallo, the only film on the Eagles Vincent coaches had seen.

"We were lucky," Garrett added, "but I guess a lot of coaches would like to be 3-0 now with two 14-13 games behind them."

For the Calera staff and head coach Danny Alverson, the surprise was of a more pleasant nature.

"I think we saw tonight what this team can become," Alverson said. "They have gotten a little better each week, but they played tonight even better than we thought they would."

The biggest surprise — for both coaches — was the re-emergence of the Calera running game.

The Eagles added the run to their new run and shoot offensive weapons, gaining almost 100 yards on the ground in addition to 165 through the air.

Steve Seay led the resurging Calera ground game, running and blocking well from his fullback spot, Alverson said.

But improvements in the Calera ground game could not equal the Vincent ground attack that powered the Jackets to a last minute win.

Vincent finished with two tailbacks — Pat Yowe and Hugh Kidd — over 100 yards in rushing and got almost 50 each from tailback Reginald Riggins and fullback Vernon Kidd enroute to over 300 rushing yards on the game.

Running out of the wing-T, Garrett likes to spread the offense between as many as six backs, preventing defenses from keying on any one Jacket runner.

The Jackets also added some power plays to their wing-T game, and those plays accounted for much of the yardage on their final scoring drive.

While Vincent backs continue to run hard, Garrett was pleased with the improvement of his offensive line after their third win.

Tackles Kevin Howard, Jimmy Turner and Lawrence Frazier, guards Michael Norwood, Cory Wood and Demetrius Melton and center Jimmy Howard all share playing time on that line, and all are improving, Garrett said.

STATS

Vincent		Calera
13	FD	7
306	rushing	88
0	passing	165
3	turnovers	2
82	penalty yards	15

Garrett's chief area of concern following the game continue to be the mistakes his offense is making, especially with penalties.

"We fiddle away a lot of opportunities with mistakes, and we can't continue to do that," he said.

Defensively, Garrett noted the efforts of defensive ends George McConico and Glen Morris, linebacker Derek Whitfield and strong safety Reginald Riggins.

Calera's Alverson handed out a lot of compliments following the game, especially among his defensive players.

"We looked like Calera defenses of old," he said. "A lot of times we had four or five blue helmets around the ball and we were more aggressive."

Defensive linemen Byron Devinner and David Barnett, both youngsters, drew praise for their improved play, and Alverson credited Erwin Jones with his "best game ever" on defense. In addition, Alverson noted that his secondary — Ray Ross, Mark Jones and Byron White — did not allow Vincent to complete a pass.

Alverson also credited freshman Kenny Richardson for setting the defensive tone of the game with "one of the hardest licks I've seen in some time."

On offense, Seay ran better and Richardson made some key receptions, Alverson said. Joey Killingsworth and Chuck Amos led an improving offensive line, and quarterback Mark Jones continues to hold the team together with good execution and good leadership, Alverson added.

Shane Schroeder was also commended for improving the Calera punting game.

SCORING SUMMARY

Vincent scored on its second possession of the ballgame, Hugh Kidd getting the TD on a four-yard run. Vernon Kidd added the PAT for a 7-0 lead.

Calera tied the score when Mark Jones connected with Byron White on a 70-yard touchdown pass. Shane Schroeder's PAT made the score 7-7.

Jones and White team again in the fourth period to give Calera the lead, this TD pass a four-yarder.

The PAT attempt failed.

With 16 seconds remaining in the game, Vincent's Pat Yowe

THS Warriors lose close contest

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Thompson Warriors are operating at an average offensive production of 24 points per game through three games of the 1985 season.

The Warrior defense is giving up an average of 20 points per game through three games of the 1985 season.

But the law of averages backfired on the Warriors last week as they fell 28-25 to Chilton County on the Tigers' home turf in Clanton.

THS coach Doug Wheeler said in looking back at his team's second loss of the young season.

"We can't continue giving up that many points," Wheeler said early this week that the Warriors — both players and coaches — plan to attack their defensive problems head on.

Wheeler said. In addition, THS coaches will experiment this week with some different combinations of players in an effort to achieve more team speed on defense — especially in the defensive secondary.

The loss of linebacker Kevin Ballard last week is currently creating problems in the Warrior secondary. Otis Bivins — who moved to inside linebacker and gave what Wheeler called a good performance against Chilton County with only a week of work at a new position — took with him the best speed in the THS secondary when he moved inside.

Despite the problems, however, Wheeler felt the Warriors were going to have to play a little better defensively, Wheeler said.

"These kids realize where they have problems and I think they are willing to do what they have to to improve those areas," Wheeler said.

SA takes big third win

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

When the Shelby Academy Raiders won two games in one week recently, SA head coach Dewayne Kervin said the wins had the Raiders about as high as cloud nine but left their feet slightly off the ground.

Last weekend, the Raiders continued to fly high with a 34-0 win over Cahawba. But the lofty Raiders, now at 3-0, have their feet firmly planted on the ground, and that's the way Kervin wants his team to be.

"It was really nothing spectacular," Kervin said of his team's domination in the game. "They just settled down and got down to business."

"We played extremely well as a unit," Kervin added.

The Raiders front-line troops saw almost three quarters of action.

Offensively, the Shelby line blocked well through the first half to allow Mike Upton to rush for 107 yards and two touchdowns and Doug Thomas to pick up 89 yards on only five attempts with two scores as well.

The Raiders finished the first half with offensive totals that would be impressive for an entire ballgame, 290 yards rushing and 13 first downs.

Defensively, the Raiders allowed only 20 yards in total offense and no first downs through the first half, and Raider second-liners did not give up a score in the second.

Doug Thomas and Mike Upton led the Raider defensive stats with seven tackles each.

Upton and Wade Edmonds also had interceptions in the game.

"They all hustled real well," Kervin said, and added that he was pleased some youngsters got to see a lot of playing time.

"They realize, though, that this week will be an entirely different ballgame," Kervin said.

The Raiders host Oak Grove in another conference game this week, a game that Kervin feels is one of two the Raiders must at least split to have a shot at the state play-offs.

"We need this one, and it will be tough," Kervin said."

SCORING SUMMARY

The Raiders scored twice in the first quarter, first and a seven yard TD run by Mike Upton then on a 33-yard scamper by Doug Thomas.

Vince Pickett added both PATs for a 14-0 lead.

The Raiders finished their scoring in the second period.

Thomas got his second TD of the night on an 11-yard run, Upton got his second score on a seven-yard run and Mike Thames rambled 28 yards for a TD.

Pickett added two more PATs to make the final 34-0.

Pelham

In addition, Tohill commended the efforts of Tony Jeffers on both offense and defense.

"We just have to pick up and move on from here," Tohill said.

"We were in the ballgame at 13-7 in the second half when we really should have been out of it."

"We may be down," he added, "but we're not out by a long shot."

SCORING SUMMARY

Jason Ingram kicked field goals of 33 and 47 yards and quarterback Mark Smith scored on an eight-yard run to give Berry a 13-0 lead by the early moments of the third quarter.

Pelham cut the Berry margin to 13-7 when Winfred McCall scored on a short run, and Mike Bramblett added the PAT.

Berry added an insurance TD with three minutes remaining in the game on a second TD run by Mark Smith.

Knowles breaks records

The University of North Alabama's recent 17-13 loss to Mississippi College was certainly not pleasant for UNA head coach Wayne Grubb.

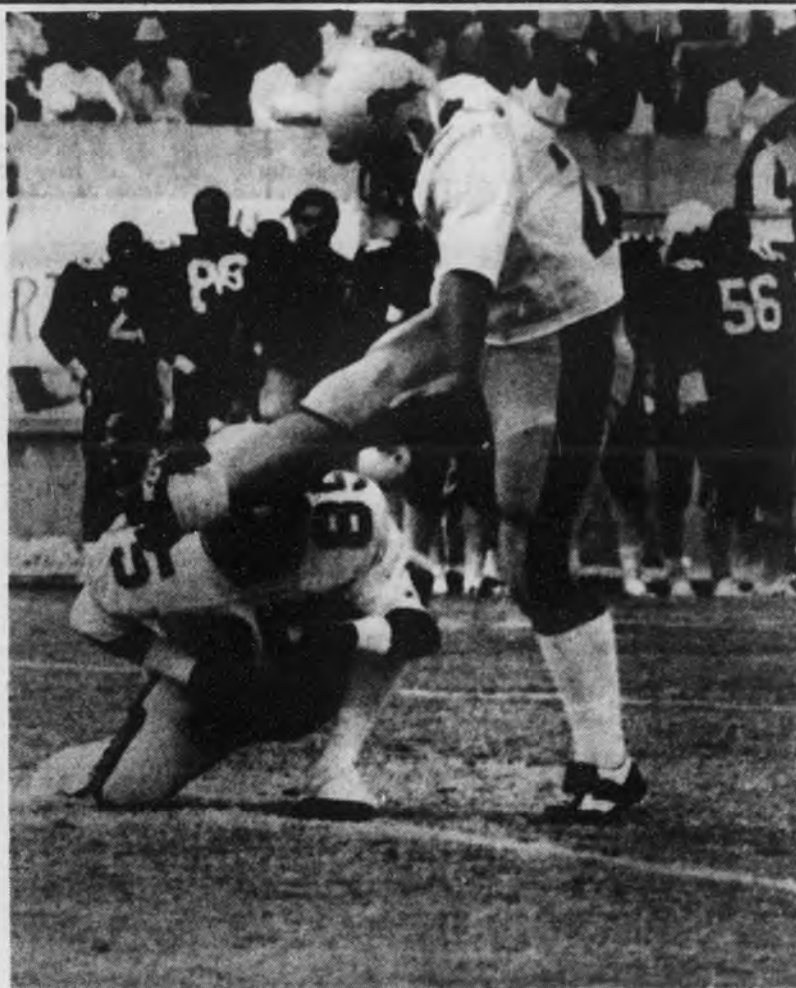

The kicking of former Shelby Academy Raider James Knowles, however, provided some bright moments in an otherwise dismal day.

A four-year starter for the Lions, Knowles hit two field goals and one extra point in the 17-13 loss to move within five points of the Gulf South Conference's individual scoring record.

Knowles could easily eclipse the current mark of 227 points, set by Chris Hobbs in four years at Jacksonville State, in the Lion's next outing against Savannah State on September 28.

Knowles already has four field goals in the Lions first two games of the 1985 season and currently holds four school and two Gulf South Conference kicking and scoring records.

UNA's JAMES KNOWLES
...former Raider breaking records

Wynne scores big

A former Pelham Panther soccer stand-out led the University of Alabama-Birmingham Blazers to their first win of the 1985 soccer season recently.

Scott Wynne, a sophomore forward who played for Pelham High, scored the only goal in the Blazer's 1-0 win over Auburn-Montgomery.

The win evened UAB's season record at 1-1.

Through two games, Wynne is the leading scorer for the Blazers, scoring once against AUM and once in the Blazer's 4-2 opening loss to Western Kentucky.

Wynne is not the only Shelby Countian playing soccer for the Blazers this fall. Another former Panther, Shawn Casey, also plays soccer.

Briarwood

In addition, a more aggressive effort by his entire offensive unit was another positive area in Sayle's eyes, and the coach credited his offensive line for coming off the ball well throughout the game.

That line also protected well for quarterback Jimmy Collier, who threw for 78 yards and a touchdown before retiring early in the third period.

Defensively, an abundance of players prevented any one Lion from running up high tackle totals, but Sayle was pleased with the play of his left side on defense, especially defensive end Brad Gutteridge and outside linebacker Randy Gilbert.

"Most of the success Marion had came when they were running away from those two," Sayle said. "We were able to keep them from turning the corner on that side."

Sayle was also pleased with the kicking game and particularly "place-kicker Jeff Kuhlman. "Jeff hasn't missed yet this year — four PATs and a field goal — and has been doing a good job," Sayle said.

"We played so many folks it's hard to remember every thing that went well," Sayle said. "Of course," he added, "that is a nice problem to have."

SCORING SUMMARY
Conrad Carpenter caught a 40-yard scoring toss from Jimmy Collier for Briarwood's first score of the night. Jeff Kuhlman's PAT made the tally 7-0.

Collier scored on a seven-yard run early in the second period, and with Kuhlman's PAT the Lions moved to a 14-0 lead.

Richard Haynes blocked a Marion Institute punt into the endzone where Keith Shaffer recovered for Briarwood's third TD. Kuhlman's third PAT made the score 21-0 at halftime.

Briarwood got second half touchdowns from Brad Gray — four-yard run — and Brandon Pattagruue — three yard run — to seal the win. Kuhlman converted the fourth TD and Tom Blose the fifth to make the final 35-0.

SMC management contract takes board, foundation to court

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

Shelby Medical Center's Board of Trustees voted September 17 to seek a court opinion on the validity of a year-old management contract with Shelby Health Services Foundation, Inc.

A special meeting was called by the board's executive committee one week before the regularly scheduled meeting last Tuesday to settle the disputed contract.

Although the board approved the contract at a September 25, 1984 meeting, the contract was cancelled by the board at the next meeting. In between meetings, the county commission added six new members to the board.

The issue resurfaced after a discussion between board chairman Doug Ballard and a foundation member who claimed the foundation still has a valid contract to manage the hospital.

That contract also gives the foundation right of first refusal if the hospital is being sold.

Board member Joe Arledge, who is also in the foundation, said the potential sale of the hospital prompted him to reassert the foundation's rights to Ballard.

He said he had been questioned by Ballard and vice-chairman Pete Raughley about whether he would favor selling the hospital.

Three or four days before the meeting was called, Arledge said he told them he "absolutely would not vote to sell and that the foundation is still alive."

Arledge said he assumes the foundation would file suit to stop an attempted sale.

Raughley said, however, that he was not aware of any current move under way to sell the hospital. During the six years he has served on the board, "there has always been talk and it will go on that way another six years."

Although he did not specifically recall discussing sale of the hospital, he said the two had discussed the problem of hospital losses.

Board members "would be derelict in our duty if we sat there and let a $30-35 million investment go down the drain," Raughley said. "As trustees of the largest asset of the citizens of Shelby County, we are in charge of making sure we don't lose the investment."

He stressed that he would not agree to a sale without approval by county voters, and offered sale only as an option to be considered.

If the hospital were sold, indigent care could be financed by an anticipated $2-2.5 million in interest from a trust fund. That figure is above what is currently spent on indigent care in the county, according to Raughley.

Arledge said, however, that he was afraid to trust such a fund, and worried that it could be taken away.

"One of the prime reasons" for the foundation's contract "is to keep the county commission from selling the hospital," he said.

Some board members, however, criticized other details of the contract.

"I can't believe those who were members of the board at that time wanted to do what this contract said it would do," said board member Tom Stubbs. "The terms of the contract give all control of the hospital to the foundation."

Stubbs told board members the contract relinquishes all control over hiring and firing to the foundation and gives the foundation

Meadow Brook committee seeks Hoover annexation

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

A committee of the Meadow Brook Homeowners Association recommended that the area seek annexation by Hoover at a meeting of the general assembly September 16.

An annexation study committee has been examining three options: annexation by Hoover, incorporation as a city, and keeping the area as it is. The committee is composed of about 70 members, which is more than 10 percent of the residents of the area, according to its chairman, Michael Antonio.

More than 250 at the general assembly of the homeowners association unanimously approved the committee's findings, Antonio said.

Antonio expects a petition asking Hoover to annex the area to follow, but was not sure when.

He said the petition would be a natural move toward annexation by the city because "Hoover expects the areas that want to be annexed to ask for annexation."

Hoover officials have said the city will not aggressively seek to annex any area, but will consider requests.

Residents of Quail Run and Valley Station are waiting for a response to its petition to Hoover for annexation.

The committee rejected maintaining the status quo of the area because "that would not allow us to control our destiny," Antonio said.

Such a position "would only allow us to react to Birmingham's intrusion down the 280 corridor and its future annexation attempts," the committee report says.

The committee also rejected the formation of a new city as "extremely costly and time-consuming."

Because of the sparse population, several small cities would have to be formed to cover the Meadow Brook and Inverness areas across 280, said Antonio. These cities would later be merged into one city, according to the report.

This option would offer only increased property taxes, but no additional services, Antonio said.

Annexation into Hoover, however, offers improvements. See ANNEXATION, Page A-2

Vincent to invest money from sale of gas system

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

Vincent will invest most of the $400,000 it will receive from the sale of the city's natural gas system, according to Noland Clinkscales, mayor of the city and chairman of the water board.

An immediate five to 10 percent rate reduction for customers is also expected to result from the sale of the Vincent Natural Gas Distribution System to the Alabama Gas Company, said Alabama Gas representative Andre Taylor.

The increased supply of gas will help Vincent "attract new industries which may have been reluctant to locate there in the past because of the insufficient natural gas supply," said the company's vice president of state operations, Roy Etheredge.

Clinkscales agrees that gas was not abundant.

"We weren't really turning them down, but we weren't trying to add any new customers," he said.

The city will make more money from the sale of the gas system than from its operation, he said. $300,000 will be invested, with the rest paying a $45,000 debt to Harpersville and lawyers' fees, he said.

Rushton presents check for Wilsonville water

Gregg Rushton, county commissioner for district 1, surprised the Wilsonville City Council with a $200,000 check at its meeting Monday.

The Community Development Block Grant will be used to improve the city's water system.

Although Mayor Frances Phelps was aware of the grant, council members had not been notified beforehand.

Rushton praised Phelps for being "relentless" in her efforts to have the source of funding changed from competitive grants to the governor's discretionary fund.

A local contribution of $50,000 will be used on the project "to replace small, inadequate water lines and make other improvements to the system," according to Alabama Department of Economic and

Columbiana budget has raise for city workers

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

Columbiana city employees have something to cheer about this year.

A five percent pay raise for all employees is included in the 1985-86 budget, approved by the council last Thursday.

The balanced budget totals $902,600, an increase of nearly $50,000 from last year.

Finance committee chairman William Rasco explained that the budget had to be increased because of rising costs. One of the things he mentioned that has gone up, is insurance.

The insurance on city hall and workmen's compensation costs the city $40,000. The city also pays $68,600 for group insurance.

Another expenditure Rasco mentioned was the $10,000 the city has allocated to the street department for cleaning out the ditches in town.

The budget for the public works, which includes the street and sanitation departments, totals $181,334.

Expenses for the police department come to $138,535, and those of the fire department to $17,960.

The budget includes $243,325 in donations and transfers of funds.

An estimated sales tax of $371,500 is the city's biggest See BUDGET, Page A-5

Rusk visits

Retired Circuit Judge Jimmy Sharbutt of Vincent, left, meets former U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk as UM President Jim Vickrey watches. Rusk spoke to UM students about nuclear war last week, urging caution, but professing optimism. Rusk's lecture at UM was the first in a series honoring Dr. Hallie Farmer. Farmer was a UM teacher and reform worker.

Rusk optimistic about nuclear future

Former U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk left University of Montevallo students with an optimistic view of their nuclear future and administrators with a euphoric feeling over the inauguration of a new lecture series last week.

"I am optimistic about the future, partly because of you young people and partly because this old human race of ours has the capacity to be decent at the end of the day even if in the morning we're pretty unreasonable," Rusk told a mostly student audience at the end of his two-day visit.

Rusk, the first speaker in UM's new Hallie Farmer Lecture Series, drew large crowds for informal sessions with students as well as two public lectures. UM officials said the turnout was extraordinary.

"What we had was the most enthusiastic response to a speaker in the 13 years I've been here," Dr. David Morgan, chairman of the Social Sciences Department and the lecture committee, said.

"This was terrific. It was the most successful thing we've had here since a 1979 Brown Decision Symposium, and this one went over better with the students," Morgan added.

The new lecture series is named for Dr. Hallie Farmer, a UM faculty member from 1927-56 and one of the first three members inducted into the Alabama Women's Hall of Fame. She is remembered for her work to reform state prisons, repeal the poll tax and improve the legislative process as well as her teaching ability.

The lecture series was established and is supported by contributions from friends and former students of Dr. Farmer. The lectures will be held every other year.

Rusk said he is optimistic about the world's nuclear future because he has "seen no signs" that any nation is likely to launch those weapons.

"We must be careful, of course, but remember, the Russians don't want Mother Russia destroyed any more than we want our beloved America destroyed," Rusk said.

He also said that both U.S.

and Soviet officials are aware of the potential for an irresponsible third party using a nuclear weapon and will not allow themselves to be drawn into a war because of that.

Rusk brushed aside "doomsday" promoters, saying U.S. and Soviet leaders are also aware of "nonsensical" theories about limited nuclear war and protracted nuclear war in which one side would emerge with an advantage.

Rusk, who was named Secretary of State by President John F. Kennedy, served for eight years, the second longest term in the cabinet position. He left government service in 1968. He is presently the Samuel H. Sibley Professor of International Law at the University of Georgia.

Rabies vaccination being checked

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

A door-to-door survey of the county to enforce the rabies vaccination law will start this month, according to the county rabies inspector.

Random checks throughout the county will probably begin this week, said Charles Thornburg, a Columbiana veterinarian who is rabies officer this year.

People found with unvaccinated pets will be required to get the vaccinations and pay $5 penalty fees.

Reunion planned

The program is patterned after one in Madison County, where 90 percent of the pets are vaccinated, Thornburg said.

Only about 25 percent of pets in the county are being vaccinated, he said.

In the past, such checks have not been made, even though the vaccination requirement is state law.

"This is not meant to intimidate or cause hardship, but to help prevent rabies," Thornburg said.

Although Shelby County has only had two cases of rabid bats this year, vaccination is still important, he said.

Last year, a dog was found chewing on a rabid bat, Thornburg said. Had the animal not already been vaccinated, it would have had to be quarantined six months or put to sleep because of the danger to the family.

The year before, two cats were found with a live bat that was found rabid. These cats had been vaccinated, but only a few days before, without enough time to build immunities. The owner decided the risk of infection was too great, and the cats were put to sleep, he said.

The cost for a rabies shot "is an awful small amount to give that much protection to the family, especially if they have close contact with the pets," he said.

The price ranges from $6 to $8, he said. Part of the vaccination fee funds the rabies control program.

Wallace proving recovery with trip to China?

Gov. George Wallace departs early next week for a 20-day trip to China. The announced purpose of the extended and costly junket is to establish trade relations with the Hubei Province of China, but there may be a political reason as well--to impress upon the voters that he is completely recovered from his recent surgery and fully capable of serving as governor for another four years.
 The trip will indeed cost the taxpayers a bundle. Earlier in his administration Wallace made an industry-hunting trip to Europe, and the tab for that junket was $300,000. A big chunk of that was to pay for the chartered airplane used on the trip. Wallace will use a chartered plane for his China trip as well. Because the distance is far greater to China, the October excursion is expected to cost substantially more.
 Wallace's top two aides--Elvin Stanton and Billy Joe Camp--are already in China. They left two weeks ahead of Wallace (accompanied by two state troopers) to finalize appointments and confirm motel reservations.
 Still unsure is the size of the party Wallace will take with him. For sure he will be accompanied by three Troopers, two valets and his personal physician. Others are likely to be added.
 Apparently Mrs. Wallace will not accompany her husband on this trip to the Far East. She went with him when he visited Japan and Korea, but returned early when her father became ill. Mrs. Wallace has another project on her mind at the moment--she is busily redecorating the home Wallace owns in Montgomery. She has indicated she plans to spend more time there in the future because she is concerned about her son growing up in the "fishbowl" climate of the mansion.
 Odds and Ends--In the past a good sign that an incumbent governor did not plan to seek another term in office was when Cabinet members began departing for other assignments. Gov. Wallace's legal advisor, Ken Wallis, has already announced he will step down shortly, but he is departing to launch his campaign for attorney general. Last week another cabinet member--banking superintendent Kenneth McCartha--announced he was leaving his post on Sept. 30 to revert to his former merit system post as deputy superintendent of banks. Wallace has appointed Dothan banker James Goldsborough to the vacancy. A bit of trivia--Goldsborough is the brother of singer Bobby Goldsborough (he changed the spelling of his last name)...It will likely change as election day draws nearer, but as of now many of the candidates for state offices are having all manner of problems raising the big bucks they need for the campaign. The "Daddy Warbucks" type of contributors, those who make the big contributions, are waiting to see which of the hopefuls show some sign of catching on fire. There's nothing worse than betting on the wrong horse in a governor's race.

Hurricane victims praise Calera

Letter to the Editor:
 Editor's note: Calera Councilman W.M. Davis asked the Reporter to share the following letter from victims of Hurricane Elena who were sheltered in Calera.
 We wish to express our gratitude and appreciation for the tremendous courtesies shown to us during our time of need.
 Every volunteer is to be commended for the efforts to provide a safe haven and fulfill the needs of all the people who were fleeing the threat of Hurricane Elena.

 We felt the warm welcome of the community of Calera and the understanding shown for fellow Americans suffering a traumatic experience.
 Many of us were evacuated from our homes for the second time in two days. That in itself was an exhausting experience which will not be soon forgotten, but neither will the concern of the citizens of Calera be forgotten.

 We accepted your hospitalities gratefully and should the need arise, we would hope to return the favors as graciously as they were extended to us.
 Although every volunteer worked very hard, we cannot ignore the exceptional efforts made to us by Neil Hawkins. He displayed the epitome of a true American, reminding us we truly are a nation united.

 Now that we have returned to our homes, having survived the wrath of Elena, we must ask for one last favor. Please extend our heartfelt thanks to all the people involved in our plight.
 Citizens of Calera, we commend you!

Is coach corrupting students?

Dear Editor,
 A high school coach was recently charged with selling cocaine. Did he sell it to the teens he taught and coached?
 If convicted, this man faces three to 15 years in jail--so little time for such a serious crime.
 Any adult who would encourage a child (tot to teen) to drink alcohol, smoke cigarettes or pot, chew tobacco or dip snuff, or have active sexual roles with other children or adults, or encourage them in pornographic activities of any nature is the lowest form on this earth.

 I'm one parent who is outraged about this matter. Our kids are with their teachers more waking hours than they are with us. I don't send my children to school to be coached that drug selling or use is the right route to pleasure and fun.

 How little the drug pushers think of our children is evident in the news daily.
 If a person wants to use drugs, smoke pot, have abnormal sex or do any of the other off the wall things mentioned above, I hope and pray he won't entice or invite my children to 'party' with him. He should look in the mirror and see the ugly beast he really is.

 What more can a parent do except hope and pray that our children won't become victims of drug, porno or sex offenders?
 Sincerely
 Lyla Norrie

Chelsea VFD raising funds for new truck

Dear Editor,
 The Chelsea Volunteer Fire Department would like to thank everyone that contributed to a very successful roadblock Sept.

14, 1985. You as a community contributed $1,573.04 toward a new firetruck.
 We very deeply appreciate this. This is an excellent start toward our New Truck Fund Campaign. Starting in the month of October we will be beginning a massive campaign toward a new firetruck and also getting some information from you, the people we serve. We are going to come door to door to every home in our coverage area.

 To give you an idea how big a job this is--we cover 37 square miles. We have one of the largest areas in the county. Not only will we be seeking contributions, but we will also have a questionnaire we would like for you to fill out.
 Also we will have a fire department fact sheet informing you of the job we have done, and will continue to do with your help. We are trying to raise $80,000 for a new firetruck for (OUR COMMUNITY). This is not a fancy truck but one that will serve our growing community for years to come. We as a department have been idle for several years but that is about to change. There will be more information in the coming months so be looking for us. P. S. Our new emergency number is the Sheriff's Department number 669-4181.

 If you have other business with us please call Chief Crum at 678-9888 or Don King at 678-9858. Thanks everyone for your continued support.
 Sincerely,
 C.V.F.D.

Yearbook helpers thanked

Letter to the Editor:
 Classmates, friends, teachers, business firms... thank you for helping make the 1985 "Sentimental Journey" a success! We all had a wonderful time.
 Those of you who missed it, really missed a treat which only happens once in a life time. (I am bragging). I owe so many

"Thank You" notes, this was one way "I could reach out and touch everyone." You have all been wonderful! Thanks again. We hope all of you will promote our "Sentimental Journey" 1985 Book, and buy one. They will become invaluable.

Buckle up and stay sober on road

Drunk drivers are costing Alabamians an estimated $200 million plus per year. Estimates cover wage losses, medical expenses, insurance administrative costs, fire losses, property damage losses, and individual work loss, etc. The figure would not cover long term treatment costs needed by problem drinkers. As many as 50 percent of those arrested for DUI may need treatment.
 The Federal Government has long recognized that the drunk driver is primarily a local problem and the most critical ingredient for a successful long term program to combat drunk driving is a comprehensive community-based approach. The basic elements of police, courts, treatment, education, etc., are in place. It is felt that an effort to further integrate and coordinate these components would improve the effectiveness of the system.
 The Highway Safety Office of the Alabama Department of Economic and Community Affairs has established four one-man local Highway Safety Offices. These are funded with Federal National Highway Traffic Safety Administration dollars and some local funds. They are located with the Jefferson County Commission, the Mobile County Commission, City of Huntsville, and the Muscle Shoals Council of Local Governments to serve the Quad Cities area.

 John Perkins, Alcohol Coordinator for the Alabama Highway Safety Office, sees the end product needed as a self-sufficient Highway Safety Office for each community with a population of 25,000 or more. He recommends that if a funding mechanism can be established, a workable plan would be to use the present Office of Highway Safety to distribute such funds to localities upon an application process on a priority basis.
 The problem is finding a funding source. There are already fines on the convicted DUI and taxes on the product and dispensers. Some of these monies are returned to the local government; however, the money does not have to be spent in fighting the problems associated with alcohol abuse.
 Perkins said it is hard to get any new taxes or assessments in Alabama. An additional amount could be placed on the Convicted DUI; however, these fines are already quite high. An additional tax on the product? Perhaps. A small fee increase for license plates? Perhaps. How about a state lottery for highway safety? Everyone pays now, including 25 percent of your automotive insurance premium, because of drunk driving. Perkins hopes some concerned creative legislators will come forward with a workable plan.

 We actually only catch about one in 2,000 DUI's. This means last year over 60 million drunk driving incidents got by without being arrested. However, 31,671 were arrested last year. Additionally, there were an estimated 20,000 accidents involving drunk drivers and a percentage of the other 107,000 accidents may have involved a drinking driver.
 It has been established by the Department of Forensic Sciences through bloodurine samples of motor vehicle fatalities that about 50 percent involved drunk drivers. This would mean last year 470 of the 940 fatalities were caused by drunken drivers. Forensic Sciences figures for the last year showed a dramatic reduction from 55 percent in 1983 to 38.4 percent in 1984. The data is being studied but it may be too early to make an interpretation of what may be occurring.

 The present furor, perhaps started by the activist groups, including MADD, is at an all time high. However, Perkins believes most of the credit must go to the news media. Without them the loud cry might be no more than a whisper.
 Perkins believes the drunk driver is really only a symptom of perhaps a more serious problem with alcohol which may affect family life, employment, and crime, nationwide. At some point in time we must look beyond our highways and look at all activities which may affect the problem and not at only one symptom.
 In the meantime we must realize that the decision to drink and drive is an individual responsibility. What it may cost you is your driver's license, some money, your freedom, your life or lives.
 One thing we can all do to help protect ourselves from motor vehicle crashes is BUCKLE UP.

Beware before buying wood

by Charles A. Graddick
Attorney General

Does the price of oil, gas or electricity make you want to burn wood? If so, you are not alone. More Alabamians are turning to wood either to supplement or totally supply present heating requirements.

Although wood is becoming a favored fuel, buying wood is not always a simple matter.

Wood is sold by cords. A standard or full cord is a volume measured as a pile eight feet long, four feet high, and four feet wide. The width represents the length of the logs. A "face cord" is a pile of wood eight feet long, four feet high, and as wide as the lengths of the cut wood. Many times wood is sold as a face cord because four foot long logs do not fit in most fireplaces. A "truck load" is a vague term depending on the size of the dealer's truck. A standard pickup will hold only one-third to one-half of a full cord. If you are not sure how much wood you are purchasing, stack the wood before you pay.

For selection of good wood, be aware of the species of wood, the moisture content, and the price. Some species of wood are denser and will give off a great deal of heat such as oak and beech. Others don't give off much heat but are easy to start such as cedar and white pine. A cord with a good mix is a good buy.

Wood is usually advertised as green or seasoned. Seasoned or dry wood will give you more heat and ignite more easily. Wet wood has a reduced heating value because it takes more energy for the wood to burn. Find out when the wood was cut. Generally, it should be at least six months. In the future, buy wood in the spring or early summer so the wood can season properly before winter.

And finally, the price of wood will vary from place to place. Shop around, try to buy when the demand is low, and be sure you understand exactly what you are buying.

If you have your wood delivered, be there when it arrives. Many complaints come from people who feel they have not gotten as much wood as expected. This can be prevented by simply being at home when the wood is delivered. If the dealer does not meet the terms of the agreement, refuse to accept the wood and demand he satisfy you with what was promised. If the supplier refuses to keep his end of the deal, contact the Attorney General's Office of Consumer Protection for help.

Pelham officers mark 10 years

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

Pelham police officers Mark Brasher and Wyatt Wardrop have completed ten years of service with the Pelham PD. That — other Pelham officers feel — warrants a celebration.

Continuing in a tradition established last year when the Pelham Police Department honored then captain (now chief) Allan Wade for 10 years of service, the Pelham department is honoring both Brasher and Wardrop for their service as well.

Brasher started with Pelham as a dispatcher, and all of his service has been with the Pelham department.

Wardrop has spent the last ten years in a part-time and reserve capacity for the Pelham police, acting as a regular officer when need demands and filling in as a reserve at other times.

Pelham policemen Virgil Rice and Bill Pinson organized a banquet to celebrate the completion of 10 years of service for each officer.

The banquet was held October 19 at Oak Mountain State Park and was catered by Dale's Country Kitchen.

Pelham police officer Mark Delk, who organized a similar banquet for Wade last year, said the department is planning to make the banquet an annual event and will "celebrate" with each Pelham officer who reaches the 10-year anniversary mark.

Education, law topics of conference

Education and the law will be the topic of discussion at the fourth annual conference on "What's RIGHT in Public Education and Alabama Today" October 1 at the University of Montevallo.

The focus of the conference will be acting under the law to ensure excellence," said Dr. Joe Brindley, vice president for university and public affairs.

Registration will be held from 9:30-10:30 a.m. in LeBaron Recital Hall. The opening session will feature the keynote speaker, Dr. Donald Gehring, a professor at the University of Louisville, who will raise issues and set the tone for the discussions that will follow.

At the luncheon, scheduled for 11:45 a.m.-1 p.m. in the Montevallo Room of the campus dining hall, participants will be seated by interest groups with discussion leaders at each table. There will be, for example, a table for school board members, one for high school principals and another for university faculty members.

One of the discussion leaders will be State Sen. Butch Ellis of Columbiana, UM's legal counsel and member of the Board of Trustees.

The afternoon session, from 1:15-2:30 p.m. in LeBaron

Recital Hall, will feature a panel discussion moderated by UM President Jim Vickrey. The panelists include Don Sweeney, attorney for the firms of Rives and Peterson; J.R. Brooks, a former U.S. attorney; Ina Leonard, legal counsel for the University of Alabama at Birmingham; and Dr. David K. Brennan, dean of the Jones School of Law in Montgomery.

Co-sponsors of the event are Alabama Association of School Boards, Alabama Commission on Higher Education, Alabama Congress of Parents and Teachers, Alabama Council for School Administration and Supervision, Alabama Council of University Presidents, Alabama Department of Education, Alabama Department of Postsecondary Education (Auburn University) and the University of Montevallo.

The conference is open to all educators and interested citizens. There is no registration fee. Participants may purchase a luncheon ticket for $10 or make other arrangements for lunch.

For additional information, contact Dr. Joe Brindley, vice president for university and public affairs at 665-6432.

source of revenue, with the $171,000 expected from business and privilege licenses next in line.

The city also expects to get $84,000 in ad valorem taxes.

Although income from garbage collection fees will not equal what the city spends for the service, an increased charge to customers will lessen the deficit.

The service costs the city $100,000 and the $2 increase in the charge should bring in $70,000.

Customers will be paying $5 for backyard service, which Rasco said private garbage collection firms charge for curbside service. The new rate will go into effect Oct. 1.

The fee for businesses has not been determined.

"Our low prices and personal service make us more than just another drug store."

We work hard at keeping prices down for you. In fact, our average prescription price is substantially lower than you'll find anywhere else around. That's true whether you compare our prices with discount store prices or with special senior citizen discount prices.

And our computer remembers every prescription we fill. That's a big help when you need facts for tax and insurance records.

We try to keep up with your needs. Since 1965, we've been renting and selling home health care supplies like hospital beds, wheelchairs, canes and walkers.

No wonder people say we're more than just another drug store.

Shepard: dotes on Peruvian horses, spinning

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer
Pulling off her clogs, Ellen Shepard puts her stockinged foot on the spinning wheel pedal and reaches for a handful of wool.

"You have better control without shoes," she explains,

"and it makes the pedal last longer."

The wheel, which Shepard says is a Victorian type, is sometimes referred to as a parlor wheel or castle wheel. It sits in the kitchen of her Montevallo home.

Shepard says she decided she'd like to take up spinning about four years ago when she and her family were still in California.

"I was taking a horse husbandry course at the time," she says,
"and they were teaching sheep shearing in another area."

She says she noticed all the wool going to waste and thought there must be some way it could be used.

A visit to the Ventura County Fair where a spinning exhibition was going on gave her the idea for spinning it into yarn.

A number of shops in California have spinning wheels,
Shepard says, so finding one was no problem. She explained however, that it's important to get a wheel that "fits you."

Her wheel is called a castle wheel, Shepard says, because it is the type Queen Victoria used.

"There's something about spinning that fills a deep need in me," Shepard says. "I like the feel of the wool and getting back to the basics of living."

In California, she raised Angora rabbits and used their fur to spin the yarn for knitting sweaters.

Since moving to Montevallo, she has acquired another type of animal that will serve a dual purpose. The animal is a llama.

"Nothing could be more appropriate for me," Shepard says,
"because I raise Peruvian Paso horses. The first thing I'm going to make is a poncho."

A poncho is part of the apparel a rider wears in showing the breed, she says.

Besides providing her with wool, Shepard says the llama

McLeroy, Armstrong win

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

If the Shelby County Farm Bureau is correct, Columbiana's Camille McLeroy just might be the prettiest girl in Shelby County and Columbiana's Carol Armstrong just might be the most talented.

McLeroy and Armstrong were the top winners in the Shelby County Farm Bureau's Miss Agriculture and Talent find contests held in conjunction with the Shelby County Fair in Columbiana.

Almost 20 girls vied for the two titles in the annual contests with a field of 11 in the beauty contest and a field of six in the talent search.

Alabaster beauties Carla Carden and Andrea Wilson finished as first and second alternates to McLeroy in the Miss Agriculture Pageant.

Chelsea's Theresa Cain and Alabaster's Andrea Wilson finished as first and second alternates in the talent search that McLeroy won by singing a 50's tune.

The contests were judged by Dr. Witold and Marie Rose Turkiewicz, both affiliated with various programs of the Miss Alabama pageant, and Gladys McNair.

Shelby County Farm Bureau president Joel Bearden acted as master of ceremonies for the event, and Leigh Ann Atchison was pianist.

New doctor moving to Montevallo

Dr. William O. Owings of Centreville will be opening an office in Montevallo sometime in December.

Owings, a family practice and general surgery physician, will also keep his office in Centreville, where he has practiced for 20 years.

He will be joined in April by Dr. Steve Lovelady, who is finishing a residency program in Tuscaloosa.

Owings anticipates the office will open earlier and close a little later than regular hours.

The office, now being built, will be located on Island Street.

Owings will still have his patients hospitalized in Bibb County Hospital, unless they prefer to go elsewhere. In that case, he will refer them to a physician with the hospital of their choice.

Orin Pearson celebrates 100th birthday

OLIN PEARSON
...100 years of peddling love

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

Orin Pearson peddled milk and eggs. He also peddled love and good cheer.

That's how Tim Falkner sees his 100-year-old grandfather, who reached that milestone on Sept. 20.

Pearson was born in a log cabin in the Mostellar community in Shelby, and lived in that area until entering Briarcliff Nursing Home four years ago.

He married Forrest Payne Burton in 1908 and moved to a house just over the hill from the cabin where he was born. The couple had seven children, five of whom are still living. Mrs. Pearson died in 1980 at the age of 90.

Pearson was a dairyman as well as a beef cattle farmer. He also grew crops and had laying hens.

Her father loved people and getting out among them, said his daughter, Myra Falkner. She recalls him even taking milk and eggs to people who weren't able to pay him.

"If you can't be a highway," she remembers him saying, "be a nice little trail."

In the tribute he penned to his grandfather, Tim Falkner writes:

*Listen children to the story told
Of a God fearing man 100 years old:*

Seeing a nation change
Through it all,
Seeing a nation rise

Seeing a nation rise
Seeing a nation fall;
An able man
One could say:

One could say,
Farming- his way of life
Each and every day;
A working man

A working man
One could say,
Year after year

*A peddler of milk and eggs,
A peddler of love and good cheer;*

*A loving man
One could say,
Raising seven beautiful children*

Along the way;
A simple man
One could say,

*A man with happiness and peace of mind
He would gladly share with you*

Pearson shared his birthday celebration Sunday with his daughter Hazel Bolton from Scottsboro who was born the same day. His other children same day. His other children, who joined in the festivities, are: Maurice, Shelby; Edsel, Aiken, S.C.; Myra, Falkner, Colum-

S.C.; Myra Falkner, Colum-biana; Henrilee Atkins, Alabaster.

Pearson has 13 grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren.

Locals chosen advisors

Several University of Montevallo students from the local area have been chosen as student advisors for a "University Experience" class.

Senior Robin Gignilliat, daughter of Robert Gignilliat of Pelham; sophomore Boon Hean Ong, son on Inn Fatt Ong of Montevallo; junior Tricia Jones, daughter of Carl and Joyce Jones of Columbiana; and senior Evette Pearson, daughter of Evelyn Pearson of Calera, will help with the fall course.

University Experience is a one-semester, one-credit class to introduce freshmen to the university. Sixty student advisors and 40 faculty mentors will talk with small groups about campus resources and organizations, academic strategies, career opportunities and majors.

The program is designed to help students achieve a balance between their personal lives and their academic work at UM. The upperclass advisors will help new students get acquainted with university life.

Edwards chosen

maquette at Troy

Emily Edwards, Calera, is a majorette with Troy State University's 220-member "Sound of the South" marching band, announced John M. Young, the band director.

The band will appear at such events as the Atlanta Falcon-Denver Bronco football game in October and a major post season bowl. Members will also attend several band festivals and clinics this fall. The band just returned from New Orleans and Thibidaux, La.

Shepard

also makes a good companion for the horses. Goats are often used for that purpose, she notes.

It was on a horse buying trip in Florida that Shepard found the llama. The owner wanted some of the side saddles she collects, so she and Shepard traded.

An animal lover since childhood, Shepard says she likes living on six acres so she can have room for all the animals she wants.

"In California we only had an acre," she says.

In addition to the four horses now at home, and the llama, Shepard also has Chinese ducks and geese and three breeds of chickens - Aracuna or Peruvian, Polish and Anslusian.

A Boston terrier and three cats are also part of the family's animal menagerie.

Although she's been around horses most of her life, Shepard says she didn't come in contact with the Peruvian Pasos until the late 1970's.

"I saw them at a horse show," she says, "and I couldn't believe how smooth their gait was."

That was especially appealing to her, Shepard says, because of a back injury she sustained in her early 20's when she was thrown from a horse.

She was also captivated by the friendly disposition of the breed and the natural state in which they are shown. "We don't even put shoes on them," Shepard says.

Although she likes her sports on the milder side now, that wasn't the case when she was growing up.

Relating that she was one of the first girl surfers in California in the early 1950's, Shepard says she was taught to surf by a Hawaiian friend.

"I was doing that while the other girls were sitting on the beach looking pretty," she laughs.

She was also a basketball player at St. Mary's Academy until an ankle injury ended that activity. However, the injury didn't keep her from becoming a majorette.

Shepard met her husband Bernie after graduation from Mt. St. Mary's where she majored in biology. She was working as a medical technologist when the two met.

The couple's first child, a daughter named Shannon, died from Cystic Fibrosis when she was nearly 11.

Shepard was involved in charity work during the years her daughter was ill, especially those involving CF.

Country club activities were also part of her life in California, Shepard says.

Her lifestyle now is more to her liking.

A Computerized Tomography (CT) Scanner is only one of the pieces of high-tech equipment available 24 hours daily at SMC. The CT Scanner can be used to diagnose problems in emergencies or routine testing, and allows the physicians to view parts of the body which previously could not be seen.

High technology closer to you.

At Shelby Medical Center we believe that the residents of our service area deserve the best medical care possible. That's why we have modern facilities and the latest technology. Having this advanced technology closer to you can save valuable minutes in an emergency. It could even save your life.

In keeping pace with Alabama's fastest-growing area, SMC has some of the most modern technological equipment available anywhere. For instance, in the diagnosis, treatment and care of heart disease, SMC has a Cardiac Catheterization Lab which provides cardiologists the capability to perform streptokinase infusion on an emergency basis. A Special Procedures Suite with Digital Subtraction Angiography enables physicians and technicians to clearly see blood vessels. In the Echo Lab a 2-D Echocardiogram allows cardiologists to view the function of a patient's heart valves and other heart images.

The list of our advanced technology could go on and on, but what's important to you is that SMC's high technology is available 24-hours a day to all patients, including inpatients, outpatients and emergency patients.

Ask your doctor about SMC's technology. You'll find you can drive a lot less and get better health care services at Shelby Medical Center.

County office supports city libraries

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The headquarters for Shelby County's eight municipal libraries provides the necessary support services that allow city libraries to serve the public, Nancy Woosley, director of the county library system.

Municipal libraries are responsible for a building, utility bills and staff. Since there is often only one staff member, county assistance is necessary for much of the background operations of a library, Woosley said.

The county helps supply city libraries with books and provides technical assistance in ordering, processing and cataloging the books.

This procedure is more convenient and inexpensive because of bulk discounts, she said.

"The role of the county is to coordinate library services," Woosley said.

The county staff arranges interlibrary loans, locating books requested by patrons and sending those books to the patrons' home libraries.

This is especially important, Woosley said, because "there is no way, with the funds available, that we can put everything needed in each library."

Certain materials may only be needed a few times a year, and can be available through loan across the county.

The staff is in the process of converting paper records to computer magnetic tape, making interlibrary use of materials easier.

City libraries currently have no record of the materials available in other city libraries. Instead, they must call the county office to find out.

The county headquarters, however, is open only from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on weekdays, and some libraries are open at night. With the new list, individual libraries can locate materials when the headquarters is closed, Woosley said.

The new list will also give Shelby County libraries access to materials across the U.S., through "a network of interlibrary cooperation," Woosley said.

The county staff also administers grants and will be applying this year for funds to build a library in North Shelby County.

A half-acre of land at the corner of Alabama Highway 119 and Caldwell Mill Road was donated last December and the system will be seeking construction money.

The area "has a tremendous need for a library," Woosley said, with one-third of the stops made by the county bookmobile being in North Shelby County.

Like the bookmobile, the library will be on the county, rather than the municipal level, because there is not city government to provide staff and a building, Woosley said.

If the area is later annexed, responsibility for the library needs to be considered, Woosley said.

The county also coordinates programs for individual libraries, such as the summer reading program and the exotic ice cream contest.

Shelby County libraries provide a county-wide card, with borrowing privileges available across the county when a patron joins any one library.

The county's eight municipal libraries are located in Columbiana, Alabaster, Pelham, Montevallo, Helena, Calera, Wilsonville and Vincent. The bookmobile runs three days a week.

The county office shares space with the Columbiana library in the Mildred B. Harrison Regional Library building.

Formerly the Shelby County Library, the library was renamed for Mildred B. Harrison, its first librarian.

The county library was formed in the 1930s, Woosley said. In 1964, the county got its first bookmobile. It was also in the 1960s that the municipal libraries were formed, she said.

Woosley, a resident of Colum-biana, has been director of the county system since April 1984.

Before coming to Shelby County, she worked in the Birmingham Public Library System for seven years.

Dovie Ingram, Columbiana, is administrative assistant. She has worked with Shelby County libraries for 22 years.

Ruby Cagle, Columbiana, is technical services librarian. Her assistant is Joni Walden of Wilsonville. Pam Bunn, Columbiana, is technical services clerk.

Sherry White, Columbiana, is bookmobile librarian and Phyllis Rowe, Columbiana, is the driver.

Carolyn Hughes, Columbiana, is outreach library assistant. Benita Oden, Wilsonville, does housekeeping for the county office.

Cindy Wrobel, North Shelby County, is reference and interlibrary loan librarian.

The system also includes the Shelby County Library Board, which sets county policies.

Mildred B. Harrison, Columbiana, is chairwoman. Other members are Mary Lee Brown, Montevallo; Lallouise McGraw, Vincent; Catherine Arnold, North Shelby; and Lajuana Stubbs, Helena.

Homemade everything

Marie Colley of Helena did not spend a hot, lazy summer being lazy. Since June, she canned more than 800 quarts and 250 pints of turnip green, vegetable soup, tomatoes, beets, pickles, squash, corn, orka, beans, butterbeans, jellies, jams...you name it. She also grew several dozen pumpkins in the patch behind her mobile home. Mrs. Colley said the only thing she enjoys better than canning is sharing the goodies with her friends. The only drawback is, she never gets her jars back. The best day of the summer, however, was when she returned from a trip to find a micro-wave oven in her kitchen, a gift from her daughters. ## Flying ace protects county cotton fields

by K.A. Turner
 Staff Writer
Here's the World War I flying ace cruising over the fields of Shelby County.
Suddenly, a shadow appears on the ground beneath me, a shadow of a plane with two wings.
I try to stop him but he dives, drops his load of lethal poison and climbs almost vertically into the sky.
"Curse you... Bill Collins!"
 Like his legendary predecessor (and Snoopy's arch-enemy) the Red Baron, Bill Collins is a flying ace. He's been flying for over 20 years and notched many a kill from his bi-plane. But he kills insects, not people, and the insects he kills provides protection for farmers through the central Alabama area.

 Bill Collins is a crop duster, one of the few still working the cotton fields of Shelby County.
 His "old World War I" bi-plane, as many people like to call the Schweizer Ag Cat he flies, is actually a 1984-vintage plane designed especially for crop dusting.

 Collins said the two-wing design allows a pilot to handle his plane better and cruise at slower speeds. The slow speed allows Collins to achieve better coverage with the chemicals he sprays.
 Collins said that, even after two decades on the job in the air, he still looks forward to crop-dusting season and spending his days in the air.
 "It's no joy-ride," he cautions, and added that crop-dusting is the kind of flying that requires concentration every minute of the flight.

 Collins' Coosa Flying Service handles crop dusting and mosquito control spraying. When Collins is not flying, he repairs and maintains aircraft through Talladega Aero.
 While Collins is flying through the Shelby County air, Bob Malvik — a pilot and mechanic Yankee from the northeast who enjoys the transplant to the south — provides ground support.

Malvik perhaps best described the feeling of fancy flying required when a pilot sprays for mosquitos or cotton insects.

"I've ridden every roller coaster in Coney Island," Malvik grins. "Can't one of them come close to this."

THS drama students learn how to focus

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

Drama students at Thompson High School learned a lesson in focus last week...not the kind of focus you do to a camera but dramatic focus — the art of tuning your entire body's attention on one specific spot.

"Body awareness, concentration and focus are three essentials for actors," said Mary Foshee, a dancer with Birmingham's Southern Danceworks who conducted the workshop on focus. "We're trying to emphasize today that expression must read throughout the entire body, not just from the neck up."

The workshop is one of seven the THS drama students will have a chance to experience during the school year.

Drama instructors Sharon Morgan and Pat Douglass said students will also attend workshops on dramatic interpretation, humorous interpretation, original oratory, duet acting, extemporaneous speaking and poetic interpretation.

In addition, students will attend the various workshops and seminars of the Alabaster Community Education program.

All of the work is in preparation for competition in the annual Trumbauer Festival, the district drama competition for area schools.

The students will also use their newly-refined dramatic skills in four major productions during the year, a winter show, a spring show and the annual Red-White play competition.

The speech students at THS are also hard at work preparing for their dramatic futures. Speech I classes will attend a mime workshop during the year and go as a group to one of the Town and Gown Theatre presentations in Birmingham.

UM hosts Super Jazz Band

The UAB Super Jazz Band will perform a benefit concert in the University of Montevallo's Palmer Auditorium, October 13 at 7:30 p.m. Proceeds from the concert will go to Shelby County's Developing Alabama Youth, Inc.

"Since 1978, the Super Jazz has been a continuously performing big jazz band. The Super Jazz players are all professional or ex-professional players. They are high-level players (two are in the Alabama Jazz Hall of Fame). They are individual artists-in-residence at UAB and donate their time and efforts to the art of big jazz music," said concert chairman Tom Kimbrough.

Developing Alabama Youth,

Inc. is a non-profit foundation supported by the Shelby County Board of Education, Juvenile Court, Department of Youth Services and community leaders throughout the county.

The DAY program is an academic alternative to juvenile detention, and the age group served is from 13-18 years old. The DAY program is two years old and has a success rate of 90 percent.

The $5 tax deductible tickets for the concert are on sale at all four Shelby Bank locations, the Student Union Building at UM, from any DAY officer or director. For further information, call the DAY school at 664-1600.

Horizon 280

Association to present awards Oct. 10

The Horizon 280 Association is sponsoring an awards program this fall to recognize good development by property owners and developers.

The winners will receive plaques during a ceremony October 10 at the South Central Bell Building on Highway 280.

Categories for judging are individual retail, shopping center, office building, institutional and planned development.

Since the association was formed three years ago by property owners along U.S. Highway 280 East, one of its primary goals has been to encourage the orderly development of the fast-growing corridor while preserving its aesthetics.

Property owners and developers, many of whom are Horizon's members, are encouraged to follow recommended guidelines for landscaping, building design, signage and setback.

"We want to keep the corridor's natural beauty," said Houston Welch, president of the 200-member association. "We believe it can be developed to its potential and still preserve its natural beauty. You might say we're trying to achieve the best of both worlds."

Welch said the awards program is intended to increase public awareness of the association and its goals.

"Many of the property owners are trying to cooperate and work with us," Welch said. "They can see why good development will make this corridor more viable in the long run."

Much of the 280 corridor is unzoned, particularly in North Shelby County, which means there are no statutes governing intended usage.

Junior Miss holding informational tea

The Shelby County Junior Miss Program will hold an informational tea at the Pelham Library at 2 p.m. on September 28, according to its chairwoman, Willie Cook.

Young women who are seniors in high schools in the county are eligible to participate in the Junior Miss Scholarship program that will be held on November 22 and 23.

For more information, contact your school counselor.

Thompson Middle offering adult education

Adult education is being offered at Thompson Middle School in Alabaster, Mondays and Tuesdays at 5 p.m.

Classes are available both for adults who cannot read and write and for people studying for the General Education Development Test to receive a high school equivalency diploma.

JIM FARRIS, TOM OWEN and MELVA LANGFORD
...clothing the King's Ranch kids

Telephone Pioneers clothe Ranch kids

Fall brings to mind the start of school, and the beginning of each new school year means new clothes for the children in homes throughout Shelby County.

Tom Owen and the folks at King's Ranch think about new school clothes too... new clothes for the 65 youngsters whose home is the "Christian neighborhood for kids" in Chelsea.

But a recent donation to the King's Ranch from the Telephone Pioneers of America has gone a long way toward providing clothes for the school-goers.

The Riverchase Council of the Telephone Pioneers recently presented Owen with a check for $2500 for school clothes. King's Ranch officials said that the money would clothe at least 25 of the King's Ranch youngsters, and added that the new clothes do a lot to improve the self-concept of the kids that live at the ranch.

Telephone Pioneers Jim Farris and Melva Langford made the check presentation at the ranch recently, and Owen expressed appreciation to that group for their efforts on behalf of the King's Ranch kids.

County teams take wins in area opener

Briarwood blasts Blocton 24-8

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Briarwood Lions ran their season record to 2-1 and picked up their first area win in their first-ever area game Friday night in beating the West Blocton Tigers 24-8.

The game was the first area contest for a Briarwood football team, the school becoming an official member of the Alabama High School Athletic Association after the close of football season last year.

But an area win wasn't a big deal for the Lions, BCHS coach Ricky Sayle said after the game.

"The kids were excited, but not any more so than after any win," Sayle said. "It is the excitement of just plain winning rather than the excitement of winning an area game that the kids enjoyed."

Nevertheless, Sayle did admit that it felt good to have one area game in the win column.

"We probably played our best half of football this season in the first half," Sayle said. "We ran the football well, we passed well and played pretty good defense."

Briarwood rushing credits were spread among three backs,

Brad Gray leading the way with 71 yards. Quarterback Jimmy Collier added 50 yards and Tom Blose got 42 on the ground to give the Lions a balanced running attack.

Sayle complimented David Deason and Pat Mercier on their blocking efforts during the game.

Within the passing game, Brad Gutteridge's three receptions for 80 yards — two good for touchdowns — and Conrad Carpenter's five grabs for 84 yards were among the outstanding stats.

Chelsea captures Brighton 19-6

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Chelsea Hornets are undefeated through four games of the 1985 season after their 19-6 win over Brighton Friday night.

The Chelsea Hornets are 1-0 in area play after their win over Brighton as well.

The Chelsea Hornets are "beginning to get excited" as a football team, said Chelsea head coach Mike Utter.

But the Chelsea Hornets — at least the Hornet coaches — are still taking one game at a time. "We're just glad to be where we are," Utter said following his team's win in their first area game of the season. "We told the kids this week this one was important because it was a counter."

But Utter said the 4-0 mark and being one up in the area will not change the way his team looks at the season and will not have the Hornets thinging ahead about other area games.

"The only team we're looking at is Moody," Utter said. "We've been fortunate so far taking things one week at a time so we'll continue to work hard and try to improve each week. We just want to be the best we can be each Friday night."

In looking back to the win over Brighton, Utter commended his entire team for the way they reacted to a "bigger, stronger, faster" group of Brighton Bears.

"The kids just went out there with a big heart and did the job," Utter said, though through three quarters the task looked to be difficult.

Chelsea broke the scoring ice early in the first period, but Brighton quickly tied the game on a long pass play.

Dodging the defense

Shelby County's Ambrose Woods spent most of the night dodging one Vincent defender only to look up and see another. An ankle injury and the Jacket defense combined to slow Woods to a 75-yard output against Vincent, half of his season's per game average to that point. (photo by K.A. Turner)

When opportunity knocks, the Vincent Yellow Jackets listen.

Harold Garrett's 3A Jackets faced the number three ranked 4A school in the state when they traveled to Columbiana Friday night to take on the Shelby County High Wildcats. It was a game that Garrett said his team thought they could win from the beginning.

And win they did, taking advantage of every offensive opportunity the Wildcats gave them and using a stingy defense to preserve a 20-14 win.

The target of that defense was Shelby County's Ambrose

Woods, who entered the contest averaging almost 150 yards per game through three skirmishes in the 1985 campaign.

Woods got only 75 against Vincent. A turned ankle after

Warrior defense keys THS win over MHS

by K.A. Turner

The Thompson Warriors evened their season record at 2-2 with a 27-0 win over the Montevallo Bulldogs Friday night.

More importantly, perhaps, for Thompson head coach Doug Wheeler, the Warriors evened the performances of their offensive and defensive units, the defense providing much of the spark for Thompson's second win of the season after catching much of the blame for the Warriors second loss a week ago in Clanton.

And for Montevallo Bulldog head coach Richard Gilliam and his Bulldogs, the "character-building" continues.

"It's just one of those years when you spend a lot of time building character," Gilliam said after his team dropped to 1-3. "It's not going to get an easier for the next couple of weeks either."

Montevallo must face Bibb County, Jemison and Childersburg in the next three weeks before entering area play for the final three weeks of the 1985 regular season campaign.

For the Warriors, however, the game renewed high spirits in the Thompson program and had Warrior players, especially Warrior defenders, feeling better about their team.

"This makes everyone feel a little better," Wheeler said early this week. "We especially needed the shut-out to put some confidence back in our defensive people."

Wheeler noted that the Warriors tackled better against Montevallo than in recent efforts and played with a "lot of enthusiasm" on the defensive side of the football after Warrior coaches spent a large part of last week's practice searching for the right combination of players on defense.

That defense forced two Montevallo turnovers early in the second quarter of the game that went a long way in deciding the 1985 edition of the traditional rivalry.

Thompson scored its first touchdown on a short drive after Dennis Null caused a Montevallo fumble and Byron Partridge recovered.

A Dana Washington fumble recovery set up the second Thompson score of the half and the resulting TD gave the Warriors a 13-0 lead they would not give up.

Early in the second half, Otis Bivins caused a third Montevallo fumble with a good lick on a kick-off. Partridge's second fumble recovery of the night gave

For the Record

Warren takes win 300

The University of Montevallo Lady Falcons volleyball team beat Southern Mississippi 15-10, 15-2 in the opening day of play in the Mississippi University for Women tournament last Friday, a win that meant more than a simple step forward in tournament play.

The victory was the 300th career win for UM head coach Dr. Beverly Warren.

Beginning her ninth season at UM, Warren's record now stands at 302-118-1 after the Lady Falcons took the runner-up spot in the MUW tournament over the weekend. That averages to 36 wins per year and a .717 winning percentage for Warren.

Florida raises fishing rates

Shelby County advertising executive and part-time outdoor columnist Lee Moore reports an interesting tidbit of information gleaned from a conversation with Sam Spencer of the Alabama Game and Fish division.

It seems the state of Florida has just passed a $25 per day fishing license, ending the $25 trip licenses that were available to angler who wanted to fish the Florida waters for several days at a time.

Reports indicated the license will go into effect in the summer of 1986.

Local thieves doing well

Four weeks into the 1985 football season, a couple of local thieves are doing well at their trade.

Defensive backs Slade Blackwell of Montevallo and Robby Green of Vincent are among the Birmingham area's leaders in pass interceptions.

Blackwell's interception against Thompson gave the junior a total of five steals for the season, while Green's interception in the Yellow Jackets win over Shelby County brought his season total to four.

Interestingly enough, both juniors double as quarterbacks and defensive backs for their respective teams.

Oak Mountain holds first Weatherly tourney

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

Some days are just too good for the normal weather descriptions... sunny, fair, temperate.

Some days are just perfect, that's the best way to describe them.

It was on such a perfect kind of day that golfers at Oak Mountain State Park began play in the first annual Harry Weatherly Memorial Tournament / Oak Mountain Open. The good weather was to be an omen of things to come.

"We had a great tournament," said Oak Mountain pro Bennie Smallwood at the conclusion of the two-day event.

Smallwood noted that play in each of the tournament's four rounds was close and that the number of golfers who played in the tournament was good for the initial year of the event.

"We hope to make this an annual thing," Smallwood added.

Statistics bear out Smallwood's claim of competitiveness for the first Weatherly tournament. Sudden death play was required in six different instances to determine rank within the flights, one to determine the flight's top spot.

Playing on what he calls his home course, Tom Jungkind won the tournament's championship flight with a two-day total 148, following an opening round 75 with a 73 to take the championship.

Three golfers finished the championship flight with two day totals of 152, Forrest Watkins securing second place from among them with a birdie on the third hole of sudden death.

Curt Daniels and Hugh Morrison finished third and fourth in the championship flight, Daniles stroking a 74 and a 78 for his 152 total while Morrison carted a 77 then a 75.

Fred Harris won the tournament's first flight, combining consistent rounds of 82 and 81 enroute to a 163 total for two days.

Preston Jones and Dave Fowler finished the tournament at 166, Jones carting an 82 and an 84 while Fowler followed a red-hot 79 with an 87.

Jones won second place in the first flight with a par on the second hole of sudden death.

R.W. Gore combined an 80 with an 87 to win the second flight of the tournament with a 167.

Gardner Walker's 173 (83,90) was good enough for second place in the flight, while Jerry Murdock and Emory Hubbard both finished regulation play at 177.

In the third flight, Jerry Marks and G.E. Gambrill played five holes of sudden death before Marks scored par to win the flight.

Both finished regulation play with two-day totals of 182, Marks shooting 92 and 90 while Gambrill carted an 89 and a 93.

John Lissie and Brian Phillips finished the third flight tied at 188 for two days, Lissie winning the playoff with a par on the first hole.

In addition to the flight placements, the Weatherly tournament also featured three closest-to-the-pin awards.

Preston Jones and Jerry Marks won the opening day's awards on holes eight and 15, while Phil Easterwood picked up the only closest-to-the-pin recognition during the tournament's second day, playing one number eight.

Panthers fall to Tarrant

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

Why did the Pelham Panthers drop their third game of the young season 28-13 to Tarrant on the road last Friday night? "We missed about 400 tackles for starters," Pelham's Billy Tohill said after the ballgame. "We helped make that big boy look awfully good."

That big boy is Tarrant's Mark Johnson, now being touted as a major college prospect after a fast start in his senior season for Tarrant. Johnson rushed for more than 200 yards and scored three TDs against the Panthers. That alone was enough to better Pelham's entire offensive output for the night and counter Pelham touchdowns, one on offense and the other on defense.

"We just didn't play a good ballgame," Tohill said in looking back on the loss. "We didn't execute our offense and we didn't come off the football and hit people on defense. It was our worst effort of the season by far."

Tohill said he intended the 400 tackles missed figure to be an exaggeration, but after looking at the films and seeing three and four missed tackles on some plays, he wondered if he might not be a prophet instead of a pessimist.

"Tarrant did the things they needed to do to look like a football team and we didn't," Tohill added.

STATS

Pelham	Tarrant
9 first downs	17
71 rushing	360
3 turnovers	3
5 penalty yards	5

The tough circumstance for the Pelham defense did shed light on one bright spot, however, in the play of free safety Tony Jeffers.

"He's played well all year, but has never had to make as many tackles as he did against Tarrant," Tohill said. "He played a good defensive football game throughout."

Perhaps the biggest disappointment for the Pelham staff was the absence of the hard work attitude that had been a point of pride through three games this season.

"We just didn't have the effort toward execution we needed to win the game," Tohill said.

SCORING SUMMARY

Tarrant's Fred Jones opened the scoring with a three yard TD run in the first quarter, but Winfred McCall's 85-yard return of an intercepted pass, coupled with a Mike Bramblett conversion kick, evened the score 7-7 early in the second quarter.

Three TD runs by Mark Johnson, three and four yards in the second quarter and six yards in the final period, opened a 28-7 lead for Tarrant before Pelham's Mike Bramblett threw a 24 yard TD pass to Drew Woodrow to make the final 28-13.

Spratlin in regional

Chelsea bass fisherman Bill Spratlin is one of 24 Bama Division anglers to qualify for the Red Man Bass Fishing Tournament Trail's regional fishing classic on Lake Sinclair near Milledgeville, Georgia, October 10-13.

With 35 pounds seven ounces of fish caught in six Bama Division qualifying tournaments, good for 111.50 qualifying points, Spratlin finished eighth among the 24 Bama Division fishermen who will attend the regional tournament.

Qualifiers from the Bama Division will compete against fishermen from four other Red Man tournament divisions for the top prize in the Lake Sinclair tournament.

The tournament winner will drive home a brand new Chevy Truck pulling a fully-equipped Ranger bass boat and the next 11 finishers will split more than $17,000 in prize monies.

In addition, the top 12 finishers in each of the Red Man regional tournaments will meet in Arizona in November for the Red Man All-American bass championship and a chance at some $150,000 in prize monies.

Lady Falcs winning

by Kent Partridge
UM Sports Information

The University of Montevallo volleyball team — including former Thompson Lady Warrior Janiece Scoggins and former Pelham Lady Panther Denise Heisler — continued to play well last weekend, bringing home the second place trophy in the Mississippi University for Women Invitational Tournament.

After coasting through the round-robin and semi-finals of the tournament unbeaten, UM dropped a marathon match to the host team in the tournament finals, 15-5, 8-15, 6-15, 15-11, 10-15.

Six wins in seven tries at MUW left the Lady Falcons with a 15-2 record, the championship loss to MUW snapping a 14-game win streak for the Lady Falcons.

"We played well at time, but lacked consistency," said UM coach Bev Warren. "We had some mental lapses that proved to be very costly."

Raiders "turn-over" big game to Grove Hill

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Shelby Academy Raiders dropped their first game of the 1985 season Friday night in a 15-7 decision with Grove Hill Academy, a loss that could prove to be a serious setback to the Raiders' state play-off hopes.

And should the Raiders find themselves at home in mid-November rather than playing in the Alabama Private School Association's 2A championship event, Shelby fans, players and coach Dwayne Kervin will probably give one more thought to a Grove Hill game that might have been different.

"We were in control of things after the first quarter," Kervin said. "We had a lead and our defense was playing well. Then things began to happen and we just fell apart."

Things? Things like an injury to Mike Upton, the Raiders' leading rusher through four games of the season. Things like an injury to starting safety Wade Edmonds. Things like five second half turnovers. Things like a punt blocked for a safety. The kind of things that make a coach's hair turn gray before its time.

Despite the injury to Upton that came early in the second quarter, the Raiders were clinging to a 7-0 lead at the half, the SA defense doing its best to preserve a margin established by a short drive following a Grove Hill miscue.

But the Shelby defense could not overcome an offensive fumble on the first play from scrimmage that gave Grove Hill good field position and eventually a chance to tie the score. Then, as if to add insult to injury, the Raider's next offensive series ended in a blocked punt that gave Grove Hill a safety and the lead for the first time in the ballgame.

STATS

SA	Grove Hill
2	FD 9
33	rushing 150
4	passing 0
5	turnovers 2
35	penalty yards 35

From that point, every breath of hope for the Raiders was cut short by a turnover.

"In a game the kids knew was going to be close, they looked around and saw the ones who had been leading them standing on the sidelines and it hurt," Kervin said afterwards. "We thought we could play them close and let our defense win the game for us, but we made too many mistakes for that to happen."

"Grove Hill just got the mental edge in the second half, and that made the difference in the game," he added.

Kervin did note fine performances among his defenders with "an exceptional game" from Ched Burton leading the way.

"Ched made tackles on the sweep from his position head up on the guard," Kervin said. "You can't ask for more hustle than that."

Kervin also commended the efforts of defenders Doug Thomas, Vince Pickett, Kelly Tibbals and Jeff Dunaway.

Offensively, however, Kervin found little in the Raiders' two first downs and 37 total yards to be pleased with.

"Our offense just didn't fire tonight," Kervin said and added that Grove Hill's defense proved to be a better unit than SA coaches had been lead to believe.

The Raiders best offense, in fact, came from their kick return game, where Kelly Tibbals had a 60 yard return that carried deep into Grove Hill territory in the final quarter. The Raiders fumbled on the next play from scrimmage, however.

"It was just one of those games you wish you could play with everybody there," Kervin said. "I thought we could play with them but we just gave away too much."

lead in the first period when Doug Thomas scored on a 10-yard bootleg play, capping a drive set up by a Wade Edmonds interception. Vince Pickett added the conversion for the Raider.

Grove Hill took the lead in the third period with a TD run by Phillip McNider then the blocked punt out of the end zone for a safety.

Grove Hill's Tony Sheffield added an insurance score early in the fourth period on a five yard run.

Eagles fall to 0-4 with Fultondale loss

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Calera Eagles' 14-6 loss to Fultondale left the new-look Eagles still looking for their first win of the season. The Eagles — who adopted their run-and-shoot offense predominantly from the Houston Gamblers of the USFL — also learned a lesson in playing the odds.

You've got to know when to hold 'em, know when to fold 'em...

Against Fultondale, Calera put together two 40-yard passes — both completed to freshmen receivers — for their longest scoring drive of the season.

But the run-and-shoot also back-fired once when that interception, returned for a touchdown, proved to be the difference in the ballgame.

"That's just part of this offense," Calera's Danny Alverson said following the game. "The kids are still improving, though, and our offense is beginning to show signs of becoming a good one."

STATS

In addition to the improvements in the Calera passing game — Alverson complimenting freshmen David Barnett, Keith McDonald, William Swift and senior Byron White for the way they are catching the football — Alverson noted a second straight week of improvements in the Calera rushing offense.

Utter said his offense tried to play ball control against the Bears throughout the game, and the effort gelled late in the contest. In addition, the Chelsea defense managed to anticipate the Brighton offense well, getting to the "right place at the right time," Utter said.

The Hornets were once again led on offense by junior Larry Offord who rushed for 135 yards and two touchdowns and passed for 45 yards and a third score.

Utter also commended Mike Beavers for his pass catching and the blocking efforts of Heath Moore and Gene Britnell.

Defensively, the Chelsea linebacking corps led the way, Utter said, Robert Burcham turning in a big game with two interceptions. Mike Beavers added a third intercept from his linebacker spot, and Offord played well from that position as well, Utter said.

Utter also noticed the efforts of Don Brasher who came into the ballgame to do "a good job" at defensive tackle and the defensive play of Heath Moore, Tommy Kelly and Britnell.

SCORING SUMMARY

Larry Offord gave the Hornets a 6-0 lead with a three-yard TD run early in the first period, but Brighton evened the score with a long pass play from Donnie Whitt to Benny Whitt.

Chelsea did not score again until the final period. First, Mike Beavers caught an eight-yard TD pass from Offord, then Offord scored on a five yard run.

Offord added the PAT after the second score to make the final 19-8.

ballgame against his younger player.

"The youngsters got to get in some more valuable playing time in the fourth quarter, and they are beginning to learn what needs to be done to get the job done," Sayle said.

Perhaps the only negative factor in the game for Briarwood was a shoulder injury to Conrad Carpenter. Sayle said that Carpenter is questionable for the Lions Friday night match with Ohatchee.

and five yard scoring passes from Jimmy Collier and a two-point conversion pass as well for the Lions first 14 points of the ballgame.

Tom Blose added a one-yard touchdown run late in the second quarter, and with Jeff Kuhlman's kick, the Lions went into the half with a 21-0 lead.

The Lions and the Tigers traded fourth quarter scores, Briarwood's coming on a 36-yard field goal by Kuhlman and Blocton's touchdown coming on a 34 yard pass from Greg Farnetti to Scott Barrentine.

Calera

The Eagles mounted almost 100 yards in rushing offense, most coming from tailback Kenny Richardson. Alverson also noted that fullback Shane Schroeder, subbing for the injured Steve Seay, had two 10-yard runs.

Despite the improvements and a defense that continues to play well, the Eagles remain just short of a winning effort, Alverson said. "We can't play much better than we played in the first quarter Friday night," Alverson said. "The kids are still up and people are noticing the improvement, but we just can't seem to get over the hill."

"We're at the point now that we just really need to win one," Alverson added.

Despite being faced with poor field position through most of the game, Calera played Fultondale to a 0-0 tie at the half. A "sloppy" third period, however, saw the Eagles give up a score on a long run from scrimmage and a second on the turnover, and Calera entered the final period trying to battle back from a 14-0 deficit.

Senior quarterback Mark Jones capped a 90-yard scoring drive — in which he tossed 40-yard passes to Barnett and McDonald — with a two yard run in the fourth period, but the Eagles could draw no closer than 14-6.

Defensively, senior linebacker Erwin Jones turned in his best game of the season in leading the Calera defense with 12 tackles.

Chuck Amos, another senior linebacker that Alverson said has led the Calera defense throughout the season, recorded 10 tackles against Fultondale.

"This team still has a chance to be good," said Alverson of his 0-4 Eagles. "We were backed up all night long and still made some good things happen."

"We just have to get over the hump."

SCORING SUMMARY

After playing to a scoreless tie in the first half, Fultondale scored early in the third quarter when Wendell Hardaway went 63 yards for a touchdown.

Fultondale added a second, third-quarter touchdown when Keith Marshall returned an intercepted pass 40 yards for a TD.

Calera's lone score came on a two-yard quarterback sneak by Mark Jones late in the fourth period.

Thompson youth have tough opener

The Thompson Youth Football Warriors had a rather rough opening week of action in the JeffCo League, dropping three of the four games they played.

Thompson's only winner came in the 80-pound division where a Mike Zelwak touchdown and some strong defense were the only things the young Warriors needed for a 6-0 win.

Kevin Kendrick scored a touchdown and an extra point and Cliff Webb added a touchdown to account for Thompson's points in a 25-13 loss to Hoover in the 70-pound division.

Hoover blanked the 95-pound Warriors 32-0 in their opening game of the season.

Chris Bunn scored Thompson's only touchdown in a 24-6 loss to the Gardendale 120-pound team.

Coosa Valley takes third win despite slow start

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Coosa Valley Academy Rebels picked up their second straight win and upped their season mark to 2-1 with a 20-0 win over South Choctaw Friday night.

But in doing so, the Rebs did very little to make coach John Niblett a happy man, at least on the offensive side of the football.

"We didn't have a good ballgame, especially on offense," Niblett said. "The week off hurt us instead of helping us, and I guess I'm partially to blame for that."

In any case, Niblett added, "we weren't mentally ready to play."

Ready or not, it would be hard for an team to run up better defensive stats than Coosa Valley posted in taking the shut-out win.

The Rebels did not allow a pass completion, surrendered only two first downs and decked South Choctaw runners for minus 35 rushing yards.

"It may have been our best over-all defensive effort of the year," Niblett later said.

Leading the CVA defense was Kerry Shaw, whose individual effort Niblett called excellent.

Shaw made eight individual tackles and assisted on four more from his defensive line spot enroute to a 95 percent grade for the game. Included in the individual tackles were three straight sacks for a minus 15-yard total.

Defensive end Darren Robertson also contributed to the CVA "sack attack" and drew praise from Niblett for his efforts.

STATS

83	passing	0

The Rebs also got good play from their linebackers, especially Bobby Crumpton and Toby Green.

Crumpton recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass for the Rebs, the pass interception and 30 yard return setting up Coosa Valley's first touchdown.

Jeff Martin also had an interception for CVA.

Penalties — partially blamed on South Choctaw's use of the CVA snap count as a defensive trick — and poor execution caused Niblett to be less than enthusiastic about the Coosa Valley offensive showing for the night.

"Neither our linemen nor our backs graded well," Niblett said. "We will have to give a lot better effort if we are to have a chance to be a good football team in the future."

Niblett did, however, applaud the punt return efforts of Mike Payne. His five returns totaled over 150 yards and included a 60-yarder that set up the second CVA score.

"It's good to win," Niblett said, "but we have to do our best at all times. We can't play with the lack of intelligence we showed Friday night and expect to do well. On offense, we were just going through the motions."

SCORING SUMMARY

After a scoreless first half, Coosa Valley's Tad Niblett scored on a 10-yard bootleg that capped a short drive for CVA and gave the Rebs a 6-0 lead.

Kerry Shaw scored on four and three yard runs, one in each of the final two periods, to give the Rebs their three TDs.

A Robert Strickland conversion run following the final TD made the score 20-0.

Vincent stunner

the third play from scrimmage certainly slowed him, but the Vincent Yellow Jackets hounded him as well.

But the real difference in the game was the Jackets opportunistic play. "We took advantage of everything they gave us," Garrett was to say later, while SCHS coach Randle Cassidy pointed out toward Woods injury but to missed opportunity as the cause of his team's first defeat in 1985.

Vincent scored after Demetrius Melton recovered a SCHS fumble deep in Wildcat territory and scored a second touchdown on Reginald Riggins' fumble recovery return.

Shelby County also converted an early Vincent fumble into a score, but late in the game, could not convert a second opportunity produced by an Edmund Buie block of Derek Whitfield's punt deep in Vincent territory.

"They are just a good football team," Cassidy said. "They often whipped us physically and we had not played anyone with their over-all team size and quickness."

While Garrett admits his team isn't always "pretty" in winning football games, he does feel there is something special about his now 4-0 team.

"There's a special closeness among them," Garrett said. "They really believe they can win."

Individually, Garrett had to begin with his defense in passing out commendations.

Reginald Riggins' 18 tackles, three of them unassisted, led a strong defensive performance by several Yellow Jackets.

Linebacker Derek Whitfield was in on 16 tackles and defensive end Glenn Morris made 14 hits, while Pat Yowe and George McConico made some big play stops, Garrett said.

Offensively, lingering injuries to Gary Peterson and Reginald Riggins added to the fact that neither Pat Yowe nor Vernon Kidd were having much success running the football left the weight of the Vincent offense squarely on the shoulders of Hugh Kidd. He responded with 128 yards — including a 60 yard TD run — in 19 attempts, his top carries and yardage of the season.

"Hugh is beginning to learn how to run the football," Garrett said. "He looked good Friday night."

Garrett also made note of the blocking efforts of Cory Wood and Kevin Howard on offense.

Wood, at 5'9" and 160 pounds, blocked against Shelby County's big man Jasper Shelby all night, and Garrett commended him for holding his own in that square-off.

Howard made two blocks to the ground that opened up the Jackets long TD run.

Garrett also made note of the punting of Derek Whitfield who posted a 44-plus yard average on five kicks.

Cassidy made the defensive performance of Edmund Buie as the Wildcats' bright spot of the game. Cassidy also noted that David Wood and Gerald Lawson ran the ball well at time, but was not pleased with the SCHS passing games as a whole.

"We'll go back to what has made us successful in earlier games during practice this week," Cassidy said. "We'll work hard and try to make something good happen from this."

SCORING SUMMARY

Vincent opened the scoring early in the first quarter when Hugh Kidd scampered 60 yards for a TD. Vernon Kidd's PAT made the score 7-0.

SCHS evened the score when David Wood caught a four-yard TD pass from Chris Gould to cap a short drive. Phillip Howell's kick made the score 7-7.

Following a fumble recovery, the Jackets their second score of the quarter, Pat Yowe getting the tally on a two-yard run. Kidd's PAT made the score 14-7.

SCHS evened the mark again, driving to a touchdown after a fumble recovery of their own.

David Woods got his second TD reception of the night on a halfback pass from Ambrose Woods, and Howell's kick knotted the score at 14-14 early in the second quarter.

Reginald Riggins grabbed a SCHS fumble in mid-air and returned it 26 yards for a TD late in the second period to give the Jackets a 20-14 lead.

Warriors and Bulldogs

Thompson excellent field position again and the Warriors lead was soon 20-0.

Individually, Wheeler complimented linebackers Null and Van Neal for their play against the Bulldogs. In addition, defensive lineman Alfred Pickett drew praise for another good performance, Wheeler calling him a pleasant surprise for the Warrior defense in his first year of action.

Defensive backs Dana Washington and Otis Bivins also drew praise for their defensive efforts.

	turnovers	3

One Warrior, Demetrius Gaiters, attracted attention from Thompson coaches for his play on both sides of the ball. At defensive end, Gaiters "put a lot into every play," Wheeler said, then did some hard running serving double-duty in the Thompson backfield.

Thompson coaches also complimented Washington for his pass-catching, Wheeler noting that double coverage on Kevin Duke has left Washington in a position to make some clutch catches through the season.

Split-guard Brett Bruce drew note from his coaches for his blocking on the offensive line against Montevallo.

For Montevallo, Gilliam had nothing but praise for his defensive unit as well, saying that the final score in no way reflected the play of his defensive team.

"Their longest drive was 48 yards," Gilliam said. "We just kept putting ourselves in trouble with mistakes on offense."

Individually, Gilliam noted the play of sophomore Eric McCord who had eight individual tackles and two assists, including a sack, in his first start at outside linebacker.

Linebacker Norman Payne, defensive tackle Tommy Layton and defensive back Steve Spear also drew attention for their efforts, Gilliam saying that Spear in particular had really been "applying the timber" for the Bulldog defense in recent games.

Spear and Slade Blackwell each had pass interceptions in the game, Blackwell's his fifth in four games.

Offensively, however Gilliam was not as pleased and promised his Dogs would spend 80 percent of their practice time this week on offensive execution.

SCORING SUMMARY

Demetrius Gaiters and Shane Horrell had short touchdown runs in the second period to open the THS scoring.

Randy Littleton added the PAT after the first TD and the Warriors led 13-0 at the half.

The Warriors scored twice in the third period as well, first on a short run by Jimmy Frazier then on an 11 yard run by Otis Bivins.

Littleton added both conversions to make the final tally 27-0.

Lifetime liscence carries bonus

Lifetime hunting and fishing license purchases made on or after October 1, 1985 will be accompanied by an added benefit, a free subscription to Alabama Conservation.

The magazine, published six times a year, provides outdoor information, conservation news and articles and photos by specialists on Alabama game and fish, marine police, marine resources, state lands and state parks topics.

A combination lifetime hunting and fishing license, $300, will bring with it a three-year subscription.

The lifetime hunting license, $200, will bring a two-year subscription and the lifetime fishing license, $100, a one-year subscription.

State conservation and game officials say that the new licensing packages are proving to be popular and practical, a hedge against inflation and an investment in the future of hunting and fishing in Alabama.

Revenue from the sale of lifetime licenses is deposited into a special endowment fund and administered by the Alabama Game and Fish Division for the benefit of Alabama fish, wildlife and sports people.

For lifetime license applications, contact the Game and Fish Division, 64 North Union Street, Montgomery, AL 36130, phone 261-3465.

Planting crops to enhance your deer harvest is legal and productive! Though the largers bucks in each season are normally taken from heavier wooded areas, many young bucks are bagged each year on green fields. Winter wheat, rye, clover and vetches are popular crops to plant if you want to attract deer. Here are several steps best to take before each year's planting.

1. In early September, disk foliage 4-6 inches.
2. Mid-September to early October select crops, redisk, plant, fertilize and turn under. (Mixed crops seem to work best — fertilize with 4-12-12 from 200 to 400 pounds per acre depending on soil.
3. In mid-November, fertilize again. Your local county extension agent or county co-op store can help you with the proper combination.

There are several things to consider when planting your fields for deer.

Don't plant your field in view of a road. Don't plant your fields in areas that are vulnerable to poachers. Deer like to feed close to cover, so fields planted near wooded areas seem to be the most productive. Be sure you situate your field in such a way that you can approach it without disturbing the deer.

Be sure your shoot stands are located where the entire field can be seen. It is always good to put your stands (especially a shooting house) on the property as early as possible so that the deer will get used to the presence of the structure.

For more information, contact Rick Claybrook of the Alabama Game and Fish Division, 261-3469.

"Until next week, it's been a little piece of heaven."

Foundry fire

Firefighters from Helena and Pelham answered a call at Stubbs Foundry on County 261 Friday morning where sparks from a welding torch ignited some kudzu. The fire caused some damage to the exterior of the main building and burned a tool shed containing air compressors. Helena Fire Chief Garry Penhale said the fire, which caused several thousand dollars worth of damage, was contained in about five minutes. (photo by Jim Parks)

The Shelby County Board of Education last week continued its effort to transfer Calera High School Principal Danny Goggins.

At its regular meeting Sept. 24, the board voted to appeal a recent decision by the State Tenure Commission that Goggins' transfer was inappropriate.

The board has been trying to transfer Goggins to Shelby Elementary School since June of 1984, after Calera High School faculty, trustees and student representatives asked for Goggins' removal, said Board of Education spokesman Wayne Summers.

Of about 21 teachers in the school at that time, 15 signed a petition asking for Goggins' removal, Summers said.

The board felt it necessary to transfer Goggins because "there was just simply a feeling, whether perceived or in reality" that Goggins had lost community support and would be more effective elsewhere, Summers said.

At last Tuesday's meeting, however, former Calera Mayor Carl Pritchard, delivered a petition with 73 names asking the board to "end all litigation and seek a speedy solution to this problem."

Pritchard said the controversy has lasted too long and consumed too much money that could be better spent on teachers, classrooms and equipment.

"We want peace," he told the board.

After listening to Pritchard's appeal, the board called a closed executive session to consider how to respond to the latest decision by the tenure board.

When the regular meeting resumed about 50 minutes later, Superintendent Ellie Glasscox said the board was "in no way challenging Mr. Goggins' ability to be an administrator in the Shelby County School System."

He added, however, that Goggins could be more effective in a situation in which people were not taking sides against one another.

He said the board should appeal the tenure commission's decision not only because of the

SMC has routine meeting after foundation controversy

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

At the regular meeting of the Shelby Medical Center Board of Trustees, one week after an emergency meeting was called to settle a dispute over a management contract, routine business was conducted in about 20 minutes.

The board had asked attorney James Starnes of Birmingham to seek a court judgement on the validity of a management contract with Shelby Health Services Foundation. The contract was approved September of 1984, but rescinded at the next meeting by a board with six new members.

The foundation has not accepted the rescission.

The only mention of the dispute made at the September 24 meeting, according to hospital spokesman Steve Martin, was a statement by Joe Arledge, who serves on the board of both the hospital and the foundation.

Arledge denied that foundation members will gain from the contract, saying the contract prohibits members from receiving salaries from the foundation.

He said the foundation's concern is that the hospital might be sold and that a tax would then be necessary for the county to provide care for indigents.

The contract gives the foundation first right of refusal if the hospital is offered for sale.

Pete Raughley, vice chairman of the SMC board, has said he knows of no plan under way to sell the hospital. He said, however, a trust fund could provide for indigent care if the hospital was sold.

Arledge said "there is a good possibility" that the foundation would file a lawsuit to stop any attempted sale of the hospital.

Board members made no response to Arledge's statement.

In his report, Administrator Charles Denton said the hospital's patient census was up 6.6 percent.

As of September 24, the census for that month showed an average of 87 patients a day, up from an average of 82 in August, according to Keith Heartsill, assistant administrator of finance.

Patient count is still generally down, however, from about 125 patients at this time last year, Heartsill said.

The board also noted a policy that its committee meetings will not be open to the public or the press, in response to reporters' inquiries.

Members cannot make policy at committee meetings because there are not enough present for a quorum, Martin said. Committees discuss possible action by the board and make recommendations at meetings of the full board, but can legally take no action on their own, Martin said.

Denton also reported the hospital will begin holding community health forums October 1 and that the hospital will be offering a new audiology program.

Retirement community approved in Montevallo

By Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

Protests from a number of Indian Highland residents on a retirement community adjacent to their subdivision did not keep the council from approving the requested zoning for the development.

The vote was close however, with Mayor Ralph Sears breaking a tie in favor of developers Laura Roberts and Don Guthrie.

A special district zoning was requested for property where connected unit housing will be built for retirees or those nearing retirement age.

The developers also plan a buffer zone of single family homes.

A number of Indian Highland residents, who have attended several council meetings where the issue was discussed, contended the development would adversely affect their property values.

In breaking the tie, Sears mentioned the opposition of his Asville Circle neighborhood when Indian Highlands was proposed.

He said it was thought then that property values would be adversely affected, but he could not see that that had happened.

The plan for the new development, to be called Shoal Creek Highlands, calls for 18 single family homes in the first sector. In the second sector, 32 units and a clubhouse will be constructed for people in the 50 and over age bracket.

A building permit for the start of construction must be obtained within 180 days or else the zoning change will be automatically repealed.

Councilman Johnny Holsomback voted for the special district along with George Dailey who made the motion. Opposed were J.A. Brown and Grady Parker. Catherine Legg abstained because of her connection with Robert's real estate business.

Schools comply with fair labor standards

A new policy for overtime pay, personal leave and salaries of substitutes was approved by the Shelby County Board of Education at the September 24 meeting.

The change was made to comply with a decision by the U.S. Supreme Court last April that local governments will no longer be exempt from the Fair Labor Standards Act. The act requires that workers receive minimum wage payments and that workers be paid extra for overtime.

The board approved a policy forbidding support employees to work over 40 hours a week except in emergencies, "and then only with the approval of the Superintendent of Education or the Superintendent's designee."

Without such approval, any overtime hours will not be paid.

The new policy requires a $25.25 per day payment to teachers who do not use the two days of personal leave for which they can be reimbursed. They had been paid $22.50.

Substitute workers who are not professionally certified will be paid $25.25 per day, increasing to minimum wage from the former $20.25 payment. Professionally certified substitutes are traditionally paid about $8 more and will receive a raise to $33.25 to maintain that practice.

Deputy, two others, killed in car crash

Shelby County Sheriff's deputy Louie Cosby, apparently in pursuit of someone, ran head on into a car driven by Carl Stroud on Valleydale Road Friday morning. The crash claimed the lives of both drivers and Stroud's 10-year-old granddaughter, Becky Bailey.

Although Cosby had not radioed the sheriff's department that he was in pursuit of anyone, witnesses said that his emergency bar lights were flashing.

The deputy had reportedly been seen turning around and heading north a mile from where the crash occurred at the north end of Spain Park.

Sheriff Buddy Glasgow said Cosby, a 16-year veteran with the department, was passing a truck when he ran into Stroud's car.

A member of the North Shelby Fire Department said the deputy probably didn't see the oncoming car because of a dip in the road at that point.

Both men lived in North Shelby - Cosby in Inverness Apartments; Stroud in a trailer

SCHS bandroom, Vincent auditorium are included in education projects

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer
Shelby County High School will have a new bandroom by the end of this year, according to Shelby County Board of Education spokesman Wayne Sumners.

The board accepted a $228,400 bid for the bandroom, along with a $153,763 bid for improvements to the Vincent High School and Middle School auditorium, at the September 24 meeting.

The school system will also be adding 20 new buses to replace and supplement some of the current 119 buses at a cost of about $28,000 each, Sumners said. One bus for the handicapped will be added to the existing four.

The bandroom will replace

"an old, dilapidated building not even built to be a bandroom" at Shelby County High School, Sumners said. The new room will have secure storage for instruments and practice rooms and will be acoustically designed for music, he said.

The Vincent auditorium was built as a dual auditorium and basketball gym before the current gym was built. The room has no lighting for plays or programs and "is in desperate need of improvement," he said.

The ceilings will be lowered, lights will be installed and a sound system will be added. This project will probably be finished before the end of the school year, he said.

The board also approved Betty Edwards, assistant principal at Montevallo Elementary School, to the vacant principal's position at Vincent Middle School. Stan Elliott, who had been principal five years, had resigned earlier.

Superintendent Ellie Glasscox reported $2,135,000 as the county's share of state education bond money. Sumners said the state also hopes to receive additional money from the governor's $29.1 million discretionary fund for grades K-12 because of the county's rapid growth.

The county added about 500 new students this fall to a total of about 13,200, he said. Shelby County became the seventh largest school system in the state this year, he said.

The state education bond money must be spent on capital expenses, Sumners said. Much of the need is in North Shelby, where population is increasing rapidly, he said.

Goggins

need of this transfer, but also to safeguard the board's control over future transfers.

The board then voted 3-2 to appeal the tenure board's latest decision.

After the board first voted for the transfer in the summer of 1984, Goggins appealed the decision to the State Tenure Commission, which ruled against the transfer because it would mean a change in status.

As principal of Shelby Elementary School, Goggins would receive about $4,000 less a year.

Sumners said this was not as much a salary cut as it first appears because elementary principals only work 11 months, while high school principals work 12. Also, he said, elementary school have far fewer extracurricular activities to take up a principal's time than a high school, where a principal "conceivably could be away from home every night if he goes to all the activities."

The board of education appealed the decision to the Alabama Circuit Court, which found no technical change in status. According to law, Sumners said, change in status is based on continuing service and there was no break in Goggins' service.

In February 1985, the circuit court referred the matter back to the tenure commission to rule on whether the decision to transfer was personal or political.

In the meantime, Goggins appealed to the Alabama Court of Civil Appeals, which upheld the circuit court's decision and also sent the matter back to the tenure commission, Sumners said.

The tenure commission again ruled against the transfer September 6, charging personal and political motives.

At the September meeting of the county board of education, Joe Goggins and Chairwoman Barbara Whitman voted not to appeal. Paul Sumners, Donna Morris and Bill Fancher voted for the appeal.

Whitman said she was holding to her original decision against the transfer because the evidence had not changed.

"I feel Mr. Goggins should have been given more assistance by the administrators of the Shelby County School System," she said.

In defense of Goggins, Pritchard said he had accomplished some good for the school as principal.

For employees

Alabaster pays full insurance

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

Although the Alabaster budget approved at a September 19 city council meeting is about $200,000 more than last year's budget, it does not add many services, according to Finance Chairwoman Nina Kent.

The city hopes to be able to add more later in the year, based on income from a new FoodMax and Harco Drug and Carport.

"We don't know how much these new businesses are going to bring in," Kent said. "We didn't even try to project that." More information on additional income will be available after the first quarter of the fiscal year, she said.

One of the new expenditures is for city employees' insurance. "We're not really giving a salary raise, but we're going to pick up all the insurance, which is probably more than a five percent increase," Kent said.

The council added about $40,000 to the budget to pay the total of each employee's health insurance at the suggestion of Mayor Roger Wheeler. The city had previously only paid half of the $129 per month for family insurance and $45 for a single person.

The council also added Wheeler's suggestion that the city require uniforms for street and sewer workers and pay the total for that. Before, the uniforms had been optional, with the city picking up half of the $26 per month to rent uniforms for a worker.

Wheeler said the uniforms were important for people to identify the workers as city employees. In the past, some have mistaken the workers for intruders and called the police, he said.

The original budget was set for $1,845,801, with the uniforms and insurance bringing it to about $1,886,801. Last year's budget was for $1,659,444.

Another increase over last year is the library budget, and both workers are needed more often to handle the increased use of the facility by the public.

"Everything is up a little," Kent said, because of rising prices. Despite the increased appropriation over last year and the income from the new businesses, the city will be "operating on a very close budget."

One of the reasons is that less money from grants and revenue-sharing will be available, she said.

At the meeting, the council also:
asked the mayor to send a letter to federal legislators asking for support of a bill to exempt local governments from the Fair Labor Standards Act's overtime section;
set an October 1 public hearing on the zoning of the annexed area of Alabaster outside the old city limits;
asked for citizen volunteers for a 3-year term on the Medical Clinic Board; agreed to consider a warning sign for Little Cloud Circle in the Navajo Trail area near a steep hill and blind curve.

Altadena youth killed in accidental shooting

A 15-year-old youth from Altadena South was killed Friday evening when a gun he thought was empty accidentally went off.

Allen Belcher was hit in the chest by a bullet from the 25 automatic pistol he and a friend had been shooting outdoors earlier. He was pronounced dead at Carraway Hospital.

Shelby County Sheriff's Department investigator Sgt. Billy Thomas said Belcher's friend told him Belcher had removed the clip from the pistol prior to the accident.

The gun went off, Thomas said, while Belcher was "waving it around."

Thomas explained that a bullet remains in an automatic weapon even though the clip is removed.

Funeral services for the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen H. Belcher Sr. were held Saturday at Valley Chapel.

Montevallo's budget includes pay raises

By Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

Montevallo's $799,900 budget for the 1985-86 fiscal year includes a four percent across-the-board pay raise for city employees.

The less than nine percent increase in the budget from last year also includes a $1,400 expense allowance increase for Mayor Ralph Sears; a $1,600 salary increase for city attorney/prosecutor Jim Standridge and a $1,000 increase in car expense for city administrator Don Hughes.

The mayor, who retired from private business last year, had his expense allowance raised from $600 to $2,000 to help pay the cost of attending meetings and conferences in the city's behalf, which he previously paid for himself.

An adjustment in Standridge's salaries dropped his pay as city attorney from $7,000 to 6,600. However, that was offset by a jump in his prosecutor's salary, which went from $2,400 to $4,400. The change was made to reflect a balance between the two jobs.

The budget doubled the city administrator's car expense because his city vehicle is getting older and becoming more expensive to maintain.

In the revenue column of the budget, the city expects to collect $350,000 from sales tax, $144,200 from privilege licenses, $68,000 from court fines and costs and $52,600 in property tax revenues.

Hughes called this year's budget more realistic than last year's. He said property tax revenue remained the same since the city fell $2,000 short in last year's projection.

Dog license fees last year were also over-estimated by $2,300. This year the city dropped the revenue expected from that source to $700.

EMS lauded

September 29 through October 5 has been declared Emergency Medical Services Week throughout the state by Gov. George Wallace.

Noting the number of Alabama citizens directly affected by accidents and medical emergencies each year, Wallace made the declaration to honor "all those engaged in emergency medical services" for their hard work and efforts at life-saving.

Echoing Wallace's sentiments, Pelham Mayor Bobby Hayes made a similar proclamation for his city, noting that pre-hospital care providers within Pelham have devoted their lives to saving others, and the citizens of Pelham have directly benefited from their services.

More than 150 men and women in Shelby County — many of them volunteers — are trained in emergency medical services. We want to join Gov. Wallace and Mayor Hayes in recognizing the efforts of those people dedicated to rendering emergency medical aid to those who need it. A number of articles about EMS are in the B and C sections of today's Reporter.

The State Department of Health's Division of Vital Statistics recorded 174 cardiovascular related deaths in Shelby County in 1983, making that the number one killer in the county for that period. Cancer was the second leading killer.

The department noted also that accidents were the third leading cause of death for the same period, therefore EMS directly affects two of the top three killers in Shelby County each year.

"It is estimated that over 25 percent of the people in the country under estimate the seriousness of a medical emergency," said Danny Endress, chairman of the Shelby County Emergency Medical Services Council. "To treat patients most effectively, they must have help at the onset of their symptoms. In most parts of Shelby County, there is plenty of help available if the people will only call."

A list of emergency telephone numbers can be found on Page C-1. It would be wise to clip the list and keep it by your phone.

Remember, EMS can't help if you don't call.

Public needs to be aware of EMS services

Letter to the Editor:

September 29 through October 5 has been designated Emergency Medical Services Week throughout the state of Alabama.

Sponsored by the American College of Emergency Physicians, Emergency Medical Services Week is designed to encourage the public to learn more about emergency medical resources in their communities.

As chairman of the Shelby County EMS Council, I would like to encourage residents of Shelby County to become aware of the services available in their communities.

Visiting area rescue units or fire departments will give people a chance to familiarize themselves with the service available in their area and how best to obtain that service in case of an emergency.

The three to four minute response time that most area rescue units average on calls can often make the difference in saving a life. Yet some areas of the county do not have this service available.

It is time the public became aware and got involved in a service that could save their life.

As stated, EMS week is designed to encourage the public to learn about EMS in their area. If anyone is interested in EMS in an area not presently covered by a rescue unit, they can contact me through the Pelham Fire Department, 863-6304.

Danny Endress, Chairman
Shelby County EMS Council

History shows weakness invites attack

Letter to the Editor:

As our president prepares to meet the chief of communist Russia, we too should face squarely the conflicts between our two nations.

We are not given the luxury of choosing the issues — it is the Soviets who are dedicated to our destruction. This leaves us the option to surrender, or to defend ourselves and like-minded people elsewhere. Clearly, without friends, we would soon be isolated and at the mercy of a world mobilized against us.

Given, to my mind, these certainties, I puzzle over the purpose of those who argue that it would be provocative to match the strength of our declared enemies. If history tells us anything, it is that weakness, not strength, invites hostile attack. Nor does negotiation from a weak position offer else than a certain form of surrender.

The opponents of preparedness go even further. Not only must we avoid arming ourselves with offensive weapons, but we are also urged to abjure defense measures as well — again, I suppose, on the grounds that it is provocative to defend ourselves.

This becomes clear in the opposition to the president's Strategic Defense Initiative, dubbed Star Wars by opponents, designed to develop our capability to destroy atomic missiles launched by our enemies against us.

The argument is to trade the defensive SDI program for a reduction in existing missiles, which, admittedly, would leave Russia with more than enough atomic missiles to destroy us, while depriving us of the right of self-defense.

United Way endangered

Letter to the Editor:

Since I am a representative of a labor union, these comments are especially directed to members of organized labor, but the issue affects everyone in our society. There are some pertinent facts concerning the current United Way Campaign which should be recognized and considered by all union members.

The recent economic and political climate has created a situation which poses a very real threat to the United Way program. There is a direct connection between prosperity and generosity, and charitable organizations are totally dependent upon our ability and our willingness to contribute to the agencies involved. The condition of our economy gives reason for concern because many don't have the ability to contribute even though they are willing.

We read that "unemployment is on the downward trend," but it is not pointed out that many workers have found employment at pay scales much lower than they previously had. Those of us who have been fortunate enough to retain our living standards must be willing to increase our normal contributions in order to protect the vital services which are provided by the United Way program.

Organized labor has been called on through it's history to set the standards for American life, and it has responded each time. I have no doubts that our basic beliefs of "standing together" will cause union members to lead the way once again, and defend the principles of "caring" and "sharing." After all, that is our foundation.

Letter to the Editor

Everyone knows that having to live with a broken leg is a wretched way to live. When I broke mine several weeks ago, the only bright spot I could see on the horizon was that in spite of wearing a large cast and hobbling on crutches, I could continue to take care of personal matters because I would have the right to park my car in those convenient spaces marked with blue lines and reserved for handicapped folks. Right? Wrong.

After a number of fruitless calls to government offices, I was finally directed to the Probate Office in Pelham. Here I was informed that this privilege was denied to me as I was handicapped only for two miserable months - not for the rest of my life. Have you ever staggered around on crutches for two long months?

Please, aren't we temporarily disadvantaged taxpayers entitled to a little consideration too?

Hospital tax needs to be reexamined

Letter to the Editor:

The Shelby Memorial Hospital seems to stay in a state of confusion and conflict. I would suggest to the county commission that steps be taken to repeal the taxes now paid by homeowners in Shelby County to the hospital.

Shelby County residents receive no discounts as a result of their tax payments and this seems unfair to me. A person living in Chilton or Jefferson County pays the same thing that I pay for hospital services yet they are not taxed to assist in the operation of that hospital.

The hospital purchases TV ads and newspaper ads to try and get Jefferson County citizens to come to Alabaster for medical treatment. If they have enough money to purchase such ads then it's time we put our tax dollar to a better use.

I therefore urge the county commission to either repeal this tax or use it in a more needed area.

Two'll get you five

If I were a betting man these are some of the things I bet five to two on: If one guy came along with home-cured ham and red-eye gravy, and the other came along in a hot-rod car with a Lula Belle haircut, two'll get you five I can name the one who'll notice Matilda's skirt is eight inches above her knees.

If he's a Little League ball player and hits a homerun in the last inning with one guy on and his team one run behind, two'll get you five one lady will jump higher than anybody else, and make more racket than any other three folks there.

If he comes sailing out of a side road and slows you down, going faster than a stalk of okra grows, two'll get you five he'll turn off halfway up the next hill and slow you down again.

If she's a pretty girl, and they spring up around her as thick as little blue violets on a spring branch, with hair that reaches somewhere between her ears and her belt buckle, two'll get you five she'll piddle with every five minutes.

If one guy has a garden, and the other guy buys his green stuff off another fellow's truck, two'll get you five only one of them'll notice the thunderheads bubbling up.

If your garden is in a low place, and the man says there's a twenty percent chance of showers, two'll get you five you'll get 19 percent of whatever falls, while the guy down the road, with his garden on a hill, will have to share the other one percent with half a dozen neighbors.

If a bird dog does it, and his master says don't, and he does it anyway, two'll get you five he'll do it again whenever the notion strikes him.

If she's so pretty she makes your eyes hurt, two'll get you five she'll remind you of somebody you thought you had forgotten 50 years ago.

If the birds get up and he misses and says he tripped over a log, and if they get up again and he misses and says the sun got in his eyes, two'll get you five he hasn't been hunting bobwhites over a year.

Proration hanging over schools

The 1985-86 fiscal year has just begun, and already the specter of proration hangs heavy over the head of the public schools.

In the final days of fiscal 1984-85, State School Supt. Wayne Teague sent a letter to the some 130 city/county school superintendents, suggesting that they be very careful about their spending of the money promised them for the new year.

The problem, as always, is that the Alabama Legislature got carried away in its generous treatment of education during the regular session. The lawmakers passed a record-breaking $2.187 billion appropriation for schools, and there is now grave reservations about the ability of existing taxes to generate that much money.

Not surprisingly, AEA head man Dr. Paul Hubbert played down the warnings of proration. He said it was "premature" to talk about such things. It was Hubbert's insistence that teachers get a 15 percent pay raise (coming on the heels of a 15 percent raise last year) which necessitated the huge increase in the school appropriation.

Dr. Teague, obviously alarmed about a financial crisis, surprised a lot folks by going on record in support of a state lottery, with the proceeds earmarked for schools. While public support for a lottery has grown in recent years (anything is better than a tax increase in the eyes of many), Gov. Wallace remains firmly opposed to such legislation. The cause for a lottery will not be helped in the legislature because its chief sponsor is Rep. Alvin Holmes of Montgomery, the vocal black activist. It is a sad fact that if Holmes sponsors a piece of legislation, a substantial number of lawmakers will find some reason to oppose it. His win-loss record in the House is comparable to that of a pitcher for the Atlanta Braves.

Odds and Ends-Joe Broadwater says he will soon vacate his post as head of the Alabama Department of Environmental Management (ADEM) and go into private business. He also added that if Fob James seeks another term as governor, he would help in that campaign. It was James who brought Broadwater, a former CIA agent, to Montgomery in 1979 as head of the ABC Board. Later he also served as one of Fob's innumerable Finance Directors...

A super computer which will link state universities and major industries in Alabama will be located in Huntsville. The computer, expected to cost almost $20 million, will be acquired under a lease-purchase arrangement. It is hoped that revenue paid by industry to use the computer will be sufficient to pay the installments.

In case of emergency call . . .

"EMS is the best thing since sliced bread."

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer
In 1972, a young volunteer firefighter from Alabaster heard about a new program in Alabama that sought to train

EMTs — Emergency Medical Technicians.

One of the training centers was located at the then Shelby Memorial Hospital in Alabaster, and John Cochran joined about 50 others in attending the training classes.

"Only about 19 or 20 finished," Cochran recalls, but when he got the certificate that signified his qualification as only the 39th EMT in Alabama, Cochran realized he was on the road to something special.

John Cochran is the chief of the Alabaster Fire and Rescue Service. He has held that post since July 1, 1974, making him the county's first — and, for a while, only — full-time, paid firefighter.

John Cochran is a family man. With his wife Shirley, the Cochrans make a home for three to five children, depending on who is home at the time, and he "works around the yard to relax" when time allows.

But in every thing that John Cochran does, John Cochran is a paramedic, a "specialized professional in emergency medicine." Being a paramedic is important to John Cochran because he feels that his profession can help other people.

"EMS is the best thing since sliced bread for the people," Cochran says with enthusiasm. "When emergency situations arise, they can now have instant, qualified aid. Having an EMT to call can sometimes even

"Volunteer fire and rescue people are the most dedicated people I know."

Will the real Lonnie Thompson please stand up.

The line from the old game show fits Lonnie Thompson well for there are — at least — two Lonnie Thompsons.

The first Lonnie Thompson is the marketing manager for Specification Rubber in Alabaster. He spends a lot of time behind a desk talking on the telephone. That is how Lonnie Thompson makes a living.

The second Lonnie Thompson is a volunteer paramedic with the Shelco Fire and Rescue District. He spends a lot of time at the wheel of a rescue vehicle or working to save a life. That is what makes Lonnie Thompson's life worth living.

It is a good thing the first Lonnie Thompson likes the second Lonnie Thompson. After all, they live in the same body.

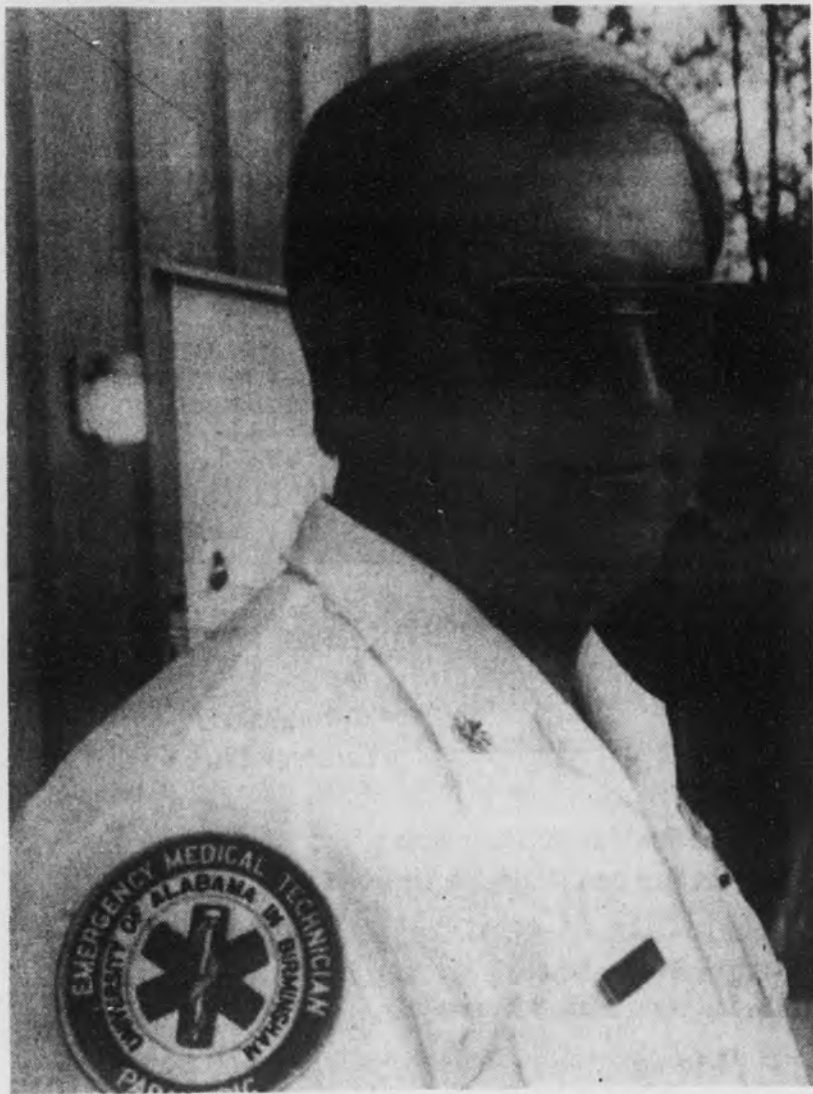

"I have often wondered why I don't get into the fire and rescue business full-time," Thompson said, "because I really love it."

"I guess sometimes when a vocation becomes a vocation, it loses something special."

Being a paramedic has meant something special to Lonnie Thompson for more than a decade. From the time he heard of a pilot program for emergency medical technicians while serving as a volunteer for the Shelco Fire District and — with a few of his Shelco buddies — "took the class because it seemed like

Cost receives award for turf and landscape from national FFA

Larry Cost of Calera has been named a Silver Award winner in regional competition for the National FFA Turf and Landscape Management Proficiency Award.

Cost is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Cost Sr. and a member of the Calera FFA Chapter.

Cost became eligible for the regional run-off when he won the $100 State FFA Turf and Landscape Management Proficiency Award sponsored by O. M. Scott & Sons, Marysville, Ohio as a Special Project of the National FFA Foundation, Inc. The award is one of 29 Agricultural Proficiency Awards presented annually at local, state, regional and national levels to recognize FFA members for achievements in activities leading to careers in agriculture.

This year's regional winner was Kevin Kovac of Oak Grove, Louisiana who will receive a plaque, a check for $250 and partially paid travel expenses to the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Missouri in November. At the Convention, Kovac will compete against three other regional Turf and Landscape Management Proficiency Award winners selected from each of the other three FFA regions.

Cost was presented a framed certificate recognizing his placing in the regional competition.

Thompson youth win 5 of 6 games

All six of the Thompson Youth Football Warriors teams saw action during the second week of JeffCo League youth football action, and the youth Warriors came away with wins in five of the six games they played.

Thompson's only loss came when the 70-pound young Warriors lost to Hueytown 21-0.

In 80-pound action, the youth Warriors took their second win of the young season with a 12-6 decision over Shades Mountain.

Thompson opened the scoring when Jason Young blocked a punt and returned it for a TD, but Shades Mountain tied the score in the second half.

With less than a minute to play, Jamie Davis scampered 52 yards for Thompson's go-ahead touchdown.

Jerome Jones scored two touchdowns and Heath Hines, D.J. Pike, Adam Kayton and Jason Quick got one TD each to lead the 85-pound Warriors to a 40-0 win over Vestavia. Jones, Quick and Robert Jarrell each added PATs for the youth Warriors.

The 95-pound Warriors scored a 20-0 win over Pleasant Grove behind touchdowns from Jeff Colvin, Jeff Mize and Corey Farhetti and PATs from Scott Brakefield and Kendall Watson.

Thompson coaches tabbed Clint Parker, Trey Thompson and the entire Thompson offensive line as offensive standouts and Mize, Chad Douglas and Randy Bearden as defensive standouts.

Eric Kendrick and Derico Jones scored two touchdowns each to lead the 105-pound Warriors to a 35-0 shut-out of Vestavia in the Warriors opening game of the season.

Brian Shanahan added a fifth touchdown for the youth Warriors and Kendrick, Kip Hale, Jones Brian Young and Brian Tucker scored PATs.

Offensive standouts for the game included Pete Dupree, Brad Roberson, Patrick Wootton and Ches Harris while Danny Evans, Issac Lewis and Andy Jones played well for the youth Warriors on defense.

The 120-pound Warriors scored a 40-0 win over Vestavia behind a two touchdown performance from Jimbo Nipper and Kevin Hale.

The Warriors also scored on a pass from Kevin Flynn to Jeremy Perkins and on a run by Chris Bunn.

Bunn, Bryan Porter and Chris Caldwell accounted for the Thompson PATs.

SA students excell in merit program

Mark Bolding and Danny Manuel of Shelby Academy are semifinalists in the 1986 Merit Program of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

More than one million juniors attending about 19,000 secondary schools entered the competition by taking a qualifying test, the PSAT/NMSQT, in October 1984. The top scorers in each state, or less than half of one percent of each state's high school class, are included in the nationwide group of semifinalists.

Bolding and Manuel are only two of the 15,000 semifinalists who will continue in the competition for some 5,800 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1986.

Sam Hamm, a senior at Shelby Academy, has been named "Commended Student" in the 1986 Merit Program of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. He will receive a letter of commendation in honor of outstanding academic promise, demonstrated by placing in the top five percent of the over one million participants in the 31st annual National Merit Scholarship Program.

Who will be the first scholar to occupy this Chair?

Will it be a best-selling author, a Nobel Prize-winning scientist or an internationally known historian? The list of such possibilities is virtually endless—thanks to the generosity of former State Senator Paschal P. "Pat" Vacca.

Pat Vacca's recent, widely acclaimed gift, establishing the first Chair of Liberal Arts at the University of Montevallo and making UM the first institution to take advantage of Alabama's new Eminent Scholars Act, has opened up those possibilities. Indeed, it has made possible a unique approach to endowed chairs.

The Paschal P. "Pat" Vacca Chair of Liberal Arts will dramatically increase learning opportunities for Montevallo undergraduates, allowing them to share the knowledge of many outstanding scholars in many different fields as part of UM's nationally known "Core Curriculum." It will also provide the University a steady stream of expertise in the disciplines constituting that "core."

An Open Invitation

Montevallo and the State of Alabama will say "thank you" to Senator Vacca on October 10, 1985—Founders Day at the University known as "the new standard of value in education" in Alabama. You're invited to be present in honor of Senator Vacca as he receives an honorary doctorate at the Founders Day Convocation, 11:00 a.m., Thursday, October 10, at Palmer Auditorium.

Senator Vacca, who practices law in Jefferson County, served in the Alabama legislature for twenty-four years. He has been a member and officer of numerous civic organizations, and he has been an enthusiastic supporter of the University of Montevallo. He is known throughout the state as "Mr. Traffic Safety."

RMS home economics students given self-improvement tips

Home Ec students at Riverchase Middle School recently got some tips on how to improve their relationships with their parents.

They also found out how to improve their appearance and self confidence.

"It was very interesting," says Danny Filippone, one of the students in Hendree Thomas' advanced home economics class.

Four speakers came to Thomas' class to talk about teen-parent relationships, self confidence and grooming, skin and nail care and cosmetics.

Filippone says he was the most interested in the discussion of self confidence, which included information on grooming, posture and body language.

Thomas agrees that that segment was most helpful to the students. "For example, she explains, a girl who didn't make cheerleader was told that she shouldn't give up - to try again for a place on the squad. On the other hand, she shouldn't be boastful if she is chosen."

The students also learned about which colors were the most flattering for them to wear, and they were shown the correct way to manicure their nails.

Speakers who came to the school included Karla Lett from Lett Model and Talent Management, Mary Keene from Brookwood Hospital, Judy Agee from Lady Love, Connie Clark from Merle Norman.

Pelham library given literature anthologies

The Pelham Public Library has been awarded a 60 volume set of the Library of America, the series that American Heritage magazine called "The most ambitious effort ever undertaken to put the best of American literature into the hands of the general reader."

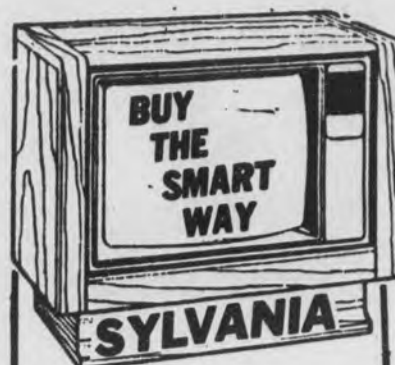

The Pelham Library is one of 500 libraries across the country that are acquiring this important collection of American literature with funds from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and matching funds pledged in their local communities.

Each $500 raised locally is being matched by $500 from the Mellon Foundation grant as a part of a national program to help libraries acquire the Library of America series.

The Library of America is a non-profit publishing program that began in 1982 in an unprecedented effort to restore America's literary heritage by publishing the collected works of America's major authors. Seed money for the program was provided by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the Ford Foundation. Volumes include the works of Henry Adams, James Fenimore Cooper, Stephen Crane, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Nathaniel Hawthorne, William Dean Howells, Washington Irving, Thomas Jefferson, Jack London, Herman Melville and many others.

Each volume in the series includes a number of works by a single author and contains between 1,000 and 1,600 pages. All volumes include a detailed chronology of the author's life and career, a brief essay explaining the choice of texts and some useful notes for the general reader.

Thompson, fellow volunteers at work

Thompson

something that might be useful" through several years of volunteering for the only rescue department in Shelby County until today, when Thompson sees enough rescue personnel in the county that he doesn't have to "fly away from work as often anymore," EMS has been one of the biggest motivating forces in Lonnie Thompson's life.

"I'll probably stay in EMS as long as I'm physically able," Thompson said. "It gives you such a good feeling to do this kind of job and know you've done a good job and helped someone."

Thompson and his friends at Shelco — along with a lot of other emergency medical volunteers throughout Shelby County — do that good job during what would be free time for most working people. Thompson said the EMS volunteers come from varied backgrounds, but bring a common dedication to their chosen responsibility.

"The volunteers here are as professional as anyone who is paid to do the job," Thompson said. "Volunteer fire and rescue people are the most dedicated people I know."

In a profession that is by nature full of pressure, being a volunteer brings added frustrations when rescue units must worry about money.

"You devote your time and your talents but you don't have the money to do the job you want to be able to do," Thompson said. "That is the biggest frustration we face."

Thompson said that the Shelco Corporation, like so many volunteer organizations through the county, is committed to having the equipment necessary for the best patient care possible.

"We will find a way to get what the patients need," Thompson said, "beg borrow or steal. Often we just chip in out of our pockets for the things we need that the unit can't afford."

But Thompson insists that the money and time he invests in EMS are repaid by the people that can be helped.

"It is an incredible feeling to see a patient start breathing again or open his eyes or talk," Thompson said. "You can't compare that to anything because you know you have done something to help save that life. It's incredibly exciting."

Because life and death go hand in hand, those who restore life must also see death. It is a situation Thompson cannot forget and one that he sometimes finds hard to deal with.

"It is discouraging to know that you have done everything you can then you lose a patient," Thompson said. "It usually just ends up making us angry...angry at fate."

In good and in bad, volunteer emergency medical personnel like Lonnie Thompson are on duty 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

"When you do this for a living, you work your shift then go home," he said, then quickly added that many paid fire and rescue workers continue to answer calls on their own time. "But when you volunteer, you are on call all the time."

"It has made for a lot of good memories," Thompson said. "I couldn't quit now because I feel an obligation to people to help when I can."

Given the long hours of work, in education, in practice, in money raising, Thompson has quite an investment in fire and rescue work.

"I couldn't quit now if I wanted to," Thompson said. "It would seem like such a waste."

Pelham 95-pounders win twice

The Pelham 95-pound Panthers put together back-to-back wins over South Roebuck and Adamsville to bring the youth football record to 5-0 recently.

The win over South Roebuck showcased the Pelham offense as the youth Panthers took a 32-6 win.

Quarterback Shawn Hall rushed for 67 yards and completed two of five passes to lead the young Panthers in the game.

In addition, four Pelham runningbacks rushed for double-figure totals, Jeff McPeters with 63 yards, Scott McCulloch with 42 yards, Derek Cunningham with 36 yards and Joey Roberto with 20 yards.

Pelham's defense was lead by James Morris with nine tackles, Cunningham with seven tackles and Woody Quinn with six tackles. Pelham also got fumble recoveries from Bill Brashier and Heath Miller and an interception from Roberto.

The youth Panthers win over Adamsville was more of a defensive battle as Pelham took a 12-0 shut-out win.

McPeters led the Pelham offense with 46 yards rushing and a 32 yard pass reception, and Pelham coaches also praised the play of quarterback Hall for timely pass completions and rushing.

Pelham's defense was led by Eric Wilson and Stacy Edwards, each with 13 tackles, Chris McPherson with 11 tackles and McPeters with 10 tackles.

McPeters also had two pass interceptions, one which he returned for a touchdown.

save money and emergency room trips."

"This is important to me," Cochran added, "it's what I feel like I was destined to do."

While being a paramedic may have been Cochran's "destiny", the road to becoming a paramedic was not always easy.

In 1974, getting in on the coattails of a push for paramedics by Birmingham-area fire departments, Cochran upgraded his EMT-basic status first to EMT-intermediate and then to paramedic.

"I'd go to class when I got off from work in the afternoons," Cochran said, "then work at the hospital on the 11 to 7 shift then have to be back at work by 7:30 a.m."

The hard work and long hours did not end with Cochran's training.

While many of Alabaster's firefighters are certified EMTs — though it is not a department requirement — Cochran was for many years the only paramedic in Alabaster. A paramedic is the only EMS position certified to administer drugs under advise from a physician, so Cochran would stay on call as many hours as possible to give the people of Alabaster that service.

"I'm lucky," he says, "because Shirley was a nurse she is very understanding about the long hours and the interruptions."

Cochran is also pleased that the men in his department and many of Alabaster's city officials are understanding and supportive of the emergency medical service branch of Alabaster's fire department.

It's new name, Alabaster Fire and Rescue Service, reflects Cochran's feeling that its "all for one and one for all" in Alabaster with no distinction made between the fire or rescue needs of the department.

"For a while, people though we were just playing doctor," Cochran admits, "but now were are becoming more widely accepted and used."

Being a paramedic, even when being a fire chief as well, is a job that Cochran says has many more intangible rewards than tangible ones.

"If I was doing this for money I'd be looking for another job," Cochran said, "but there is something unique, something special about every situation."

Like the special feeling that Cochran got when he saw a woman who had collapsed at Trans-All walk out of Shelby Medical Center perfectly normal some days afterward.

"When we got there she had no pulse," Cochran remembered. "We really brought her back, and then to see her make a full recovery was something special."

"It was just like John and Roy used to do it on T.V.," he laughed, making reference to the television show Emergency that introduced paramedics to the nation.

"Things don't really happen like that all that often," Cochran said.

Of course, for every good memory there are also bad — a woman who lost both legs in a traffic accident or a sick child.

"I still get choked up about the babies," Cochran said. "You can always see your child in that situation."

At 39, Cochran said he sometimes wonders why he is still being a fire chief and a paramedic, but one encounter with the people in Alabaster that he serves provides the answer.

"I'm totally dedicated to these people," Cochran said. "I wouldn't want to be anywhere else."

County EMS urges people to call for help

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

"We can't help if you don't call."

There are more than 150 men and women in Shelby County trained in emergency medical services. All are here to serve the people of Shelby County. All are at the mercy of the people of Shelby County. They need for Shelby County to pick up the telephone and give them a call.

"It is estimated that over 25 percent of the people in the country under estimate the seriousness of a medical emergency," said Danny Endress, a lieutenant with the Pelham Fire Department and chairman of the Shelby County Emergency Medical Services Council.

"You shouldn't wait until someone stops breathing to call for help," Endress added. "To treat patients most effectively, they must have help at the onset of their symptoms."

In most parts of Shelby County, Endress said, there is plenty of help available if the people will only call.

Local EMS grows in 14 years

When emergency medical services became available in Shelby County in 1971, there was only one rescue unit with extrication devices and EMS training.

Shelco covered the county, carrying in a large rescue vehicle like the one made famous by television's Emergency every piece of equipment they had available for aiding emergency situations.

In 1985, Shelby County has seven rescue departments that offer advanced lifesaving services and others that offer a wide range of basic emergency medical and first aid techniques.

To coordinate the emergency medical services within the county, the Shelby County Emergency Medical Services Council was formed in 1972.

The EMS Council, said chairman Danny Endress, is a body formed by representatives from each rescue department in Shelby County.

Its aim is fourfold, Endress added, acting as an information channel for protocols, procedures and changes that affect county units, providing continuing educational opportunities for the EMTs in Shelby County, increasing public awareness of EMS within the county, and providing an avenue of communication for county emergency personnel outside the emergency situation.

"We simply coordinate the EMS work in Shelby County," Endress said, "hopefully to benefit the people of the county and the EMS personnel involved as well."

Shelby Medical Center Emergency Department director Dr. Marshall Boone is the council's medical director and SMC nurse Charlie Ivy acts as the liaison between the council and the hospital.

Endress, a Pelham firefighter and paramedic, is the group's chairman.

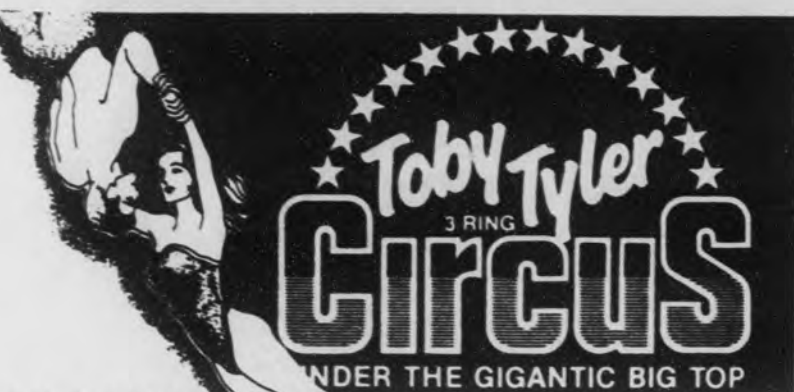

Charles Warren of North Shelby acts as vice-chairman and Alabaster's Mike Ellis as secretary/treasurer.

Other council members include Gary Penhale of Helena, Jay Wilson of Shelco, Blair Sides of Montevallo, Hugh Morrison of Calera and DeAnn Lamb of Rescue 88 in Columbiana.

Register at SouthTrust for Bell's Silver Pages

SouthTrust Bank of Alabama has been designated as a registration center for Southwestern Bell Media's Silver Pages Program, announced W. F. Warren, president and chief executive officer of SouthTrust Bank of Alabama.

The Silver Pages is a classified advertising directory listing local businesses that provide discounts or special offers to senior citizens 60 years or older. Senior citizens who sign up for the program receive a Silver Saver's Passport which identifies them as being eligible for discounts advertised in the Silver Pages.

The Silver Pages is a nationwide program for senior citizens with more than 100 cities across the country targeted for local directories. Birmingham and Mobile are the only two Alabama cities selected for the program thus far.

The Birmingham directory will be published May 1986 and sent to any senior citizen who completes a Silver Saver's Passport application. Applications are available now at all SouthTrust Bank of Alabama offices.

"SouthTrust Bank of Alabama is extremely pleased to be working with Southwestern Bell on the Silver Pages Program. Senior citizens are an all-too-often forgotten part of our society, and SouthTrust recognizes their importance to our community. For that reason, we are especially proud to have been chosen as a registration center for the program," Warren said.

Chiropractors offer tips on gardening

Pruning trees, hoeing and raking leaves, while giving you a healthy fall garden, can cause unhealthy strain to the back, shoulders, arms and neck.

Dr. P. R. Hug, a Cahaba Heights chiropractor, offers some fall gardening tips developed from the combined experience of medical doctors and chiropractors that should help the fall gardener avoid aches and pains.

•Loosen up before working. Walk briskly around the block and stretch. Give your muscles a chance to warm up.

•Use long-handled tools to keep from bending while raking and hoeing. Pushing or pulling in a bending position can strain shoulders or lower back.

•Switch hands frequently while raking or hoeing. This avoids prolonged strain on one side of the body, which can cause muscle spasms.

•Use short strokes instead of long, forceful ones when using a trimming edger and keep back straight.

•Carry only manageable loads of debris to avoid strain on your arms and back.

available to the public in an emergency.

The Emergency Awareness Fair will feature displays of equipment, information about various heart topics, discussions on emergency room facilities and services, trauma treatment demonstrations with live models, and free blood pressure and blood sugar screening.

Among the participating hospitals and training centers will be Bessemer-Caraway, Central Alabama Community Hospital, the Regional Technical Institute, University of Alabama Hospitals, Brookwood Medical Center, Lloyd Noland Hospital, the vanced life support services, the county has made good progress in EMS.

"There are still areas in which we can improve," Endress said, noting that the county's population growth is causing an increasing need for advanced life support units on the east side of the county, "but I would put the quality of EMS in Shelby County up against anyone."

Endress appealed for public support, especially in areas where volunteer rescue units are under-equipped and in areas which have no emergency medical services at all.

"You have to have equipment and man-power to do a good job," Endress said. "Public support is our only source of both."

Endress noted that all of the rescue units in Shelby County provide their services free to the public. Part of the cost is defrayed by taxes and fire dues in some instances, but often EMS personnel bear part of the expense themselves.

The EMS personnel in the field are not alone as they seek to treat patients. All of the units that function in Shelby County are assigned to Shelby Medical Center as their associate hospital, and emergency EMTs act only on the advice of a qualified physician.

"EMTs are the eyes, ears and hands of the hospital emergency room," observed Alabaster fire chief John Cochran. "We don't want to replace doctors or nurses, but we all work together to give better patient care."

Dr. Marshall Boone, the director of the SMC Emergency Department, also acts as the medical director for EMS in Shelby County.

Dr. Richard Holmes joins Boone to act as physician advisors for the rescue units in Shelby County, over-seeing the credentialing of all EMTs and giving direction to their services.

SMC pharmacist Danny Blackmon over-see the dispensing of IV fluids and medication to all of the units in the county.

There are eight rescue units in Shelby County recognized and assigned squad numbers. In addition, there are five other fire departments that offer some type of basic life support aid.

The Pelham Fire Department has both the largest and, in 1984 the busiest, rescue department. Pelham has 24 full-time employees, all qualified as EMTs. Included in that number are 12 paramedics and three EMT-intermediates.

Pelham began offering rescue services in April of 1977 and moved into advanced life support in October of the same year.

During 1984, the Pelham department answered 453 EMS-related calls, 168 general first aid, 99 wrecks and 186 resuscitator/advanced life support calls.

Gary Waters is the chief of the Pelham Department, while Danny Endress is the department EMS director.

Alabaster's Fire and Rescue Service answered 414 calls during 1984, 266 of them resuscitator and 188 general first aid.

The Alabaster Fire Department added rescue services in 1972 and upgraded to an advanced life support group in 1975.

John Cochran is the chief of the 12 paid and 12 volunteer staff and also acts as EMS director for the department's three paramedics, five EMT-intermediates and three EMT-basics.

The Montevallo Emergency Medical Service was organized as an advanced life support group in 1980 and last year answered 285 calls ranging from minor first aid to major trauma to cardiac arrest and even included a childbirth.

Blair Sides is the chief of the 21-member volunteer organization that includes eight paramedics, three EMT-intermediates, five EMT-basics and five auxiliaries trained in basic first aid skills.

The 15 paid and 15 volunteer members of the North Shelby Fire and Emergency Medical District answered 240 medical calls during 1984.

Winston Boutwell is the chief of the North Shelby Department and Bart Wilkerson directs an EMS program that includes nine paramedics and four EMT-intermediates.

The North Shelby unit, which organized as an advanced life support unit in 1978, answered 40 resuscitator calls, 64 wreck calls and 136 general first aid calls during 1984.

The Shelco Fire and Rescue District became the first rescue unit in Shelby County when it was organized late in 1971 and upgraded to advanced life support in 1974.

Last year, the 22-member volunteer organization answered 202 calls, 112 resuscitator, 48 wreck and 42 general first aid.

Doug McGaughy is the chief and EMS director for the eight paramedics, four EMT-intermediates and three EMT-basics in the Shelco unit.

Calera Rescue 90, which organized as an advanced life support unit in 1975, answered a total of 190 calls during 1984, 94 resuscitator, 38 wrecks and 58 first aid.

Hugh Morrison is the chief of the group of 12 volunteers, three paramedics, three EMT-intermediates, five EMT-basics and one first-responder.

The Helena Fire Department began their EMS services in 1980 and became an advanced life support unit in 1983.

Gary Penhale is the department's chief and EMS director as well as their only paid employee. Within the 20-man department, however, are five paramedics, one EMT-intermediate, two EMT-basics and five first-responder.

The Helena Department answered 119 calls last year: 33 wreck, 61 resuscitator and 25 first aid.

The county's newest rescue organization is the Southeast Shelby County Emergency Medical District, centered in Columbiana. It was organized in 1983 as a basic life support group.

Chief Mark Bray is in charge of a group of 15 volunteers, all of whom are EMTs or first-responders.

In addition to the recognized rescue units, the fire departments in Cahaba Valley, Vandiver, Westover, Chelsea and Indian Ford offer some basic life support aid to the people in their areas.

The county also has advanced life support services available from three different ambulance services, Harpersville Ambulance, Central Shelby Ambulance and Hank's Ambulance Service.

Satellite Facts From Freddie Freedom

Q: Is it illegal to view television from satellite?

A: Absolutely Not.

Congress on Oct. 12, 1984 passed a bill legalizing your right to view television via satellite.

Q: Are all the 240 odd channels going to be scrambled?

A: So far only Home Box Office and its affiliate are actually running a test scrambling each day until their system is tested. No definite time has been announced as to when and if they plan on scrambling full time. At the present, there is a bill before Congress calling for a 2 year moratorium until all the pros and cons are agreed upon.

The Shelby County Health Department's nursing division offers medical check-ups, immunizations, nutritional services, maternity care, home health care and screening for various illness and conditions through its nursing service, according to Director Ron Stutts.

Federal funds help the department provide maternity care and family planning. Guidelines for participation require that income be less than 150 percent of the poverty level set by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

A $2 registration fee is set for the pre-natal care program.

The department offers free pregnancy testing. The family planning program provides birth control and has fees based on ability of the client to pay.

The health department does not deny services to those who do not pay, Stutts said.

"Immunization is a major part of our activity," he said. Vaccinations are offered for all major childhood diseases and other selected illnesses.

A $2 registration charge allows participation in this clinic and any number of vaccinations, he said.

Flu shots are an exception, however, as these cost the department more money. The H flu version is available for children for $7.50. Adult flu shots cost $3.

Vaccinations are especially important for children because they are more susceptible to illnesses and because the protection will carry into adulthood.

Great progress has been made with the mumps vaccine, with talk of eliminating the illness, Stutts said. Last year there were only about 17 cases in Alabama, he said.

Screening clinics for children and Medicaid clients offer medical examinations. Except for Medicaid patients, a $2 registration fee is required here also.

Children are regularly examined for early detection of diseases and other physical problems to avoid more expensive treatment in later years, Stutts said.

Vision, hearing and scoliosis are tested and the department watches for vitamin deficiencies and growing problems.

The Women, Infants and Children program deals with nutritional and growing problems.

WIC has stringent guidelines, Stutts said. Only pregnant or nursing women and children up to about age six are eligible, he said.

Clients are given vouchers to purchase specific foods to provide vitamins and nutrients lacking in individual diets.

Over 8,000 people in Shelby County receive vouchers each week, Stutts said.

The WIC program is an important extension of maternity and child care "to ensure that we provide a full range of benefits," he said.

Other clinical services include free blood pressure screening.

One of the health department's responsibilities is tuberculosis screening and treatment. Most private doctors refer tuberculosis patients to health departments for treatment, Stutts said.

Although medication for this illness is very expensive, the state provides free treatment and works hard for early detection, he said.

Free skin tests, and X-rays if necessary, are available to anyone who may have been exposed to the disease. People who need tuberculosis tests for employment are charged $5.

Tuberculosis is a major health problem in Alabama, Stutts said. Anyone with an excessive cough who has been in close contact with a tuberculosis patient should come for a test, he said.

The department also offers testing and treatment for sexually transmitted diseases. This is also free if a person may have been exposed, with a $5 charge otherwise.

A cancer detection clinic has no fee.

The health department was the first agency in Alabama to offer home health care services, beginning in 1966.

Even though there are now about 13 home health agencies serving Shelby County, the health department provides a service most others do not by serving indigents, Stutts said.

About 30 percent of the department's budget is for home health care. Workers made over 5,000 visits last year, he said.

The department also offers health information by giving talks at schools and other organizations that request this.

The department is responsible for processing information concerning birth, deaths, burials and other vital statistics.

Another major responsibility is environmental health, which will be covered in next week's edition of the Reporter.

Stutts has worked with the Shelby County health department for about 15 years. He was environmental supervisor for five years before becoming director about five years ago.

Jessie Powell is nursing supervisor and Anne D. Wright is a nurse practitioner. Other members of the nursing staff are Laura Secord, Eleanor Rose Davis, Paula J. Watts, Charlene M. Ray, Rhonda Gene Johnson, Frances Hanson, Martha Ann Ward and Annette W. Garrison.

Shirley J. Davis and Julia A. Walker are health aides. Ann C. McClendon is a nutritionist.

Dr. Melinda Rowe, a pediatrician, is health officer.

Mary Katherine Stoudemire and Jeannie Thompson are custodian workers.

Clerical workers are Nellie M. Walton, Margaret V. Smith, Cindy Murphy, Cathy C. Hadaway, Linda D. Benson, Rena M. Davis, Joyce F. Ballard and Suzanne A. Welch.

Glasscox elected to Lung Association board of directors

Shelby County School Superintendent Ellie Glasscox was recently elected to the Jefferson-Shelby Lung Association Board of Directors.

Others elected with Glasscox are Executive Director Charlena Harris Bray, Hoover; Virginia Lee Hassell, Birmingham and Jackie Floyd Roosely, Birmingham. The Jefferson-Shelby Lung Association functions as an affiliate of the American Lung Association of Alabama, a voluntary health organization dedicated to the prevention and control of all lung disease and lung hazards.

Rep. Moore to be honored at fundraising reception

An fundraising reception to honor Rep. Sonny Moore will be held October 15 at the 4-H Center near Columbiana.

Hors d'oeuvres and entertainment will be offered at the "appreciation reception" from 6 to 8 p.m., said Judy Cardwell, who is helping with the event. Tickets are $25 and the public is invited to attend, she said.

For more information, call Cardwell at 987-8049.

Bluff Park show set

The 22nd annual Bluff Park Arts and Crafts Show will be October 5, 10 a.m. to sundown, at the Bluff Park Community Center in Birmingham.

The event will feature 85 artists and craftsmen, a Lions' barbeque, baked goods by the Bluff Park United Methodist Women, music by Henry Kimbrell Combo and "hands-on" art for children 3-8 years old.

Ruth Appelhof, curator of the Birmingham Museum of Art, will judge the show.

There is no admission charge and free shuttle buses will be available from Shades Mountain Shopping Plaza, Bluff Park United Methodist Church, Liberty Bible Church and Shades Mountain Independent Church parking lots.

In case of rain, the date will be changed to October 6.

Progress Homemakers meet

Hinton Mitchem campaigns in county

State Sen. Hinton Mitchem, a candidate for lieutenant governor, recently campaigned in Shelby County.

During the September 18 county-tour, Mitchem of Albertville spoke to residents in Pelham, Helena, Alabaster, Calera, Montevallo, Columbiana, Wilsonville, Harpersville, Oak Mountain Park, Vincent and North Shelby County.

Mitchem is chairman of the senate's finance and taxation committee and a member of the agriculture, conservation and forestry committee and the banking and insurance committee. When he became a member of the House of Representatives in 1974, he was named chairman of the agriculture committee.

He was elected to the house in 1974 and to the senate in 1978.

For the last seven years, Mitchem was chairman of the Alabama Special Olympics. his was recently appointed chairman of the Alabama Commission on Physical Fitness, a position he had held in 1978.

Mitchem sponsored legislation to create the Alabama Finance Authority, which sold $1 billion in bonds and financed over 17,000 Alabama homes with below average interest rates, according to his campaign material.

He worked to create the Capital Recreation Fund, which provides state matching funds to city and county governments for recreation projects.

Mitchem also has promoted retirement benefits and pay raises for teachers.

He emphasizes that the education and general fund budgets have passed before the end of the regular session under his chairmanship of the finance and taxation committee.

For information about Mitchem's campaign, contact Bill Martin at 663-4623 or 663-0404.

Sen. Mitchem, next to bus, visits Democratic supporters in Columbiana

Panthers taste victory

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

"Winning," said Pelham coach Billy Tohill, "feels good enough that we'd like to keep it up for awhile."

The Panthers tasted victory for the second time this season Friday night when they traveled to Hokes Bluff and upset the Eagles' homecoming plans in a 24-13 game.

"Just winning one won't get the job done," Tohill cautioned after the game, "but it feels good to be back on the right track."

Improvements in offensive execution provided the key to the Panthers' win, Tohill said, especially the execution of the Pelham offensive line.

"The line had its best over-all game of the season," Tohill said. Specifically, he cited the play of Jim Burrowbridge, Scott Leeman, Richard Tully, newcomer Ronny Fulton and Greg Frank who returned to the PHS offensive front this week after missing action with an injury.

"The line allowed us to just line up and run it right at Hokes Bluff," Tohill said, then added that backs Winfred McCall and Billy Fant got the job done carrying the football as well.

Fant rushed for 110 yards and two touchdowns while McCall added 90 yards and two scores in what Tohill called some tough running.

While the Panthers won the battle against Hokes Bluff on the field, Tohill indicated they may well have won the war during mid-week strategy sessions among the Pelham coaches.

"Kevin Crook and Jim Vakakes did an excellent job breaking down the Hokes Bluff films and letting our players know how to attack their different defenses," Tohill said. In addition, quarterback Mike Bramblett received commendations for his reading of the defensive plays at the line and checking off to the correct plays.

"It's nice when things work out just the way you plan them," Tohill said.

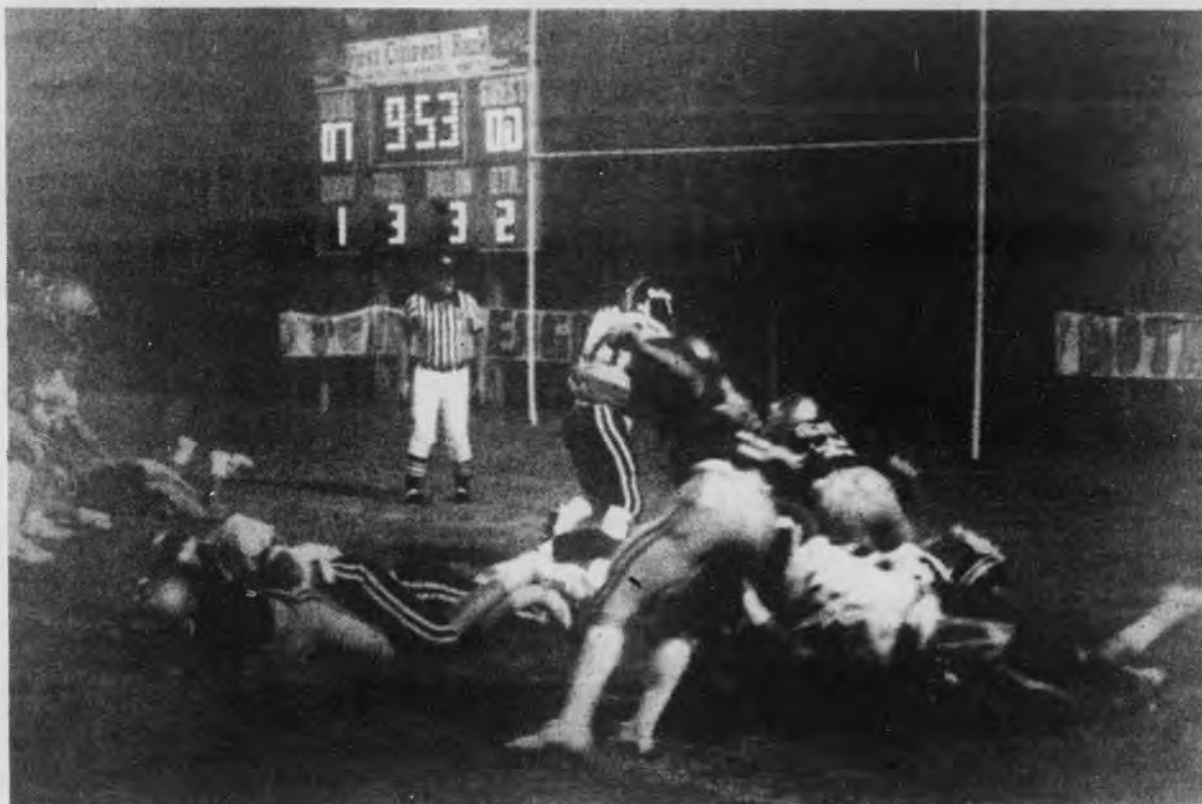

Defensively, linebackers Bret Jones and Winfred McCall led the Pelham defensive effort that Tohill called "pretty good overall." Jones recorded 13 tackles during the game while McCall added 11.

County runners win in Briarwood relays

The cross-country season in Shelby County got under way last weekend with the Briarwood Relays.

The relays attracted running teams from throughout the area and featured competition in two divisions, 4A and under and 5A-6A.

The meet was also run in a slightly different style, with runners on each squad ranked then competing in races with runners ranked similarly from each squad.

Shelby County teams took first place finishes in both the men's and women's competition in the 4A and under division.

Paced by stand-out performer Earl Lawson, the Vincent Yellow Jackets took first place in the men's competition.

Lawson finished with the division's best over-all time in the two mile run while Vincent's James Kern brought home the third best time over-all time in winning his race.

Other members of the Vincent team included Barry Mitchell, Clark Dates, Troy Datcher and Stephen Moore.

The Briarwood women won the 4A and under women's division paced by eighth-grader Weldon Moore.

Moore's race time was the best over-all in her division, while Sherri Boots won her race in a time that was the second best of the day for her division.

Other Briarwood team members included Elizabeth Mullins, Jennifer Buck, Catherine Carlson and Jeanette Ost.

Briarwood's men finished second in their division with Briarwood's Robert Welch recording the division's second best time of the day.

Other Briarwood team members included Nate Wilson, Eric Aasland, Brain Barrett, Hugh Thomas, Phong Le, Ian Parker and Craig Bayless.

Defense

Shelby County Wildcat defenders Stephen Archer (62) and others were responsible for limiting St. Clair County to less than 100 yards in total offense during their meeting in Columbiana Friday night. Even when the defense gave up a touchdown, Edmund Buie's blocked PAT put the game in overtime where the Cats won their fourth of the season. (photo by Tony Zagar)

Wildcats a winner in OT ballgame

When the going gets tough, the tough get going.

Shelby County High School defensive strong-man Edmund Buie led a cast of tough guys as the Wildcats escaped a St. Clair County trap with a 12-6 overtime win for homecoming last Friday in Columbiana.

The game would never have made OT, however, had Buie not blocked a St. Clair PAT attempt late in the fourth period to preserve a 6-6 tie.

There were a lot of tough guys in the SCHS game that coaches called "a little closer than we expected."

Ambrose Woods rushed for two touchdowns despite a still-tender ankle.

Tim Billingsley and Jasper English provided rushing firepower for the SCHS offense in which Woods participated little on Friday. English, in particular, played "up to his potential." "He is going to make quite a fullback someday," said SCHS coach Wimpy Withers.

Buie and Tony Revis combined to make some hard defensive hits throughout the ballgame.

SA beats Minor 20-0 CVA nips Southern

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Shelby Academy Raiders got back on the winning track and ran their season record to 4-1 with a 20-0 road win over Minor Christian Friday night.

The Raiders played a lot of youngsters in the win, but SA coach Dewayne Kervin said that didn't mean the Raiders played a lot of players. The youngsters, Kervin said, were all the Raiders had.

The Raiders took the field against Minor with five starters out of the line-up with various injuries.

Only 17 players put on the Shelby green and white to do battle against Minor. Fourteen of them, many sophomores and freshmen, played. They also played well enough to win.

Noticeable in their absence were runningbacks Mike Upton (knee) and Ray Smith (hip pointer), tackles Ched Burton (shoulder) and Danny Manuel (collarbone) and safety Wade Edmonds (concussion).

With a little luck, Kervin said, Upton, Smith, Burton and Edmonds could be ready to play this week, while Manuel is expected to be out for at least two more games.

Noticeable in their presence, however, were runningbacks Mike Thames and Ricky Shaw, tackles Mike Williams and Lee Brown and defensive end Shane Barnett.

Thames and Shaw rushed for 79 and 62 yards respectively in their first extended playing time of the season.

Williams and Brown, Kervin said, blocked very well and Barnett turned in some good defensive plays.

"All things considered," Kervin said, "they played very well and gave a good effort."

Add to that effort outstanding performances by senior quarterback Doug Thomas on offense and Vince Pickett and Kelly Tibbals on defense, and the Raiders formula of old-plus-new equaled a win.

Will the Raider youngsters have to repeat their good performances of the week past against a stronger Autauga team this week?

"It's just a wait and see kind of thing right now," Kervin said. "But we were pretty pleased with the way those young kids played. They gave good effort."

It "wasn't as pretty" as Coosa Valley coach John Niblett wanted it to be, but when Rebel fans look back on the Southern Academy game they'll only see a game in the win column.

"We played pretty well on defense," Niblett said of his team's 13-6 win, "but we continue to make little mental mistakes on offense that are hurting us."

But even the mental mistakes were charmed against Southern as the Rebels first touchdown came on a busted play.

"We were supposed to be faking an option and ended up running the option," Niblett said. "Mike Payne realized what was happening and made a great block on the corner that let Tad Niblett make the pitch to Kerry Shaw."

Shaw scored on a 25-yard jaunt and the Rebs were off to the races.

The mental mistakes also hurt CVA when, in the final period, the Rebs missed a pass coverage to give up Southern's only score.

"We're continuing to make the same mistakes over and over," Niblett emphasized, "and I want them to learn to do things right. We can't afford to be complacent against good football teams like the ones we play."

There were bright spots, however, in addition to the final score.

After giving up a turnover deep in their own territory, the Rebs closed out the first half with a good goal-line stand at their own three yard line.

STATS

CVA		Southern

Kerry Shaw played well enough on defense to earn area player of the week honors for his 11 individual tackles and five assists, including three sacks.

Though outweighed, the Rebel offensive line opened holes from the power eye formation CVA ran for the game, allowing the Rebs to rush for 194 yards and complete passes for another 40.

Mike Payne and Toby Green each intercepted passes as part of a Coosa Valley pass defense that limited Southern to only eight passing yards in 15 attempts.

"It's a win and we're glad to have it," Niblett said. "I just want them to keep working to be as good as they can be."

Vincent falls to Comer

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The scoreboard at Legion Field in Sylacauga didn't read B.B. Comer 25 - Vincent 0 until Friday night about 10 p.m.

But Vincent coach Harold Garrett and the Vincent Yellow-jackets felt they lost their first game of the 1985 campaign around 3 p.m. last Monday.

"That's when the TV folks called to tell us we were their team of the week," Garrett said. "The kids just never got their feet back on the ground after that. We told them they had to come back to earth, and I think they thought they had, but we just spent too much time looking at last week's game."

The Jackets, who had been riding the crest of the wave after their 20-14 win over Shelby County, came crashing back to earth after a 25-0 loss to Comer. The defeat was doubly damaging because it was an area loss and assured Comer of one of the two available play-off spots in 3A area seven.

"We spent a long time after the game talking about what had happened," Garrett said, "and the kids knew they had not played their best ballgame."

"You learn after you've been in this awhile not to yell and scream," he added. "They know what they did wrong and they feel as bad about it as anyone."

Garrett said, however, that he was confident the Jackets would "come up swinging" from their first knockdown.

STATS

98	rushing	124
44	passing	151
3	turnovers	3

"These kids don't like to lose," he said. "They will fight back."

The breaks that had been falling Vincent's way through four games deserted the Jackets in their fifth. Comer scored on a tipped pass early in the game, and Garrett said it seemed every big play from that point on fell the Tiger's way.

The Jackets also emerged from the contest with some bumps and bruises that make several starters questionable for the Jackets area date with Lineville this week.

Tight end/linebacker Derek

Whitfield, center Jimmy Howard, runningback Gary Peterson and tight end George McConico are sporting a variety of injuries, and Garrett said the availability of each would be a wait-and-see proposition this week.

Except for the final whistle, which Garrett said was the brightest part of the game, the Jackets also discovered they could pass the football in the Comer encounter.

"We still can't catch it," Garrett laughed later, "but I thought Robby (Green) threw the ball well."

In addition, Garrett praised the play of Jimmy Howard who continued to live up to his billing as the Jackets most consistent football player.

"We'll get our heads on straight," Garrett said, "then work hard this week to turn this into something positive."

SCORING SUMMARY

Comer's Tim Austin caught a tipped pass and scored two rushing touchdowns to lead the Tigers to their win.

Comer's final score came on a 15-yard pass reception by David Smith.

BCHS Lions fall to Ohatchee

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

For positive thinkers, losing is not really losing. It is more like character building.

So, to the positive thinker, the Briarwood Lions built character when they traveled to Ohatchee last Friday, built character to the tune of 13-0.

But, as far as BCHS coach Ricky Sayle is concerned, the Lions will have to wait and see whether their 13-0 ballgame will build character or just be a loss.

"You have to learn something and improve for it to be a character-building thing," Sayle said. "Right now, we have to learn to play football not just with the body but with the head as well."

Mental errors, Sayle said, made the difference in Briarwood's loss to Ohatchee. "We just weren't consistent," Sayle said. "The kids just weren't executing what they know they have to do to win."

Sayle could name no specific bright spots in the game, saying not to many good things come from a loss. He was, however, encouraged by his team's attitude in not giving up and playing hard.

"We'll just have to continue working to make something good come from this," Sayle said. "We're playing hard but we have to cross the bridge mentally to become a good football team."

Stats not available

Four fumbles and five dropped passes also went a long way in determining the game's outcome, Sayle saying his team cannot beat the caliber of teams the Lions will play and make so many mistakes.

SCORING SUMMARY

Rossie Brewster and Todd Mason scored on runs of three and five yards to give Ohatchee a 13-0 win over the Lions.

Leeds squeaks by Thompson

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Thompson Warriors' third loss of the 1985 season left THS coach Doug Wheeler disappointed, not for himself, but for his team.

"We got after them real well," Wheeler said, "but we just continue to give up the big play. You can't beat good football teams and give up big plays."

The Warriors effort showed. It showed in 130 yards rushing for Demetrius Gaiters. It showed in an offensive line that graded out a winner. It showed in a defense that "played very well," according to Wheeler. But the effort continued to come up short in big play situations.

Big plays like a 40-yard completion by Leeds on a third and 11 call late in the game. Those big plays, Wheeler said, are the kinds of plays Thompson enjoyed last season but has been bitten by this year.

Those big plays, Wheeler said, are the difference in Thompson's 2-3 record and a 4-1 mark that Wheeler said could have been within the Warriors grasp.

STATS
Leeds		Thompson
12	FD	16
205	rushing	282
81	passing	80
2	turnovers	2
30	penalty yards	30

"We had Leeds on the ropes in the third quarter then let them get away," Wheeler said. "Sometimes when that happens to a team once or twice, it gets to be a mental thing."

Last year, Wheeler said, "we played hard and waited for something good to happen. This year, we play hard but I think we're expecting something bad instead."

Despite the loss, Wheeler said his Warriors "were a better team against Leeds" than the Warriors of the week before.

"We'll just keep working to be better each week and maybe good things will start to happen."

SCORING SUMMARY

Thad Anderson gave Leeds a lead with a 54-yard TD run in the first quarter, but Thompson's Demetrius Gaiters tied the score with a 25 yard scamper in the second.

Early in the fourth period, Shane Horrell connected with Kevin Duke on a 35 yard TD pass to give Thompson a 13-7 lead.

The Green Wave scored twice in the fourth period, once on a long pass from Ralph Sertell to Joe Kelly then on a 37-yard Sertell field goal with seven seconds remaining to take a come-from-behind win.

Sergeant sparks UAB to victory

Paced by an all-tournament performance from former Thompson Lady Warrior Ashley Sargeant, the UAB Lady Blazer volleyball team rebounded from a loss to Montevallo to post a 4-0 record and win their own invitational tournament, the Pizza Hut-TV 42 Invitational.

The Lady Blazers took wins over Georgia Tech, Tennessee

Tech, South Alabama and Mississippi State enroute to the championship.

When asked to name a key player for the tourney, UAB coach Brenda Williams was hard-pressed, but finally narrowed her choices to two top performers, Patti Schroder and Sargeant.

"Really, the whole team played exceptionally well," said Williams, "but Patti kept us together in every match and Ashley put together the best tournament showing she has had for us since coming to UAB."

Schroder was named the tournament's MVP while Sargeant and Michelle Moses joined her on the all-tourney team.

Eagles still seek elusive first win

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

"Victory is still coming for the Calera Eagles on down the line," said Calera coach Danny Alverson. "I'm just hoping it will be this year."

The Eagles suffered their fifth loss of the season last Friday, 27-0 against Jemison. For the first time in 1985, the Eagles' first half play made it a ballgame that wasn't even close.

"We fell apart a little in the first half," Alverson said. "The kids were trying hard but it was just like chugging in the mud, you don't get anywhere."

Turnovers hurt the Eagles. Turnovers like an interception and then a fumble that led to the first Jemison touchdown.

Big plays hurt the Eagles. Big play like a 60-yard quarterback sneak for a touchdown by Jemison's Merritt Bowden.

"Until we learn to play 48 minutes of good, hard football," Alverson said, "we're going to keep looking for that first win."

"I hate it for these kids," Alverson added, "because they deserve better for the effort they have been giving."

STATS
Calera		Jemison
10	FD	14
131	rushing	303
49	passing	33
2	turnovers	2
38	penalty yards	75

Alverson did see good play from end David Barnett on offense and improved defensive line play from Shane Schroeder, Bret Holcombe, Byron Devinner and Kenny Richardson.

That, coupled with the determination Alverson continues to see from his team, makes practice continue to be something the Eagles look forward to.

"They aren't content with losing," Alverson said. "They are working hard to win a big one somewhere down the line."

It may not be this week, but Alverson believes their hard work will someday be rewarded.

SCORING SUMMARY

Merritt Bowden connected with Kenneth Underwood for a touchdown pass in the first period then raced 60 yards on a quarterback sneak to give Jemison a 14-0 lead at the half.

Quentin Smith and Bowden scored a touchdown each in the second half to give Jemison a 27-0 final margin.

Pelham Panthers

Brown sustained a shoulder injury and linebacker Troy Payne bruised a hip.

Tohill said both were doubtful for the Panthers meeting with Calera this week.

SCORING SUMMARY

Hokes Bluff took an early 7-0 lead when Mark Hunt scored on an 11-yard run in the first period.

Pelham answered with a three-yard touchdown from Billy Fant in the second quarter, but Mike Bramblett's conversion attempt failed and Pelham trailed 7-6 at the half.

Winfred McCall scored twice in the third period on runs of one and three yards to give the Panthers an 18-7 lead.

Pelham and Hokes Bluff traded fourth quarter scores,

Pelham's coming on Billy Fant's second TD run of five yards and Hokes Bluff scoring on a 12 yard pass from Ron Daugherty to David Moyer leaving the final 24-13.

Moody topples Chelsea for Hornets' first loss in," Winter said early this week, "but the kids responded when they had to." When the going gets tough, the tough get going.

SCORING SUMMARY

Ambrose Woods scored on a short run in the second epriod to give Shelby County a 6-0 halftime lead. St. Clair tied the ballgame with just under four minutes to play on a Joey Black pass reception from Brad Sanders. Buie blocked the PAT attempt for SCHS. Ambrose Woods scored his second TD of the night on a two-yard sweep during the first OT to make the final 12-6.

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor
They did the things they had to in order to win the ballgame," said Chelsea coach Mike Utter. Four times this year, Utter has said that about his Chelsea Hornets.

This week, he had to give that credit to Moody as they handed Chelsea its first loss of the 1985 season, 20-8.

"I didn't have my kids in the position to win the ballgame," Utter added, "but I will rectify that this week."

Utter plans to take his team "back to the drawing board" so that they can learn again what it takes to win football games. "We made some execution mistakes, and Moody did a good job of taking advantage of what we gave them."

Entering their fifth game of the season, Utter feared an effective Moody passing game, but the play of defensive secondary pesonnel Allan Moody, Lavoy Rich and Gene Brittnell proved to be one of the few bright spots in the loss.

STATS

Chelsea		Moody
7	FD	15
122	rushing	243
18	passing	64
2	turnovers	1
15	penalty yards	50

The Hornet defense did give up 243 yards on the ground, however, and included in that yardage were some big fourth down conversions.

"We never were able to get the ball from them in the second half," Utter said. "That was probably the difference in the ballgame."

After finishing the first half in a scoreless tie, the Hornets gave up a touchdown each in the third and fourth quarters before scoring on a kick-off return by Larry Offord.

The Hornet offense never got on track during the night, and Moody was able to punch across another insurance score late in the game.

"The loss hurt, but we have the kind of players ready to get back out on the practice field and improve," Utter said. "We'll try hard to get back on the winning track."

SCORING SUMMARY

Moody scored on runs of 19 yards by John Goodwin and three yards by Lance Brown to take a 14-0 lead early in the fourth quarter.

Chelsea's Larry Offord rambl- ed 85 yards with a kick-off to give the Hornets their only TD of the night. Lavoy Rich added the two-point conversion to cut the margin to 14-8.

Moody added an insurance score on Goodwin's three-yard run late in the final period.

Lady Falcs ranked in top five

For the first time in the school's history, the University of Montevallo has cracked the top five in the NAA's national volleyball poll. Released last Tuesday, the weekly coaches' poll has the Lady Falcons ranked fourth in the nation.

BYU-Hawaii, the team that eliminated UM from last year's national tournament, is in the top spot of the poll with Arkansas-Little Rock and Wisconsin-Milwaukee second and third.

Montevallo finished 7th in last season's final poll.

"We're certainly honored to be ranked so high," said UM coach Bev Warren who recently won her 300th game as a coach. "But I would like to see us there at the end of the season."

"You take these early rankings with a grain of salt," she added, "but our kids have certainly played well and it is a credit to our program."

Bulldogs lose to Bibb County

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

In a game with one big minus, Richard Gilliam saw a lot of positive things in his Montevallo Bulldogs Friday night.

"Except for the second quarter," Gilliam said, "we played our best football game of the year as a team."

MHS starting quarterback Slade Blackwell missed a couple of days of practice with a virus last week and was only about 85 percent healthy going into the game but had "his best half of football all year" in the second half against Bibb County.

For the third straight week,

Steve Spear "played star status" for the Dogs on both offense and defense, catching three passes and finishing among the team leaders in tackles with 11 hits, Gilliam said.

STATS

Montevallo	FD	Bibb
7	11	11
129	rushing	155
94	passing	145
3	turnovers	1
35	penalty yards	50

After working hard all week on offensive execution, Gilliam said his team made good strides in that department.

Now for the minus. Bibb County beat the Dogs 27-7 and dropped the MHS season record to 1-4.

"A lot of things pleased us," Gilliam said, "but we still made too many mental mistakes to win the ballgame."

"Our effort and attitude continues to be good," Gilliam added, "and we'll just work on a few more areas this week."

Individually, Gilliam cited the defensive play of Charles Towner, Norman Payne, Eric McCord and Spear.

Offensively, the MHS coach was pleased with Blackwell, Spear, Towner, Andy Anderson and Sean Roberts but was at times disappointed by the execution in the offensive line.

SCORING SUMMARY

Led by Sammy Bishop, Jerome Sims, Ricky Mitchell, Chris Young and Wesley Peoples, the Bibb County Choc-taws mounted a 27-0 lead midway through the fourth period.

Charles Deviner scored Montevallo's only touchdown on a four-yard run in the fourth period.

Slade Blackwell's PAT made the final 27-7.

UM places third in UNA golf tourney

by Kent Partridge
UM Sports Information

The University of Montevallo golf team put together a 36-hole total 607 to take third place in the University of North Alabama Classic last Thursday and Friday in Florence. The third place finish was the first time in the last two years that the Falcons have not won the fall classic.

UM senior Gordon Saunders was the Falcons lone representative on the all-tournament squad, firing a two-day total 145. Saunders rounds of 72 and 73 left him third on the individual leader board, four strokes behind medalist Brian Askew of UNA.

The next tourney on tap for the Falcons is the Nashville Village Intercollegiate October 14-15 in Nashville, Tennessee.

Shelby Academy continued from Page D-1

SCORING SUMMARY

Shelby Academy took a 7-0 lead in the first period when Doug Thomas scored on a three-yard run. Vince Pickett added the conversion for the Raiders.

Mike Thames scored on a four-yard run in the second quarter. Pickett's second PAT gave Shelby a 14-0 halftime lead.

Ricky Shaw capped the Raider scoring in the third period with a three-yard run to give Shelby a 20-0 win.

Lady Falcons continued from Page D-4

UM celebrated their first week in the nation's top five with three wins in four tries, bringing their season record to 18-3.

The Lady Falcons took wins over Alabama A&M, Christian Brothers and Xavier University before dropping a road game to Division I opponent Memphis State.

The Lady Falcons, including former Shelby County high school standouts Janiece Scoggins from Thompson and Denise Heisler of Pelham, continue their season at home October 8 play on the Rebels second possession to give Coosa Valley a 7-0 lead.

Robert Strickland added the Rebels second TD on a two-yard run before Southern connected on a long scoring pass late in the fourth period.

Barrett ropes wins

Calera's Shane Barrett is beginning to make a name for himself in the high school rodeo circuit.

Teaming with Dan Silva of Greensboro, Barrett won first place in team roping during a recent two-day High School Rodeo Association event in Selma.

Barrett followed up the strong performance in the high school association by winning a second and third place in team roping during a rodeo in Addison, Alabama. The third place finish came when he teamed with fellow Shelby Countian Terry Dennard, a Dry Valley rodeo cowboy.

Barrett plans to participate in all of the high school rodeo events this fall, aiming to win the belt buckle with which the rodeo association crowns its champions.

Montevallo firemen hold parade

With sirens screaming and emergency lights flashing, 23 fire engines and rescue vehicles made their way through downtown Montevallo Saturday.

The occasion for the display of firefighting and rescue apparatus was the city's seventh annual Fire Prevention Parade.

"It was one of our biggest parades," said Diana Baugh, who organized the event.

Baugh said a total of 60-65 units participated in this year's parade.

In addition to the fire engines and rescue vehicles, there were vintage cars, marching bands, Scout troops, a baton twirling group, fraternities and sororities from the University of

Johnson quits Alabaster post

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The chairman of Alabaster's Zoning and Planning Board resigned last Thursday because the city council rejected the advice of the board in a zoning decision.

In approving a zoning plan for the annexed portion of Alabaster, the council adopted a change from the plan recommended by the board.

The board had recommended agricultural zoning for 12 acres on Highway 119 south of Alabaster. An orchid-growing business on the property now is not in conflict with agricultural zoning.

The owner, however, asked that the land receive a community business zoning. Ron Johnson, zoning chairman, said the board objected because owner John Sarris did not offer specific plans for the land.

The council approved the change to community business zoning, however.

Johnson told the council the board had unanimously rejected that request for good reason.

The board's decision was made justly, but the council had no confidence in the board's abilities, Johnson said.

He then asked the council to honor his resignation. Mayor Roger Wheeler answered that the resignation would be considered.

"I'm through. It doesn't matter what they do," Johnson later asserted.

He said he felt so strongly about the community business zoning because it allows many uses "not altogether compatible with a residential area. Once zoned that way, neither the council nor anyone else has control."

Among the possibilities Johnson feared were nightclubs, liquor stores and bars. Other potential uses were for banks, service stations, recreational facilities and clothing stores.

To safeguard against such uncontrolled possibilities, Johnson said Sarris should have waited until he has a specific use in mind.

"Once he had a need for it, we would sit down with him and work it out," Johnson said.

Johnson was especially concerned about this piece of property because it is in a heavy subdivision area.

Mayor Roger Wheeler said, however, that such spot zoning for business is not that unusual. He said other property on Highway 119 nearby in residential areas has been zoned for business.

Wheeler said he was not surprised by Johnson's resignation, but by the manner in which he resigned. He said Johnson had spoken to him of a desire to resign and have more time for other things, but that Johnson had remained to see the zoning plan to its completion.

Johnson said he had been working on the plan for about four years.

"What it is supposed to do is to allow flexibility in zoning," Johnson said.

The original zoning was for a much smaller town, with few categories and very broad ranges of use within these categories.

In a larger city, choices such as zoning to allow a restaurant — but not one that serves alcoholic beverages — are desirable, he said.

The new plan has four business zones to give that flexibility. It also provides for a variety of single-family residential zoning, with different minimum lot sizes.

The plan zones areas "pretty

Thompson is new county tax assessor

Shelby County's new tax assessor took office last Tuesday.

J.R. "Bob" Thompson, a Republican, was sworn into office by Probate Judge Tommy Snowden in a ceremony held in the large courtroom of the Shelby County courthouse. Thompson succeeds Bobbie Reynolds.

Thompson feels he is well prepared for his new duties. He said he has spent many hours since his election in November, reviewing the state's tax and revenue code.

The new tax assessor has also attended several seminars dealing with various facets of his office.

And during the month of September, Thompson had on-the-job training. He was hired by the commission under a contract labor agreement to work in the office and familiarize himself with its operation and the duties he would be performing.

Although Thompson said it is still too early to make a judgment about any reorganization of the office, he said he has seen areas which call for special attention and possibly changes in structure.

"My number one priority," he said, "is to get the maximum use of the county's fair tax potential."

Thompson said he is going to try and improve information gathering techniques in order to get the tax derived from new construction and building improvement on a "more timely basis."

Expressing optimism about the continued growth of the county, Thompson said that, "with a better tax base, we can offer better government services to our residents."

Thompson said he anticipates the increasing workload in his office may necessitate an increase in staff.

"My door is always open to the public," he said, "and I'll be glad to answer questions about property taxes anyone may have."

As for being a Republican, Thompson said his party affiliation has no bearing on the way he runs the office.

"We're here to work for the people," he emphasized. "After all, they're our employers."

Prior to being elected tax assessor, Thompson was an executive recruiter, a business he'd worked at for the past eight years. He has also been state manager in Tennessee for the advertising division of Southern Bell, and regional manager for All-State Insurance.

Thompson and his wife, Mary, are residents of Alabaster.

Alabaster floats $1 million bond issue

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The Alabaster Industrial Development Board is issuing $1 million in bonds to purchase the old Siluria Mills Building and lease it to Allied Flexible Products.

The company will be responsible for the payment of the bond issue and the building will be sold to the company for $1 after the bonds are repaid in 20 years, said City Attorney Sonny Conwill.

The agreement was approved by the board at a meeting last Monday night. The city council had approved the plan the Thursday before.

The Helena company, owned by Harold Leader, weaves bags used in mining and in work with explosives.

The expansion into Alabaster may bring as many as 1,000-3,000 jobs in the next three or four years, according to owner Harold Leader. The immediate number of jobs to be filled will be 30, he said.

The Helena factory operates 17 looms and employs more than 100 people.

One of the reasons the Alabaster building attracts him is because of the fire protection offered by its sprinkler system, he said. He also plans to "make

RMS presented award in nation's capital

The climax to the news which reached Riverchase Middle School Principal Henry Clark in June, came last week in Washington, D.C.

Following a speech by President Ronald Reagan at the White House, Clark accepted one of the awards presented to the nation's outstanding schools.

School superintendent Ellie Glasscox, who accompanied Clark and Board President Barbara Whitman to the nation's capital, complimented the principal and his staff for doing an excellent job.

"This honor has brought recognition not only to Riverchase," he said, but to the whole Shelby County School System. "People will be able to see, on a national basis, the outstanding job our teachers and principals are doing for the boys and girls of Shelby County."

Riverchase was one of 277 schools chosen from among 766 schools which applied for the recognition as a model school.

Of the schools which applied, 509 were public, 257 private. The public schools were rated from a list developed by the U.S. Department of Education containing 14 attributes of success and seven indicators of effective school programs.

The attributes included clear academic goals, high expectations, order and discipline, teachers' leadership and community support and involvement.

Among the indicators of an effective program were achievement test scores, minimum competency test scores, numbers enrolling in college, student and teacher attendance rates and suspension and expulsion rates.

The new budget approved by the Calera City Council includes a five percent raise for city employees, an estimated $280,000 street resurfacing project and two police cars.

Another addition over last year's budget is $90,000 earmarked for repayment of the debt from a new sewer treatment plant, said City Clerk Lemoyne Payton. The funds come

Parent turnout is lauded

Close to 6,000 parents and other relatives of Shelby County school students attended September open house events at elementary, middle and high schools throughout the county.

School superintendent Ellie Glasscox said this was the most successful of the open house events held during the past five years with 43 percent participation by at least one parent of the

from a one percent sales tax pledged to repay the debt. This year's budget is $1,106,975, up $353,075 over last year's $753,900 budget, Payton said.

The city also added five new firefighters to its volunteer department, including the first woman, Debra Harkins, James Burnett, Scotty Wells, Bryan Benedict and Rob Kiker are the new members.

As part of the celebration of Fire Prevention Week, the department will have a parade Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

Council members also asked Street Superintendent David Jones to destroy an old sewer lift building on 9th Street. Councilman W.B. Watts said the building could be dangerous because "kids or dogs or anything could get in there."

At the request of the Calera Post Office, Watts asked Jones to upgrade the space behind the post office used as a circular drive.

Calera Elementary School won the competition for elementary schools for the fourth year in a row with 330 of the school's 401 students (82.29) being represented by at least one parent.

A total of 4,004 of the system's 6,403 elementary students (62.53) were represented this year.

Riverchase won the middle school division with 56.29 percent parent participation, and Pelham was the best represented high school with 23.07 percent participation.

Glasscox praised the efforts of Calera Elementary School Philip Haynie, who served as chairman of this year's event, his committee and other school principals who worked to make the event successful.

MMI promotes Bryant, Billings

Reuben T. Bryant has been elected senior vice president and treasurer of M.M. Administrators Corp., an affiliate of Marketing Management, Inc. (MMI).

A second election was Robert N. Billings to senior vice president of MMI's Property-Casualty division.

Both changes, which became effective October 1, were announced by Robert W. Sosna, C.E.O. of MMI and MMA.

Bryant will immediately assume executive and operational responsibilities for MMA, the Life and Health arm of MMI.

Billings will have operational responsibilities for Property and Casualty.

"Billings brought a heavy P & C insurance background from Reliance to join MMI in June 1985," Sosna said.

Bryant previously served as the corporation's controller.

MMI-MMA has long been recognized as the pioneer of commercial mass-marketing in the insurance industry.

Zoning

much to existing uses," he said. Even when this is not the case, an existing use for which land is not zoned can continue under a grandfather clause.

The plan is divided into two parts. One replaces the zoning ordinance for the original city limits.

The second part of the zoning plan involves first-time zoning of the annexed area running beside Interstate-65 to the east, a little south of County Road 80 south down Highway 119 and bounded by County Road 17 to the west.

The council recently approved the first part. The second part was approved at last Thursday's meeting, resulting in Johnson's resignation.

Johnson had been chairman of the zoning board in a previous term around 1970 and had helped with the original ordinance. He resigned in 1975 over a dispute with that council.

Before a piece of property was zoned for apartments, Johnson said it needed work for adequate drainage. When this was not done, he resigned in protest. Johnson said the subsequent flooding and mud problems proved him right.

He returned to the zoning board around 1981 to work with the rezoning plan at the request of the previous council.

Although the council did not officially accept the resignation, Wheeler did not anticipate any change. "If he still wants to resign, I'll honor that," he said.

The public also had the opportunity to inspect Caraway Hospital's Lifesaver I helicopter, which was on display at the Dixie Youth Ballfield following the parade.

The vehicle is a 1969 rebuilt

Mahan said the engine was acquired from a small town in New Jersey and should provide six to eight years of service.

On the runs the truck has been used on, the chief said it has performed beyond expectations.

The superintendent noted there are many outstanding schools in the county in addition to Riverchase, and he said he hoped others would seek this recognition in the future.

All three were honored in August by the State Department of Education at an awards program in Montgomery.

Columbiana investigates zoning violation

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

Residents of Columbiana's Triple Springs subdivision asked the city council for help Thursday evening in enforcing zoning regulations.

Barry Liles, the spokesman for the 10 to 12 residents who attended the meeting, said it is believed that a person who has bought a home in the development intends to use it for business purposes.

Liles asked the council for help with the enforcement of zoning regulations since the area is zoned residential.

Residents have heard, Liles said, that Freda Polk had purchased a home in their subdivision in which to keep elderly people who would pay for their care.

Sympathizing with the residents, Mayor Buck Falkner recalled that Polk had earlier appeared before the council to ask about a change in zoning for a house she had intended to purchase for that purpose closer to town.

She was referred to the zoning commission, the mayor said, but subsequently withdrew the request.

Liles said he was worried about the long range effect of a business being allowed to operate in the subdivision.

City Attorney Bill Justice said Polk told him she and her husband would be living in the house along with an aunt they were caring for and one or two other elderly people.

"It appears that the situation has changed from what I was told," Justice said.

Council members William Rasco and Jessie Jones said they opposed the establishment of a business in the subdivision.

"This will be a money losing situation for (W.C.) Billingsley (subdivision developer) unless it's corrected," Falkner said. "People aren't going to want to buy houses out there."

The mayor instructed building inspector James Palmer to look into the matter and find out if the home were going to be used for a business.

Flea markets were also discussed by the council, and Assistant Police Chief Larry Offord was instructed to close down those without a license.

Falkner told the council he had had complaints from city merchants about individuals hurting their trade by selling furniture and other merchandise on the lot formerly occupied by Bill Strickland's car dealership.

The city was also being hurt, Falkner said, because a two cent sales tax was not being collected.

Offord was instructed to see that the flea market was discontinued until the person in charge of leasing the space purchased a business license for that purpose.

City Clerk Mary Largin said anyone applying for that type of license must first get the approval of the council.

Special services is a federally funded academic support program for first generation college students who meet financial requirements or are handicapped.

Allen, a 1983 graduate of Shelby Academy, is a junior majoring in speech and minoring in business.

Dawson is also a 1983 graduate of SA and a junior at UM. She is majoring in social work with a minor in psychology.

The 12 students selected to serve on the advisory board must have been active in the program and above average in academic achievement. They serve one year terms with an option for a second term.

Memorial fund established

Memorial funds have been established for two North Shelby County men who were killed in a recent two-car crash. Friends of Carl Stroud and deputy Louie Cosby set up the memorial funds at SouthTrust Bank in an effort to help the families of the two men. The accident also claimed the life of Stroud's 10-year-old granddaughter Becky Bailey from Jefferson County.

Contributions to the separate funds may be made at any SouthTrust branch.

For further information, call Mary Bowman at 988-0086.

Alabaster employees work additional hour

Alabaster city offices will be open an hour later, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. instead of closing at 4 p.m., starting October 7.

The change was made by the city council last Thursday in an effort to comply with the Fair Labor Standards Act, a law that did not apply to local governments until last April.

The law, regulating hours and wages of employees, was extended to local governments in a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision.

Employees were not working a full 40-hour week under the old hours of operation.

The new hours apply to all city employees except fire and police, who will still work shifts.

The council also approved six street lights for Bermuda Hills, Willow Glen and Hamlet subdivisions.

West Haven Garden Club meets at Plyler home

every effort to make the mill look as it used to."

Leader said the building, constructed around 1895, appealed to his romantic nature.

He said his company initiated the practice of circular weaving from petroleum products in the United States. In the Middle East and Europe, where paper is more scarce, the practice is more common.

"You're looking at a guy who started in his garage," Leader told visitors at a public hearing on the bond issue last Thursday.

The hearing was part of the regularly scheduled council meeting.

Leader said the Helena factory would remain in use because it would be too expensive to close it.

Conwill said the purchasing and leasing by the Industrial Development Board is not unusual, but just a means of financing that cities use to help bring business. Neither the city nor the board will be liable for the bonds, he said.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

I remember

I remember the way they looked: Bennett Morris, parked under a catapa tree on the Talladega side of the river, with a gully-washer on the water, two minutes after the catapa leaves filled up with rain and dumped it on our heads...

Folks, dozens of folks, stopping on the way out of the dance hall in Helena, while Paul Longshore checked every hat to see if one of them belonged to Skillet Bird.

Clyde Hurt, parading down the main street in Calera, after Newala had won the county tournament, two seconds after an egg somebody threw popped him on the side of his head...

P. Baer, when the little black boy who couldn't talk plain wanted an 'ap, something, we later found, to wear on his head...

Tag Elliot, sitting on the cat-bird seat behind a little scope of trees, blasting a killdeer because Skillet Bird and Wade Maske yelled a dove was coming out of the trees.

Marcus Polk and Cotton Lester and Hector Lyons watching a man drop trade tickets out of a plane, and half of them settling on Frank Norris' Shelby County Advocate building, the one place in town you couldn't go to get them...

Uncle Jim Morrow, sitting on the slab seats under a tent, laughing like all get out, while the Cook Player's comedian told his funny jokes...

Jim Merrell, hunting bobwhites in Harvey Seale's pasture, calling to tell Pocket he had a rabbit in his rabbit box, and flushing a covey of birds Dan had pointed over a little rise...

Mollie Brasher, with his pop at the Baptist church where the folks were praying for rain during a drought, waiting while his pop looked under every seat and behind every door, and then said, "Let's go, boy, there's not an umbrella in the place..."

Skillet Bird, up to his ears in mischief, two minutes after Professor J.R. Kimbrough held him by his hair and gently patted his cheek and then said, "I wish I had a rock..."

The weekly Good Morning column, written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member FDIC.

Alabama Scene

by Bob Ingram

Judgments are hot debate

It takes no crystal ball to predict what one of the hottest topics of debate will be in the 1986 regular session of the Legislature. It will center on efforts to put some sort of lid on the huge judgments being handed down in lawsuits.

The battle will be one of heavyweights. In one corner will be the physicians, business and industry, and insurance companies; in the other will be the politically potent Alabama Trial Lawyers Association.

There has been an epidemic of record-breaking judgments in lawsuits in Alabama in recent years. Perhaps the most stunning came 10 days ago when a jury in Clay County ordered State Farm Insurance to pay $25 million in damages to a man who claimed the company defrauded him of $10,000. A few days after that a case was filed in Montgomery seeking $110 million from a Texas contracting firm in a case involving the death of a 12-year-old girl.

No group is more upset about the increasing number of lawsuits...and huge awards...than the physicians. A series of stunning malpractice judgments have been handed down by juries and this has in turn led to an enormous increase in premiums for malpractice insurance.

Already pre-filed for the regular session is a bill sponsored by Rep. Perry Hooper Jr. (R-Montgomery) which is intended to curtail lawsuits. Among other things, it would repeal the "scintilla rule," which says if a plaintiff can show even the smallest evidence of wrongdoing, the issue can be submitted to a jury.

Hooper has a second bill that would allow the defendant to recover court costs and expenses from the plaintiff in the event it is determined that the original lawsuit was frivolous.

Odds and Ends...Perhaps detecting a change in the thinking of the people, Gov. George C. Wallace has adopted a new posture regarding a statewide lottery. Wallace previously had been unalterably opposed to a lottery, but he now says he would support such a plan if it required approval of the voters before going into effect...Lt. Gov. Bill Baxley obviously means business about running for governor. He is already making television commercials to be used in the '88 campaign...The bills have begun to come in and the protests have already been heard concerning the junket 58 members of the Alabama Legislature make in August to Seattle (and points in-between) for the National Conference of State Legislatures. The tab has already topped $120,000 and more bills are yet to come in. Some legislators took very circuitous routes to Seattle (taking their families along) and then filed for their 22 cents a mile for the entire trip. Of course they received their legislative pay as well.

Hospital tax repeal long overdue

Letter to the Editor:
Repeal of the four mill hospital tax is long overdue. When the people who wanted to build the hospital were trying to get us to vote for the tax, we were told that when the bonds were repaid, the tax would be taken off. We assumed they meant the original bond issue.

Before the original issue was retired, a second bond sale was made for expansion, which further obligated the tax. Very soon after that, the hospital board wanted another expansion, which meant another bond issue.

Now I understand the total issue is $12 million drawing six percent or better. That figures around $700,000 every 12 months.

I can't see how the hospital can break even with the reduction in the Medicare payments and the hospital running about 70 percent full. Not only that, but you have family health care service popping up everywhere. The bottom line is that the hospitals all over the country are in trouble.

Just this week, all hospital stock on the New York Exchange dropped. The A.C.A. chain of hospitals dropped $7 per share after it released its financial statement.

I would only agree to sell the hospital as outlined in Rep. John Tanner's plan: set up a trust fund for the indigent and tie the balance down.

I would like to see more letters regarding this subject.

Bridge work creates Highway 13 hazard

Letter to the Editor:
As a citizen of Shelby County and a resident of Highway 13, I want to report that two bridges are out — not one bridge, but two on the same road — leaving the people on this highway with only one way to get in and out.

We have had two emergencies. They were both life and death emergencies. The emergency vehicles had to go 12 miles around to get to the ones who were hurt because the bridges were out. The children have to ride the school bus for two hours morning and night. The people of this community are in distress because of the bridges being out.

If one bridge at a time had been taken out and fixed, it wouldn't be so bad for us. They took out both bridges and don't work on either one too much.

The people of this community will remember the next voting day who was responsible for having the bridges taken out on Highway 13 and just leaving them out and not caring whether they are working on them or not. This leaves us in a desperate situation when we have a life and death emergency. Please fix our bridges.

Afghanistan abuses need to be noticed

Letter to the Editor:
Afghanistan brings thoughts of Rudyard Kipling's picturesque portrayal of British India — but the reality today is hardly romantic. Instead, despite massive neglect by our national media, uncontradicted witnesses put even the exaggerations of American cruelties of Vietnam in the shade.

Due to my own diplomatic service in Asia, I am no stranger to the shock effect massive human misery can have on us, and the temptation to turn the eyes and mind away. But this tendency to ignore what we do not wish to accept does not fully explain the selective emphasis our media spokesmen place on similar lesser problems created elsewhere by non-communists. Those interested can learn that Russia's six year invasion of Afghanistan well matches the worst ruthlessness of Hitler, which we so lovingly continue to detail — perhaps to avoid looking at today's brutalities.

In Afghanistan, the invaders are reliably reported to have resorted to indiscriminate bombing and shelling of civilians, along with destruction of the economy, including the food supply — going well beyond our actions against Nazi Germany, without our motive of destroying a dangerous enemy. Further, they are reliably reported to drop explosives designed as toys to booby trap children. When the policy of taking no prisoners is added, even those who voluntarily surrender, it seems clear that the Soviets are indeed engaged in genocide — to eliminate the entire class of Afghans sheltering the freedom fighters. The jovial new Russian leader has shown his other face by intensifying these attacks in the short time since he took over.

The intriguing question is, why the aversion of our national media against highlighting the horrors of this communist invasion of a free people, as opposed to the spotlight they place on other dictators. For example, when is the last time you heard the Russian war against Afghanistan even mentioned on any of the networks.

Certainly there are difficulties and dangers in getting details out of war-ravaged Afghanistan. But the media have braved similar problems elsewhere, and they largely ignore even the devastating facts already known about this war.

It is hard to avoid the conclusion that our national media share a bias which makes them more tolerant of communist suppression and atrocities than for comparable action by others. As has been said, they must be looking at the promises of communism even while ignoring the ugly truth in Afghanistan and elsewhere.

Pelham approves patio home proposal

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

The Pelham City Council took steps this week to bring 80 additional housing units into the downtown area of the city.

Houston South Development Incorporated and National Heritage Mortgage are seeking to bring 80 luxury patio homes to a 20 acre parcel just off US 31 near the old national guard armory site in Pelham.

The homes would be built with bond monies made available by the federal government's Downtown Re-development Act and would allow persons meeting income qualifications to get into housing units with very little up-front money.

For the units to be built under the Re-development Act, they must be overseen by an authority of the city, and the Pelham Council created such an authority in its Monday meeting.

The council appointed Bob Freels, Dave Lewis and Eddie Jowers to the Downtown Re-development Authority which will in effect own the units until the bond issue that financed them is re-paid in a three-year period.

Billy Hill, one of the principals in Houston South Developers, explained that the patio home units would give buyers three principal advantages.

Developed in more traditional means.

Third, persons buying a home can occupy it while having time to save their down-payment.

Pelham mayor Bobby Hayes said the units would be a plus for the city.

"It will allow people who could afford a nice home but don't have a ready down payment to be able to buy a house," Hayes said.

Still in the initial planning stages, the patio homes project is expected to be made available to the public at large within the next month.

Developers would like to begin the project before the end of the calendar year.

Moratorium lifted on Pelham water use

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

The Pelham City Council lifted a moratorium on the unnecessary use of water within the city during Monday night's council meeting.

At the same time, the council took steps to begin seeking a solution to water problems that have plagued the city and forced limitation of water use such as the measure that has been in effect in Pelham since mid-summer.

At the request of director of public works Ken Holler, the council voted to hire a consultant to study the Pelham water supply and current system.

The study should provide recommendations for both current and future water use in Pelham and will cost between $11,000 and $15,000.

"What we are looking at is professionalizing our water system instead of fixing it every day with a lick and a prayer," Pelham city councilman Ken Maynard asked of the study.

Holler said he felt the study and ensuing recommendation could do just that, and added that the study would contain projections and suggestions for a Pelham's water needs over a 20-year period.

"We'll probably save what the study costs by making the right decisions about our water system after the study," councilwoman Beverly Hall added.

Only $1,000 is required as initial payment at the time of signing a contract on the home. Purchasers then — in effect — lease the home through the three years of the bond period before having to make their down payment. Rent paid does not specifically go toward the purchase price but does accumulate toward repayment of the bond.

Because developers are not speculating on the success of the venture — 80 percent of the units must be pre-sold before construction begins — and because there are certain advantages to the bond issue financing, Hill said the patio home units will cost "substantially less" than comparable units

The homes will range from 1,100 to 1,600 square feet in two, three and four bedroom plans. Homes will begin in the mid-$40's and range to $60,000.

In other business, the Pelham council:

- lifted the water moratorium that had been in effect since mid-summer;
- hired a consultant to study the city's water system;
- reminded residents of Chandalor to move rocks from the city's right-of-way at the edge of their yards;
- proclaimed the month of October as Buy American Month in conjunction with a campaign currently being conducted by Wal-Mart stores.

Sleepy drivers are dangerous too

If a drunk driver crashes and kills someone, chances are good he will be charged with vehicular homicide, assault or murder. We would all agree that a drunk driver is definitely an unfit driver.

However, how about a fatigued or sleepy driver; even one on heavy medication? Last year in Alabama, drivers going to sleep at the wheel caused about 45 fatalities and 1,666 accidents involving 1,041 injuries. Thirty-four of these deaths were of the driver.

If a person gets behind the wheel knowing he is sleepy or unfit to drive and crashes into someone, is he not, perhaps, just as guilty as one under the influence of alcohol?

Some of the things you can do to avoid going to sleep at the wheel are:

- Avoid driving when sleepy.
- Have a relief driver.
- Take frequent breaks.
- Carry coffee or soft drink in a vacuum bottle.

- Avoid using alcoholic beverages.
- Avoid driving while on medication that may make you sleepy.
- Carry a wet washcloth to wipe your face.
- Plan long trips in segments.
- Buy an electronic buzzer to place behind your ear if you are prone to sleep.
- Consider giving up your driving privileges if you have a medical disorder that causes uncontrolled sleep.
- Radio playing may help to keep you awake, especially narration.

- Allow some fresh air to come into the car through an open window.
- Check your vehicle for exhaust leaks which may emit carbon dioxide.

If you do nod off and wake up on the shoulder of the road, never jerk the wheel sharply to get your vehicle back on the road as this may cause your vehicle to veer into the opposite lane. Bring it back on the road slowly and in control.

National 4-H Week October 6-12

October 6 through 12 is 4-H Week with the theme, "4-H For Youth For America." This theme is central to the concept of 4-H. This program helps young people get knowledge and basic skills that they can use as adults. It's a solidly-based educational program, with the professional abilities of all state land-grant institutions and other organizations such as the USDA behind it. In Alabama, about 8,000 adult volunteer leaders help guide and direct 4-H Club members. Involved parents share their skills and knowledge, and private donors supply money as well as professional know-how. The whole concept of 4-H is based on learning by doing — as

4-H projects reinforce theories and book knowledge the youths learn in school. For example, if a young person reads about photography, he can actually take pictures and work in a darkroom through 4-H projects. And 4-Hers have the chance

In case of fire...

Charlie Warren is ready in North Shelby

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

Charlie Warren became a fire fighter in a roundabout way.

"I never had a burning desire to become a fireman," says Warren, a firefighter with the North Shelby County Fire Department.

Smiling at the play on words, Warren explains that he started out with the intention of becoming a policeman.

Although he was hired by the Birmingham Police Department, a hiring freeze closed the door on the job.

Warren says the CETA program, which was still operating in 1978, provided him with the opportunity to learn to become a firefighter with the Maytown Fire Department.

He also took EMT training. "I've always enjoyed science and anything having to do with medicine," he says, "so I continued on and became a paramedic."

Warren found employment with an ambulance service and then obtained a job with the Bluff Park Fire Department.

When the opportunity to join North Shelby came along in 1980, he jumped at it. "There was more opportunity for me here," he explains, "both in terms of the department's growth and better pay."

Even though he's in a different line of work now, Warren continues to work on his degree in criminal justice.

Greg Winslett will respond in Montevallo

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

Greg Winslett might be sitting in class, working in a dental lab, or be fast asleep in the middle of the night, but when his pager goes off, his instantaneous reaction is to head for the Montevallo Fire Station.

Although he's only 23, the University of Montevallo student has been involved with the city's fire fighting unit for eight years.

He explains that he began as a secondary firefighter when he was 15 and then moved up to the volunteer unit four years later.

"I'm proud to be with this fire department," Winslett says. It gets better all the time."

He noted that the city's fire insurance rating was a seven when he joined the secondaries. "Now we're a five," he says with pride.

The Montevallo Fire Department is also proud of Winslett. He was named the department's Fireman of the Year in 1983, and last year, the secondary unit voted to call the award going to the outstanding member of their group, the Greg Winslett award.

"That was very special to me," says Winslett, who was the group's advisor for three and a half years, and himself the recipient of the award in 1980.

Although he's majoring in psychology at UM, Winslett isn't ruling out the possibility of becoming a fulltime firefighter if the opportunity presents itself.

In order to be prepared in case he doesn't find a position in his field, Winslett took the 240 hour minimum standards course last

Pelham classmates become fire marshals

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

In 1978, two Pelham High school students decided to join the Pelham Junior Volunteer Fire program.

Mike Ellis and Steve Powell were acquaintances at the time after taking a couple of classes together, but they became friends through their common interest in the fire service.

When each turned 18, each became a regular Pelham volunteer.

Eventually, Ellis moved to Alabaster where he became a volunteer with the Alabaster Fire Department while Powell continued to volunteer at Pelham.

In 1981, the City of Alabaster hired Mike Ellis as a firefighter. In 1981, the City of Pelham hired Steve Powell as a firefighter.

In 1983, Mike Ellis became Alabaster's fire marshal.

In 1984, Steve Powell did the same in Pelham.

In 1985, two school friends help each other out "as often as possible" as they work to prevent fires in neighboring cities.

Steve calls me about some things and I call him about others," Ellis said. "We have a good working relationship."

"I guess our being friends has made things a little easier," Powell said. "But all of the fire marshals in the area are good to work with."

There "isn't much time" for the two, both married now, to socialize, Powell said, but they remain friends.

Powell spends most of his free time with wife Glenda and their almost three-month-old daughter Elizabeth.

Ellis spends most of his free time with his wife Cindy and their almost three-month-old cocker spaniel, Madison.

Ellis and Powell are friends through twin careers

Smoke detectors save lives

by Lori Vinson
Staff Writer

Smoke detectors have made their way into homes in the last 10 years and have become a major means of preventing fire and deaths.

"Smoke detectors have cut fire deaths significantly and has lowered the amount of damage done to homes," said Mike Ellis, Alabaster Fire Marshal. "Two-thirds of the city probably have smoke detectors."

The state of Alabama has now made it a law that builders install electric smoke detectors into new homes built after Aug. 1, 1985.

"Any house that is built before Aug. 1, 1985 is allowed to have a battery operated smoke detector but must make an annual check to make sure the batteries are not dead," said Ellis. "In new houses the electric smoke detectors must be outside every immediate sleeping area and there must be one on every level or floor of the house, including the basement."

Fire safety is common sense

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

A couple of years ago, Mike Ellis was in Birmingham working with a fellow fire marshal when that marshal was called to investigate a fire fatality.

A grandmother and her two grandchildren, one three years old and the other four, were all killed.

"I can't erase that picture from my mind," Ellis said. "You couldn't tell which child was which."

Alabaster Fire Marshal Mike Ellis takes fires personally.

"My job is to make people aware of the dangers of fire," Ellis said. "Most of all, I don't want to see anybody get hurt in a fire."

There has not been a fire fatality in Alabaster since Ellis became the city's fire marshal in 1983. Ellis hopes the trend continues, and tries to educate everyone within the city to make sure they have the best chance possible to beat fire.

"Sixty percent of the fires nation-wide could be prevented," Ellis said. "That is why I go to every conference that I can attend to learn the latest in fire prevention techniques and practices. I can't teach the people here if I don't learn myself."

Once armed with the latest information, Ellis talks to "any age group that will listen", spreading tips on fire prevention. Though the presentations vary among age groups, the message is always the same... when dealing with fire, it is better to be prepared and safe than to be sorry.

"Fire prevention is really nothing but good, common sense and good housekeeping," Ellis said. "In a majority of the businesses I inspect, most citations could be avoided by a good maintenance program or regular cleaning and straightening."

Unlike the children Ellis deals with on a frequent basis, adults do not get as excited about fire prevention and being reminded that safety should come first in any situation.

When the adults stop to think, however, about the property damage that can be avoided by fire prevention measures in addition to the personal injury that can be avoided, fire prevention — Ellis insists — makes sense and should be important to everyone.

"We take this job seriously," Ellis said. "Every goal we have is aimed at saving lives."

Ellis is in the process of developing a home fire safety check-list for the people of Alabaster, the latest in his efforts to educate them on fire prevention. Other safety tips are available from local insurance agents.

Ellis also offered several fire prevention and safety tips for adults in Shelby County to consider during national Fire Prevention Week.

•Fire Extinguishers around the house
Kitchen: one BC rated extinguisher for grease fires.

All other areas: An ABC rated extinguisher is suitable for all other types of fires.

Fire extinguishers of this type today may be either a multi-purpose dry chemical or Halol (a gaseous fire suppressant).

•How to handle home fires
First, and most important: get everyone out!

If the fire is small, try to put it out. If you do not think you can extinguish the fire, do not risk injuring yourself or others trying to play hero.

If you can't put out the fire, try to confine it to the area which it is in. This can be done as simply as closing a door.

If the house is full of smoke, CRAWL OUT; do not stand up and run out. Smoke is the leading cause of fire related deaths in the United States today.

Just remember, SAFETY is first.

Do not delay calling the fire department.

Don't panic: keep calm.

•Preventative measures

Have a smoke detector installed on every level of your house outside the bedrooms. State law.

Develop and practice home fire escape plans. Always have at least 2 ways out of every room. Sleep with your bedroom door closed.

Being a good housekeeper is one of the best ways to prevent fires.

After cleaning house, do not store junk and trash in closets, attics, under stairs, by water heaters, furnaces, or keep it in a pile in a corner somewhere.

Always keep flammable liquids in approved containers only and NEVER store near a heat source.

Keep a watchful eye on smokers.

Stop, drop and roll if your clothes are on fire.

Never overload electrical outlets.

Use heating devices properly. Never place combustibles near a heat source.

Military news

Air Force Reserve Airman Antonio D. Haggins, son of Raymond and Eunice Y. Haggins of Montevallo, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force security police specialist course at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

Graduates of the course studied systems security operations, tactics and weapons training and earned credits toward an associate degree.

Haggins is scheduled to serve with the 3800th Air Base Wing at Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama.

He is a 1984 graduate of Montevallo.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Richmond, Jr. of Montevallo recently visited their son Midshipman Fourth Class Richard Richmond during Parents Weekend at the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland.

Midshipman Richmond, who graduated in 1985 from Shelby Academy is one of the 1,375 members of the Academy Class of 1989 who reported to Annapolis in July for six weeks of intensive military training.

The new midshipmen were selected from among 14,014 applicants.

Newly promoted Spec. 4 Richard W. Knighton, son of Richard and Margaret E. Knighton of Leeds, has been decorated with the Army Achievement Medal at Fort George G. Meade, Maryland.

The Achievement Medal is awarded to soldiers for meritorious service, acts of courage or other accomplishments.

Knighton is an administrative specialist with the U.S. Army Garrison and is married to the former Donna Smith of Trussville.

Private Jeffery T. Smith, son of Thomas E. Smith of Leeds and Margaret Smith of Vestavia, has completed basic training at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Cadet Albert A. Silvani, son of retired Army Chief Warrant Officer Albert J. and Carolyn Silvani of Alabaster, has completed a U.S. Air Force ROTC training encampment at McConnell Air Force Base, Kansas.

Field training, attended by the cadets normally between their second and third year of college, gives an opportunity to evaluate each student's potential as an officer, Air Force spokesmen said.

The field training is four weeks, but cadets in the two-year ROTC program receive an additional two weeks of training in the development of air power and the contemporary Air Force.

Silvani is a student at the University of Montevallo and is attending ROTC at Samford University.

Jazzing it up

Two University of Montevallo art students volunteer their talents to help D.A.Y.'s Super Jazz Concert, scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 13, at 7:30 p.m. at UM's Palmer Auditorium. Melanie Poole, kneeling, and Rickey Mims are producing a 12 x 12 foot D.A.Y. logo stage backdrop. D.A.Y. is Developing Alabama Youth, Inc., a non-profit foundation supported by the Shelby County Board of Education, Juvenile Court, Department of Youth Services and community leaders throughout the county. Tax deductible tickets are $5 each and can be purchased at the concert. (photo special to the Reporter)

Warren

With other firemen also going to school and working other jobs, he says it's possible to swap shifts when necessary.

On the subject of education, Warren says he likes going to school. The courses he's taking toward his degree, even though in another field, will still prove useful he said. Two such courses are business administration and accounting.

Continuing education is also required, he notes, to maintain his paramedic rating.

With the free time firemen have - 24 hours on duty, 48 hours off - Warren is also involved in a business venture with a fellow fireman.

The business, Warren notes, has lessened the work of firefighters and made homes safer. What Warren and his friend do is clean chimneys.

Days at the fire station can be boring, Warren admits, if there are no fires or emergency calls.

However, the constant training and maintenance of equipment that's required usually keep him and the other firemen busy, Warren says.

There's also yard detail and meal preparation to occupy the men's time when they're at the station.

Using air pack drills as an example of a skill that's practiced time and time again so it's almost second nature, Warren says he and his fellow firefighters are timed on their proficiency in donning the gear in a darkened room.

Another routine that's practiced monthly is climbing up and down a 35 foot ladder in full gear.

Protective clothing and air packs weigh a total of 60 pounds, Warren says, explaining that this makes the ladder drill a good overall conditioner.

He says that most of the men also work out with weights to stay in condition.

"When you go into a fire where the ceiling temperature is 1,200 degrees, you can tell pretty quick whether or not you're in good shape," Warren says.

On the subject of cooking, Warren says the men on shifts take turns. He didn't have much experience on the range when he came to NSCFD, Warren says, adding that "the lieutenant gave me the incentive though. Now I do more cooking at home than my wife."

Donna Warren is a nurse at University Hospital, and with a four-month-old daughter to tend in addition to her job, her husband's cooking skills are much appreciated.

Although he didn't start out to become a fireman or paramedic, Warren takes pride in what he does.

"There's a misconception," he says, "that a fireman is a dumb man's job."

Hastening to correct that notion, Warren points out that a fireman has to have an in-depth knowledge of subjects such as science and physics.

Citing an example of what a fireman must know, Warren says that one gallon of water will expand to 1,700 times its original volume in steam if it's placed properly on a fire.

Obviously proud of the efficiency of his department, Warren says the response time is generally three to four minutes with 90 percent of the fires extinguished in less than ten minutes.

UM concludes 1985 fall rush

UM sorority bidding

she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Allen of Montevallo.

Winslett

spring which qualifies him to be a paid fireman.

"It made me feel better - having that to fall back on," he explains.

In any case, whether it be fulltime or in a volunteer capacity, Winslett intends to continue as a firefighter.

He's now a lieutenant with the MFD and his responsibilities include acting as training officer this year.

Winslett is also a paramedic and serves as assistant chief of the rescue squad.

Winslett probably would not have had as much excitement in his life had he not accepted his uncle's invitation to join the secondary unit.

His uncle, city administrator Don Hughes, was a volunteer fireman at the time, Winslett explains.

"We went on trips all over the country to see how other fire departments operate," he remembers.

One especially exciting trip was to Cobb County Georgia where the young firefighters got to jump off a five story building into an air bag.

"They don't allow visitors to do that any more," Winslett explains, "because there were some accidents."

Jumping off a five story building is no doubt dangerous. But Winslett says every fire call has the potential of danger.

"It's dangerous racing to the fire station and then riding on the truck to the scene of the fire," he says.

Going into a burning building is dangerous too. But Winslett and his comrades are well prepared.

During their training sessions, the Montevallo firemen work on search and rescue as well as other situations they may encounter at a fire scene.

"If you don't constantly train," Winslett says, "you're apt to get lax in your skills."

He remembers one occasion when he and another fireman were crawling along the hallway of a burning trailer when what he referred to as a flash-over occurred.

"All of a sudden it just got super hot," he recalls, "and when I looked up there was fire all around my face."

His training paid off, because Winslett knew just what to do. "I sprayed water up in the air and cooled it down some," he says. The two firemen managed to get out and then find their way in by another entrance.

Although he likes to hunt and fish, Winslett's schedule doesn't permit much time for that or for anything else right now.

When he's not attending college classes, Winslett works in the dental lab of Montevallo Fire Chief, Dr. Mike Mahan.

Two nights a month are devoted to fire department meetings and training sessions.

In recent weeks, the unit has been getting familiar with their new engine and equipment which went into service two and

Shelby County stands ready to fight

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
 Staff Writer
 Shelby County has 24 fire departments — a few paid, but mostly volunteers — that are ready to respond when needed. Chelsea has about 30 active volunteers in its department, which has answered about 920 calls since it started about nine years ago. The calls average about 100 a year, said Chief Vern Craig.

The department has three fire trucks and two tanker trucks to carry water, and is repairing a third tanker for use later.

To report a Chelsea fire, call the Shelby County Sheriff's Department at 669-4181.

The Cahaba Valley department has 13 volunteers who have answered about 70 calls so far this year. The department began around the late 1950s, and is one of the oldest volunteer departments in the state according to nine-year member Gary Thompson.

It has two fire trucks and expects to buy a new rescue vehicle in the next few days.

Grady Gullege is chief and Ronald Fancher and Butch Gullege are lieutenants. The department has two fire trucks.

Cahaba Valley boundaries are the Cahaba River, County Road 41 to Smyer's Lake and up

Firemen are dispatched through Hank's Ambulance Service at 991-6747.

Wilsonville has 20 volunteer firemen in its department, headed by Chief Davy Edwards, Captain Scotty Edwards and Lt. Jeff Smith. The department has two pumper engines and averages about 55 calls a year.

The number for help with a Wilsonville fire is 669-7190.

The Shelco Rescue and Fire District, which was created in late 1971, has about 20 firemen. The department has one class A pumper truck, a pumper-tanker truck, a tanker truck, a brush fire truck and two rescue vehicles.

The fire district borders on Alabaster to the north, Montevallo to the south, Dogwood to the west and Columbiana to the east.

Doug McGaughy is chief and Jay Wilson and Lonnie Thompson are assistant chiefs.

The Shelco emergency fire number is 669-4181.

Dry Valley has 18 volunteer firemen who organized about a year and a half ago with one fire truck. The department has just gotten a new tanker truck and hopes to add a rescue vehicle later. A new mini-pumper truck is also expected soon.

Dry Valley volunteers were called to about 36 fires last year and can be reached by calling the sheriff's department at 669-4181.

The department has a 12-member ladies auxiliary and is headed by Chief Rick Fochtman, Capt. Willie Johnstone and Lts. James Garner and Larry Reid. The chaplain is Buddy Moates.

Shelby's Volunteer Fire and Rescue Department has 23 active members and two fully equipped trucks with another for which they need a radio.

The department answers about 25 calls a year and can be reached through the sheriff's office, 669-4181.

Started in early 1982, the department intends to build a second fire station in Mosteller to serve Spring Creek, Okomo and Shelby Springs. The station now on Highway 47 in Shelby serves both the Shelby community and the Lay Lake area.

The department has two tanker trucks and two pumper trucks. John Goolsby is chief and Perry Willis and Charles Smith are assistant chiefs.

Pelham has 26 full-time, paid workers in its fire department. Gary W. Waters is chief, Michael Howell is deputy chief and Lt. Steve Powell is fire marshal.

The Pelham city limits are covered by two fully manned stations, with three pumper trucks, a brush fire truck and a rescue unit.

The department, organized around 1977, answered 303 fire calls last year.

Firefighters can be reached at 663-6300.

The North Shelby Fire Department has 15 firefighters and four dispatchers who are paid, plus about 12 volunteers. Winston Boutwell is chief and Bart Wilkerson, Dennis Cook and Randy Frank are lieutenants.

Seaman expands Linden plant

Kingfisher Incorporated, a subsidiary of Montevallo's Seaman Timber Company, has received a $32,000 industrial development grant from the State of Alabama. The grant will be used to expand the Linden plant to including a chip mill operation as well as its current saw mill.

The expansion of the Linden plant is the latest in the 30-year history of Seaman Timber that has seen it grow to a company that employs 120 people at an annual payroll that exceeds $1 million.

When completed, the chip mill will produce wood chips for use by paper mills. Seamon Timber officials estimate the new facilities could be in use as early as December 1985.

The saw mill operation in Linden currently generates cross ties and pallet lumber for further processing at Seaman's 65-acre plant near Montevallo.

Montevallo's James D. Seaman is the president and principal owner of Seaman Timber Company.

David Seaman, formerly of Montevallo, is the assistant mill manager of the Linden Mill.

Grad students offered UAB program

Graduate students at the University of Alabama-Birmingham are now able to take advantage of a program which offers students on-the-job learning experiences as well as a means of financing their educations.

For more than 10 years, the Cooperative Education Program, as a part of UAB Special Studies, has allowed students to combine their academic studies with paid, on-the-job training by alternating work and school or working part-time while taking classes. Until now, however, the program has been available only to undergraduates.

The option is now extended to graduate students in 18 different programs. Funded by a U.S. Department of Education grant, the program is the first cooperative education program for graduate students in the state.

The Cooperative Education Program has placed more than 2,000 undergraduate students in community jobs.

For more information, contact Peggy Debardeleben at (205) 934-4542.

Vincent, SCHS bands compete in UA contest

Two Shelby County bands got a look at other marching units from around the state Saturday and also had a chance to show their own stuff.

Vincent and Shelby County High were among the 24 bands which took the field in Bryant-Denny Stadium in the University of Alabama's first Festival of Bands competition.

Shelby County High Band Director David Dixon said he liked exposing his group to other bands and other styles of performing.

"It also makes it easier to motivate the kids to work harder for a band show," he said.

Vincent Band Director Diane Masters agreed. "It lets them be exposed to other groups and see a lot more bands," she said.

For judging, the bands were grouped in classes according to school enrollment with each band judged in three categories - music, general effect and marching and maneuvering.

Bands were also judged on their percussion sections, color guard units, drum majors and the majorette and auxiliary units.

One of the highlights of the day was a performance of the Million Dollar Band prior to the Saturday evening's awards presentation.

depending upon the final number of bands in the competition. For more information, call Jim Harrell at 663-4354 or 663-4353, Robbie Cates at 663-9480 or Tom Laggy at 663-6370.

THS hosts marching band competition

SMC sponsoring health forums

Shelby Medical Center is sponsoring a monthly series of Community Health Forums, beginning October 17.

Dr. Dale Elliott, chief of cardiology at SMC, will speak on recent advancements in the treatment of heart attacks.

His lecture will cover the recognition of heart attack symptoms, heart attack risk factors and what really happens during a heart attack. He will also discuss heart attack treatments, such as streptokinase infusion and angioplasty.

The hour-long forums will be held in the hospital cafeteria and will deal with common health problems such as heart attacks, cancer, diabetes and hypertension.

Lectures are open to the public at no charge. Each topic will be discussed by a physician who is a specialist in the field.

"One of the biggest changes in health care today is that people are becoming more aware of their own health," said Jerrie Kitchings, staff development manager at SMC and coordinator for the forums.

"The Community Health Forums will provide the people of Shelby County with a means for a better health care education," she said.

Other programs already scheduled include a women's health forum on November 7 with Dr. Ivana Kajdos and a lecture on colorectal cancer on December 5 with Dr. William Denton.

By Environmental division

Goods, services regulated

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The environmental division of the Shelby County Health Department deals mostly with regulation of certain public services and goods which could involve a health hazard.

Food and milk inspection is a major program, according to Ron Stutts, director of the county health department.

All restaurants and meat markets, schools and day care centers, jails or any institution selling food is governed by state regulations based on stringent Food and Drug Administration guidelines.

An exception is totally pre-packaged food, which is not prepared, cooked, or wrapped on the site, but which is only opened by the consumer, Stutts said.

The health department inspects such institutions at least four times a year, and more if corrections are needed.

Environmentalists check for whether meat has been inspected, whether the refrigeration temperature is cold enough to protect food, whether washing and sanitizing equipment is adequate and other potential problems.

The department also performs bacteriological analyses of frozen desert samples and other dairy items.

Stutts said the food facilities in the schools in Shelby County are among the best in the state.

The department also checks food offered at carnivals, civic club events and other temporary food services offered to the public.

If violations are severe enough for the department to order a service be discontinued until it is improved, a fine of $100-500 is set for each day a business operates in violation of the closing order.

The department also regulates subdivision development and installation of septic tanks and sewage disposal facilities.

Subdivisions must have an adequate water supply and space to remedy septic tank failures, Stutts said.

Under an agreement with the Alabama Department of Environmental Management, the health department handles sewer systems in subdivisions and public water suppliers, he said.

Before a subdivision can be recorded, the health department must give its approval, he said.

In Shelby County, the county health department has primary responsibility for subdivision regulations, but in most other counties this is handled at the state level. Because the county has qualified for this responsibility, approval of subdivisions is quicker and developers save money, Stutts said.

The department inspects 800-1000 septic tanks a month and has 30 subdivisions this year to process, he said.

The department performs quarterly inspections of hotels, motels and other boarding houses. Inspections are also required of public swimming pools, including semi-private pools such as those in subdivisions or recreation clubs, but not including private homeowners.

The solid waste program receives notices of illegal dumping and tries to identify and stop the dumpers. The department issues permits to garbage collectors, inspects their equipment and keeps account of where the garbage is dumped.

The rabies control program works to enforce the vaccination of animals and follows up cases where people have been exposed.

This year a door-to-door check to find animals who have not been vaccinated was scheduled to begin around the first of October.

Stutts reported a probable 15 percent increase in vaccinations this year. Last year, 20 or 25 percent of the county's pets were vaccinated, he said.

An unvaccinated animal that is exposed to rabies must be kept under a veterinarian's observation for six months if it is not put to sleep, Stutts said.

Even vaccinated animals who are exposed must be observed for a time that varies with each case, he said.

Another service offered is free carbon monoxide testing. This is especially prevalent in the fall when people light their furnaces, Stutts said.

The health department also deals with calls about public nuisances such as air pollution, illegal discharge from treatment plants, dead animals and flies and mosquitoes. In such cases, the health department usually reports to the appropriate agency.

The environmental office is located in Pelham. Anyone with questions or a problem to report should call 663-7670.

Jim Hollins is environmental supervisor. Other environmentalists with the department are Harry Edwards, Michael Clinkscales and Reuben Sparks. Frances Pardue, who is leaving for a job with the Alabama Board of Education, will be replaced October 11 by Keith Brooks, who is transferring from Etowah County.

Area businesses exhibit wares

Four area businesses will be among the display participants in the 16th annual Alabama Industrial Exhibition set for October 22-23 in the Birmingham Jefferson Civic Center.

Pelham manufacturers Conveymer, Research Solvents and Chemicals and J.F.G. Controlled Accessories Company and the Dudley C. Jackson Company of Helena will share portions of the 60,000 square feet of exhibition space that the show expects to fill.

The Industrial Exposition, sponsored by the Purchasing Management Association of Alabama, is the only one of its type in the state and is designed to let manufacturers display their various industrial products for prospective users.

For more information or to purchase tickets, call 879-3515.

Correction

The Reporter wants to make it clear that Dr. William O. Owings is not leaving his Centreville office. Owings, a family practice and general surgery physician who has practiced in Centreville for 20 years, will be opening a second office in Montevallo in December. He will also still practice in Centreville. The headline over a recent article caused some confusion.

Who is fastest

Who says administration doesn't get involved with students anymore. Hearing that fifth grader Calvin Dowdell had the school's best time in the 50-yard dash portion of the President's Physical Fitness emphasis, Thompson Elementary principal Leslie Harrison, himself a runner, decided to see just how fast Dowdell could run. Harrison challenged Dowdell, the son of Alabaster's Eva Dowdell, and Tyrice Taylor, son of Johnny and Marie Taylor of Alabaster, to a dash. Harrison found, however, that Dowdell was the fastest of them all, at least at TES. (photo special to the Reporter by Dian McCray)

Thompson heavyweight teams win in season's third week

Thompson's youth football heavyweights had a successful week of competition recently during play in the JeffCo league's regular season.

Both the Thompson 105-pound and 120-pound youth Warriors were winners during the season's third week of action, both teams pounding their respective teams from Park West.

Eric Kendrick scored two touchdowns and Ches Harris, Derico Jones, Kip Hale and Pee Wee Stoudmire scored a TD each to lead the Thompson 105-pound team over Park West 41-0.

J.J. Shaw recovered a fumble to lead the Thompson defense.

The 120-pound Warriors made Park West turn the ball over five times enroute to a 31-0 win.

Kevin Flynn recorded two interceptions, Kevin Hale got one interception and John Mork and Paul Sallis had fumble recoveries for Thompson in the game.

Chris Caldwell, Chris Bunn, Jeremy Perkins, Jimbo Nipper and Hale each scored touchdowns to lead the Thompson offense. Bryan Porter added a PAT for the youth Warriors.

The smaller young Warriors did not fare as well in their third week of play, however, as teams from Midfield, Gardendale and Park West dealt losses to the younger Warriors.

Gardendale beat the Thompson 80-pounders 6-0 despite what coaches called good defensive play from Jason Harless and Chris Colburn.

Park West beat the Thompson 85-pounders 19-6 in a game where coaches credited D. J. Pike and Beau Hutchins for good play on offense and Frank Ivester and Brad Jones for good defensive play.

In other action, Midfield beat the Thompson 70-pound team 14-13 and Gardendale dealt the 95-pound team a 25-0 defeat.

Warriors stun Wildcats in 36-18 homecoming win

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

Friday night was homecoming for graduates of Thompson High School... a time to return to high school memories that for many are among the best in life. Friday night was also a homecoming of sorts for the Thompson High School football team... a time that saw the Warriors return to the winning football that has built a tradition of excellence at Thompson High.

"These kids needed a win like this one," THS coach Doug Wheeler said after his team beat Shelby County 36-12. "We have had some tough losses this season in close games, the kind of games Thompson has won in years past."

Wheeler said the effort his team gave in their homecoming win was not significantly different than the efforts given in weeks past. "These kids have been playing hard all along," Wheeler said. "Things just came together this week."

For Shelby County, the quick Thompson scoring burst in the second quarter "took the wind out of the kids sails a bit," SCHS coach "Wimpy" Winthers said.

"We knew what to expect from them, but our defense just fell down a little at times," Winthers added.

Shane Horrell led the Warriors to their third win of the season, rushing for two touchdowns and passing for two more while accounting for over 200 yards of total offense.

Wheeler also noted the efforts of other THS backs, particularly Demetrius Gaiters who is running the ball hard.

Thompson continues to improve its line play, Wheeler added, as the offensive line blocked a little better and read defensive schemes better this week.

Defensively, the Warriors "gang-tackled and got more people to the ball better than we have all year," Wheeler noted. "We're playing better technique and reading a little better up front," he said. "That allows us to play the type defense we want to play."

For the Wildcats, Tony Revis continues to be a very pleasant surprise. In addition to his blocked punt and touchdown return late in the game, Revis also recorded some key tackles from his defensive end position, SCHS coaches said.

Offensively, Winthers noted that the offensive line did a good job with pass blocking and that both David and Ambrose Woods played well.

SCORING SUMMARY

Thompson took an 8-0 lead when Shane Horrell hit Dana Washington with a 35-yard TD pass and Jimmy Frazier with a two-point conversion toss, but Shelby County answered with a scoring toss from Chris Gould to David Wood that covered 33 yards and left the score 8-6.

Thompson then reeled off four straight scores in the next three quarters, two on runs by Shane Horrell and one on a Horrell to Kevin Duke TD pass of 12 yards.

A Horrell to Washington two-point conversion and two Randy Littleton kicks gave Thompson a 36-6 lead.

Shelby County posted two fourth quarter touchdowns, one on a pass from Ambrose Woods to David Woods and one on a 38-yard punt return by Tony Revis.

All PAT attempts failed to leave the final score 36-18.

Both Thompson and Shelby County are beginning a second season of sorts, Thompson riding this win into area competition with Homewood this week while SCHS tries to rebound against Parrish before beginning area play next week.

"It helps to have a win going in," Wheeler said, "but we will need to have good effort against Homewood because they are more versatile than I can ever remember them being as a team."

Winthers and the SCHS staff feel the Cats can bounce back from their losses to "two straight fired-up football teams."

"The character of this group is still intact," Winthers said. "They have been a pretty close knit bunch all year and they know they can still have a good season."

Panthers pounce on CHS

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Pelham Panthers prepared for their entrance into area play this week with a big 35-14 win over the Calera Eagles in Pelham's homecoming game Friday night.

Panther fullback Winfred McCall scored five first-half touchdowns to power the Panthers to their second straight win and their third in six games.

Calera's loss leaves the Eagles at 0-6 with only Verbena remaining on the Calera schedule this week before the Eagles enter area play.

Both Panther coach Billy

Tohill and Calera coach Danny Alverson gave much of the credit for the win to the Pelham offensive line.

STATS

"The whole unit came off the football and blocked well," Tohill said. "When those men block like that our I-backs can't help but look good."

Jim Burrowbridge, Scott Leeman, Richard Tully, Ronnie Fulton and Greg Frank anchor the PHS offensive front that Alverson called "by far the most physical we've played this season."

Behind that blocking, Pelham fullbacks accumulated over 200 rushing yards, McCall going for 121 and five touchdowns in 22 attempts then reserve fullback Tommy Fletcher adding 84 yards in 11 carries.

Pelham halfback Billy Fant picked up another 54 yards in just six attempts.

Henderson wins cross country

Pelham's Bryant Henderson led the long list of county entrants in the 1st Annual Vulcan Classic cross-country competition held last weekend at the new Birmingham Running Park.

Henderson won the competition in the 5A and under division with a 16:42 time on the three mile course.

"Bryant is probably the best 5A and under runner in the state right now," said Vincent coach Jim Barnes who also attended the meet. "There may be some 6A runner who could beat him, but he's running very well."

Henderson's performance was the tops on the Pelham team that included Mike Shuling, Buck Helms, Eric Olsen and — in the women's division — Jennifer Cauthen.

The Briarwood Lions girls team finished ninth among the 18 teams in their division of the competition. The Lady Lions were led by Weldon Moore who finished third over-all in the individual competition with a 13:39 time over the women's two-mile course.

Other team members included Jennifer Buck, Sheri Boots, Elizabeth Mullins, Janette Ost and Catherine Carlson.

Vincent's Earl Lawson finished sixth over-all in his division with a 17:42 time. Lawson and Vincent team-mates Barry Mitchell and Steven Moore participated in the event but the Yellow Jackets could not field an entire team due to conflicts with a band competition.

Briarwood's men finished 16th in their division. That team includes Nate Wilson, Eric Aasland, Hugh Thomas, Brian Barrett, Phong Le and Ian Parker.

Briarwood takes Lyman Ward

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

Never look a gift horse in the mouth.

The Briarwood Lions lived by that truism Friday night, taking everything the Lyman Ward defense had to give in racking up a 28-0 win.

With nine Lyman Ward defenders within four yards of the line of scrimmage, the BCHS coach Rick Sayle took the passing opportunities his team was given. With the help of quarterback Jimmy Collier and end Brad Gutteridge, those opportunities produced two first half touchdowns that powered the Lions to their third win of the season.

Collier and Gutteridge connected on scoring tosses of 30 and 50 yards, the last coming on the final play of the second half.

Secure in that lead, the Lions See BRIARWOOD, Page D-4

For the Record

Sargeant plays well for UAB

Despite what UAB Lady Blazer volleyball coach Branda Williams called "good play and hitting" from former Thompson High standout Ashley Sargeant and UAB teammate Michelle Moses, the UAB Lady Blazers could manage only a "break-even week" in recent volleyball action.

The Lady Blazers lost to Ole Miss on the road before bouncing back to defeat Middle Tennessee, both in three-game matches.

Nicholas named all-tourney

For the second time this season, University of Montevallo Lady Falcon hitter Candy Nicholas has been selected to a volleyball all-tournament squad.

Nicholas was the only UM representative on the dream team selected after the UT-Martin Invitational as she ran up 57 attack kills in 105 attempts with only 14 bad attacks.

Earlier this season, Nicholas and former Thompson Lady Warrior Janiece Scoggins were named to the College of Charleston Invitational all-tournament team.

Benefit golf tournament set

Riverchase Country Club is the place and November 13 the date for the Nick Nicholson Memorial Golf Tournament sponsored by Brookwood Medical Center to benefit the nursing program of Birmingham Southern College.

Area business can make donations to the nursing endowment that allow up to four players to participate in the tournament. For more information, call 877-1692.

Shaw is chief of Alabama bowhunters

For more than three decades, Sylvester Shaw has loved bowhunting.

On October 1, Shaw became chief of the Bowhunters of Alabama. It was then that Shaw assumes the presidency of the 2,000-member group of sport-

It is a job that Shaw is excited about, and an honor that recognizes more than 20 years of active work in the organization.

smen, a post to which he was elected by representatives from every bowhunting club in the state.

The opportunity also comes at a fitting time, as Shaw has cast his lot with his hunting friends by opening a hunting shop through which to make his living.

Shaw and Ben King opened Alabama Hunters' Headquarters in Columbiana recently, with Shaw manning the business on a day to day basis.

While the shop has set business hours, "from now until when hunting season ends, we'll just live here," Shaw said.

The shop will also give Shaw an excellent opportunity to organize the various shoots and tournaments hosted annually by the Bowhunters of Alabama.

Shaw's wife Brenda joins him on the new slate of officers for the Bowhunters of Alabama as the group's secretary/treasurer.

Bessemer's Herb Scott will serve as Shaw's vice-president.

"This is what I've wanted to do all my life," Shaw said of his involvement with the bowhunters and his new shop. "We want it to be a place where all kinds of hunters from all over the state can come and relax and enjoy being together."

Raiders pick off fifth win

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Autauga Academy Generals never had a pass touch the ground in their Friday night game with the Shelby Academy Raiders. The good news is, Raiders caught five of them.

A strong defense and a good first half offense keyed the Raiders to a 12-0 win over the Generals in a game SA coach Dewayne Kervin called his team's best effort of the year.

"We played well," Kervin said. "I was even a little surprised that the score was not closer."

A winning attitude, Kervin said, was responsible for the Raiders fifth win of the season.

"The kids went out with the attitude that they would do whatever it took to win," Kervin said. "They never got down and just kept giving good effort."

STATS

SA		Autauga
10	FD	6
241	rushing	106
0	passing	61
1	turnovers	6
15	penalty yards	55

Ray Smith, returning to the Raider line-up for the first time this season after a pre-season hip-pointer caused him to miss five ballgames, provided an early spark for the Raiders on both offense and defense, Kervin said. Smith scored once and intercepted two passes before leaving the game after re-injuring the same leg. Kervin said the sophomore will miss at least two more weeks with a muscle pull.

"He played well for his only game so far," Kervin added.

Other Raiders also excelled. Randy Davis, Mike Thames and Jeff Dunaway each got interceptions. Quarterback Doug Thomas rolled up 103 rushing yards in 15 carries, much of it coming behind the blocking of the Raiders right side on offense. Ched Burton, Vince Pickett and Jeff Dunaway.

Mike Upton got 55 "tough" yards, Kervin said, much of it coming on critical third and fourth down plays when the yardage "really mattered."

Upton was also the team's tackle leader with eight.

"It was just a good game for everyone," Kervin said. "We controlled the football and played good defense."

SCORING SUMMARY

Shelby Academy got a 33-yard touchdown run from Ray Smith in the first quarter and a five-yard score from Mike Upton in the second to take a 12-0 lead that stood throughout the game.

Five minutes into the third quarter of the Montevallo Bulldogs' 25-8 loss to the Jemison Panthers Friday night, the fog rolled onto Montevallo's Theron Fischer field.

It looked like a shroud ready to cover the Bulldog football team.

It was silent as a tomb on the Montevallo sidelines, the Bulldogs trailing 19-0 and reeling from Jemison's third score of the night.

Then from the sidelines, a young voice spoke.

"What's the silent treatment here," the unknown player asked. "Yea," a second voice answered. "How can we expect to score if we don't make some noise."

"Of-fense, of-fense," the sideline chant began, and the fog seemed to clear.

Minutes later, the Bulldog offense — with reserve quarterback Hazen Monk at the helm — punched a touchdown across against Jemison.

As the fourth quarter began, the fog once again covered the Theron Fischer stadium field. This time, it shrouded the notion that the Montevallo Bulldog football team would die. The Bulldogs continue to fight for life.

Jemison would score again, and the Bulldogs dropped their fifth game in six outings. But MHS coach Richard Gilliam was once again proud of the character his team displayed in a less than perfect situation.

"I though we had a bad second quarter," Gilliam said. "But I wish I knew who that kid was. I'd hug his neck."

STATS

Montevallo and Jemison played to a scoreless tie in the first period, but a Montevallo turnover keyed Jemison's two-touchdown second quarter that gave the Panthers a 12-0 halftime lead. The Bulldogs also lost starting quarterback Slade Blackwell to a rib injury late in the first half, then surrendered a quick third quarter score that effectively put the game out of reach.

After that point, however, the Montevallo team regained its composure and Gilliam said fought hard through the third and fourth periods.

Gilliam cited the defensive play of Norman Payne, Eric McCord, Steve Spear, Sean Roberts, Danny Kelly and Clint King in the game.

Offensively, the MHS coach was pleased with the play of Monk, Andy Anderson, Spear, Roberts and Charles Devinner, Charles Towner, Chris Bowmar, John Mayhall and Payne.

Gilliam said he would work several people at the quarterback slot during practice this week but that Monk, who has just returned from an ankle injury, played well in relief of Blackwell.

Blackwell sustained a cartilage separation in the rib area and will miss two to four weeks.

SCORING SUMMARY

After a long fumble recovery return by Marion Smith, Jemison's Clint Smith scored on a one-yard run early in the second quarter.

Merritt Bowden scored on a 14-yard quarterback sneak in the second quarter to give Jemison a 12-0 lead at the half.

Bowden scored his second touchdown on a short run early in the third quarter then added the PAT to give Jemison a 19-0 lead.

Montevallo's Charles Devinner scored on a 10 yard run then added the two-point conversion to cut the Jemison lead to 19-8 late in the third period.

Jemison added an insurance score in the fourth quarter on an 11-yard run by Bowden.

CVA Rebels "elated" with 5th straight win

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

When John Niblett took over the football reigns at Coosa Valley Academy, he was told by everyone, including the Rebs former coach, that Coosa Valley would be lucky to win a ballgame.

Six weeks and five wins into the 1985 season, Niblett and his Rebs are "just elated" to be where they are, riding the crest of their best offensive output of the season in a 41-6 win over Cahawba Friday night.

"We're just having fun," Niblett said of his team. "The kids are giving good effort and enjoying themselves."

There was little in the Rebels fifth win that Coosa Valley players and fans did not enjoy. CVA rolled up over 600 yards in total offense while surrendering only 50.

In a first half where Rebels coaches had committed to working on their CVA passing game, Rebel throwers and receivers connected for four touchdowns.

With a 29-0 lead in the third period, Kerry Shaw and Robert Strickland turned "grinding it out" through the running game into two more touchdowns before the Rebels youngsters got in a lot of playing time in the third and fourth quarters.

All-in-all, a fun evening of football.

Niblett could not single out one outstanding performance, calling the win a total team effort. He did cite one play, however, Kerry Shaw's 60-yard touchdown run, as being one of the best individual efforts he had ever seen, Shaw being hit hard five times enroute to the goal line.

The game statistics, however, tell of good efforts from many.

Tad Niblett hit 12 of 16 passes for 240 yard and three touchdowns, connecting most often with Scott Thompson who had two touchdowns among his four catches for 90 yards.

Kerry Shaw rushed for 185 yards and a touchdown in only 10 attempts while Robert Strickland added 100 yards and a score on 16 carries.

Steve Glass turned in 15 total tackles, Shaw had 13 tackles and Toby Green pulled off an interception to lead the CVA defense.

The Rebs now enter the tough half of the season, playing four counting games among their next five, three on the road.

But Niblett and his crew are taking the assignment one game at a time.

"We're just happy to be where we are," Niblett said.

SCORING SUMMARY

Jeff Martin opened the Coosa Valley scoring when he tackled Cahawba's Phil Suttle in the endzone for a safety.

Martin then caught the first TD pass of the night from Tad Niblett and, with Robert Strickland's PAT, the Rebs led 9-0 after a quarter.

Niblett tossed scoring passes of 25 yards to Mike Payne and 35 yards to Scott Thompson in the second quarter, then Payne and Thompson combined on a halfback pass for a TD to give the Rebs three second quarter scores. Robert Strickland added two PATs to make the score 29-0 at the half.

Kerry Shaw scored on a 60 yard run on the first CVA play from scrimmage in the second half to up the lead to 35-0.

Robert Strickland added a touchdown later in the third quarter to give the Rebs a 41-0 margin.

Cahawba scored in the fourth period on a Craig Mathews to Mike Browning pass.

Lady Falcons rising

The University of Montevallo Lady Falcons continue their rise toward the top of the national NAIA volleyball rankings.

Coach Beverly's Falcons are ranked second in the latest coaches' poll, trailing only BYU-Hawaii, the team that eliminated UM from last year's national tournament.

In their first week as the nation's number two team, the Lady Falcons improved their record to 25-4 with six wins in seven tries during a weekend road trip.

The wins placed the Lady Falcons second in the UT-Martin Invitational, their only loss coming to arch-rival Mississippi University for Women.

The Lady Falcons took wins over Stephen F. Austin, UT-Martin, Jacksonville State, Rhodes College and Southeast Missouri during the tournament.

The win over Rhodes College was a 15-0, 15-0 decision, marking the first time a UM volleyball team has completely shut-out an opponent.

Lasers enjoy opening game action

Lasers lose opener

The Lasers of north Shelby County's American Soccer Club opened their season recently with a 4-2 loss to the Highland Blue Devils.

The Lasers are coached by Don Hacker, while the Blue Devils are coached by Roy Hudson.

Goalie Mark Smith keyed the win for the Blue Devils with excellent play in goal.

Excellent passing by forwards Lance Thomas, Trey Evans, Ryan Lundy and Ryan Bridges gave the Americans a lot of scoring opportunities but they could convert only two.

Mike Hacker and Ryan Lundy got the Laser goals.

The Laser defense was led by Chad Britton, Mitch Martin, Jacob Skinner and Bryan Scott.

The Blue Devils took advantage of almost every scoring opportunity, Shane McMillan scoring twice and Brendan Hogan and Joel Glenn.

Center halfback Sam Haskell set up all four of the Blue Devil goals.

The Lasers and Blue Devils play in the Mid-State Soccer League in the under 10 green division.

"We just gave up too much early," said Vincent Yellow Jacket head coach Harold Garrett. "The kids fought hard in the second half, but we just couldn't hold on."

The Jackets' 20-13 loss to Lineville left them with little to hold on to where state play-offs are concerned as well, as the loss marked the second area defeat in as many weeks for Garrett's team.

STATS
Vincent	FD	Lineville
10	rushing	11
145	passing	190
23	turnovers	43
2	penalty yards	2
70		0

Vincent, Garrett said, still has a chance to make the state meet, but it will require a very specific set of circumstances. With B.B. Comer assured of a berth as the area champion, Vincent needs to win this week's game with Wedowee and hope that others in the area beat each other to throw the area into a three-way tie for the second spot. Vincent then, would have the advantage in tie-break points due to wins in their two designated area games and the Jackets could again be play-off bound.

For now, however, Vincent must beat Wedowee then wait for help.

"The kids are still up," Garrett said early this week. "We had perhaps the best Monday practice of the season this week."

Vincent mistakes were principally to blame for the Jackets; second loss of the season, as Lineville turned two first-half interceptions into touchdown drives.

When the Jackets answered with third quarter scores on Vernon Kidd's two-yard run and Robby Green's 45-yard fumble recovery and return, however, the Jackets were back in the ballgame with a 13-12 lead.

With the turnover bug behind them, the Jackets were then hit by a blitz of penalties including three on the final Lineville scoring drive. While Garrett did not question specific penalties, he did note that the Jackets piled up 70 critical yards in penalties while the home team had none.

Garrett did cite the offensive performance of Vernon Kidd as a positive point in the game, saying Kidd ran hard in playing his best offensive game of the season.

SCORING SUMMARY
Lineville quarterback Bobby Carter scored on a 10-yard run in the first period, then Kenny Hamm added a second score on a one-yard dive in the second quarter to give Lineville a 12-0 halftime lead.

Vincent took the lead in the third period on touchdown run from Vernon Kidd and Robby Green (fumble recovery). Kidd's PAT making the score 13-12.

Lineville scored the winning touchdown in the fourth period on a pass from Carter.

Hornets drop second straight

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Chelsea Hornets were struck by lightning Friday night, lightning that powered Winterboro to a 13-6 win over the Hornets.

The lightning took the form of a Winterboro runningback with "Bo Jackson-type speed" who scored on runs of 92 and 46 yards to make the difference in the game for Winterboro.

"Their coach told me that he had been timed unofficially in 4.4 and that he was could count on a 4.5 40-yard dash," Chelsea coach Mike Utter said. "When our fastest guy has a 5.0 40-yard time, you can see where that would make a difference."

"But when we could catch him," Utter added, "we hit him."

Take away the two long runs, and the Hornets give up less than 100 rushing yards and win the game 6-0.

Add them in, and the Hornets suffered their second straight loss and are faced with the task of re-grouping before they play their final two area games against St. Clair County (this week) and Calera.

STATS
Chelsea	FD	Winterboro
12	rushing	8
166	passing	178
36	turnovers	98

"We'll just have to go back to practice this week and teach some things," Utter said. "Our defense is hitting hard and our offense is eating up the clock with ball control. We just have to get a few more points out of the offense."

Once again, Larry Offord led the Chelsea effort, running hard on offense and turning in one of his best defensive games of the year.

Utter also liked the efforts of Brian Brasher, Chris Alverson and Mike Pitman during the game.

"We'll work hard this week and take up the slack," Utter said. "This group still has a chance to be a good football team."

SCORING SUMMARY

Larry Offord scored on a 15-yard run in the second quarter to give Chelsea a 6-0 halftime lead.

Winterboro scored on long runs in the third and fourth period to take the 13-6 win.

Briarwood

pounded out two additional second-half ground drives, John Allred and Brandon Pettagruie capping each with an eight yard TD run to give the Lions their final winning margin.

The win showed that the Lions had learned something from past defeats.

"We corrected some of the mental mistakes we had been making," Sayle said. "The guys continued to give good effort and cut out some of the mistakes and it worked out well for us."

Offensively, Sayle specifically tabbed the efforts of Gutteridge and Allred during the game.

"Brad needed to have a good game so this came at a good time," Sayle said. "Allred ran the ball real hard."

STATS NOT AVAILABLE

Sayle also complimented the BCHS offensive line, lead by David Deason, for good pass protection.

Defensively, Sayle noted the efforts of Randy Gilbert and added that the entire defensive unit executed more effectively.

The Lions must travel to Oak Grove this week in a game that — should the Lions bring home a win — could put Briarwood in a good position to claim a spot in the state play-offs in November.

SCORING SUMMARY

Schroeder catching the ball well and Seay running hard.

Alverson also noted that senior quarterback Mark Jones continues to hold the team together with his leadership and passed well against the Panthers.

The Eagles did make a comeback attempt in the second half, scoring twice and keeping the Panthers out of the endzone.

"We didn't have a good first half," Alverson said, "but the kids fought hard in the second half. After the way they played, they could feel proud of themselves."

After Lyman Ward surrendered a safety on a bad punt snap, Jimmy Collier connected with Brad Gutteridge on scoring passes of 30 and 50 yards to give Briarwood a halftime lead. Jeff Kuhlman kicked on PAT to make the score 15-0 at the break.

John Allread and Brandon Pettagruie each added eight-yard scoring runs in the final half. Kuhlman added another PAT to make the final tally 28-0.

SCORING SUMMARY

Winfred McCall scored five first-half touchdowns, all on short runs, to pace the Panthers to a 35-0 halftime lead.

Richard Croom kicked two PATs, Mike Bramblett kicked one and Billy Fant added one two-point conversion for the Panthers.

Calera scored second half touchdowns on a five yard pass from Mark Jones to Shane Schroeder and a one-yard sneak by Jones.

Kenny Richardson added a two-point conversion for the Eagles to make the final 35-14.

Pelham

The line blocking has also keyed good offensive execution for Pelham, giving quarterback Mike Bramblett the time to make some good option reads and allowing the Panthers to commit only one turnover in their last two ballgames.

Defensively, Tohill said Tony Jeffers continues to play well for the Panthers, making a lot of tackles from his free safety position.

Sophomore strong safety Jeff Murphy continued to play well after earning a starting role two weeks ago and had 11 tackles against the Eagles.

Another defensive move, Tohill said, paid off for the Panthers when Lee Cheslock turned in a good game after being moved to noseguard. Cheslock had six tackles against Calera.

Despite the loss, Calera's Alverson also saw positive things in his football team's offensive performance.

Alverson credited both end Shane Schroeder and runningback Steve Seay with their best games of the season,

Schroeder catching the ball well and Seay running hard.

Alverson also noted that senior quarterback Mark Jones continues to hold the team together with his leadership and passed well against the Panthers.

The Eagles did make a comeback attempt in the second half, scoring twice and keeping the Panthers out of the endzone.

"We didn't have a good first half," Alverson said, "but the kids fought hard in the second half. After the way they played, they could feel proud of themselves."

The following bill will be introduced at the next Session of the State Legislature and application for its passage made to be enacted into law.

A BILL TO BE ENACTED AN ACT
Legislative Findings That the Town of Vincent, Alabama in 1958 established a Gas Board and gas distribution system to serve customers in a portion of St. Clair and Shelby Counties and principally in the Vincent - Harpersville areas of Shelby County. It has now become the best interest of the Town of Vincent to dispose of its gas distribution system by sale thereof to Alabama Gas Corporation and said sale has been consummated and approved by the Alabama Public Service Commission. The Town of Vincent finds it financially wise and sound to protect a portion of the aforesaid proceeds of said sale from waste of said funds.

Section 1. In the event the Gas Board of the Town of Vincent, Alabama or the Town of Vincent, Alabama, during 1985 or 1986, establishes a Trust fund, named "Gas System Sale Trust Fund" in excess of Three Hundred Thousand ($300,000.00) Dollars.

Said Trust fund shall be invested only in United States Securities, or in investments secured by an agency of the United States Government, and only the interest therefrom shall be spent or used for any purpose, for a period of 20 years, except that by approval vote of two-thirds (2/3) of the qualified electors in the town of Vincent, Alabama who uses or spends or causes to be used or spent any portion of the aforesaid Trust Fund principal (and interest) may be used or spent for lawful purposes. Any person being an appointed or elected officer of the Town of Vincent, Alabama who uses or spends or causes to be used or spent any portion of the aforesaid Trust Fund principal within ten days of bid date. Other sets for general contractors, and sets for subs and dealers, may be obtained with the same deposit, which will be refunded as above, less cost of printing and handling.

Bids must be submitted on proposal forms furnished by the Architect or copies thereof. All bidders bidding in amounts exceeding $20,000.00 must be licensed under the Provision of Title 34, Chapter 8, Code of Alabama, 1975. No bid may be withdrawn after the scheduled closing time for receipt of bids for a period of thirty (30) days. The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive informalities.

Real Estate Facts

by Jim Kovakas

Overpricing May Indicate You're Not A Serious Seller

If we set the right price from the start, will that be enough to attract the right buyer?

The right price will help, although price is not the only part of an agreement. There are other factors that are important to buyers: the terms of the agreement, including the down payment; the financing arrangements; the need for repairs, alterations, or renovation; the date the buyer can take possession; the tax consequences for both buyer and seller; the APPRAISAL.

Pelham man shot to death

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

A Pelham man is dead following a shooting last Tuesday evening in a residential area of the city.

David B. Roberson of 24 Foxhound Trail in the Hunter's Glen subdivision was found dead when police answered a call to his home about 8:50 p.m. Pelham police officials said the shooting apparently followed a domestic quarrel.

No arrests had been made and no charges had been filed in the case as of early this week.

Lt. Sherwood Florence of the Pelham Police Department said that an investigation is currently underway with the department working last week to accumulate all of the physical evidence in the case.

Roberson, 54, was the former owner of several businesses in the Pelham area including the Dairy Creme and Cuckoo's Lounge. He was working as a salesman at the time of his death.

N Shelby businesses honored

Four major North Shelby business centers have been recognized for helping maintain the integrity of the U.S. 280 corridor.

During a special awards ceremony, sponsored by the Horizon 280 Association last Thursday night at the South Central Bell building on 280, Horizon Award 1985 plaques were presented to the Protective Corporation, Inverness Center, Inverness Plaza and the Sheraton Inn Mountain Brook.

The Horizon 280 Association was organized three years ago to encourage orderly development of the 280 corridor while preserving its aesthetics.

The Horizon Award, presented for the first time, recognizes excellence in development along U.S. 280 East. Barbara Traylor served as chairman of the awards presentation.

Jurors of the competition were Jim Barganier, AIA, of Barganier-McKee-Sims of Montgomery, and John Robinson, head of the landscape architecture department at Auburn.

Protective Corporation was selected a winner, jurors said, because it "retains natural character of site along Highway 280...effective use of parking deck to accommodate large addition while keeping wooded setting...nice palate of new plant materials simply used...like the way it pops out of the trees at the top of the hill..."

Jurors praised Inverness Center for its "wonderful attention to detail in the landscape...attractive lakes introduced as scenic elements...very handsome and readable graphics along the roadway...exceptional use of the annual flowers to enliven the setting...layout of roads works well with topography..."

Inverness Plaza shopping center won because it has "attractive roof and brick work...extensive landscaping looks good even new, especially

Rumors about gas pipeline said not true

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

Rumors that a gas line being run through Shelby County by Alabama Gas Company will not serve customers for five years are not true, according to company representative Gary Youngblood.

Customers along the main line from Verbena to Birmingham should be connected around September 30, 1986, Youngblood said. The area has a potential for 500-600 customers, he said.

The commission gave final approval for the laying of the line Monday. Prior approval was contingent upon approval by County Attorney Butch Ellis.

Commissioner Gregg Rushton asked that a letter from Youngblood responding to the rumors be made part of the official record of the commission meeting.

Youngblood said the commission's first priority was to complete a 16-inch transmission line and have gas flowing by December 31, 1985. Customers would be connected by September 30, 1986.

The third stage of Alabama Gas Company's plan is to survey areas off the main line for the feasibility of branch lines. This would begin shortly after October 1, 1986, with the exception of Wilsonville, which would be surveyed around January 1, 1986.

The commission recessed until next Monday at 9 a.m., when it will act on the budget. Commission Chairman Tommy Snowden explained that the delay will allow Commissioner Harold Davenport, now recovering from a recent heart attack, to attend.

The commission must deal with about $10 million of requests for about $9 million of revenue, Commissioner John Ames said.

So far, commissioners have managed to cut original requests for over $11 million, and must continue to cut to fit into the expected revenues.

Several budget requests are at or less than last year's level, Rushton said. The board of education and the tax assessor's office were given as examples.

Voter opinion sought on sale of hospital

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

A public vote on the possible sale of Shelby Medical Center will be set by the Shelby County Commission at its next regular meeting, October 28.

"The commission wants to determine once and for all what people want to do," said Commissioner John Ames, who announced the plan Monday.

The ballot will ask whether voters want to sell the hospital if the following conditions would be met:

- The commission votes to dissolve the hospital corporation and eliminates the four mill tax.
- The Alabama Legislature puts the estimated $25 million (net from sale) into a trust fund, from which the commission could spend only interest, with indigent care receiving first priority, the rest for public improvement.
- As a taxpaying institution with an estimated $40 million value, the hospital would pay the following annual taxes: $60,000 to county, $52,000 to state, $120,000 to education and $80,000 to Alabaster.

The hospital consumed about $1.5 million of tax funds last year, Ames said. About seven and one-half percent of the ad valorem taxes paid by people outside cities goes to the hospital, he said. The estimates on how much a private hospital would pay in ad valorem taxes were provided by the tax collector's office, Ames said.

The cost of indigent care for county residents has been estimated at about $600,000 a year, he said.

The commission is not recommending whether the hospital should be sold or not, he said. "We want people to tell us."

Commissioners must decide whether to call a special election, wait for the next general election in June, or even until the November election for the vote on the hospital.

They will be seeking input from citizens groups and political officials regarding the best time to hold an election. Ames stressed that a large turnout is desired so that the people can be heard, whatever the result may be.

Ames said the decision for an election was prompted by newspaper articles and letters to the editor "from some people who think the time has come" to remove the four mill tax.

The commission cannot remove the tax, Ames said, but if the hospital is sold, the commission can dissolve the corporation and remove the tax that way.

"The way to get rid of the tax is to get the county out of the hospital business," Ames said.

If approved, such a move would require great care, which is why the commission is offering a step-by-step plan, he said.

"If it accomplishes everything

County wants EDA to amend grant

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The Shelby County Commission passed a resolution Monday asking the Economic Development Administration to amend its grant of $1.7 million to Talladega County, making it a joint grant to both counties for the reopening of a water treatment plant in Childersburg.

The commission also asked Engineering Services Associates to go ahead with a study of the needs of a county water system if the EDA agrees.

Stan Nelson, an EDA representative, told the commission that discussion between county attorneys and EDA officials indicated that an agree-

UM concerts set

Two concerts will be performed next week by the University of Montevallo's music department.

October 22 the Wind Ensemble will be featured. The jazz ensemble will play October 24.

Both performances will be in Palmer Auditorium at 8 p.m. The public is invited to attend and admission is free. For more information, call 665-6202.

Humane open house

The Shelby County Humane Society is having an open house October 20, beginning at 1 p.m. and lasting until around 4 p.m.

County residents are encouraged to come visit the shelter in Columbiana. Children can enjoy pony rides.

Weather

Warmer, dryer weather, typical for this time of year, is predicted for the next few days. Wednesday will be partly cloudy, with a high temperature around 80 degrees and a low in the low 60s, according to the National Weather Service.

Thursday through Saturday will be fair, with warm temperatures continuing. Highs will be in the 80s and lows in the 60s.

Laying pipe

Pipe welders take special care in connecting the metal gas line which will run between Verbena and Birmingham when complete. Patterson and Wilder Construction workers report virtually no trouble with landowners along Highway 47 between Columbiana and Chelsea, but the flag women in charge of traffic control, say several impatient motorists have treated them rudely while waiting to pass. Some have even failed to stop, nearly causing accidents. "I've been called everything but a white man," said one flag woman.

Dogwood donation

State Rep. John Tanner gives a $1000 check for repairs to the Dogwood Community Center to Dan Johnson. The money from the governors's discretionary fund was presented to representatives of the community center by local officials at the Shelby County Courthouse last Wednesday. Participating in the presentation, from left to right, were Thomas R. Hughes, Dan Johnson, Sen. Butch Ellis, Rep. John Tanner, Probate Judge Tommy Snowden and James C. Lovelady.

County grand jury issues 84 indictments

Last week, a Shelby County grand jury handed down 83 indictments which included two murder charges and three charges of rape.

Violent crimes accounted for 12 of the indictments, which also included a case of sexual abuse and a case involving the enticement of a child for immoral purposes.

Thirty-eight indictments were for property crimes. Of these, 13 cases were charges of theft by deception which evolved from the new worthless check unit in the district attorney's office.

The grand jury dismissed 27 of the 167 cases presented, merged 10 cases and continued 47.

ment about joint ownership and operation can be worked out.

The EDA had objected to a plan for Shelby County's joint ownership with Talladega County. The federal government built the plant during World War II and, several years ago, donated it to Talladega County.

The counties each would contribute half to match the $1.7 million grant, and the water system would serve both. The plan was approved in June.

The plant will need to pump 2.5 million gallons of water a day to pay for operating costs and the retirement of bonds, Nelson said. It is being designed to pump 10 million gallons, which would generate $5 million profit, he said.

we set down, I don't see the disadvantages. Some people view selling the hospital as closing it, and I don't think anyone supports that," Ames said.

Any buyer would use the hospital so that it would grow and profit, resulting in equal or better quality health care, he said.

Ames said the overall cost of health care at Shelby Medical Center is already about even with private hospitals in the area. He does not expect that to change if the hospital is sold.

He said he has no idea who the buyer might be.

The need to examine the possible sale depends upon the hospital's financial well-being, Ames said.

"If it's not losing money, the whole scenario would not apply."

If people vote in favor of the sale, it is then up to the hospital board to vote to sell the hospital or not, Ames said. However, he said, if the people favor a sale, the commission would work to see that the board followed that direction.

Kelley denied Westover liquor license

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The Shelby County Commission denied one liquor license Monday and agreed to vote on two more at its next meeting Oct. 28.

A request for an off-premises liquor license for Kelley's Package Store on U.S. Highway 280 in Westover was denied.

Commissioner Leon Archer, who represents the area, recommended the denial because of inadequate police protection. He noted that similar requests in the area have been denied for that reason.

Nine residents of the area attended the meeting to ask that the permit be denied. Three petitions, with a total of 190 names, also were presented.

Larry Kelley, who applied for the license, gave his own petition with about 90 names supporting his application.

Archer said community concern was not directed toward Kelley, who already operates a convenience store in the community, but toward people who might come to buy the liquor.

Kelley said the request was "not to hurt anyone, but for business." He said the move would help other stores also because people would not have to go outside the area to purchase liquor.

Flinn Suther, an Alabama Beverage Control official, reported that his study of 18 homes in the immediate area showed five objecting, four not objecting, six not home and three related to Kelley.

The second application was for an on-premises license for the Beverage Place, to be operated by Hinton-Mears, Inc. at the new Inverness shopping center at the intersection of U.S. Highway 280 and County Road 17.

The owners have another bar and package store at Mountain Brook.

Commissioner Ames noted that the location of this package store was more in a commercial zone. He said the higher population also brought more law enforcement patrol than in Westover.

The commission followed its normal procedure of informing the applicants that advertisement in two newspapers is required and holding the application until the next meeting.

Action was delayed on an application for an off-premises license by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post Number 5963 on County Road 260 in Brantleyville.

Suther reported his survey of homes in the immediate area found 13 with objections, seven without objections, one without opinion and seven not at home.

"Even if you added the seven not at home to those with no objection," opposition was great, he noted.

He added that the post had sold him liquor without a license about a month ago.

Commissioner John Ames suggested action be delayed so that Commissioner Harold Davenport, who represents the area, could participate in the decision. Davenport is recovering from a recent heart attack.

Three killed in Calera

Calera rescue workers responded to three fatal accidents this month.

Charles McCue of Jemison died in Calera October 4 at age 35. McCue was standing next to a truck being repaired when the fan blades came apart and struck him in the throat, cutting his jugular vein, according to rescue worker Tommy Moon. He was dead when rescue workers arrived.

Charles Ferrell Culp of Montevallo died last Thursday morning after falling through a roof at Abex Corporation in Calera. Culp fell about 50 feet and was pronounced dead at the Shelby Medical Center emergency room, said rescue Chief Hugh Morrison. Culp was 40 years old.

A maintenance worker at Blue Circle Industries was killed the same day when a falling piece of metal hit him in the head.

Plant officials would not comment on the accident, but Virgil Pickett, an employee in the maintenance department, was reportedly working in the finishing mill when the accident occurred. He died at University Hospital.

Pickett was retired from the Army and had worked at Blue Circle for 13 years.

"Through the award's program, we hope to increase the public's awareness of the association's existence and what our aims are, said Houston Welch of Southern Company Services and president of the 200-member association. "We're interested in appropriate kinds of development along the corridor."

"Mainly, we encourage high quality commercial development. Legally, we can't tell a person what to use his property for, and we realize the property owner has a right to develop it as he chooses within reason."

Because much of the 280 corridor has no zoning regulations, the association asks only for voluntary compliance, and offers guidelines describing recommended practices for landscaping, setback, building design and signage.

"Many of the property owners are trying to cooperate and work with us," Welch said. "They can see why good development will make this corridor more viable in the long run."

Protective Life Corporation Project Christmas kicked off

Even though the county is sweltering in the heat of Indian summer, some people are beginning to think about Christmas.

The focus of a meeting held last week in Columbiana was to organize the efforts of several groups who try to make Christmas a happier time for the underprivileged.

Rene Williams, director of the Department of Pensions and Security, said a coordinated effort is being made this year to see that no one is missed and also to make sure there is not a duplication of effort.

She said anyone interested in making a contribution or who would like to sponsor a needy family should call one of two centers that have been set up in Montevallo and North Shelby.

Names to go on the list will come from the rolls of DPS clients, Shelby Youth Services, the United Way Area Service Center and the Fraternal Order of Police Toys for Tots program.

"These people have been screened and we've made sure they are really in need of help," Williams said.

The office at the First United Methodist Church in Montevallo will handle families in: Montevallo, Wilton, Columbiana, Wilsonville, Shelby.

In Riverchase, the office at Chirst the King Lutheran Church will take offers of help for families in: Alabaster, Pelham, Rt. 13 Birmingham, Rt. 19 Birmingham, Helena, Maylene, Leeds, Dunnavant, Sterrett, Vandiver, Calcis, Harpersville, Vincent, Chelsea.

The Montevallo number is 665-7535. In Riverchase, call 988-5004.

The offices will be open between 1-4:30 p.m. on the following dates: Oct. 22, 24, 29, 31, Nov. 5, 7, 11-15, 18-21, 25-27, Dec. 2-5, 9-12, 16-20.

Checks should be made payable to Shelby County Project Christmas.

Separate accidents wreck two county storefronts

Two freak accidents in recent weeks caused two Shelby County businesses to become driveways.

A truck loaded with logs plowed into the Golden Grasshopper in Columbiana Sept. 28 when its brakes failed.

The store had been closed 15 minutes when the truck drove through the front door at 5:50 p.m., pushing it all the way to the back wall.

Last Wednesday, a car trying to park in front of Smitherman's Pharmacy, drove through the plate glass window, coming to a stop just short of an employee at the check-out counter, who had been knocked to the floor.

"It all happened so fast," said the employee, Jeanette Frith of Centreville. "One minute I was standing behind the counter, the next minute I was lying on the floor looking up at this car."

A cigarette case had been knocked over on Frith, but she escaped with only bruises.

Susie Nelson Willis, a 75-year-old Montevallo woman, was the driver of the 1974 Chevrolet that unexpectedly drove into the store at 10:31 a.m. She was taken to Shelby Medical Center.

Mattiel Hill, a passenger in the car, was reportedly uninjured.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

Taking sides

He's as old as I am and he lives in Newton, Texas, P.O. Box 125, zipcode 75966. He went to Shelby High in the late teens and early twenties and was one of the very best athletes to pass our way.

He called me the other night and we talked. We talked about hunting at Four Mile and around Wilsonville, where the game was big brown bobwhites. We talked about fishing in Beezaw and Yellow Leaf and the Coosa River. We talked about Millard Crumpton who sang with Roland Lester and Sam Benton. And about folks--Bertrude Murphy and Gerald Fulton and Alex Fancher and Letha Minor and Annie Lou Kidd. And about Amy, and how she was doing. I told him she was getting better. He said she ought to teach me how to catch big bream.

And then he stopped talking and it was time to remember. About the Longfellows and the Poes at old Shelby High. And how you belonged to one or the other, the same as, later on, you belonged to the Democrats or the Republicans.

Maybe some of the best games played at Alma's Place was between these two groups.

For the Longfellows, there was always Howard Hill. For the Poes, there was always Bill Whorton. And, for the life of me, I can't remember a time when one of these two guys outdid the other.

But a fellow had to take sides. And he had to have a hero. Everybody did, including Mrs. Pauline Bird's boy, Milton.

And that's why talking with Bill Whorton made my day. You see, I took sides over 60 years ago, and my hero was a guy named Bill Whorton who belonged to the Poe Literary Society.

The weekly Good Morning column, written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member FDIC.

Bet on Wag

If members of the Capitol Press Corps should elect their own "Man Of The Year", it would be the most gross injustice if Hezekiah Wagstaff didn't win the title by unanimous vote.

Since this portly, pleasant black man came on the state political scene a decade ago he has given the Capitol media more to write about than just about anyone other than the main man, world traveler George Wallace, Governor.

Just how and where Wagstaff (his friends call him Wag) got to where he is today is not clear, but his patron political saint has been Billy Joe Camp. When Camp was elected to the Public Service Commission, he hired Wag as his administrative assistant. It has never been proved, but reportedly Camp agreed to let Joe Reed name one of his assistants in return for the support Reed and the Alabama Democratic Conference had given Camp in his campaign. Reed named Wagstaff, and the rest, as the saying goes, is history. (Some might amend that to say the rest has been hysterical.)

Wagstaff first saw his name in headlines, his countenance on television, following his attendance at a national convention for Blacks in Energy Conservation, or something close akin to that. After the fact it was discovered that Wag and a colleague had double-billed the state for some rather costly meals. Camp slapped Wag's wrist for that indiscretion, but that was about it.

Later, when Camp left the PSC to join Wallace as his press secretary, he brought Wag with him as his assistant. It wasn't long before he was back in the headlines. This time it was not his eating habits but his driving habits that got him into trouble. He was stopped by a state trooper for speeding, and in the process it was discovered that Wagstaff had no drivers license. In fact, he had not had a drivers license for four years, during which time he had been assigned a state car. While that indiscretion might have resulted in the dismissal of most state workers, not Wagstaff. He survived that one, too.

Then came the flap of a few days ago. With Wallace, Camp and Co. somewhere in China, a reporter asked sort of a knee jerk question of Wagstaff--who's in charge of state government while the big boys are away? Wagstaff replied that he, Finance Director Henry Steagall and Appointments Secretary Charles Carr were in command. That he included himself, and didn't include several other higher ranking cabinet members (specifically Bill Rushton, Ken Wallis and Ferrell Patrick) upset that trio. They took it upon themselves to order Wag to take a leave of absence.

But that didn't last long. From faraway China...perhaps from a phone booth on the Great Wall...Camp called to reinstate Wagstaff. Camp further promised to try to clear up the dispute upon his return.

What will happen in the next episode of this soap opera remains to be seen, but if we were making a bet, we would put our money on Wag.

VA health care threatened in Congress

Letter to the Editor:

Two proposals are now before Congress to curtail spending on veterans' health care. If the proposals affected only veterans themselves, their impact would be serious enough. However, the facts indicate that the two -- a means test and third party reimbursement for VA health care -- will significantly affect much of American society.

Congress has proposed to require all veterans, except for some in special categories, to submit to an evaluation of their ability to pay for care, and to demand payment from insurance companies for services rendered.

Congress has chosen to ignore the following points:

•No patient population has been provided which would support the oft-repeated myth that well-to-do veterans take greedy advantage of the VA health care system.

•The majority of those cared for in VA hospitals are the poorest, the sickest and the oldest of the veteran population, whose health care would remain the responsibility of the government at one level or another -- and to whom the intimidating maze of bureaucratic paperwork might well be the final barrier to seeking care otherwise deserved.

•Third party reimbursement is not simply a revenue enhancement item which takes nothing from the veteran's pocket, taking instead from the coffers of insurance companies. On the contrary, third party reimbursement will increase insurance premium costs for all health coverage.

•Most insurance policies specifically exclude payment to government facilities for health care. A change to third party reimbursement would require additional personnel in both the public and private sector to carry out.

Today, there are more than 28 million men and women who have borne the burden of military service. By far, the vast majority of them are independent, contributing taxpayers who take pride in their successes and accomplishments. They are not the ones the VA routinely serves, and they are not the ones who will be hurt the most if these ill-advised proposals become law.

Bobby Hayes' first year as mayor praised

Letter to the Editor:

The month of October signifies the first year anniversary for Bobby Hayes as mayor of the City of Pelham. Those of us who are privileged to work with him have noted two positions he has added that are timely as our city continues to grow by leaps and bounds.

to 5 ladies is not the least of his tasks!) He assists, advises and relieves department heads when needed. He interviews prospective employees. He handles complaints, investigates and does any follow up that is necessary. He prepared the budget so well that it was passed within four hours.

Donna Little, executive secretary and Bill Overstreet, administrative assistant, pave the way for our mayor to be the best full time mayor it is possible to be.

There have been changes at City Hall. Now that the dust has settled, we can see that change was needed, for Pelham is not standing still but moving with the times. So, happy anniversary Bobby, and keep up the good work!

Football fans are abusive to opponent's mascot

Letter to the Editor:

When playing a game, defending your own team is expected and welcomed. Thompson High School carried this privilege a little too far.

I always go into a game with an open mind while faithfully devoted to my team, the Shelby County High Wildcats.

I was greatly disappointed in Thompson's behavior at our recent game with them. Although we technically lost the game, as far as school pride, class and presentation of attitude is concerned, Shelby County won the game by a landslide.

To describe the tastelessness and disgrace that was shown, I, the Mascot of Shelby County, was cursed, garbage was thrown on me, my tail was pulled, and other forms of bad behavior were presented.

I do not appreciate this conduct or respect the student body of Thompson High School.

I sincerely hope all the other schools have more class than this.

Elderly deserve nursing assistance

Letter to the Editor:

My name is Fredia Poe. Approximately 3 years ago, my friends and I started a small company called Care Nursing Aid Service. During this time, we found there was a great need for home & hospital care service.

Since then, we have been going to homes and hospitals or wherever we were needed.

In this line of work, we have seen and heard of people who were very much in need of help and some were alone. Others had relatives but their work schedules could not handle both, which made it very difficult. They did not have the money for round the clock care- let alone a nursing home.

I am sorry that a few people feel as though these few elderly people can hurt them in anyway. These elderly people do not have the income that some people in this town have. I am afraid some people have forgotten who should be guiding their lives. May I remind you GOD! says We Are Our Brother's Keeper.

I am pleased to inform you all that we have opened a home for the elderly. It is located on Hwy. 61 off the Ferry Road approximately 3 miles out of town.

County should appreciate Shelby Medical Center

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Recently my wife had surgery at Shelby Medical Center. We did not know anything about the Center. We were there because of Dr. Patrick Mills. We knew we were in good hands with Dr. Mills. However, we found everyone at the Center most helpful and encouraging. This personal interest and attention reminded us of an earlier experience at Duke University Hospital.

Shelby County people should be proud of the Shelby Medical Center, the doctors, nurses and others who work there. We appreciate their cheerful, helpful work with us.

At UM

Dr. Landen takes Academic Affairs post

A Middle Eastern scholar with degrees from William and Mary, Michigan and Princeton, who has taught at Dartmouth College and been Dean of the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Tennessee, has been named Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost of the University of Montevallo.

Dr. Robert G. Landen will also serve as Acting President as needed, UM President Jim Vickrey reported in making the announcement this week.

"The Search Committee and I considered more than 150 candidates from throughout the country during the past year," Vickrey said, "and we interviewed more than half-a-dozen. Bob Landen, physically and professionally, stood head and shoulders above the rest and was the near-unanimous choice of the scores of faculty, students and staff with whom he talked during a visit to the campus. I am absolutely delighted that he is coming to UM at this critical juncture in our history and I look forward with great anticipation to his joining this community early next year."

A native of Boston, Mass., the 55-year-old educator is a member of the William and Mary class of 1952. He also holds degrees in history at the University of Michigan and Princeton. He is a 1973 graduate of Harvard's Institute for Educational Management.

Since graduate school, he has held major teaching and administrative posts at Dartmouth (1961-67); Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University (1967-69); the University of South Carolina (1969-75); the University of Texas, Arlington (1975-77); and presently at the University of Tennessee. At the Knoxville campus, he has served as professor of history and Dean, College of Liberal Arts, for the past eight years. For his service at UT, Landen received two years ago the Chancellor's Award for Extraordinary Service to the University.

Landen has travelled in and been a student of the Middle East for a quarter-century. In 1959, he was named Middle East Fellow at Princeton and has published major studies on the area since then. Included are numerous articles in professional journals and three books: "Oman Since 1856," "The Emergence of the Modern Middle East" and "The Middle East: Its Government and Politics." He is presently working on two other volumes on the area.

"I am looking forward with enthusiasm to my association with the University of Montevallo, the University community and Dr. Vickrey," Landen said.

"I will do what I can to help the University realize the admirable stated mission which has been approved to guide its future."

Landen is married to the former Patricia Kizzia and couple has four children.

Dr. Landen

County building code considered

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

A representative of the Plumbing, Heating and Cooling Contractors Association told the Shelby County Commission Monday that a building code is needed for the county.

"With all the work on 280, Valleydale Road and 119, there are no requirements on the builder to build a safe structure," according to Tom Michael. He said the adoption of a building code is especially important because Shelby County is the fastest growing county in the state.

Commissioner John Ames is arranging a meeting with Michael and Shelby County's state legislators to work out a suitable code.

Ames said the commission has the authority to issue building permits on its own, but could not charge enough to cover the expense of inspections. Commissioner Gregg Rushton said an alternative solution might be to have builders pay inspectors.

A Shelby County building code passed the Alabama Senate three or four years ago, but did not pass the House, according to Ames.

The Jefferson County code was used as a model, with some changes made. One was that Shelby County had the option of exempting farms, something Ames said was not entirely understood by the public.

Another concern was that construction might be delayed while builders waited for inspector's approval. Commissioners stressed that this would have to be taken into consideration when planning the new code.

With commercial construction, no delay would be necessary because the architect of the project, if registered, could sign inspection papers, Ames said.

"If written as it should, it helps those who need it and doesn't penalize others," Rushton, a builder himself, said. He expected the support of other builders for a county code.

Michael said regulations would help with such problems as the leakage of private water lines into public water systems and inadequate electrical systems.

Now, much is "left to the integrity of the builder and architect," he said. "I really feel the need to protect the integrity of what everybody is working for."

Bid awarded for 12 classrooms

A bid of $534,614 won Motes Construction Company of Sylacauga the contract to build 12 additional classrooms at Inverness Elementary School.

The contract was awarded by the Shelby County Board of Education last Wednesday at a special called meeting.

When architect's fees are added on to the contract price, School Superintendent Ellie Glascox said the board would be just about on target with the $560,000 budgeted for the project.

The contract also calls for paving a drive around the school once the classrooms are completed.

Built three years ago in North Shelby County, Inverness was in dire need of additional classrooms because of the rapidly increasing enrollment.

When school opened in August, Inverness had 780 students - an increase of 137 from last year.

The board learned Wednesday that another construction project already in progress has run into problems.

The superintendent said an additional $40,000 will have to be spent for an addition at Riverchase because the ground would not hold the foundation.

Glasscox said several hundred yards of fill dirt has already been brought in and more is still needed.

County Homemakers give awards, install

A fashion show, musical entertainment and giving away a cathedral pattern quilt, was all part of the program when Shelby County Extension Homemakers met last week at Hargis Retreat.

The approximately 135 members and guests who attended the event made it one of the largest ever held.

Members of the organization were models in the fashion show put on by Strickland's Department Store, and each club had a part in making the quilt that went to Liz Hodges, one of the guests at the meeting.

The more than 70 awards that were handed out included a 50-year award for club membership that went to Lucille Mitchell of Montevallo, and one for the outstanding club member which went to Frances Blalock of Wilsonville.

Bill Phares, minister at Mt. Tabor United Methodist Church, entertained the group with his guitar playing and singing.

The meeting also included the installation of new council officers. They are: Frances Shaw, president; Maureen Kelley, president-elect; Jane Harper, secretary-treasurer.

The Chelsea/Westover Club hosted the event.

Charles Bogaty III is an aspiring young artist

Shelby County people

Bogaty aspires for cartoon fame

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

At the age of 12, Charles Bogaty III is working hard to make his dream of becoming a cartoonist or a strip artist for motion pictures a reality.

Charles was accepted into the School of Fine Arts in Birmingham this past spring, but he and his family decided he should delay enrollment for a couple of years.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bogaty of Alabaster, Charles is now a seventh grader at Our Lady of the Valley Catholic School.

Charles recently won a Birmingham Art Museum contest in which entrants were asked to show what they thought was on the mind of the man in the sculpture The Thinker. Charles' idea was a female version of The Thinker.

Charles was also county winner in a 1984 Great State of Alabama poster contest. His poster used images of such landmarks as the State Capitol to represent Montgomery, a rocket to represent Huntsville, a ship for Mobile, and a tiger and elephant to represent Auburn and Tuscaloosa.

An exhibit of Charles' work will be shown at the Albert L. Scott Library in Alabaster soon.

In the Shelby County Fair, Charles won second place in the 7th, 8th and 9th grade division of the poster contest. The theme of his poster was Healthy People are Happy People, which he demonstrated with a figure of Death smoking a cigarette and with a title dripping with bloody letters.

Charles likes to draw pictures to match stories told by his friends and in movies. Over the years, he has captured characters from Batman, Superman, Star Wars, E.T., Raiders of the Lost Ark and Jaws.

He is working on a G.I. Joe comic book with a friend, Jeff Carlisle. Charles is also waiting to hear whether the Mattel toy company will like his idea for new characters in the Masters of the Universe comic strip contest — a raven and a cat named Furball.

One of his favorite subjects is his baseball hero, Dale Murphy of the Atlanta Braves. Charles has his own sketch of Murphy, but he also enjoys an extensive collection of the player's baseball cards. Collecting since 1979, he has gathered cards by the thousands. One special item he hopes to add soon is Murphy's rookie card.

His parents have promised to take him to a Braves baseball game for his birthday in June. Entering his own fourth year of baseball playing, Charles hopes to play on the Braves team in the Alabaster Dixie Youth league in the next season. In the past, he has played with the Royals, the Cubs and the Indians.

Charles also enjoys soccer, football and bowling. He is especially a big fan of the Auburn University team because his sister, Chris, is studying marketing at the university. His bowling with the Vestavia Hill Juniors earned a medal for Charles.

Charles' family plans for him to attend his four years of high school at the School of Fine Arts in Birmingham. He will have to reapply in what his mother said

Elks raise canned goods for DPS food closet

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

Six cans of food was the admission charged by Elks Lodge 1738 to attend a recent open house and watch a double-header football game on TV.

However, most lodge members overpaid by bringing a dozen cans or a case, said Ken Stewart, Esteemed Lecturing Knight for the lodge.

The "canned" admission was to go to the food closet the Elks established for the Department of Pensions and Security in Columbiana.

Last week Stewart, accompanied by the lodge's Exalted Ruler, Bruce Monical and Jerry Pack, Esquire, delivered 229 cans of food to DPS Director Rene Williams.

"We wanted to help folks who needed a hand, not a handout," Stewart said.

Expressing her gratitude to the Elks, Williams said the food closet is "a wonderful service for the less fortunate in the community. We're extremely grateful for the interest of these fine men."

The food will go, Williams said, to families whose homes have burned, to elderly people who aren't able to survive on the income they have, and to families where the wage earner has recently become unemployed.

The Elks have been contributing two or three cases of canned goods at a time to the food closet for the past six months.

Stewart said the project was initiated because the lodge wanted to do something locally. He said statewide, Elks support a training center for the handicapped in Montgomery.

Although the lodge is located in Homewood, some of its members live in Shelby County.

Oh Riverchase

Some of the members of Riverchase Middle School's 27 member choral group rehearse one of the numbers they performed at the school's program Friday, which recognized the school's accomplishment in being selected as a model school in the nation. The band, 85 members strong, also took part in the recognition program. (photo by Bert Seaman)

Riverchase school celebrates award

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

Oh Riverchase, Oh Riverchase, shall we tell you how we feel. You have given us your riches, and we love you so.

Those were the lyrics members of the chorus at Riverchase Middle School adapted to the tune America for Friday's assembly program.

The assembly was held to celebrate the school's recognition as one of the outstanding schools in the nation.

Student Council President Frank Patrick said that designation gives him even more pride in the school and the incentive to keep on improving.

"The award shows we're part of something that's the best," Patrick said, adding that everything he has a part in, he wants it to be the very best.

Because other schools will be looking at Riverchase now, Patrick said, "We have to be good."

Ali Givens, who serves as second vice president on the student council, agreed that the award has given students an added sense of pride.

"It makes us feel special," she said. "I think it's neat."

Givens said she has attended a private school in south Alabama and a Jefferson County school. "But Riverchase is the best school I've been to," she said.

"The teachers are excellent," Givens added, saying she feels that, "with the education I've acquired here I can go anywhere I want."

Riverchase Principal Henry Clark recently traveled to Washington D.C. to accept the school's award for being one of 277 model schools in the nation.

At the assembly program, Valley Elementary School Principal Dr. Norma Rogers presented RMS Assistant Principal Charlotte Lusco a certificate from Gamma Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, an honor for women educators. The certificate commended the school for the national recognition.

Others who had a part on the program were: Clark, School Superintendent Ellie Glasscox, Board President Barbara Whitman, RMS Trustee Chairman Mike Brooks and Joyce Dixon, co-president of the PTO.

The band, under the direction of Walter Gibson, also performed during the 45-minute program.

Members of the school's National Honor Society escorted guests to the reception in the home arts room following the assembly program.

Circus bringing Tiny Tim to Alabaster

The Great American Circus will be in Alabaster for one day only, Monday, October 21, 4:30-7:30, next to Saginaw Pipe Company on U.S. 31.

The featured performer of the circus will be Tiny Tim, famous for his appearances on Laugh In and The Tonight Show and for his rendition of Tiptoe Through the Tulips.

The circus will also present aerial acrobatics, highwire acts, bare-back riding feats, clowns, elephants, bears and chimpanzees.

The Suarez-Loyal-Repensky riding troupe is a seventh-generation circus family. Tim and Antoinette Frisco direct the circus act.

The Steeple family's bears walk on barrels and ride tricycles, while the chimps do high-wire tricks, back flips and bicycle rides.

Ringmaster Billy Martin performs in a juggling act and a parody of a gorilla. His wife Cheryl, a ballerina, does a swinging ladder act in the air.

A patriotic parade of the circus company ends the show.

The event is sponsored by the Alabama Constables Association.

Tiny Tim comes to Alabaster with the Great American Circus.

Group writing to president

Have you ever wanted to write a letter to the President of the United States to express your opinion on any of a number of issues? Have you ever wished you could have your thoughts and opinions published in a book for all Americans to read? Have you ever wanted to visit the White House and meet the President?

The first two of the aforementioned could become reality for those persons participating in a project sponsored by a non-political, non-profit organization called the Society for the Preservation of American Citizen Expression. And for one of the participants, the latter will come true.

The project is a book to be entitled Dear Mr. President. It will consist of letters from American citizens throughout the entire United States and from every walk of life, and one will be selected as a representative of the entire group to make the presentation.

To receive full details on how you may participate in this unique project, send your name, address, and two (2) First Class stamps to: S.P.A.C.E. Box 369, Arlington Heights, IL 60006.

N Shelby firm makes promotions

Robert K. Williams has been named president of Alabama Insurance Exchange, Inc., a Pelham-based insurance brokerage and consulting firm. He succeeds his father, Ken L. Williams, who will continue as chief executive officer of the firm he founded in 1973.

The new president will be responsible for a newly formed employee benefits division. In addition, he will be in charge of

Bluebirds need houses

The Alabama Nongame Wildlife Program has introduced a new weapon in its arsenal to fight for bluebirds throughout Alabama.

Competition for nesting sites and the use of some pesticides helped to diminish the population of bluebirds through the nation, but through the efforts of this program of the Game and Fish Division of the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, the bluebird is making a comeback in Alabama.

The Nongame Wildlife Program has already spearheaded the effort to have bluebird houses constructed and placed in various areas of the state and has provided nesting boxes to various state and private agencies for placement.

Now, the Nongame program is providing bluebird nest plans, a materials list and bluebird management leaflets free of charge to the public.

Bluebirds usually begin nesting in the late winter and early spring. Construction and placement of houses during the winter months allows them to weather and accommodate any early arrivals.

Plans and leaflets are available through the Nongame Wildlife Coordinator, Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, Game and Fish Division, 64 North Union Street, Montgomery, AL 36130.

Hines, Colvin, Jones, lead Warriors

Three of Thompson's youth football teams rolled up big scores enroute to wins in recent JeffCo action.

Paced by two touchdowns from Heath Hines and a single TD each from Adam Kayton, D.J. Pike and Jason Quick, the Thompson 85-pound Warriors took a 34-0 win over Hoover.

Addam Porter, Pike and Quick also scored PATs for the young Warriors.

Offensive standouts for the Warriors included Robert Jarrell, Buford Peek, Beau Hutchins, Mark Davenport, Frank Ivester and Todd Gray while Stan Weldy played well for the Thompson defense.

Jeff Colvin scored four touchdowns to lead the Thompson 95-pound Warriors to a 44-6 win over Park West.

Coty Farnetti, Chad Douglass and Scott Brakefield also had TDs with Matt Bunn, Colvin, Douglass and Farnetti adding the PATs.

Defensive standouts for the young Warriors included Randy Bearden, Douglass, Jeff Mize and Clint Parker.

Thompson's 105-pound Warriors scored a 38-0 win over Hoover behind a three touchdown performance from Derico Jones. Eric Kendrick had the game's longest TD run, a 60-yarder, and Ches Harris also scored for the Warriors.

Defensive standouts included Andy Jones, Patrick Wootton and Scotty Ogle who recovered a fumble.

Jeremy Perkins scored Thompson's only touchdown in a 19-6 loss to Gardendale in 120-pound action. Thompson is currently 2-2 in JeffCo 120-pound league play, both losses coming to Gardendale. The 120-pounders are undefeated in play against teams outside the JeffCo league.

In other action, Park West handed the Warriors 70-pound team a 38-0 loss while the 80-pound team was idle.

Office helps with home economics, 4-H, agriculture and community development

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The Shelby County Extension Service is part of a network branching from Auburn University to each county in the state.

Home economics, 4-H clubs, community resources development and agricultural services are shaped to meet each county's needs, said County Agent Coordinator Grant Gober.

The agricultural division provides help and information on gardens, forestry, farming and other agricultural interests. The emphasis in Shelby County is on dairy and beef cattle, cotton, soybeans and swine, Gober said.

The office advises on weed control, soil testing, fertilizing and other management techniques. All information is tested for three consecutive years at Auburn University for accuracy, he said.

Extension workers meet with farmers to tour cotton-growing areas to discuss solutions at times when insects and weed problems are especially bad.

Demonstrations on how to vaccinate, dehorn and brand cattle are also given.

Agriculture is the number one industry in Shelby County, providing about $2 million a year to its economy, Gober said.

Home economics work covers food and nutrition, health, housing, clothing, family life and family resources management.

Paula Newbury, the home economist, is responsible for coordinating educational programs in these areas.

Classes are offered in knitting, sewing, needlepoint and other activities. Most communities also have homemaker clubs which meet monthly.

The county has 55 4-H clubs organized for ages nine to 19 years. These groups meet monthly, working on projects and entering contests.

Shelby County's 4-H clubs have been especially successful in contests, Gober said.

Members have placed or won in a number of district and state contests, including a first place winner for the state horse record book, first place in the state chicken competition and first place in the Southern regional public speaking competition.

Among the yearly projects suggested are beautification of home grounds, conservation of natural resources, consumer education, woodworking, photography, food and health projects and a variety of animal projects.

One of the best parts of the 4-H program, Gober said, is that "kids learn by doing. If kids get involved, parents get involved."

County agents John Jones and Peggy Prucnal work with the 4-H groups.

A committee on community resources development explores the needs of the county and works with projects such as industrial development, recreational parks and water systems, Gober said.

The committee meets monthly and holds workshops to show officials how to attract and work with industry, he said. It helped with the financing and planning for a recreational park near the Shelby County Area Vocational Center in Columbiana.

Among the major yearly projects for the extension office are the hosting of the district 4-H round-up in Montealeo, Farm-City Week activities promoting education and closer ties between farms and cities, and the county fair.

Pamphlets, advice and most classes are available free of charge. If the extension office cannot immediately help with a problem, the agents can turn to Auburn University and to land grant universities in other states for information, Gober said.

Lynn Wilson, staff secretary, and Jo Ann Barnes, administrative secretary, help Gober, Jones, Prucnal and Newbury serve Shelby County.

Heritage Day at Brierfield park reveals 19th century lifestyle

Dipping candles

Sally Holland shows fourth graders how early settlers dipped candles.

by Bert Seaman
 Staff Writer
 Fourth graders from Shelby and Bibb Counties recently had a chance to taste hominy and sip sassafras tea at Brierfield Iron-works Park.
 They also watched pottery in the making and saw how a flint was used to make fire.
 These were some of the demonstrations put on during the iron works park's third Heritage Festival. The purpose of the annual event is to let students see how people lived in the 19th century.

Montevallo resident Bob Readal demonstrated the fire making technique while Max Cassidy showed students how to make pottery.

Two other Montevallo residents, Bill and Sara Morris, talked about growing hominy and sassafras which they then let students sample.

Sally Holland from Rockford was on hand to demonstrate the art of dipping candles; Ricky Stone and Joyce Cauthen from Birmingham played the guitar and banjo and taught folk dancing.

Students who had never seen a goat milked were fascinated by the demonstration given by Melaine Tolleson from Montevallo and Daphne Walker from Brierfield.

They also listened attentively as Rusty Walker from Chelsea talked about the Civil War at a campsite he had set up, showing guns and swords from that era.

UAB begins Season of American Classics

The UAB Department of Theater and Dance begins its Season of American Classics October 22-27 with the musical Anything Goes.

The comedy takes place on a cruise ship in the early 1930s and involves young love, gun-toting gangsters and a multitude of mistaken identities. It all adds up to what director Rick Plummer calls a "feel-good" musical.

Plummer, assistant professor of theater, says the play was chosen for this season of classics because it has all the elements of good American musical theatre.

"It's big, bright, bouncy and beautiful," he said. "Everybody knows the music, and the audience goes out of the theater singing." Some of the Cole Porter tunes which are likely to stir musical memories are Friendship, You're the Top, It's Delovely and I Get a Kick out of You.

Other productions scheduled for the Season of American Classics are Harvey, A Streetcar Named Desire, Rings of Saturn and Jolts, as well as five modern, ballet and jazz performances by Dance UAB.

Anything Goes will be presented October 22-26 at 8 p.m. and October 27 at 2 p.m. in Bell Theater, 1204 7th Avenue South. General admission tickets are $5. Season tickets are available for $20. For reservations, call 934-3236.

George Jones and bluegrass coming to music park

George Jones, one of the all-time greats of country music, will appear at the Central Alabama Music Park in Jemison Oct. 19.

Jones' 1980 recording of He Stopped Loving Her Today had the unprecedented honor of being voted the Country Music Association choice of Single of the Year in both 1980 and 1981.

The singer has also written more than 100 songs, including We're Gonna Hold On and Why Baby Why.

Shannon Nesmith, an up-and-coming performer, will appear with Jones in the one performance at 7:30 p.m.

On the following weekend, the park will feature the Seventh World Series of Bluegrass.

Bands scheduled to perform during the series scheduled for October 26 and 27 include, The Country Gentlemen, The Bluegrass Cardinals, The Sally Mountain Show, The Warrior River Boys, Herb Trotman with The Front Porch String Band, and The Family Band.

For further information call 688-4475. Central Alabama Music Park is located two miles west of I-65 at exit 219 in Jemison.

Library sponsors student voting on favorite books

Traveling through time and space on a three-headed dragon... wandering down the 'yellow brick road' with Dorothy and her friends... stranded on a deserted island and living off the land. The books that entertained and enthralled us growing up stay tucked away in memory. Stray words and events call to mind these 'favorites', bringing to the surface feelings of warmth, excitement, adventure, or even, insight.

Although difficult to isolate one 'special' title, students in Shelby County are now being given an opportunity to vote on a possible favorite through the EMPHASIS ON READING PROGRAM. This program began as a method of placing a recommended list of books in the hands of every Alabama school student. Each year a short annotated list of significant children and young adult books is prepared, broken down by grade, kindergarten through high school. The brochure allows the student to indicate which books were read and to choose the most appealing in that group. Space is also provided for the 'most favorite book ever read'. A sampling of the titles included on this year's ballot are:

K-1st grade
• Trolling Harvey Down the Hill by Jack Prelutsky. A young boy, described his typically boyish gang of buddies through a collection of humor-filled poems.
• What's Claude Doing? by Dick Gackenbach. Claude, the basset hound, refuses all invitations from friends to play in order to comfort his grateful young master.
2nd-3rd grade
• Hailstones and Halibut

Bones by Mary O'Neill. Objects, sights, sounds and feelings associated with color are explored in this book through the special magic of imagination.
• The Worst Person in the World by James Stevenson. Ugly knows that it is what's inside that counts and he teaches the worst person in the world a few things about love and kindness.
4th-6th grade
• Dear Me Henshaw by Beverly Cleary. Through correspondence with his favorite author, Leigh comes to learn a great deal about himself.
• Superfudge by Judy Blume. Peter is certain that the arrival of a baby sister will double his misery. As if this isn't enough, the family moves and he must leave his best friend.

7th-9th grade
• Homecoming by Cynthia Voigt. Dicey's strength and determination in the face of being abandoned along with her younger brothers and sister enable them to journey to a new home
• They Never Came Home by Lois Duncan. While on a weekend trip to the mountains, two high school boys disappear with absolutely no clues as to what happened to them.
10th-12th grade
• Murder in the Smithsonian by Margaret Truman. The search for the murderer of a historian in the National Museum is complicated by the involvement of the murderer's fiancée in the search.

• On Wings of Eagles by Ken Follett. The true account of two American executives and their escape from Iran during the height of the anti-American crisis.

Ballots are due by March 1, 1986, with winning titles announced shortly thereafter. Students may pick up blank ballots and return them to any public library in Shelby County. For further details, contact the Mildred B. Harrison Regional Library at 669-3171.

Library selected for project

The Mildred B. Harrison Regional Library in Columbia will participate in a reading and discussion project titled Utopia in American Life and Literature. The library was chosen by the Alabama Humanities Foundation as one of 15 in the state to participate in the U'ALL project.

The U'ALL program, beginning next spring and lasting five weeks, will explore the utopian impulse in American life through such readings as Plato's Republic, Thomas More's Utopia, Thomas Jefferson's Notes on the State of Virginia, Edward Bellamy's Looking Backwards, Aldous Huxley's Brave New World and Paul Gaston's Women of Fair Hope. These seminars will be led by Alabama scholars of history, philosophy and literature.

The humanities foundation received an Exemplary Award from the National Endowment for the Humanities for this project. One of only a few state councils to receive two Exemplary Awards since the competition began in 1982, the AHF was honored in 1983 for its series Shakespeare: The Theatre in the Mind.

Phone used to fight cancer foe

One of the most potent weapons against cancer can be the telephone. By calling a toll free number at UAB's Cancer Information Center, information may be obtained on the prevention, detection and treatment of the disease.

"When you're dealing with cancer, what you don't know can hurt you," says Nancy Holt, director of UAB's Cancer Information Service.

"If you don't understand the warning signs, or if you don't know where to go for help," she continues, "you are decreasing your chances of a cure through early detection."

Holt says information given over the phone is followed up with booklets and other written information.

"In many cases," she says, "we are able to help callers formulate questions to ask their doctors, which helps them understand the specifics of their cases."

The CIS number for the Birmingham area is 934-6612, or 1-800-4-CANCER for anywhere in Alabama.

Calls may be placed 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Strickland scores

Coosa Valley runningback Robert Strickland turns the corner behind good blocking from a team-mate as he rambles for one of the two touchdowns he scored in the Rebels 57-0 win over Minor Christian. (photo by K.A. Turner)

Coosa Valley 57, Minor Academy 0.

What else needs to be said. "I wish they could all be like that," said CVA coach John Niblett. "The kids played well." Well indeed. While rolling up 610 yards in total offense, the Rebels allowed only 30 including a -10 rushing yardage total for Minor.

While scoring eight times, Coosa Valley never allowed Minor closer to its own goal line than the CVA 35.

In addition, the game provided an opportunity for some individual Rebels to showcase their talents.

Runningback Robert Strickland picked up 156 yards and scored three TDs in only eight rushing attempts.

It took only eight attempts for Kerry Shaw to add 160 yards in rushing and another TD.

STATS
CVA		Minor
13	first downs	2
389	rushing	-10
221	passing	40
3	turnovers	1
60	penalty yards	50

Then there was sophomore quarterback Tad Niblett who completed 11 of 14 passes for 212 yards and four touchdowns.

The game put Niblett's passing yardage for the year over the 1000-yard mark, his totals for the season thus far 62 completions in 95 attempts with only two interceptions and 1099 yards gained.

Six of the Friday night completions went to tight end Bobby Crumpton who gained 75 yards and scored twice among those receptions.

Crumpton also had 18 total tackles for the Rebels while Shaw added 12.

It was indeed a complete win for the Rebels.

"It just gets tougher from here," Coach Niblett warned, "and we have to win at least three of our last four counters to make the state play-offs."

But for a while on Friday night, Niblett, his coaches and players and the CVA crowd that gathered for homecoming needed only to enjoy the win.

SCORING SUMMARY

Robert Strickland scored three times in the first quarter of the Rebels win, once on a 45-yard run. See CVA, Page D-4

Hornets take area spot

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Chelsea Hornets had to come-from-behind three different times to take a 24-15 win over St. Clair County last Friday night. But come-from-behind they did, and in taking the win, the Hornets almost surely secured a spot in the 2A state play-offs as well. But Chelsea head coach Mike Utter is looking only to their Hornets' date with Calera on Friday night.

"Unless we beat Calera, nothing is for sure," Utter said. "But things do look pretty good."

Neither Calera nor St. Clair County has won a designated area game, and Chelsea already has one of those tucked away. Should the area end in a three-way tie, then, Chelsea would have the inside track. And at 2-0 in area play, the Hornets would have to be considered the favorite to take the area without a tie.

"We're continuing to improve each week," Utter said. "We are blocking better as a unit on offense so some things are beginning to happen for us and the defense is playing well."

Offensively, the good blocking is creating opportunities for tailback Larry Offord.

Not one to "look a gift horse in the mouth" Offord responded with 278 rushing yards and three touchdowns against Verbena. He added a 37-yard field goal as well to account for all 24 of the Hornet points.

"Larry played another good game," Utter said, "but he is getting some help from some good blocking."

Linemen Chris Alverson, Mark Burnett, Brian Brasher, Robert Burcham, Tommy Kelly, Scott Grantham, Darryl Whitaker, Don Brasher, Gene Britnell and runningback Heath Moore all blocked well, Utter said, and that provided the offensive punch Chelsea needed.

"We may have just sneaked by," said Pelham coach Billy Tohill, "but when it's all said and done, it's still us 12 and them 8."

Us is the 1985 Pelham Panther squad that used a long pass from Mike Bramblett to Tony Jeffers to take a come-from-behind area win.

Them is McAdory, a 1-6 area opponent that proved feisty during their homecoming.

"I am real happy for our kids," Tohill said early this week. "They have worked hard, and we kept telling them some good things would start to come their way."

Tohill was especially pleased with the way his team reacted to the pressure situations in the game. "We played under pressure several times and we did some good things," Tohill said. "That shows improvement."

Under the pressure of Pelham's first area contest, quarterback Mike Bramblett was able to complete two touchdown passes in what Tohill called a "well executed game" on his part. Bramblett completed five of eight tosses with only one interception, accounting for 131 yards and the two scores.

Drew Woodrow had two catches in "crucial" situations, one for a touchdown and one to convert a third and nine situation late in the game that allowed Pelham to control the clock.

"Everyone worked together to get the job done and win the game in the fourth quarter,"

Turkey shoot benefits MOD

The Delta Chi fraternity at the University of Montevallo is sponsoring a turkey shoot Saturday, October 19, at the Brierfield Ironworks Park to benefit the March of Dimes.

Sharpshooters can "show off" their talents in one of three categories and may win a ham or turkey.

From 9 a.m. until 10 a.m. there will be .12 gauge shotgun competition.

From 10 a.m. until 11 a.m. there will be .22 rifle competition.

From 11 a.m. until noon, shooters will compete with pistols, nothing larger than a .357 magnum allowed.

Cost is $1 per shot and shotgun shells will be furnished. Shooters must supply rifle and pistol ammunition.

Three turkeys and three hams will be awarded in each category.

Brierfield Ironworks Park is south west on Montevallo on Highway 25.

Foster lands big bass

Sterrett angler Tony Foster pulled a nine-pound five and one-half ounce bass out of Hargis Retreat Lake on October 7.

Foster nabbed the bass with a large night crawler as bait on his Zebco/Prograf fishing tackle rig.

Bike-a-thon set in W'veille

An 11-mile bike-a-thon has been set for Sunday, November 3, in Wilsonville, proceeds going to the Dixie Youth ballfield in that community.

Lady Warriors win volleyball tourney

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

For the seventh time in as many seasons, the Thompson Lady Warriors are the volleyball champions of Shelby County.

In what THS coach Lynn Rushing termed a great team effort, the Warriors took their seventh title over-all by posting a 5-0 record in the round-robin tournament played last Saturday at Briarwood.

"Volleyball is such a team sport," Rushing said. "It's hard to single out anyone who played well because if the back line doesn't bump well the front line can't set well and we can't spike well. It all goes together, and we were able to put together a pretty consistent effort through the tournament."

Thompson posted wins over Montevallo (15-2, 15-5), Vincent (15-1, 15-4), Pelham (15-6, 15-13), Briarwood (15-1, 15-10) and Chelsea (15-8, 15-4) enroute to the championship, none of the matches taking as many as three games.

Rushing credited part of her team's success with their previous tournament experience, the Warriors participating in five invitational tournaments before playing the county and upcoming area events.

"When you get up on five other Saturdays and play tough competition, you don't get as nervous when you have to get up and play the county tournament," Thompson setter Susan Parvin said.

Parvin, Lori Glasgow and Becky Wallace represented

Thompson on the all-county volleyball team.

Wendy Skinner, Lisa McDaniel, Mary Bivins and Valerie Caldwell are the remaining starters for the championship team, Bivins and Caldwell sharing a starting spot.

Other Lady Warriors include Ann Bivins, Kathy Martin and Angela Eads.

The Pelham Lady Panthers and their coach Tammy Richardson posted a 4-1 tournament record to take the runner-up spot in the tournament.

Vincent, Montevallo, Chelsea and Briarwood rounded out the finishers in a tournament that hosting coach Susan Whatley of Briarwood said ran very smoothly.

Golfers play to benefit March of Dimes

The rolling fairways of the Inverness Country Club provided a beautiful setting for the annual March of Dimes benefit golf tournament on Monday of this week.

Eighty-six linksters gathered for the event that provided a chance for recreation as well as promotion of the March of Dimes cause and programs.

The tournament was organized as a four-man scramble event with net scores based on team handicap.

Frank Kovak, Scrappy Edgemon, Harold Ripps and Wally Nall won the event with a low net score of 52. The team was sponsored by Kovak and Associates.

Bill Coyne, Jim Hutto, Hank Kuhlman and Ellie Glasscox finished as the second place team with a net score of 53. The team was sponsored by American Lighting.

Hugh Sims, Bill Johnson, Billy Erwin and Dolph Morrison finished third with a net of 54. That team was sponsored by Alloy Metal.

Glasscox added a little excitement to the tournament when his shot on the par three 11th hit the flag in the pin but did not fall. Should it have fallen for a hole-in-one, the shot would have earned him a brand new Cadillac.

Raiders shut out Southern Academy 6-0

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Shelby Academy Raiders took their sixth win of the season Friday night, spoiling homecoming for Southern Academy by handing them a 6-0 loss.

The Shelby Academy Raiders were lucky, however, Raider coach Dewayne Kervin said, to come home with a win at all. It was, as Kervin put it, "just one of those nights."

"We didn't play well, and it was just one of those nights when everything went wrong," Kervin said. "We even had to dress and warm-up on a different schedule because of their homecoming."

Things didn't start badly for the Raiders. On their first possession of the night, Shelby drove to the TD that would eventually be the difference in the game, the TD coming on a one-yard run by Mike Upton.

STATS

SA	FD	Southern
11		8
197	rushing	67
14	passing	29
2	turnovers	1
48	penalty yards	35

From that point, however, fumbles, penalties and missed assignments threw problem after problem at the Raider offense.

"We just couldn't ever get clicking," Kervin said.

If the win had a good point, it served to point up a Shelby Academy defense that has played well throughout the year and once again won the game for the Raiders.

A goal line stand in the third quarter — highlighted by a fourth and goal defensive save by Randy Davis and Jeff Dunaway — preserved the win for the Raiders and powered Shelby toward its fifth shut-out in seven games.

The Raiders have allowed only 23 points through seven games in 1985, one of the best scoring defense efforts in Raider history to this point in the season.

Mike Upton and Vince Pickett led the defensive stats with eight tackles each while Dunaway tallied seven hits.

Kelly Tibbals, Kervin said, was the "big-play maker" for the Raider defense throughout the night. His five individual tackles almost always came in crucial situations, Kervin said, and were "awfully, awfully big hits."

SCORING SUMMARY

Shelby Academy scored on a one-yard run by Mike Upton in the first period. Upton broke the Raiders' second play from scrimmage for 45 yards to set up the score.

Big plays defeat young Calera team

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

"It seems like we find a way to self-destruct in every game," said Calera Eagle coach Danny Alverson. "We're still young, and that makes us so vulnerable to the big play."

The "big play" made the difference in the Eagles 26-6 loss to Verbena, the seventh of the season for Calera.

Big play. A 28-yard scoring pass with 44 seconds left in the first half pushed Verbena's lead to 13-0.

Big plays. Verbena's fourth quarter scores on a 53-yard pass and a 54-yard run cut short a Calera come-back attempt.

Big plays. Over half of Verbena's total offense for the game came on their four scoring plays.

STATS

Calera	FD	Verbena
11		9
160	rushing	181
43	passing	119
3	turnovers	2
40	penalty yards	50

"We are just young and insecure," Alverson said. "Even when we know what to do, in crucial situations the kids are tentative. Except for the busted plays, we played good defense."

Alverson cited the play of linebacker Chuck Amos and runningback Kenny Richardson as being good efforts for the Eagles.

"We're still trying hard," Alverson concluded, "but people would like to talk about how many games you've won, not how much you've learned."

SCORING SUMMARY

Verbena quarterback Ken Zeigler connected with John Sheeler and Vince Scarbrough for first half touchdowns to give Verbena a 13-0 halftime lead.

Calera's Mark Jones hit William Swift with a 14-yard TD pass to cut the margin to 13-6 mid-way through the third quarter.

In the fourth quarter, Zeigler again connected with Sheeler for their second TD of the night, then Scarbrough scampered 54 yards for a score to make the final 26-6.

Bulldogs handed 21-6 loss by C'burg

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Childersburg Tigers put together big plays on both offense and defense to hand the Montevallo Bulldogs a 21-6 loss last Friday, the Dogs' sixth loss in the seven-game old 1985 season.

"If we hadn't made a couple of big mistakes," MHS coach Richard Gilliam said, "we could have won the ballgame. We played about as well as we could considering our injury situation."

The Bulldogs played Childersburg without the services of six-game starting quarterback Slade Blackwell who suffered a rib injury against Jemison two weeks ago. But back-up quarterback Hazen Monk played well, Gilliam said, staying on target with most of his passes and rushing effectively at times.

The Dogs were also without lineman Tommy Layton, one of the biggest of the Bulldogs at 6'1" and 180 pounds.

Montevallo did, however, get good effort from the Bulldogs that played, especially, Gilliam said, from Sean Roberts.

STATS

Montevallo	FD	C'burg
14		17
151	rushing	271
69	passing	33
5	turnovers	2
30	penalty yards	37

Playing his "best game of the year on both sides of the ball," Roberts ran hard, blocked extremely well and played a good, hustling game on defense, Gilliam said.

Defensively, Gilliam also called the efforts of Norman Payne, Charles Towner, Danny Kelley and Eric McCord "just super" then recognized Charles Deviner as the Dogs leading rusher with an 89 yard total.

The Bulldogs now look to area play which begins this week against Briarwood.

Noting that his team would have to make it into three rounds of state play-off competition to have a chance at a winning season, Gilliam said an area title would mean a lot to his team.

"That's what these kids are playing for now," Gilliam said.

SCORING SUMMARY

Childersburg scored a touchdown in each of the first three quarters.

In the first, Howard Keith ramblbed 75 yards for a TD and with Terrill Chatman's kick the Tigers led 7-0.

Neal Smith caught a five yard pass from Eric Burns for the second quarter TD. Chatman again added the PAT.

Mike Crayton pulled a ball away from Montevallo runningback Charles Deviner in the third quarter and raced 68 yards for a touchdown. Chatman's PAT made the score 21-0.

Montevallo scored in the third quarter on a 32 yard end-around pass from Steve Spear to Danny Kelley.

Penalties and turnovers killed other Bulldog drives in the fourth period.

Outdoors

With Lee Moore

Sometimes only money talks to landowners and that is the case in many south Alabama counties.

But when you find a landowner that really cares about conservation, he may be willing to work with you closer when he realizes you intend to increase the wildlife population on his property, which, in turn, means increasing the value.

Several points to make is that you won't ever hurt his property. Example: Some clubs put three times the number of hunters on a piece of property than it can handle, and many clubs have hunters that hunt more than just the weekend. This is okay if there is enough land and game to handle the pressure. Example: many Louisiana hunters work on off shore oil rigs. They may be off 7 days and on 7 days. They may spend their entire time off in Alabama hunting. If a club is made up of 20 members with 12 of them off-shore oilmen, they may apply far too much pressure to the wildlife.

Landowners today are becoming more and more interested in improving their property for wildlife. They want to have a reasonable income from timber, but manage their lands in such a way that wildlife will benefit. By following proper guidelines, the landowner can have a woodland productive of both timber and wildlife.

Small scattered clearings should be maintained on a tract. A variety of food items required by many wildlife species is found in woodland clearings. To benefit whitetail deer, openings can be seeded with annual grasses and legumes such as rye, wheat, oats and clover. For bobwhite quail, clearings may be periodically disked to encourage the growth of seed producing plants that quail feed upon. Rabbits and many species of songbirds also will benefit from these practices. Wildlife clearings need to occupy at least two to five percent of a wooded tract.

Prescribed burning is probably one of the cheapest and most beneficial wildlife management practices available to a landowner. Deer, turkey and quail are three species that benefit most, but prescribed burning may improve the habitat for several other wildlife species. Deer need the high protein of new plant growth. A prescribed burn kills undesirable portions of browse plants and stimulates a growth of quality food.

Prescribed burning also will stimulate a growth of native plants valuable as food for turkey and quail. Late winter burns done at two to five year intervals are recommended.

When establishing new pine plantations, wide tree spacing should be used. Browse and fruiting plants are fairly plentiful in young pine stands until tree tops grow together and reduce the sunlight reaching the forest floor. If trees are planted too close, they will shade the forest floor even before they are large enough to harvest. Planting seedlings at spacings of at least 8 X 10 feet will delay the shading effect until the trees are ready for the first thinning.

Timber harvests and thinnings are an important part of any forest management operation. Wildlife needs a variety of food and cover found in forests which contain both hardwoods and pines of various ages. In planning timber cutting operations, various ages and species of trees should be maintained throughout the property to ensure adequate wildlife habitat.

Thanks to Chester Billie Jr. of the Game and Fish Division for the facts on property improvement.

Pats blank THS 3-0

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

If a soothsayer could have promised Thompson Warrior head coach Doug Wheeler that Homewood would score only three points during the 1985 meeting of the two area opponents, Wheeler would have tried to hide a smile.

The Homewood Patriots scored only three points against the Warriors, but the field goal was enough to give the Pats a 3-0 win in an important area game.

"Sure, we were a little surprised we didn't score," Wheeler said after the game. "We didn't play real well offensively and they had a good defensive game plan for us."

That game plan — coupled with some execution problems for THS — put the Warriors in the unenviable position of pasing when Homewood expected a pass rather than simply when the Warriors wanted to pass hard. "We can't throw well under those conditions," Wheeler said, "but then, very few teams can."

STATS
Homewood	FD	Thompson
10	rushing	12
63	passing	162
91	turnovers	27
2	penalty yards	4
60		40

While the Thompson offense had some problems, the Warrior defense continued to improve.

"We played a little better in the secondary," Wheeler said, and added that the Thompson linebackers played well.

In addition, noseguard Alfred Pickett and defensive tackle

Mark Smith drew note for their good play while tackle Van Neal showed improvement.

Though there were "not a lot of bright spots" on offense for the Warriors, Wheeler did say that Demetrius Gaiter continued to run hard.

"We're still in the hunt for an area spot," Wheeler said. "We just have to be a little more patient and play a little better."

SCORING SUMMARY

Homewood scored a 3-0 win on Steve Gray's 26 yard field goal in the second quarter.

A fourth quarter Thompson score was called back on a clipping penalty that Warrior coaches said was a good call, the clip allowing Shane Horrell to score.

SCHS takes Parrish

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

Shelby County High School coach Randle Cassidy isn't smiling.

Yes, his Wildcats beat Parrish 24-14 last Friday night to take their fifth win in seven games.

But no, the Wildcats did not look particularly good in doing it, and that concerns Cassidy.

"It was a win and that's all," Cassidy said early this week. "We didn't look real sharp, especially on offense."

The SCHS offensive line — not young but lacking a lot of game experience — remains a point of concern for Cassidy. Pass protection, the coach said, is breaking down and that is allowing defenses to put eight men on the line of scrimmage and come after both the Wildcat quarterback and runningbacks.

"We need work in that area," Cassidy said, and hopes to get more out of the people currently playing at the line positions before looking to other combinations of personnel.

While the offense had its problems, Cassidy said the Wildcat defense looked "good at time" and cited the play of Edmund Buie, Tony Revis and Jasper English.

STATS
SCHS	FD	Parrish
9	rushing	3
87	passing	79
186	turnovers	25
3	penalty yards	4
46		52

Cassidy also noted that Chris Gould threw the ball well for the Cats on offense and that both David Woods and Chris Crenshaw had some good catches.

The Wildcats now enter a three-game area mini-season, kicking it off by hosting Abrams in the final game between the two schools. Abrams is due to be dissolved as a school after the '85-'86 school year.

"I think they kids are excited about the area games," Cassidy said. "they need to be, because we need to play a little better."

SCORING SUMMARY

David Wood combined with Chris Gould on a 65 yard pass and run to give Shelby County a 6-0 first quarter lead.

Chris Crenshaw caught a 17-yard pass from Gould in the second quarter to up the margin to 12-0.

Parrish's Phillip Temple intercepted a pass and returned it 35 yards for a TD to cut the margin to 12-7 in the third period, then Parrish took the lead on Derrick Sanders 44 yard TD run.

The Cats came back to win it in the fourth quarter as Chris Gould and David Woods connected on their second TD pass of the game, this one a ten-yarder, and Johnny Boose iced the game with a 20-yard TD run.

Vincent runner spends weekend off on track

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

Vincent cross country runner Earl Lawson was supposed to have last weekend as an off-weekend to rest.

I gave Earl and the others the weekend off because we had been running a lot," said Vincent coach Jim Barnes.

On his weekend off, Lawson hitched a ride to the Huntsville Invitational with Briarwood's cross county team and put in about 17 minutes and 36 seconds of hard work.

Lawson covered three miles in that time — the fastest of any runner in his division — to win individual honors in the 4A and under division of the meet.

Briarwood's men also put in a good day's work, finishing 10th as a team in the 4A and under division. Nate Wilson paced the Briarwood team that included Robert Welch, Eric Aasland, Brain Barrett, Hugh Thomas, Phong Le, Ian Parker and Craig Bayless.

Briarwood's women finished eighth in the girls division that included competitors from all six AHSAA classifications.

Weldon Moore paced the Lady Lions team that includes Sheri Boots, Elizabeth Mullins, Jeanette Ost and Jennifer Buck.

Hunting facts available at Probate office

For the second consecutive year, the printing and dissemination of the leaflet Hunting Seasons and Bag Limits was delayed due to a legal restriction beyond the control of the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources.

Under an administrative procedures act, the department was prohibited from sending the leaflets to the printer until late September and distributing them until October 1.

The 1985-86 Hunting, Fishing and Trapping Seasons and Limits leaflet is being distributed to probate judges offices and license commissioners as it becomes available.

The leaflet is also available from the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources and Game and Fish conservation enforcement officers.

Jackets fall to RCHS

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

"Let the record show, Vincent coach Harold Garrett told his team Friday night, "that on October 11 the Vincent Yellow Jackets made me proud."

Garrett's team didn't pull of the upset they almost masterfully orchestrated against Randolph County High School. The Jackets fell short in a 14-7 decision to the defending area champions from Wedowee.

The Jackets didn't leave an open door to a state play-off berth either. Their last hope of post-season play died with Vincent's final pass play that carried only to the RCHS 25-yard line.

What the Jackets did, at least in part, was to play with heart. That is all Garrett ever asks of his teams, and that's what made him proud.

"I think we found some people tonight who played with their hearts," Garrett told them. "When we find a few more here and there, we can really be a good football team."

In the final analysis, one play in the RCHS playbook may have been the difference in the ballgame. RCHS completed the same short down and out pattern thrown into the flat for two critical first downs in their third quarter TD drive that would eventually be the difference in the ballgame.

STATS
Vincent		Wedowee
11	FD	15
135	rushing	162
58	passing	113
0	turnovers	2
27	penalty yards	40

Again in the fourth period, on a critical third down, RCHS completed the pass as a Vincent defensive back anticipated the play and went for the interception. He was just a few inches short.

Garrett was pleased with his team's fighting attitude and comeback and pleased especially with the way his defensive unit hit. "Just keep sticking," he told them. "Just keep sticking."

The Jacket defense was led by Derek Whitfield with 17 total tackles and Reginald Riggins with 14 total hits.

"We're disappointed," Garrett said, "but I think this team can bounce back."

"You don't suppose people would believe it if you wrote that Vincent really won that game Friday night..."

The Tigers extended that lead on the initial drive of the third period, Stan Bass scoring on a one-yard run.

Vincent scored midway through the fourth quarter on a five yard run by Hugh Kidd. Vernon Kidd's PAT brought the Jackets within a touchdown, but the Jackets late comeback fell short.

Runners help King's Ranch

Chelsea's King's Ranch is now $1,000 closer to meeting its operating budget for the year, thanks to the area runners who turned out for the King's Ranch 5 Mile Run last weekend.

Proceeds from the run, organized and sponsored by the Athlete's Foot, Converse and SportPlex, went to "make ends meet" at the Christian neighborhood for kids founded by weightlifter Tom Owen.

Richard Gowins covered the five mile course near the ranch in 26 minutes 19 seconds to win the men's division of the race.

The remainder of the top ten in the men's division included James Finney, Melvin Chambliss, Hershel McNutt, Dennis Ryan, David Smith, Eddie Elrod, Mike Bentley, Frank Head and Craig Moore.

Cindy Ferguson covered the course in 38 minutes 13 seconds to record the top finish in the women's division.

Madelline Melgren, Candace Downs, Stephanie Bingham, Linda Kennedy, Emily Eberhardt, Gale Hood, Elizabeth Barker and Beverly Coker rounded out the top finishers in the women's division.

Briarwood drops first area game

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Briarwood Lions played "excellent football" in the first half of their 28-7 loss to Oak Grove Friday night.

"We never should have quit playing after the first half or we should have gone home right then," BCHS coach Ricky Sayle said afterward. "The second half was awful."

Six turnovers, four resulting in Oak Grove touchdowns, were the biggest factors in the second half that saw the Lions drop their first area game of the season.

"We just didn't execute well," Sayle said. "We weren't being hit when we fumbled and we weren't blocking so pressure on the quarterback caused the interceptions."

Sayle said his Lions played a good first half, especially on the defensive side of the ball, and that the Lions continued to play "pretty good" second half defense despite giving up four touchdowns.

STATS
Briarwood		Oak Grove
6	FD	5
28	rushing	40
64	passing	99
6	turnovers	1
61	penalty yards	50

"They never had to take the ball very far," Sayle said.

Randy Gilbert and Bred Gutteridge anchored the Lion defense, while Jon Featheringill provided a bright spot on offense with his pass catching.

"We'll just have to try and put things back together this week," Sayle said.

SCORING SUMMARY

Following a 29-yard completion between Jimmy Collier and Jon Featheringill that carried to the Oak Grove six-yard line, Collier scored on a one-yard run early in the second quarter to give Briarwood the lead in the game.

Jeff Kuhlman's PAT made the score 7-0.

The Lions surrendered four touchdowns in the second half, Dale Wyatt, Guy Snider, Brian Brown and Kevin Jackson getting the TDs to give Oak Grove a 28-7 win.

Tony Jeffers added 14 tackles and an interception to his offensive performance that included the TD grab giving him a good over-all game.

Jeff Murphy had eight tackles in only his third start, and Norman Saia returned to the line-up from an injury and got six tackles and a fumble recovery.

SCORING SUMMARY

Pelham's Mike Bramblett hit Drew Woodrow with a 31-yard scoring pass in the second quarter to give Pelham a 6-0 lead.

McAdory answered with a one-yard TD run by Carl Morgan in the third quarter, and a Scooter Argo to Brad Lewis conversion pass gave

Pelham answered late in the third quarter with Bramblett's 64-yard bomb to Tony Jeffers then played defense and ball control in the fourth period to

(2) Card of Thanks

Tom and Wanda Turner of Chelsea wish to thank everyone for their prayers and for the gifts of food, clothing and money that were given when their home burned.

(3) In Memory

In memory of our dad's birthday, Ezra Heathcox, who would have been 78 on Thursday, Oct. 17 if he hadn't went to be with the Lord on April 12, 1985. A dad is a precious friend to lose. When a dad is with you, he makes you feel special, but it's not until the Lord has called him home you realize how much you love and miss him. God only knows how much we miss him. Happy Birthday. We love you.
Daughters: Tweet, Sheila & Linda
10-17b

In memory, Darling, it's your 78th birthday on the 17th and I don't have you with me. Happy Birthday. God came and took you from me and left me sad and lonesome, but I still love you and always will. One day I can be with you and I can say "Happy Birthday, Daddy."
Clara Heathcox
10-17b

County budget exceeds revenues

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The Shelby County Commission approved a $10.3 million budget, about $1 million in excess of expected revenues for the 1985-1986 fiscal year.

Commissioners recessed the October 14 meeting and reconvened October 21 to pass the budget.

The budget includes an eight percent raise for county employees and an increase of their life insurance coverage from $4,000 to $10,000.

Four deputies and a correctional officer are added to the sheriff's department, a secretary is added to the commission office, two clerks to the Pelham branch license office and two workers to the highway department, according to Myra Davis, administrative assistant to the commission.

Because it spends more than the projected revenues for the year, the budget draws from the county's surplus fund. At the end of the 1984-1985 fiscal year, that fund had $1.5 million, according to Commissioner Gregg Rushton.

Rushton said approval of the budget would be irresponsible, spending the surplus not on capital improvements, but "pumping it into the system to make the bureaucracy larger."

He said the surplus was enough to fund several important projects, such as road paving, renovation of the courthouse and the AgriCenter building.

"We also could fund the water system in Talladega County without putting the county in debt," Rushton said.

Rushton said the water system might not make enough to cover expenses for the first couple of years until it was operating at its capacity level. He also noted fire marshal's reports that the courthouse was unsafe.

Others on the commission felt revenues were projected lower than what would actually come in, and that spending a little more was safe.

"To expend in excess of anticipated revenues is, on the surface, irresponsible," Commissioner John Ames said. "But I think there's been a glaring error in the expected income from ad valorem taxes."

The anticipated figure of $1,403,798 from ad valorem taxes is about $100,000 lower than last year, Rushton said.

The real estate and construction growth in the county made such a figure "impossible," said Ames, speculating that maybe a year's construction was not on the tax rolls.

He said the problem of spending more than projected revenues would correct itself next year. Because of this growth, the county needs services which "I do believe is the proper use of this surplus to maintain," Ames said.

Commission Chairman Tommy Snowden added that the responsibility of government is "to serve people, not to establish a savings account to hoard money unless there is a surplus and we're giving full services."

He noted requests for increased law enforcement services in North Shelby County.

Rushton countered that the public expects the commission to provide money and keep the courthouse open.

Volunteers break ground

County 17 VFD breaks ground for station

by Jim Parks
Editor

Members of the County 17 Volunteer Fire Department broke ground Saturday to officially begin construction of Station 210 in Brantleyville.

Ironically, the station is going up where the old Brantleyville Baptist Church once stood and later burned. The property, located on County 260 at the Southern Railroad tracks, was donated by the Baptists and the department paid only $10 for a recording fee.

"They've come a long way in a short time," said Daryl Lawson of the State Forestry Commission. "From nothing more than an idea to becoming a state certified volunteer fire department in less than two years is a big accomplishment."

Lawson joined Pelham Fire Marshal Steve Powell Saturday in congratulating the County 17

Pelham sewerage nearing contract

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

Pelham's sewerage privatization project is set to clear its "last major hurdle" this week, Pelham mayor Bobby Hayes told the Pelham council Monday night.

Bond insurance on the $13.45 million project was set for mid-week consideration in New York. Approval could come as early as Wednesday and could produce, Hayes said, a signed contract in the near future.

The city currently holds a letter of intent with the Parsons Company to build, operate and maintain a waste treatment system for the city. Construction cost on the project cannot exceed $13.45 million, and may be less, Hayes said. With bond insurance and other factors, the actual bond issue could approach $16 million.

Parsons and their engineering company, Engineering Services, have already begun preliminary work in the Pelham area. Groundbreaking on the Pelham system is set tentatively for early December with completion of the first of three system phases anticipated late in 1986.

McCord residence questioned by council

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

Can Harold McCord legally remain on the Columbiana Council if he lives outside the city limits?

That question was raised at last Thursday's council meeting as Mayor Buck Falkner began conducting business.

McCord maintained he was within his rights to remain on the council since he lives part of the week in his house within the city limits.

"I'm caught in the middle," said Mayor Buck Falkner. "I don't know whether to continue or not."

City attorney Bill Justice explained there was no problem with McCord remaining on the council under the present circumstances.

"The law presumes his residence is where it was if he says he hasn't moved," Justice said. "The burden of proof that he's moved is on whoever says he has."

If the matter is taken to court, Justice said it would be up to the court to determine when McCord had moved.

There could be a problem, Justice said, if McCord's vote made the difference in action taken by the council, and the vote came after the court determined he had moved. That action would then not be legal, he said.

Councilman Willard Cross said he had seen trucks moving furniture from McCord's home on Mooney Road Sept. 26 and insisted he had moved most of his household goods then.

McCord however, said he stays at his home in town five nights a week and at his home on the Shelby Road two nights.

He said what he is doing is not illegal and that he plans to resign from the council as soon as he gets his insurance straightened out.

McCord did resign from his seat on the gas board though. There were three nominations for the position won by Councilman Cross.

unit on its progress. The Auburn and Alabama football games took its toll on a large turnout at Saturday's groundbreaking ceremony, but County 17 Fire Chief Ray Hutchison said he just couldn't put it off any longer.

The event also was attended by assistant chief Bobby Holsomback, captain David Abernathy, County 17 board president Jerry Brantley, several of the volunteer firefighters and a number of supportive wives and children.

Mike Carter also showed up, at no charge, with a tractor to do the footing around the station site.

Since the County 17 Volunteer Fire Department incorporated in April 1984, the unit has acquired two trucks - a 1,650 gallon International tanker and a 500 gallon Ford pumper - and grown to nine volunteers with complete turnout gear. The department also has two walkie talkies and eight beepers.

County 17 serves nearly 200 homes in the Maylene and Brantleyville area, and firefighters are dispatched through the sheriff's department (669-4181).

"We've gotten lots of help from the Pelham and Alabaster fire departments, State Forestry Commission and sheriff's department as well as private citizens," Hutchinson said. "Pelham donated several uniforms and other departments have given us turnout gear. We also have a mutual aid agreement with other area volunteer fire departments."

Anyone wanting to make a tax deductible donation of money, materials or labor may call Hutchison at 663-1364 or the forestry commission office between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday at 669-4133.

Two men charged with using illegal nets

Two Talladega men were arrested last week on charges of commercial fishing in a closed area with illegal nets.

Conservation officer Doyle Wood said John Evers and John Haynes, both of Talladega County, were apprehended around 6 a.m. Monday, Oct. 14, after lawmen received "a good hot tip," that the two were to be stringing nets on the Coosa River in the Smith Camp area below the Wilsonville Steam Plant. Both men have since been released from jail in lieu of $5,000 each.

State licenses available for electrical contractors

A bill authorizing the statewide licensing of electrical contractors has been signed into law by Gov. George Wallace.

The bill, Act 85-921, was sponsored by the Associated Builders and Contractors of Alabama, the Merit Shop organization.

Heretofore, electrical contractors were required to take examinations in each municipality of the state where they wanted to bid for contracts on electrical work.

The new legislation permits electrical contractors to take one test from the Alabama Board of Electrical Contractors for the right to operate anywhere in Alabama.

"This legislation will save construction users money and also will save time for electrical contractors," said Jeff Masters, executive director of the Associated Builders and Contractors of Alabama.

Theft suspect nabbed at MHS

Investigators still haven't found the $560 William Shewbridge allegedly stole Friday from the cashier's office in Palmer Hall at the University of Montevallo.

Shewbridge, 25, of Montevallo, was arrested on the roof of Montevallo High School shortly after the 10:26 a.m. theft, but he did not have the money in his possession.

Students and police gave chase after the suspect grabbed $560 and ran from the campus to the high school across the street which was closed for a teachers' meeting.

Shewbridge, who was reportedly working at the university under a training program, appeared at the cashier's window asking for change. When the student working at the window turned to get it, the suspect grabbed the money and ran.

Shewbridge was arrested and taken to the Shelby County jail where he remains under $15,000 bond.

Another theft the same day took place in the high school dressing room where five lockers were broken into.

Montevallo Police Chief Allen

Needham said $109.75 was taken in the theft which took place sometime between 4 and 10 p.m.

Needham said a bolt cutter had been used to break the locks. No arrest has been made at presstime Tuesday.

Jemison man killed in Hwy 25 accident

F.C. Wallace, 46, of Jemison was killed in a traffic accident on Highway 25 near Montevallo October 14 around 7:30 p.m.

The cause of the accident is still under investigation, according to State Trooper T.J. Jackson.

Wallace was traveling toward Calera in a Volkswagen when the car and a large truck collided. The driver of the truck, Howard Eugene Davis of Montevallo, was traveling toward Montevallo.

Shelco rescue workers came to the accident, but Wallace was pronounced dead on the scene by Shelby County Coroner Billy Thompson.

Budget

One move commissioners considered to save money next year is to cut funding of agencies without county employees, Ames said. Although it is too late for this fiscal year, Ames suggested the commission might notify the agencies that the next year's funding would only pay for utilities.

Rushton voted against the budget, with Ames and Commissioner Leon Archer voting for it. Commissioner Harold Davenport was unable to attend because of illness.

After approving the budget, the commission voted to ask the state Department of Revenue to help bring the tax rolls up to date.

Commissioners worked out an agreement with Steve Chambers that may allow him to begin sales and construction in his Piney Woods subdivision. They directed County Engineer Gary Ray to approve the recording map with the understanding that Chambers will limit construction to a maximum of two per month until improvements on Piney Woods Road are complete.

Concern that the road is not safe for heavy construction traffic has delayed Chambers' development. The commission had accepted $8,000 from Chambers to make the improvements on the road, but because of other priorities, the work has not yet been done. Ray has said the work may be completed in November.

Chambers agreed further to require that any purchasers of his subdivision lots agree to use flagmen when materials are delivered to building sites.

In other business:

• A cost-of-living increase for 53 retired workers was approved;

• A bridge culvert for County Road 69 was approved;

• A $4,860 bid for grading for the AgriCenter was awarded to the Joe McGaughy Company of Montevallo;

• A bid for three time clocks at $1,315 each was awarded to Simplex Time Recorder Co. because other companies bidding did not meet specifications.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The notebook again

It's that notebook again: Letter in the mail from Nalda Morrow Carr who lives in Columbus, GA. You went out the Shelby road past Perry McGhee's house and the cemetery and Bruton Pitt's place and Talmadge Nelson's and the Walt Morrrows' and their girls. A clipping from the Columbus paper tells about an eight year old girl watching Halley's Comet. That girl was Nalda Morrow 75 years ago. There was also news about Aunt Annie Bird who is over 100 years old.

A letter from Ginny and Bully Fowler down Lannett, AL. way. Ginny and I are birthday twins, although I am old enough to be her grandpa. She never forgets to say hello on October 6.

A letter from Millard Crumpton who lives in Coffeeville, MS. Millard remembers Mildred White Wallace who helped him get a scholarship to the University. He had a fine voice and, after graduation from the University, spent 20 years as Minister of Music in the Greenland Heights Methodist Church in Memphis, TN.

I remember: One day at Shelby Memorial Hospital where a lady and four kids stood outside an open window and talked to a man inside. After a little the man said something and the four kids moved back and the lady moved up and raised a blanket so he could see the baby. Maybe if I had tried I could have found out their names. And how much love was around that one hospital window. But love has a thousand names. And you're apt to find it anywhere, if you have time to notice.

I remember: We got to the wash-hole in Longshore's pasture around two o'clock. On the way we had stopped at a dewberry patch and an apple tree at an old house place. Everybody jumped in but this one guy. He always went along but he never got wet. He just walked up and down the bank in his birthday suit. We called him a "bank walker" and it tickled him.

The weekly Good Morning column, written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member FDIC.

Melba Till Allen to run?

With the Clock ticking steadily toward June 3, 1986 - primary election day - the line-up of likely candidates for various state offices changes almost as rapidly as the stock market.

Now comes a new name, one from out of the past - the word is out that Melba Till Allen will attempt a political comeback next year as a candidate for lieutenant governor.

To say that Mrs. Allen has had a checkered political career would be an understatement of some proportions. She burst on the political scene in 1966 when she was elected State Auditor, and in that post she attracted wide attention as a scripture-quoting, crusading official who was determined to lock up other public officials who she found guilty of wrongdoing.

A few years later, while serving as State Treasurer, the tables were turned on Mrs. Allen. It was she who was found guilty of two counts of violating the state ethics law. These convictions led to her removal from state office and she also lost her civil rights, making her ineligible to hold public office. Her rights have since been restored, and now she apparently plans to seek an office no woman has ever held.

Mrs. Allen will face some formidable opponents. State Sen. John Teague of Childersburg is already an announced candidate and has long since begun his media campaign. State Sen. Hinton Mitchem of Albertville is not far behind Teague in his campaign activity; and PSC member Jim Folsom, Jr. is also preparing for the same race.

Whether the voters of Alabama, who in the 1960s and 1970s gave Mrs. Allen enormous votes of confidence, are ready to forgive and forget her indiscretions remains to be seen, but her entry into the race will certainly add some spice to the campaign.

The Hezekiah Wagstaff story refuses to die. None other than the Southern Christian Leadership Conference has gotten into the act. A spokesman for SCLC has charged that Wagstaff was a victim of racism, that the two Wallace cabinet members who sought to fire him (Ken Wallis and Bill Rushton) were motivated by race. Resolving this bizarre and at times comical affair will be one of the governor's first orders of business when he returns from the Far East.

And another story that also refuses to go away concerns Mrs. Evelyn Pratt, who serves on the State Board of Education despite the fact that the State Ethics Commission has clearly stated she is violating the state law. Mrs. Pratt is also a school principal. Neither Atty. Gen. Charles Graddick or Madison County District Attorney Robert Cramer dares to prosecute the case against Mrs. Pratt (such is the power of the AEA), but showing considerably more stout has been Mrs. Mary Jane Caylor, superintendent of Huntsville City Schools. Mrs. Caylor is now docking Mrs. Pratt's salary for every day she is absent from school to attend Board of Education meetings. Mrs. Pratt doesn't like it. There's not a lot she can do about it.

We need fiscal prudence

Hot Off The Press

by Jim Parks

There's a moral to just about every story, and there are a lot of stories going on in Shelby County these days.

One such story - which appears on the front page of this edition - comes from the county commission chambers where only two - John Ames and Leon Archer - of our five elected commissioners approved, a $10.3 million budget, which exceeds expected revenues by $1.5 million.

I don't pretend to be an expert on county government - but there are times, my input wouldn't have hurt - and I understand that our elected officials sometimes get caught in a bind such as they did Monday, but only two people deciding how my and your money is to be spent bothers me to some extent.

By law, the commission must have approved the 1985-86 budget by the end of October, but I question why the budget was not in order before now, allowing a little leeway for troublesome situations like one commissioner - Harold Davenport - being absent.

Commission chairman Tommy Snowden did not vote and Commissioner Gregg Rushton voted no.

There are times a lone dissenting vote catches it from the press. But this time, I think Rushton was correct in voting no.

He did not, however, vote against the budget as a whole, but against dumping the $1.5 million surplus into the general fund.

Although I think Snowden had good intentions about not wanting to hoard the people's money in a savings account, Rushton had better intentions of using it for - unless he's totally off base - a much needed North Shelby water system, a much needed courthouse makeover or much needed road resurfacing.

And I don't consider John Ames an irresponsible commissioner, but it appears, this time, he gambled his vote on unseen income. He believes there has been "a glaring error in the expected income from ad valorem taxes."

We hope he's right. But if he's not, the county will really have to scrape next year to match $10.3 million. This may prove that a little hoarding wouldn't hurt.

From a taxpayer's point of view - and someone who is vitally interested in the organized growth and well-being of Shelby County - I'm hoping the people we elected to handle our money are wise enough to see beyond this year's needs.

The moral to this story could be as obvious as "don't count your chickens until they're hatched," but it should be "he who spends wisely, is allowed to spend again."

Commissioner Ames is at it again

Letter to the Editor:

Here we go again with John Ames and the county commission trying once more to rip off the citizens of Shelby County.

Now they want to sell Shelby Medical Center, thinking they can get their hands on some more of our money to waste in their usual fashion. They have just wasted $200,000 on architectural drawings for buildings they don't have the money to build. That's like spending your last dollar for a wallet.

Led by John Ames and his "fact sheet," they now want to spend $100,000 on a referendum to see if the citizens want to sell SMC. The only people who want to sell SMC are John Ames and the other commissioners, though they will not publicly admit it. We should be asking them, "What do you expect to gain from the sale, and how can the sale of SMC possibly benefit the citizens of Shelby County?"

The John Ames fact sheet is done in typical Ames fashion. Even where the facts are available, he makes incorrect assumptions and distorts the truth when the truth might have served his purpose. We have come to expect this from him, though. Let's look closely at his so-called "facts":

1. SMC has about $6 million in liquid assets.
- 1a. The truth is, SMC has $6.7 million in the investment portfolio.

2. SMC is losing from $100,000 to $200,000 per month.

2a. The truth is that SMC will make an audited profit of $400,000 for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1985.

3. SMC cannot cut overhead enough to make profit at present occupancy level.

3a. The truth is, it has already been done this year, and it will be done better next year.

The John Ames "solution" as quoted by him is to sell SMC and let him and the other commissioners manage the money from the proceeds of the sale. We already know how good they are at managing our tax money; so that will be the day when we do that.

SMC is a fine institution with an extremely good physical plant, modern, excellent equipment, a superb medical staff, plus outstanding employees. Why would anyone want to sell an asset like that. I'll give you one guess.

Indigent health care and your county taxes are inextricably bound. Here is one fact that you can bet the house on: If SMC is sold, your taxes will increase dramatically. Alabama law makes the county commission responsible for indigent health care costs. Where will the commissioners get the money except from us?

Fulton says thanks to community

Letter to the Thompson community:

How can I say thank you for a lifetime of wonderful memories at Thompson?

I have been fortunate to have spent 31 years at the school I love in the community I love. Twelve of those years were as student, the other 19 as a teacher, assistant principal and finally as principal.

It is hard to put into words what those last 14 years have meant to me. The honor of working with the students and teachers of Thompson High School as principal has been extremely gratifying and fulfilling.

Making the decision to leave Thompson after all these years was one of the hardest of my life. Thanking everyone properly for these important years will take a lifetime.

The recognition by the faculty two weeks ago and the pre-game ceremony last Friday night by the community and the student body will be lasting memories. The beautiful plaque and the fantastic monetary gift was indeed touching.

However, no gift can be as important to me as the friendships I have developed over the years with those who have attended Thompson, those who have been supporting of Thompson and those who have taught and worked at Thompson.

I love all of you for what you and Thompson have done for me!

Wallace says raising drinking age is saving lives

by George C. Wallace
Governor

Ten years ago, I tried as governor to stop the Legislature from lowering the legal drinking age in Alabama to 19. I had grave misgivings about what it would do to our young people, especially those who would get behind the wheel of a car while they were drinking.

But the Legislature insisted on passing the bill despite my veto, and in the years since then we have seen a tragic increase in the number of alcohol-related traffic accidents where teen-agers were involved. Other states where the drinking age also has been lowered have had the same experience.

Now, however, our Legislature and the national Congress have seen enough. A bill raising the drinking age back to 21 in Alabama was passed by the House and Senate during the regular session last spring, and went into effect Oct. 1. I was happy to sign that measure into law. Congress also passed a law mandating all of the other states to raise the drinking age to 21.

Actually, the law which lowered Alabama's age to 19 back in 1975 didn't say anything about drinking; it didn't even mention alcoholic beverages. It simply granted 19 and 20-year-olds all of the legal rights which presumably had been extended only to those 21 and over.

One of these rights, of course, was the right to drink liquor, wine or beer. And it was the only one I questioned.

I was wholeheartedly in favor of giving the 19 and 20-year-olds all of the other rights - like the right to make contracts or to buy merchandise on credit. And I still am.

But I was against giving teenagers the right to drink, so I sent the bill back to the Legislature with an executive amendment which would have left the legal drinking age at 21.

When the Legislature refused to concur in the amendment, that made it a veto, and both houses passed the bill over my veto.

Now, with the drinking age raised back to 21, the other rights are left undisturbed. The new law simply makes it illegal for those under age 21 to buy, drink, possess or transport any alcoholic beverages.

However, the new law contains what we call a grandfather clause which exempts young men and women who were 19 before the law went into effect on Oct. 1. They had the legal right to buy and drink liquor before the law was changed, and they still have it.

I opposed that provision in the bill, but the Legislature passed it anyway.

Now, let's look at the traffic accident reports and see what effect it has when the drinking age is lowered to 19 and when it is raised back to 21.

In Alabama in 1974, the year before the drinking age was lowered, drivers from 18 to 20 years of age were involved in 13 percent of all alcohol-related accidents. Four years later, 17 percent of the accidents involved drivers in that group.

In another age group - 15 through 19 - the figures show that 38 percent of the drivers who were involved in accidents last year had been drinking. In 1983, it was even worse - 55 percent.

Other states have had similar experiences. Michigan raised its drinking age to 21 in 1978. The next year, it showed a 31 percent reduction in the number of alcohol-related accidents involving drivers 18 to 20 years of age.

Illinois and Maine tell pretty much the same story.

Overall, the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety found a 28 percent drop in the number of drinking driver accidents in the states which raised their legal drinking age to 21.

The traffic death toll nationwide last year was approximately 25,000. About 8,000 of these victims were between the ages of 16 and 24.

And most of them had been drinking.

Experts tell us we could save over 600 lives a year if every state raised its drinking age to 21.

I have the utmost respect for our teenagers today. And I am going to do all I can to keep them from killing themselves and killing others on the highway. Raising the drinking age to 21 isn't the only answer, of course. But it will help.

Judge praises Pelham courts

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

The Pelham City Council heard a positive report on the city's municipal court system from municipal court judge Brad Bishop during its regular Monday night meeting.

Bishop asked to appear before the council to update the group on the operation of the court since he assumed the judgeship a year ago. He also wanted to commend the council, the administration and the city's police department for their lack of interference in the city's courts.

"We have a unique situation in Pelham because there is a strong separation in the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government," Bishop said, "and the court system also is separate from the law enforcement branch."

"I've never had anyone here ask me to fix a ticket or take care of someone," Bishop added, "which is good because I wouldn't do it anyway."

Bishop said groups state-wide are beginning to recognize Pelham's municipal court as somewhat of a "model court." That respect, Bishop said, is reflected in the fact that he has recently been asked to re-write the Municipal Court Manual given to all municipal judges by the state's Administrative Office of Courts, been elected secretary/treasurer of the Municipal Judges Association in the state and been appointed by the Alabama Supreme Court to serve as the chairman of its advisory commission on municipal courts.

"Those things reflect favorably on you and this city," Bishop told the council.

Council members Ken Maynard and Beverly Hall publicly thanked Bishop for his efforts as well. "You reflect favorably on us," Maynard said.

In other business, the council: •approved nine street lights for residential areas of the city — Cedar Cove, Wildwood in Chandalar, Tecumseh Trail and Chandaway Court;

•passed an ordinance allowing city police officers to close roads within the city if they pose a hazard to drivers or if driving on them could cause damage to the road;

•assumed maintenance responsibility for the new state park road as it runs through the Pelham city limits, also gaining control of speed limits and enforcement on the road.

Allen Fulton honored by Thompson High

The former principal of Thompson High School was honored this past Friday night during a pre-game ceremony at the Thompson-Oak Grove football game.

Allen Fulton, who moved to the central office of the Shelby

County Board of Education in September, was recognized for his accomplishments during the past 14 and a half years as THS principal.

He received a plaque and a cashier's check for $1,565. Presentations were made by the Rev. Terry Maynard, pastor of Elliottsville Cumberland Presbyterian Church (Fulton's pastor); and Mike Kent, trustee of Thompson schools.

As principal, Fulton was credited for:

--leading the faculty through two self-studies to maintain scholastic accreditation.

--working with parents in organizing the Academic Booster Club.

--working with the Athletic Booster Club in renovating the athletic facilities at Thompson.

--being instrumental in laying the groundwork for the new high school.

Fulton, 43, holds a 31-year record at Thompson High School, having been a student for 12 years, a teacher for two, assistant principal for two and a half, and principal for 14 and a half.

He leaves with the reputation of having eaten more lunches in the school cafeteria than anyone else in the history of Thompson schools.

Chelsea Fire Dept has haunted house

The Chelsea Volunteer Fire Department will have a haunted house Oct. 29, 30 and 31, 6 to 10 p.m. at the fire station on Old Highway 280, next to Chris's Restaurant. Admission is $1 to help raise funds for a new fire truck.

The department has been taking donations at Chelsea home football games, receiving $369.84 from three games. Door to door visits to seek support and offer information about the department are planned for the near future.

A new truck could lower the cost of homeowners insurance by improving the class nine fire rating, said Al Limbaugh, public relations officer for the department. "The better the equipment, the better the chance we will have to save your home and life should the unfortunate happen to you," he added.

Fletcher: "I'm just Pelham's trainer."

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

The Pelham High School Panther football team was hard at practice during the "dog-days" heat of an August afternoon.

While running sprints, one of the Panthers left the group to lean against a fence on the side of the practice field.

A 14-year-old student walked up to him, talked a moment, then led him from the field.

Inside the Pelham field house, there is a training room. The player followed the boy inside and did what the youngster told him to do. The student placed ice packs behind the player's neck, on his head, under his arms and on the groin. It took about 10 minutes for the heat exhaustion crisis to pass and the player to begin breathing normally.

Not a normal reaction for the average 14-year-old. But then, Jack Fletcher is not your average student.

Two years ago, a paramedic in the Pelham community wanted to begin a training program for the Pelham High School football team.

Jim Phillips, in addition to being an avid supporter of Pelham athletics, had experience with other training programs in the area — high school and with the Birmingham Stallions of the USFL — and the expertise to offer such a program to the Pelham coaches.

"It was something I wanted to do, but I could not be there every day," Phillips said. "You cannot be successful with a training program unless it is an everyday thing."

Phillips needed help.

Enter Jack Fletcher, a junior varsity player for the Panthers. Fletcher was interested and Phillips' problem was solved.

"He gave me a lot of books to read and a lot of things to study," Fletcher said last week as he quickly taped an ankle in the Pelham training room.

"He has learned well," Phillips added. "He can do almost anything now and if he needs help in an emergency, he knows who to call for help."

While the heat exhaustion case during summer drills is the most "dramatic" situation Fletcher has ever had to handle alone, he maintains the Pelham training program on the days when Phillips must work his regular fireman's shift and provides all of the taping and treatments to Pelham varsity, B-team and junior varsity athletes.

"It's my responsibility," Fletcher said. "They get in trouble if they don't come for treatments and I get a lick if I don't make sure they have them."

"It is nice to know there is someone here who can handle the treatments, taping and injuries on the days I am unavailable," Phillips emphasized. "Without someone to depend on, the training program would not be effective."

Fletcher takes his job seriously. Beginning as a freshman, Fletcher studied the material Phillips provided and became certified in CPR as well. From Pelham, Fletcher hopes to take his training abilities onto a college campus and be a trainer there, and Phillips feels Fletcher has a good shot at a scholarship if he doesn't let his school books get locked in the training room too often.

"We keep an eye on the grades," Phillips and Fletcher agree. "There is no possibility for a scholarship if you can't get in school."

The job is a demanding one. Fletcher attends practices until about 7 p.m. each evening and has game responsibilities on Monday, Thursday and Friday nights.

"It's fun though," Fletcher said. "It keeps me in touch with football and the guys."

One of those guys is Jack's older brother Tommy, a junior on the Panthers' varsity team.

Is it different when you treat your own brother?

"Sure," Jack said. "Mostly because he tries to tell me what to do."

But Jack has taped — his way — the knees and ankles for his

At Founder's Day

UM presents honors

Former state Sen. Pat Vacca of Birmingham received an honorary doctor of humanities degree from the University of Montevallo at its Founders Day assembly October 10.

Vacca recently donated $600,000 to UM, qualifying the school for an additional $400,000 of matching state funds under the Eminent Scholars Act. The university was the first in the state to take advantage of the eminent scholars fund.

UM President Jim Vickrey also praised Vacca for his help in establishing the Vacca Traffic Safety Center and an emergency student loan fund.

Two UM faculty were also honored during the Founder's Day festivities.

Jack Hamilton, professor of political science, was named the 1985-1986 University Scholar. Beth Hamer, associate professor of home economics education, received the alumni association's Outstanding Commitment to Teaching award.

The 1985 Alumni Loyalty award went to Mrs. Nathalie Molton Gibbons of the class of 1930.

The UM Alumni Association kicked off its annual fund drive at a luncheon, setting this year's goal at $900,000.

Other Founders Day events were a musical salute to Abraham Lincoln, a campus country fair and picnic, an academic procession and the traditional robing of the seniors.

UM was founded in 1886 as Alabama Girls School, a statewide training institute for women. It became Alabama College for Women in 1923. The school began to admit men in 1956 and was renamed the University of Montevallo in 1969.

Martha Hood Hood retiring after 20 years as SMC nurse

After 20 years as a nurse at Shelby Medical Center, Martha Hood retired this month.

Originally from the Birmingham Port community, Hood began work as a part-time nurse's aide at Shelby Medical Center in 1963. Two years later she moved to full-time employment and then advanced to unit clerk.

At that time, no type of formal education was needed for her position, Hood said. Training from licensed practical nurses and on-the-job experience was the only form of schooling Hood received.

"They would just switch me from one floor to the next, and I would just pick it up as it came along," she added.

In a hospital, nurses must be available for the patients, and Hood said this was easy for her. "Being a mother of seven, it came natural for me to be available for people."

Even though she has enjoyed her work, Hood, who now lives in Calera, hopes to have some time for herself after she retires. While she is still in good health, she wants to visit her children, who have now moved from home.

"After all these years, it's time for me to do what I want to do," she said.

Aufdemorte receives UAB nursing scholarship

Elizabeth A. Aufdemorte is the recipient of the 1985-86 Florence A. Hixson Scholarship, one of two new scholarships of the University of Alabama Birmingham School of Nursing.

The $1,000 award provides financial assistance to one full-time master's or doctoral student each year and is endowed by Dr.

UM center serves teachers in several counties and cities

An Inservice Education Center at the University of Montevallo now provides professional development programs for teachers and administrators from area public schools.

The center serves educators in the school systems of Bibb, Chilton, Coosa, Shelby and Talladega counties as well as the cities of Homewood, Mountain Brook, Sylacauga, Talladega and Vestavia.

"The program has been very successful up to this point," said Dr. Anne Tishler, director of the center. "We've certainly been able to reach a considerable number of teachers and administrators in the short time we've been in existence."

UM's Inservice Education

Center has been operational since July 1. Thirty-four workshops have been offered in six critical needs areas. Five of these have been in computer science, seven in language arts/English, seven in mathematics, three in science, two in special education and three in administration.

Several more workshops dealing with these subjects will be held this year and next summer. The center will also be helping Shelby and Coosa counties conduct training sessions during their upcoming inservice days scheduled in October.

"As we become better known, we get more and more requests for workshops. We originally had to make contact with the schools," Tishler said.

The concept of state-funded inservice education centers was originated by the Governor's Education Reform Commission in 1984. The commission determined the critical needs areas and the location of each center.

Any higher educational institution desiring to establish a center was required to submit a written proposal to the commission. On the basis of the quality of that proposal, the University of Montevallo was selected as one of the 11 centers in Alabama.

For further information, contact Dr. Anne Tishler at the University of Montevallo, 665-6337.

Pelham artist awarded in international postcard competition

Terry M. Hill, representing Environmental PhotoArt of Pelham, received his third award in the last four years at the 1985 convention of the International Post Card Distributors Association held in New York the first week of October.

His post card titled "Sunset on the Beach," representing Gulf Shores was awarded Honorable Mention (2nd place) in the "Sunrise or Sunset" category.

In 1982, Hill won First Place in the "Souvenir Folder" category with his entry titled "Alabama, the Old South to the Space Age," illustrating fourteen scenic attractions throughout the state of Alabama.

In 1983, Hill's entry of a post card of Nocalula Falls in north Alabama was awarded "Best Post Card of the Year" by IPCDA.

Winners of these awards are selected by a vote of the membership of IPCDA from entries received from IPCDA members throughout the United States, Canada and the Caribbean Islands. The awards might be considered as the "Academy Awards" of the Post Card industry.

Mr. Hill is currently a member of the Board of Directors of IPCDA, having been elected to that position in 1984.

Cicio places first in state PR competition

Mary Cicio of North Shelby County won three first place awards in the annual student awards competition of the Public Relations Council of Alabama, part of the annual convention held in Birmingham October 3 and 4.

Cicio also received an award of excellence with two other students for a bill stuffer.

Cicio is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe V. Cicio of North Shelby County. she is a senior in public relation at UAB and is vice president for membership of UAB-PRCA.

Hixson, the first dean of the school.

Board guides school system

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is part of a weekly series on the people and services provided by the governing agencies of Shelby County. This week's article features the Board of Education.

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The Shelby County Board of Education is responsible for developing and administering policies for the county school system.

A professional staff of 16 provides information for the five-member board to act on and provides administrative and instructional support for the school system.

Evan Major, instructional services director, oversees textbooks, class workloads and the professional development of teachers, said board spokesman Wayne Sumners.

George Dailey, secondary education coordinator, works with high school curriculum and testing, such as graduation exams, counseling and basic skills. Rebecca Nail works with elementary instruction and with the Chapter I program to enhance the skills of culturally deprived children.

Linda Nolen is special education coordinator. The program works with both gifted and handicapped children.

The county's Center for Exceptional Children is located in the Board of Education building in Columbiana.

"It's amazing what these kids learn over here. Some are teenagers who have never been in school," Sumners said.

The vocational education coordinator is Jimmy Bice. Along with the home economics, industrial arts and general education taught in regular schools, more specialized classes are offered at the Area Vocational Center in Columbiana. Automobile mechanics, health services, construction, drafting, office work and cosmetology are some of the subjects covered at the center.

Pat Walden heads a resource center for teachers. Audio-visual and text materials are distributed from the Board of Education building. Gayle Robbins, a resource teacher, specializes in language arts, reading and Chapter I materials. Glenda Mims works with math and science.

The administrative staff is headed by Superintendent Ellie Glasscox, who has held that position two and a half years. Deputy superintendent Vern Davis assists Glasscox, with special responsibilities for personnel and teacher certification.

As career incentive program coordinator, Allen Fulton will be working with teacher evaluation and the career ladder program. Sumners described this as "a fair and aggressive program to help teachers be more effective."

Braxton Baker, transportation coordinator, is responsible for the routes, schedules and maintenance of 119 school buses.

Pat Bulger works with policy relating directly to students, such as attendance, suspensions and conduct codes. The schools' attendance program includes spot checking of absences and, with extensive absences, a conference with parents, the student and District Judge Patti Smith.

Bulger is also child nutrition program coordinator.

The duties of Jim Davis, business and financial affairs coordinator, include developing the budget, handling bids and accounting.

Wayne Sumners, public information coordinator, works with public, governmental and employee relations.

Administrative Assistant Wyldine Hill is in charge of a support staff of secretaries, clerks, typists and other workers.

Adult basic education classes offered in Shelby County are administered by Talladega County, Sumners said.

A "Develop Alabama Youth" program in Alabaster for students who have trouble in a regular school setting receives support from the county system, Sumners said.

County board members are Barbara Whitman, president;

Bill Fancher, vice president; Joe Coggins; Donna Morris and Paul Sumners. Board officers are elected in the April.

Budget hearings are held in the spring, with the budget adopted the next October.

In the spring, a local committee of teachers and lay people choose textbooks from a list approved by the state.

Public input into the school system is available through a Parent Teacher Council, local parent and teacher organizations, and local boards of trustees.

Sumners praised the Shelby County school system and its staff as "committed to providing excellence in education." He noted that Shelby County ranked fourth in the state of 67 counties that gave achievement tests last year and predicted, "We're going to get to the top."

Resurfacing

State Representative John Tanner looks on as state road crews complete a major resurfacing project on Hwy. 119 N. The state highway was resurfaced from U.S. 31 to 280 at a cost of three-quarters of a million dollars. Tanner said the road was in bad need of repair, and after a meeting with area residents, he approached the governor and state highway director for an appropriation. (photo by Jim Parks)

For giving blood Chelsea, Thompson high schools honored

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

It remains to be seen whether Chelsea will win the 2A division in football. There's no doubt about the school's championship status in another area, however.

For the past four years, Chelsea has won the trophy presented by the local Red Cross chapter to the county school giving the most blood based on the enrollment in the junior and senior class.

On Thursday, Chelsea was one of two county schools receiving state awards for outstanding participation in blood drives.

The other school recognized at an awards luncheon at the Red Cross Building in Birmingham, was Thompson, a 5-A school.

Shelby County's Red Cross chapter was also presented awards for meeting its 1984-85 quota of 4,052 pints, and exceeding it by 865 pints.

Cecelia Etheredge, chairman of volunteers, accepted the gold and silver awards for the chapter. Expressing pride in the effort of school students, Emily Rabren, director of the local chapter, noted they had contributed 1,109 pints or one quarter of the total amount collected.

She said the seven public high schools and Indian Springs, a private school, held blood drives during the year, competing with each other for the coveted trophy.

Chelsea, which is trying for a fifth win, claimed last year's trophy with 115 percent participation and 155 pints of blood. Thompson had a 90.2 percent participation, giving 359 pints of blood.

County Schools Superintendent Ellie Glasscox looked on with pride as Chelsea Principal Glen Frederick and Debbie Copeland from Thompson accepted two of the seven awards presented to state schools.

The high school education awards are based on the highest percentage of student donors according to the Alabama Sporting Classification of Class A-6A.

Birmingham radio personality Tommy Charles, the guest speaker for the occasion, expressed appreciation to Red Cross workers and volunteers for their dedication.

He described the Red Cross as a "service station for people who need a fill-up."

Charles said he had had a number of operations including heart by-pass surgery.

"Keep up the good work," he urged. "People on the operating tables all around the world salute you."

Red Cross awards

Birmingham radio personality Tommy Charles congratulates the Shelby County contingent on the awards they were presented from the American Red Cross. Awards were accepted by Cecelia Etheredge (left), Debbie Copeland (right), and Glen Frederick. School superintendent Ellie Glasscox and Rhonda Davis were also among the Shelby Countians attending the luncheon meeting.

Ellis art shown at library

The Mildred B. Harrison Regional Library in Columbiana will be exhibiting the art of Shelby County native Diane Bentley Ellis this month.

Ellis' love for art began in her childhood. Her talent was recognized by a fourth grade teacher, who assigned her first "real" painting. She remembers sitting on the lawn of the then Columbiana Elementary School and painting the building on a drawing pad with tempera paint.

Her interest in art continued in high school and into college, when she minored in the subject at the University of Montevallo. Since then, she has studied extensively with artists such as Ralph McDonald, Rocky Stovall and Donny Finley.

Ellis is a versatile artist whose paintings include landscapes, still lifes, animals and portraits in various mediums.

Her favorite subjects are family camping and horseback trips, which are in a private collection owned by her husband, state Sen. Butch Ellis. She also enjoys painting county landmarks and rural scenes.

Ellis is adept in many painting mediums, including oils, acrylics, watercolors and pastels.

Her work can be found in collections in several states and has won many first place awards. A watercolor of the Columbiana Elementary School, reminiscent of that first painting, has been printed.

Ellis lives with her husband and children, Kelly, Christy and Corley on a farm in Columbiana. She said a studio at home and a wonderful, supportive family are what she needs to continue her love of art.

brother and a lot of the other Panthers. In doing his job, Phillips observed, Fletcher has also earned their respect.

Jack's parents, Thomas and Jo Ann Fletcher, enjoy the role their son plays in protecting his older brother and the rest of the Panthers.

"They like what I'm doing," Fletcher said. "They support me in it."

Phillips hopes to have Fletcher certified as a student trainer in the near future.

"We're just waiting for them to update the program," Phillips said. "I'm sure he won't have any trouble with it."

For now, Fletcher is content to watch the Panthers, in practice or in a game. He sits in a chair away from the crowd, watching and waiting.

Asked if he dreams of being the guy that runs out on the field to care for an injured Dallas Cowboy in 10 years, Fletcher said no.

"I just see myself as the Pelham trainer right now," he said. "I enjoy doing this and I'll take it wherever it leads."

presented by University of Montevallo students on Nov. 8 at 8 p.m.

National competition will be held at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington D.C.

Approximately 500 institutions of higher learning participate in the festival program, 10 of which are from Alabama.

Teen-age pageant set

Applications are being accepted for the 15th Annual Miss Alabama National Teen-ager Pageant which will be held March 21-23 in Montgomery.

Contestants, who must be between the ages of 13 and 18, will be judged on scholastic achievement-leadership, poise-personality and appearance.

The state winner will receive her choice of $1,500 in cash or a one week teen-dream vacation in Hawaii.

Applications may be obtained by writing: Miss Alabama National Teen-ager Pageant, P.O. Box 21645, Columbia, S.C. 29221.

Performance set

The Alabama Symphony Chorus and the Alabama Symphony Orchestra will perform Stravinsky's Symphony of Psalms Nov. 2 at 8 p.m. and Nov. 3 at 2:30 p.m. at the Civic Center Concert Hall.

Symphony of Psalms, which draws its inspiration from early 17th century Baroque, is a strangely moving work for some, yet intriguing for those who like the unexpected.

The Alabama Symphony Chorus consists of the Birmingham Concert Chorale plus choral groups from various colleges that come together under the direction of Thomas Gibbs, chairman of fine and performing arts at Birmingham Southern College.

The orchestra, under the baton of Associate Music Director and Conductor Edward Allan Nord, will also perform Beethoven's Overture to King Stephen, and Brahms' Symphony No. 1 in C Minor, Opus

Two county firemen become smoke divers

by K.A. Turner
Staff Writer

Ocala Florida is a quiet place — a place away from the tourist beaches and resort noises that make Florida the vacation capital of the southeast.

Yet adventurous men travel frequently to Ocala. They make that journey to face a very special challenge — a challenge to become better than they thought they could be.

The men are firefighters.

They travel to Ocala's Florida State Fire College to become smoke divers, an elite national group of firefighters that has faced one of the most grueling physical and mental challenges of their profession and won.

Shelby County has two new smoke divers. Pelham fire-medics Pete Zekoff and North Shelby fire-medics Ronnie West recently joined only 875 firefighters throughout the nation — and less than 10 in Alabama — who wear the smoke diver's red, white and blue patch. It is not the most ornamental patch those firemen will ever see. It does, however, mean a lot to those who wear it.

"That is the toughest week I have ever been through," West said. "It should help me in the future, because I found the limits of my physical endurance."

"You have to be in peak physical and mental condition to succeed," Zekoff said. "The mental preparation is probably the most important. They play with your mind there."

The smoke diver's instruction is an advanced course in firefighting techniques that require breathing apparatus and search and rescue techniques. It requires work and training inside of burning buildings that can reach temperatures of 1200° to 1500° — often work carried out blindly because of extreme smoke coverage. It shows a fireman his limits and teaches him to save himself and others when those limits are reached.

"The first time I am actually in a position to save a life, this training will receive its best compliment," West said.

Both Zekoff and West began their training months before leaving for the week-long school. Both logged extensive miles running, often in the heavy coats, air tanks, masks and boots that constitute full turn-out gear for a firefighter. Zekoff supplemented that training with exercises and work on an obstacle course at the University of Montevallo. West worked out with weights.

Zekoff had a little extra incentive added just before he made the trip, as two days before his departure his wife Kathy shared the news that they were going to have a baby.

"It gave me something nice to think about while I was there and two things to be excited about now that I'm back," Zekoff said.

Throughout the week of physical exercise and learning new breathing and search and rescue techniques, both of the fire-medics ran into situations where they had to give more effort than they once thought their bodies were capable of giving.

"You definitely have to want it to succeed," Zekoff said. "You have to be mentally tough to be able to reach down and give a little more when you think you have given everything."

Once completed, the training gave both a good measurement for the limits of their capabilities in a fire/rescue situation and how best to use the strength and air available to them.

"The only reason I train is to better myself so I can better this department and better serve the people here," Zekoff said. "I am very proud to be a part of a department where training and safety are emphasized and are always the first consideration."

"It has made me both a better overall firefighter and a better person," West said. "To have accepted that kind of challenge and accomplished the goal has to make you a better person."

West is the first smoke diver in the North Shelby Department. Zekoff, however, joins four other Pelham firefighters in successfully completing smoke diver training, giving the department the most smoke divers in the state.

At Thompson Elementary School

Halloween poster contest winners announced

More than 100 Thompson Elementary School students put their ghostly minds and gremlin-fingers to work in recent weeks making posters to advertise the school's upcoming Fall Festival — held appropriately each year near that favorite of ghosts' holidays...Halloween.

The posters were judged and awards were presented in each grade category from kindergarten through fifth grade.

Fourth grader Natalie Williams was the grand prize winner, her poster full of colorful ghosts and goblins.

Other winners included Holly Williamson, Joel Williamson, Katie Ray, Kirsten Doeblar, Dana Dunaway, Amy Thompson, Jason Smith, Katie Flippo, Amy Brom, Kirsta Kuykendall, Emily Gilliam, April Doeblar, Ashley Douglass, Diane Cogins, Wayne Booth, Jason Harless, Dustin Davis and Jason Hill.

The TES Fall Festival will be held on Tuesday, October 29, from 5:30 until 8:30 p.m.

A hot dog supper will precede the event from 5 p.m. until 7 p.m. with all plates $1.50.

The Festival will feature all types of carnival activities, a sweet shop and a country store.

UM will hold women's clinics

A weekly women's clinic will be held every Monday starting October 27 at the University of Montevallo with the help of the Shelby County Health Department.

A certified nurse practitioner will provide a complete examination consisting of an individual's medical history, pelvic and breast exam, pap smear, urinalysis, heart and lung evaluation, and blood pressure and venereal disease testing.

These services are available to university and community women and high school students. Exams will be conducted in Peterson Hall every Monday, 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Appointments, preferred but not necessary, can be made at 665-6453.

Exams and medications supplied by the health department are free to people with annual incomes less than $5,250. They are available on a sliding fee scale to others, in accordance with federal government guidelines.

"This is an excellent preventive measure for women to begin taking care of themselves. College-age women are not immune to these disorders, and it is important to pay attention when there's a problem," said Dr. Alice Mayes, director of student development and assistant professor of education at UM.

This pilot project is funded by federal, state and local grants and will be evaluated after one semester to determine whether it provides a necessary service. If the clinic is not successful, it will be moved to a new location.

THS in forensic meet at UM

Thompson High School will be one of the high schools from across the state taking part in a forensic meet at the University of Montevallo.

The competition will be held Saturday, Oct. 26 in Reynolds Studio Theatre beginning at 10 a.m. Students will compete in duet acting, oral interpretation and after-dinner speaking.

UM's Communication Arts Department is hosting the meet which is open to the public free of charge.

Smoke divers

Pelham Lt. Joey Lovelady was the department's first smoke diver. In addition, Lt. Mike Knight, driver Clarence Stone and fire-medic David McCurry also wear the smoke divers insignia.

McCurry is Zekoff's rescue unit partner, and, Zekoff said, part of the inspiration behind one of Shelby County's newest elite firefighters — the smoke divers.

The Boy Scouts held a special education day camp for grades six through nine at Oak Mountain State Park October 15.

About 150 students from Columbiana Middle School, the Center for Exceptional Children, Thompson Middle School and Montevallo Middle School in Shelby County and Green Valley Elementary School in Jefferson County attended.

Butch Fuller of Montevallo spoke to the students about Indian lore. Other activities included a visit to the bird sanctuary, a nature hike and lessons in first aid, tying knots and making rope.

The Pioneer Club, a service organization of South Central Bell, and South Metro Civitans of Hoover helped with the event.

The special education program began last year with elementary students and is being extended to include middle and high school students.

An explorer olympics is planned for the high school students November 23 at the University of Alabama in Birmingham's Bell Gym. A Cub Scout day camp for elementary school children is planned for the spring.

Art film, theatre company coming to UM

Suddenly Last Summer, part of the University of Montevallo's art film series, will be shown in Comer Auditorium October 27 at 7 p.m.

The 1959 film features Katherine Hepburn, Elizabeth Taylor and Montgomery Cliff. Hepburn and Taylor both received Academy Award nominations for their performances.

Joseph L. Mankiewicz directed the film. Gore Vidal adapted the script from Tennessee Williams' stage play about a young woman gone mad with guilt after the death of her cousin.

Admission is $1, or free for Key Card holders. For more information, call 665-6413.

Facets Performance Ensemble will present an original theatre piece, Macondo at the University of Montevallo's Palmer Auditorium October 29 at 8 p.m.

Macondo is a mystical work billed as "100 days of solitude in a South American town that doesn't exist." The piece is based on Gabriel Garcia-Marquez' Nobel Prize winning novel, One Hundred Years of Solitude.

Facets, founded in Chicago in 1975, is a year-round professional theatre company. Macondo is the 10th work to be developed by the group, which has performed in more than 200 theatres in the United States, Canada, Africa and Europe.

The performance is sponsored by UM's concert and lecture series. Admission is free for faculty, staff and students, $4 for other adults and $2 for other students. For more information, call 665-6202.

Automobiles require routine checks

During October, National Car Care Month, motorists are urged to take precautions to protect air quality, fuel conservation, personal savings and traffic safety.

According to the national automobile association, almost 80 percent of the emergency road service calls are because cars will not start. Many of these mechanical problems could be eliminated if motorists give proper mechanical care.

Money spent on a tune-up is money well spent because the car is then unlikely to develop more extensive problems.

Now that many drivers use self-service fill-ups, many of the routine checks are not being performed on vehicles. The Energy Extension Service of the Alabama Department of Economic and Community Affairs recommends the following be done periodically by either the owner or a service station attendant.

•Fluids: Check engine oil, transmission oil, power steering fluids and coolant, and add as needed. Remember to never remove the radiator pressure cap when the engine is hot.

•Battery: Check for corrosion on terminals, a common cause of starting trouble. Check electrolyte level and add water as needed.

•While the hood is up, take a look at the drive belts and hoses. Frayed or worn belts should be replaced, as should soft, brittle or bulging hoses.

•Windshield wipers: Check for rubber that has become brittle with age and may be worn to a point where wipers smear or streak the glass. Check the supply of washer fluid.

•Tires: Invest in a good tire gauge and use it frequently. If you haven't checked the pressure since summer, you're likely to find them underinflated. Even a couple of pounds of underinflation can decrease tread life by about 10 percent.

•Take a look at the service sticker on your door jamb. Time for a lube job, oil and filter change? While the car is on the service lift, it should be checked for leaking exhaust system parts, shock absorbers, engine or transmission seals and other leaks.

•Make a walk-around inspection of all your lights, including turn signals.

Additional information on car maintenance and energy conservation can be obtained from ADECA by calling 1-800-392-8089.

SMC will X-ray Halloween candy

The good witches of Shelby Medical Center will be on duty Halloween night, Oct. 31. Parents can bring their little ghosts and goblins by the hospital emergency department where "trick or treat" candy will be X-rayed for metal objects. This service will be offered 8-9 p.m. at no charge. "Parents should inspect their children's candy carefully. Be suspicious of unwrapped candy or wrappers that look like they may have been tampered with," said Charlie Ivey, SMC emergency department manager.

Poll and economic study on UM released

A recent Capstone Poll revealed that one in four adult Alabamians have relatives who attended the University of Montevallo.

The university's economic impact on the area was also examined in a study by Joe Walker, associate professor of business. He updated for the second time a 1978 study by former UM professor William Marxsen.

UM's total economic impact on Shelby County since 1977 has been over $134 million, and was over $21 million in the last fiscal year.

Expenditures by the university, its personnel and students tend to raise the incomes of merchants and others who provide goods and services. Those people, in turn, spend more in the county themselves, increasing the income of others, and the process continues. Taxes paid by the university, staff and students are also part of its economic impact.

In the survey by the University of Alabama's Capstone Poll, 498 adult Alabama citizens were contacted by phone between August 28 and September 5. The results have a 4.5 percent margin of error. This study is an update of research begun by the university in 1978.

About 49 percent said that UM was doing an "excellent" or "good" job, while only eight percent labeled it "fair" or "poor." Favorable responses have increased by eight percentage points since 1983.

About 70 percent of those surveyed believe it is "very important" for the university to maintain its role as a small university of high quality. This is an increase of 13 points over the original 1978 poll and four percent since 1983.

The number of respondents saying it is "very important" for the university to offer additional graduate programs increased five points each time the poll was taken, from 40 percent in 1978 to 50 percent this year.

Halloween safety tips offered by Children's Hospital

Make plans now for a safe Halloween for your "ghouls" and "goblins."

According to The Children's Hospital of Alabama's Poison Information Center, many types of accidents occur on Halloween night.

"These accidents include burns, motor vehicle accidents and poisoning," said William D. King, director for the center. "Numerous reports are received each Halloween regarding ingestion of candies laced with toxic substances, too."

"We suggest that neighborhood parents plan a block party as an alternative to trick-or-treating."

King offered the following prevention tips for parents who do permit their children to make the rounds on Halloween:

•An adult should accompany children on their rounds.

•Children should stay in their own neighborhood, calling only at familiar homes.

•Parents should insist that children bring all their treats home before eating. Parents may want to provide a special sack of their own treats for the children to nibble along the way.

•Parents should sort out the "loot." Let children eat only those candies which are in original wrappers and apparently have not been unwrapped. Food should be examined carefully to make sure there are no holes where a foreign substance might have been inserted. All fruit should be cut in half to check for foreign objects such as pieces of metal or razor blades. No homemade food should be eaten unless it was received from friends or family.

•Children should be dressed in brightly colored costumes, including a fluorescent scarf, tie, belt or vest. Children should be encouraged to make their rounds before dark.

•Children should be permitted to wear only fire-retardant costumes. They should always carry flashlights, not candles, to light their way.

The Children's Hospital Poison Information Center operates an emergency phone, which is manned 24 hours per day by a registered pharmacist or nurse.

For Halloween and other poisoning emergencies, call 933-4050.

Foundation giving trees with memberships

Would you like a white Dogwood and an American Redbud in your yard? How about a Mountainash and a flowering Crab tree.

These are some of the trees new members of the National Arbor Day Foundation can receive free this month. The price of membership is $10.

John Rosenow, executive director of the foundation, says, "The free trees are part of the foundation's efforts to improve the quality of life in America by encouraging tree planting."

He said the offer is being made this month because fall is the best time to plant.

The six to 12 inch trees will be sent postpaid at the right time for planting with planting instructions enclosed. Rosenow said they are guaranteed to grow or will or will be replaced free of charge.

New members will receive two each of the following: white Dogwood, American Redbud, European Mountainash, Washington Hawthorn and flowering Crab.

To join the foundation, send $10 to Flowering Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, NE 68410 by Oct. 31.

Calera up-ends Chelsea for season's first win

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor
Calera 21 - Chelsea 15.
For the Calera Eagles and their fans, you need say nothing else.
"It was a sweet, sweet win, said Eagle coach Danny Alverson. "I'm just so happy for these kids. Tears came to my eyes at the end of the first quarter they were battling so hard."
Emotions played a big part in the Eagles' first win of the season. Just ask Chelsea head coach Mike Utter who watched his team drop to 5-3 with the loss.
"They were playing with a lot of emotion," Utter said. "They were hungry, and they just wanted it more than we did."
Alverson agreed with Utter's assessment of the emotion in the game.

"It was an emotionally charged game," Alverson said, "and that made both teams play hard. Our team was fired up and I think our fans were even more fired up. These little guys didn't want to lose homecoming for all of those folks and they played their hearts and souls out."
In addition to the emotional intangibles, Alverson could point to one tangible factor as a key to the Eagles' first win.

"We didn't turn the ball over as much," Alverson said. "I like to think that is a sign of maturity for this team."

Alverson also noted the running of Steve Seay as a major factor. Seay accumulated 119 yards in only six carries, the first Calera back to break the 100-yard barrier this season.

Defensively, Alverson credited Chuck Amos and Joey Killingsworth with "a super game."

Utter pointed to another factor as a possible turning point in the game. After a long pass gave his Hornets an early score, Utter said the team seemed to "go flat" for a few minutes — a few minutes the Eagles took advantage of.

"I guess it was just a little too easy at first," Utter said.

Utter did compliment the blocking of his offensive line during the game, saying the unit as a whole played well. Brian Brasher, Robert Burcham, Tommy Kelly and Scott Grantham gained special note from Utter as did end Gene Britnell for both blocking and pass catching.

Defensively, Utter said his players were "just in the wrong place at the wrong time" in several instances. "I'll just have to find a new way to remind them of their assignments," Utter said.

The Calera win enables the Eagles to begin looking toward a state play-off spot and could be the first step toward an area championship. To accomplish that, the Eagles would need wins over St. Clair County and Brighton in their final two regular season games of 1985.

The Hornets still look to be strong contenders for one of the two area play-off slots as they have a 2-1 record and have concluded area play.

Chelsea Hornet Mark Burnett tries to hang on to a pass he bobbled as Calera's Mark Jones makes the hit in the Eagles 21-15 win over the Hornets. Chelsea connected on a long pass to set up the game's first score but surrendered three touchdowns to a fired-up group of Eagles before scoring again. (photo by K.A. Turner)

Briarwood aims for state after win over MHS

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor
In their first season of competition as an Alabama High School Athletic Association school, the Briarwood Lions appear headed for a berth in the 1985 state play-offs.

The Lions ran their area mark to 2-1 with a 14-7 win over Montevallo last Friday night. While the game threw a wet towel over the MHS homecoming festivities, it ignited the Briarwood players and fans alike, causing shouts of "We're going to state" to echo across the Bulldogs' Theron Fischer stadium.

"Everyone was pretty excited Friday night," said BCHS coach Ricky Sayle, "but today it's just like any other Monday - back to the business of practice."

Sayle did admit, however, that the business of practice was a little easier for players and coaches alike after the big Friday night win.

"We just didn't kill ourselves like we have done at times this year," Sayle said. "We didn't turn the ball over but once, and we haven't done that in the difficult games until this point."

The lack of turnovers, Sayle said, left the Lions in a position to win a game that Montevallo dominated statistically.

For the Record

Scott Wynne still scoring

Pelham's Scott Wynne continues to put scoring punch into the UAB Blazers soccer team.

Wynne and teammate Stu Schulman each scored a goal and an assist for UAB's two goals in a 3-2 loss to New Orleans last week. The Blazers also took a 3-2 win over Samford during the week, the 1-1 record running their season mark to 4-11.

Bike tour set

Deep South Bicycle Tours will visit Shelby County and Lay Lake in November.

Patsy Henson, president of Deep South Tours, said her group will repeat a successful tour through southeast Shelby County to Lay Lake on Saturday, November 2. The tour will feature routes from 21 miles to 41 miles long over low-traffic roads, a picnic at Lay Lake and complete with support from the DSBT staff and van.

The tour will begin at Shelby County High School at 9 a.m. and conclude by 4 p.m. Fee is $10, $5 if under 18 and accompanied by an adult.

For more information, contact Henson at P.O. Box 59211, Birmingham, AL 35259-9211 before October 31.

Courtney Blake, 4 years old, was awarded a yellow belt with one stripe after being tested by the U.S. Taekwondo Alliance. Courtney's teacher is Karen Mitchell of Montevallo. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Blake of Montevallo.

Spratlin finishes in top 20

Chelsea angler Bill Spratlin was among the top 20 finishers in the region II classic of the national Red Man Bass Tournament Trail.

Spratlin pulled in 16 pounds 11 ounces of bass during the two-day tournament, finishing 20th among the 120 anglers who won the right to advance to the region tournament through their fishing expertise on the 1985 Red Man Trail.

The 20th spot finish was not enough, however, to qualify Spratlin for the national fishing classic in Arizona set for early November.

Jackets get together for cross country win

Running together as a complete team for the first time this season, the Vincent Yellow Jacket cross country team brought home the first place title in the seven-team Athens Bible School Invitational meet last Saturday.

Paced by the meet's top individual finisher, Earl Lawson, the Jackets ran to a first place team finish by placing five runners among the meet's top six finishers.

Lawson's winning time was 14:30 while teammate James Kearn finished in 14:30.1, a virtual tie.

Troy Datcher finished fourth,

Barry Mitchell fifth and Clark Dates sixth for the Jackets, all finishing within three seconds of one another.

"For our first time together as a team, I was very encouraged," said VHS coach Jim Barnes. "The times reflect hard work from the kids."

The Jackets also had a high finish in the junior high division of the meet as Steven Moore took sixth place with a 13:57 time over the two-mile course.

Pelham bombs Vincent 36-0

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor
Pelham coach Billy Tohill didn't expect it. Neither did Vincent coach Harold Garrett.

The Pelham Panthers blanked the Vincent Yellow Jackets 36-0 in Vincent Friday night. For Tohill and the Panthers, the game was a "pleasant surprise."

"I didn't expect it to turn out like that because of the talent they have," Tohill said. "It makes everything look wonderful right now."

"I didn't think we were that flat going into the game," said Garrett. "I guess something didn't happen during the week that should have happened."

The Thompson Warriors have had an up-and-down kind of year, but THS coach Doug Wheeler has been able to count on the running of Demetrius Gaiters in good times and in bad.

"D.D. keeps running the ball hard," Wheeler says almost every week his Warriors play. Friday night against Oak Grove, D.D. ran hard enough to score three touchdowns. Behind that effort, the Warriors scored a 27-14 win over the Tigers, running their record to 4-4 for the season.

Gaiters followed blocking by an offensive line that Wheeler said "graded out real well" to his best scoring output of the season. Wheeler said Harold Threatt, Barclay Simmons, Russell Templin, Brett Bruce and Chris Whitfield all blocked well allowing Gaiters and his backfield companions to rush for more than 300 yards.

The Warriors also had a stand-out performer on defense, as weak side linebacker Dennis Null had 12 initial hits enroute to racking up 21 tackles on the night. Add to that a fumble causing-hit and a deflected pass, and Null played well indeed.

Wheeler also noted the defensive efforts of Kerry Ballard and the THS secondary.

Ballard was forced into service at defensive end when Tom Hummell was injured, and Wheeler said he responded well to that challenge.

The THS coach was pleased with the way his secondary broke on the football during the night, citing especially the play of Kevin Duke.

SCORING SUMMARY

Demetrius Gaiters scored on runs of 22, nine and six yards and Shane Horrell added a 56 yard TD run to give the Warriors their winning margin. Randy Littleton kicked three PATs to complete the Thompson scoring.

Oak Grove's Dale Wyatt scored twice in the second period, Guy Snider adding both PATs for Oak Grove.

Lasers beat Hoover in area soccer match

The American Soccer Club's Lasers came from behind to defeat the Hoover Fire 3-2 in recent Mid-State Soccer League action, the second straight win for the Lasers who move to a 2-1-0 record.

Halfbacks Jacob Skinner, Jason Dees, Chad Britton and Bryan Scott kept the ball in scoring position for the forwards throughout the game to key the win for the Lasers.

Fullbacks Gabe Crouch, Alan Hunt and Mitch Martin anchored the Laser defense, Martin playing well enough to be named "Laser of the Week" for his performance.

Hoover's explosive center forward Will Tomb scored both of his team's goals while Hoover goalie Don Bland kept the contest close by turning away more than 12 shots on goal.

The Laser's offense was led by center forward Ryan Lundy who scored all three of the Laser goals. Wingers Ryan Bridges and Lance Thomas and forwards Lundy, Trey Evans and Mike Hacker worked well together to give Lundy the scoring opportunities.

Both the Lasers and Hoover play in the under-10 Green Division of the Mid-State Soccer League.

Jennifer Jones of Mountain Brook won the vault while Erin Scott of the Bama Bounders won the bars.

Other JIGA students finishing among the all-around leaders included Amy Bellanca in fifth and Kristy Stith in sixth.

In individual events, JIGA students consistently placed among the leaders with Laura Herbst third, Bellanca fourth and Gwen Church and Tami Lydolph tied for sixth in the vault competition; Church finishing second and Jill Franklin in a tie for sixth in the bars competition; Carrie Black finishing fourth and Stith sixth in the beam competition; and Herbst second, Elizabeth Pennington third and Carrie Cagle fifth in the floor exercise.

JIGA had eight sectional qualifiers in the division, Bellanca, Black, Church, Franklin, Herbst, Linder, Lydolph and Stith.

Sandy Smith gave JIGA students a clean-sweep of all-around titles when she won the all-around competition in the 12-14 year old division. Smith finished first in the floor exercise and beam and fourth in the vault and bars

Opening day buck

Columbiana's Dennis King shows off the buck he brought home on the opening day of deer season for bow hunters. King killed the 120-pound spike with a Martin Cougar bow and Rocky Mountain Razor Head arrows. (photo by Wayne Rasco)

Hunting 'hot' as bow season opens

With bow season just over one week old, deer hunters throughout Shelby County are reporting seeing a lot of deer during hunting trips both in and out of the central Alabama area.

While Shelby County hunting has been productive for many — especially in the Shelby area where hunters are reporting a lot of deer — the state's current "hot spots" are in South Alabama, especially in the Butler Management Area, said Sylvester Shaw of Alabama Hunter's Headquarters in Columbiana.

Local hunters registered five kills with the Columbiana hunter's headquarters during the first weeks of the season, the biggest being a 120-pound, eight-point buck brought down by Doug Jowers of Shelby.

Columbiana's Dennis King had two kills during the first week of the season, a 120-pound spike and a doe.

Another Columbiana hunter, Rodney Ross, brought home a four-point buck still in "full velvet". Chelsea's Tim Crawford killed a spike.

Local hunters will continue to search the woods armed only with bow and arrows through November 15, the opening date of gun season in Shelby County.

Rebs lose close region game

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

A loss is a loss no matter what the score. A region loss hurts Coosa Valley's chances of going to the state play-offs just as much when it is 14-13 as if it were 40-13.

Yet, the Rebels came so close to defeating Grove Hill on the road last Friday night. As close as 14-13. As close as six inches. So close, and yet so far.

With two minutes remaining in what had been "the most physical game we have played all year," Coosa Valley coach John Niblett and his Rebels lined up to try a two-point conversion. The play followed Tad Niblett's second TD pass of the night to Mike Payne, a score which pulled the Rebs within one point of their region foe Grove Hill, 14-13.

Niblett rolled out on a pass-run option, but his receiver was knocked down coming off the line. The sophomore quarterback dove for the endzone but landed on the six inch line. So close...

"We showed a lot of class on that touchdown drive," coach Niblett said later. "We made big play after big play on third and fourth downs. We had a chance to win. I guess it was just one of those things."

STATS

CVA	Grove Hill
12	first downs 12
203	rushing 230
151	passing 65
1	turnovers 3
125	penalty yards 35

As close as 14-13... as close as six inches... even as close as a penalty or two — just a few of the 60 yards in penalties that were a major contributor in Grove Hill's go-ahead drive of 85 yards could have made the difference — so close, but still so far.

The game was not without bright spots... Bobby Crumpton's 18 tackles, Niblett's 106 yards rushing and 151 passing, Mike Payne's catches of Niblett's and opponents passes.

It was not without pain... a neck injury to Kerry Shaw that left him hospitalized for the weekend and gone from football for the year.

It was, most of all, close. So close... and yet it leaves the Rebels play-off chances farther away.

SCORING SUMMARY

Facing a 7-0 halftime deficit, the Coosa Valley Rebels marched 80 yards with the opening kick-off of the second half to tie the ballgame at 7-7.

The score came on a 12-yard pass from Tad Niblett to Mike Payne with Robert Strickland adding the PAT.

On a penalty-aided drive, Grove Hill took a 14-7 lead in the third quarter.

Coosa Valley answered with a fourth quarter touchdown, Niblett and Payne again teaming on a pass play. Coosa Valley's conversion attempt was just short and the final score remained 14-13.

SCHS Wildcats' loss hurt area chances

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

Shelby County High School coach Randle Cassidy still isn't smiling.

This week, he doesn't have a win to frown about.

The Abrams Blue Devils scored in each of the first two quarters during their Friday night visit in Columbiana, then held on for a 16-13 win over the SCHS Wildcats. Though any loss is apt to make a coach frown, a loss that leaves the defending area champion 'Cats 0-1 in area play is even less pleasant.

And the loss follows a win over Parrish that gave Cassidy little cause to smile as well.

"We are still having problems with our offensive line," Cassidy said after the loss to Abrams. "We're doing basically the same things they did last year on the line, but we're going to have to do some extra work there and possibly look at rearranging some personnel."

Breakdowns in the defensive secondary, Cassidy said, also contributed to the Wildcats' defeat, as Abrams quarterback Darren Burton passed for two touchdowns and two conversions.

Cassidy was pleased with the play of the Shelby County defensive front, especially against the Abrams running game. He cited Jasper English, Edmund Buie and Tony Revis for their specific defensive efforts.

Offensively, Cassidy said his team's second half comeback came close, but not quite close enough.

SCORING SUMMARY

Eddie Burton teamed with Clarence Thompson and Eddie Thomas for touchdowns and conversions in each of the first two quarters to give Abrams a 16-6 lead at the half.

Shelby County's second quarter score came on a three-yard run by Ambrose Woods.

Cross-country runners perform well

Cross country runners from two county schools placed high in last Saturday's John Carroll Invitational cross country meet.

Weldon Moore paced the Briarwood High Lady Lions to a second place finish in the event, winning individual honors with a time of 13:20 over the two-mile course.

Sheri Boots finished sixth and Elizabeth Mullins 11th in the women's division with Jenifer Buck and Catherine Carlson rounding out the BCHS team.

Pelham's Bryant Henderson finished an individual third in his division of the meet covering the three-mile course in 16:01. Pelham's Buck Helms finished 11th individually, and Mike Suhling also ran for the Panthers.

The Briarwood Lion men finished fourth in men's team competition with Robert Welch's 16th place the highest individual finish. Nate Wilson finished 17th and Brian Barrett 19th for the Lions with Eric Aasland, Phong Le and Hugh Thomas rounding out the team.

Notebooking the UM Lady Falcons

The University of Montevallo Lady Falcons volleyball team — including former Thompson Lady Warrior Janiece Scoggins and former Pelham Lady Panther Denise Heisler — continue to chalk up good marks as their regular season play begins to draw to a close.

Following a trip to Mississippi for the Ole Miss Invitational, the Lady Falcons will have only three single matches left before heading into NAIA district and tri-district play.

Notebooking the Lady Falcons as the season draws to a close, a few interesting numbers appear.

Montevallo posted a 37-7 record through last weekend, a mark good enough to keep the Lady Falcons in the number four spot in the latest NAIA national polls.

UM finished second in their latest tournament outing at the West Georgia College Invitational, finishing as a "bridesmaid" to Mississippi University for Women for the third time this season.

The Lady Falcons also brought home a third place finish in the recent Missouri Western College Invitational.

The Lady Falcons have yet to be beaten by an NAIA foe this season, and were 4-1 against

NCAA Division I teams, 13-5 against NCAA Division II's — including MUW — and 1-0 against NCAA Division III schools before play began in the West Georgia Invitational.

Shelby's play-off hopes - slim and none.
The Raiders' second region loss of the year coming against a Patrician team picked in the pre-season as the region's top squad, just about ends the Raiders' play-off hopes. It also just about ends Kervin's patience with his team's play when the Raiders are behind.

"We got down early and didn't seem to play well from that point," Kervin said. "It's almost like they are going through the motions trying to keep from being embarrassed rather than trying to come back and win."

20	penalty yards	35

"We have a lot to learn about playing behind," Kervin added. "They have to prove to me they can come from behind to win."

The Raiders have never trailed in their six wins this season. In both losses, once an opponent gained the advantage, the Raider offense suffered turnover or penalty problems that ended drives.

Friday's homecoming loss to Patrician was no different, as turnovers and penalties killed two second half scoring opportunities that could have put the Raiders back in the ballgame.

"We had two chances to score," Kervin said, "but we just went through the motions."

Kervin did credit Patrician with playing a good game, saying the state's top-ranked 2A team "played hard and executed well."

Patrician was especially successful on the quick pitch and passing to backs out of the backfield, all three of the Patrician scores being set up on that pass to a back.

Kervin also saw one bright spot on the Shelby side in the game, commending Brad Stamps for his play on defense.

SCORING SUMMARY

Patrician scored in each of the first three quarters, Billy Moore getting two touchdowns and Jeff Utsey the third.

Calera

PAT to give the Hornets an early 7-0 lead.

Calera answered with a 33-yard pass from Mark Jones to Byron White. Shane Schroeder's PAT tied the score at 7-7.

Late in the first quarter, Kenny Richardson scored on a three-yard run and with Schroeder's kick, Calera led 14-7 at the close of the first quarter.

The Eagles added a second period touchdown on another three-yard run by Richardson.

Again, Schroeder kicked the PAT and Calera took a 21-7 lead into the half.

Chelsea scored early in the fourth period on a 12-yard run by Larry Offord. Offord also added the conversion run to make the final 21-15.

American Soccer Club pre-soc action

Raiders avenge loss to Thundercats

The American Soccer Club's Red Raiders avenged an earlier season loss to the Blue Thundercats with a 3-0 win at Pelham's Cloud Field recently.

Scott Spencer, with assists by Chad Evans and Eric Everson, scored two of the Raiders goals in the first half against a tough Thundercat defense led by Allison Ahearn, Tapper Wood, Brian Hayes, William Noe and John Grelle.

The Raiders defense, led by Julia Dees, Jonathan Russell, Katherine DeMellier and goalie

David Gutos, held the Thundercats scoreless to preserve the win.

Raider forward Stephen Gibson, with the help of teammate Adam West, added a goal in the second half to complete the scoring.

Briarwood

MHS coach Richard Gilliam recognized his team's statistic win as well, calling himself a "major contributor" to the Dogs' loss.

"My decision to go on fourth down late in the game was not a good one," Gilliam said. "It gave them an opportunity to win the game instead of sending it to overtime."

The fourth and short call came with just over three minutes remaining. When the Bulldogs did not convert, Briarwood moved upfield behind a Conrad Carpenter catch and runs by Brad Gray, finally scoring with less than a minute remaining.

Carpenter and Gray both drew praise from Sayle for their play in the game. In addition to a couple of big receptions, Carpenter also intercepted a pass and made a touchdown saving tackle.

Gray, starting at quarterback for the first time this season due to Jimmy Collier's week-long bout with the flu, handled the offense well, Sayle said.

In addition, Randy Gilbert and Brad Gutteridge were praised for their defensive play.

Gilliam cited the efforts of Charles Devinner in the game. The Bulldog runningback rushed 30 times for 168 yards and a touchdown, the first Montevallo back to go over the 100-yard mark this season.

On Devinner's 30-yard TD scamper, Gilliam noted good blocking from Mike Kimbrell, John Mayhall, Sean Roberts and Chris Sables. Gilliam also noted that Norman Payne had a good game on both offense and defense and that Clint King was among the defensive leaders.

SCORING SUMMARY

Briarwood drew first blood on a first quarter TD pass from Brad Gray to Brad Gutteridge covering seven yards. Jeff Kuhlman added the PAT to give the Lions a 7-0 lead.

Montevallo answered with Charles Devinner's 30-yard TD scamper in the second quarter. Slade Backwell's PAT tied the score at 7-7.

Gray scored on a one-yard sneak in the final quarter to give added the PAT to make the final Briarwood the win. Kuhlman 14-7.

bomb.

When Vincent answered with a good drive on their next possession, the Panthers came up with a goal-line stand that cut the Pelham march short inside the Pelham two-yard line. From that point, Pelham again drove then threw a second goal-line stand against Vincent on a later possession. The rest was 36-0 history.

Tohill credited his Panthers with a good game over-all, the offense, defense and kicking game all falling into place.

"The kids just played good, basic, fundamental football," Tohill said. "They gave good effort."

Individually, Tohill cited the efforts of Billy Fant (17 rushes for 94 yards and a TD), Mike Bramblett, Tony Jeffers, Tommy Fletcher, Bret Jones and Jeff Murphy in the game. In addition to catching several of Bramblett's passes, Jeffers also intercepted one of Vincent's. Fletcher picked off two Vincent tosses, while Jones and Murphy were the tackle leaders.

When asked who played well, Garrett thought Bramblett, Jeffers and company did play well.

"It's hard to find much good on our side about this one," he said.

SCORING SUMMARY

Pelham's Mike Bramblett hit Tony Jeffers with an 85-yard scoring toss in the first quarter and a 30-yard strike in the second to account for two of Pelham's three first-half touchdowns.

Billy Fant scored on a 12-yard run between the TD passes, and PAT kicks by Bramblett and Richard Croom gave the Panthers a 21-0 lead at the half.

Pelham scored on two different one-yard runs in the second half, Gary Majors getting a third quarter TD and Carvis Jones adding a fourth quarter score. Croom kicked one PAT and Jeffers ran a second conversion to make the final 36-0.

Boo!

Graveyards are spooky places to be at night - especially on Halloween night when the spirits are abroad looking for people to frighten. The apparition hovering in a local cemetery may not be seen by many, but numbers of boys and girls in ghostly costumes will be out tonight looking for treats, so motorists are urged to drive with extra caution. (photo by Jim Parks and K.A. Turner)

SMC election set for Dec. 10

by Elizabeth Patterson
Staff Writer

Shelby County voters will be able to decide the fate of Shelby Medical Center in a special referendum December 10.

Cost of the election, called by the commission at its regular Monday meeting, should only be about $8,000, according to Bill Tucker, who supervises elections in the county. Rumors had set the figure as high as $100,000.

However, SMC board member H.A. "Doc" Rubin felt that "Even if they have to spend one dime, it's one dime too much."

At a meeting last Tuesday, the SMC Board of Trustees voted six for and six against a public referendum on the sale of the hospital.

The board also voted nine to three against selling the hospital. Pete Raughley, Reid Long and Doug Ballard abstained from voting until the public's wishes are revealed in an election.

Rubin said the hospital is "a viable, going organization," citing an increase in the total assets of the hospital from $30,959,830 in 1984 to $33,844,911 in 1985.

The 9.6 percent increase of $1.6 million was characterized as a "fairly good increase" by Keith Heartsill, assistant administrator of finance for SMC.

Other board members voting against a public referendum were C.E. "Bull" Carter, Jerome Turner, Eloise Underwood, Lou Workman and Joe Arledge. The trustees said they felt the public did not have enough accurate information about SMC to vote, according to hospital spokesman Steve Martin.

Voting for the referendum were Ballard, Long, Raughley, Tom Stubbs, Tom Lloyd and Laura Willis.

Before the Dec. 10 election, the commission will schedule public hearings to which the SMC board, administrators and other interested people will be invited to speak, said Commissioner John Ames. He expected the meetings to be set within the

Education budget $10 million over 1984

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

The Shelby County Board of Education has passed a $48.5 million budget - an increase of $10 million over last year.

Most of the increase is due to the long overdue building program undertaken by the board.

In the budget adopted last Tuesday, $12.8 million is included for capital outlay at 17 county schools.

Contracts for two of those projects were awarded at the meeting. Lovelady Construction Co. of Plantersville won the bid to build an addition at Helena Elementary School at a cost of $1.06 million.

Chandler Construction Co. was awarded the bid to build an indoor activity area at Chelsea School at a cost of $67,938.

Part of the revenue to pay for the expansive building program is coming from the additional 3-mill property tax approved by voters last year which is expected to bring in $916,000.

That income and $1.3 million from the state are pledged to a $10 million bond issue which is expected to take care of the major portion of the building program.

School Superintendent Ellie Glasscox said the Helena project is the second largest building project with the new Thompson High School topping the list.

The Helena project includes classrooms, an activity area, administrative offices and a lunchroom. The original $1.3 million cost was reduced by eliminating several items.

On one of the items, a mistake made by the contractor in figuring was in the board's favor. Architect Bill Cody explained the contractor had deducted $41,600 for paving in front of the school, which he said will cost around $15,000 if bid separately.

Costs were also brought down by changing uncarpeted areas from terrazzo to tile floor covering, and by taking out top of the line kitchen equipment.

The superintendent said the kitchen equipment could be purchased for less if bid separately.

HES Principal Billy Wayne Bramblett expressed concern about the unpaved drive washing away with the gravel going into yards downhill from the school. He also thought a canopy over a walkway should have been left on to protect

County mappers settle court case

Two employees who were fired last year by Tax Assessor Bobbie Reynolds are back at their jobs in the mapping department. A third fired employee is working at a similar job in Talladega.

A court case brought by the three employees was settled last week before going to trial.

All three employees were "completely vindicated," said Alabaster attorney Jim Pino, who represented Jimmie Ruth Watts, Charlene Prentice and Mary Nell Castleberry, who now works in Talladega.

Pino said a $35,000 monetary settlement in the case includes the workers' back pay, plus damages and attorney's fees.

The reason given by Reynolds for firing the workers last October was that there was an "unworkable situation" in the mapping department.

Pino contends the employees were fired because of their cooperation with an investigation the Department of Examiners of Public Examiners was conducting.

The investigation concerned three employees of the department who were suspected of unethical practices.

Bob Thompson, who was elected tax assessor in last year's election, said his predecessor had hired two temporary workers to replace the fired employees. He said their employment ended in September.

Calera councilman resigns

Bill Geeslin resigned from the Calera City Council at its Oct. 21 meeting without giving a reason.

The resignation was effective immediately. The council and Mayor George Roy will choose a replacement as soon as possible, said City Clerk Lemoyne Payton.

Geeslin, elected 13 months ago, declined to explain the resignation, saying "Everybody has reasons, but mine are personal." He did say no problem prompted his resignation.

Also during the Oct. 21 meeting, the council approved an updated city code to replace the old one. The new code has basically the same ordinances, but is reorganized, repeals some outdated laws and makes references to state laws. Payton said.

Spirits dwell on UM campus

Halloween is the time of year when ghosts most often reappear.

But at the University of Montevallo, spirits are not seasonal visitors; they live in the red-bricked buildings on the 89-year-old campus and in the imaginations of four generations of creative college students.

Phantoms can be found in the halls of Main, the attics of Reynolds and Hanson, the auditorium of Palmer and the second story of King House. And like the best of all supernatural tales, the fantasy is rooted in fact.

The ghost who lives in the residence hall of Main is the spirit of Condie Cunningham, a young girl who died in 1908 from burns she received during a dormitory fire.

Condie and her roommate were making fudge on a chafing dish they had placed between them on the floor. When the "lights out" signal sounded at 10 p.m., in their rush to extinguish the chafing dish's flame, they accidentally knocked over a bottle of alcohol. The fluid ignited and quickly spread to Condie's clothes. Before they could put out the fire, the girl was fatally burned. She died within 48 hours.

Legend has it that she still stalks the fourth floor hall of Main. A figure of a girl, hanging upside down with her long hair streaming towards the floor, can be found on one of the doors.

Although it has been repainted several times, the impression continues to come through.

"And if you peer through a cracked door out of the corner of your eye, you can see a flash of red as Condie's ghost walks by." Or so the story goes.

The King House, UM's oldest structure, has a ghost that waited over a century before returning to haunt his former home. Edmund King built the house in 1823 and lived there until his death. His grave in the King family cemetery can still be found on the University campus today.

The house was deeded to the school in 1906 and, for nearly 70 years, was used as a classroom and office building. But not until 1973 when the house was restored to its original appearance did the spirit of Edmund King return.

During the Civil War, King supposedly buried a sack of gold coins in his fruit orchard to prevent looting by Yankee raiders. He died shortly thereafter and the money was never found - by mortal souls, that is.

According to the legend, King's ghost sits in the upstairs bedroom, counting his treasure and listening to the clink of the coins as he takes them from the sack.

Another story claims that Capt. H.C. Reynolds, the school's first president, haunts the attic of the building that now bears his name; and a former housemother, long ago buried, still watches over the residents of Hanson Hall.

The University's favorite ghost is Trummie, the theatre director, who presides over Palmer Auditorium. He is the spirit of Dr. Walter Trumbauer who, in 1930, directed the first of many performances held in the newly-built hall.

Trummie was a legend, even in his own time, for being a bit of a tyrant. His students loved him but were scared to death of him. His praise was rare and they worked hard to earn it. They also learned a great deal from him.

The ghost of Trummie still critiques the work of UM theatre students. When he approves of their performances, he swings the battens, those pipes backstage where background flats are hung.

There's also a seat in the auditorium where Trummie sits to watch rehearsals. One minute all the seats on a certain row are up and the next minute one of them is down and the actors know that Trummie has been around.

The legends of Montevallo have been passed on over the years from one generation to the next: senior to freshman, teacher to student, mother to son.

This information has been gathered from interviews with members of the UM community, notably Mary Frances Tipton, alumna and assistant librarian, and Dr. Lucille Griffith, professor emerita of history and author of "Alabama College 1896-1969."

PTO provides evening of horror

The Halloween Horror House in Montevallo's Orr Park is really a community effort, says PTO President Sharon Anderson.

Sound effects were provided by staff from the University of Montevallo, make-up and staging was done by members of Shelby County Community Theatre, and businessman Wayne Beatty designed sets and choreographed the scenes. UM fraternity Alpha Tau Omega and Chi Omega sorority also helped with the scenes.

Anderson says other help came from parents, teachers and businessmen who contributed services, money or materials toward making the project a success. Proceeds from the PTO sponsored project will be divided among the community's three schools.

The Horror House will be open 7-10 through Halloween night. Admission is $2 per person or $1.50 for groups and refreshments are available.

Budget

children from the weather.

Glasscox said that both projects will be taken care of, but will cost less if bid separately. Even with the deductions, Glasscox said the project is running $200,000 over the estimated cost.

The majority of the revenue to fund this year's budget comes from the state - 57.4 percent. Next in line is the sale of bonds and warrants, which accounts for 16 percent, followed by 14.5 percent from local funding. Federal revenue accounts for 6.1 percent and 6 percent is from all other sources.

Instructional services, which amounts to 76.5 percent of the budget pie, is the board's biggest expense. Maintenance accounts for 9.2 percent, 5.9 percent goes for transportation and auxiliary services, 3.7 percent for debt service and other service charges, 3.4 percent for general administration and 1.3 percent for fixed charges. In two actions taken at the meeting, the board approved the expenditure of more than $16,000.

Because of a potentially dangerous situation with the wiring at Thompson Middle School, the board agreed to spend $8,225 to correct the situation.

Glasscox said the addition of new lunchroom equipment and other electrical appliances was overloading the circuits, causing breaker switches to keep going off.

The board also voted to purchase 11 portable science cabinets for elementary school students from Hammill and Associates at a cost of $8,063.

Although the firm was not the low bidder, it was awarded the contract because it met all the specifications which included locks on the cabinets.

Energy aid is available

Applications for low income home energy assistance are now being taken by the Eleventh Area of Alabama OAC.

Eligibility requirements are a monthly income not to exceed $546 for one person; $734 for two people; $921 for three people; $1,109 for a family of four.

Applicants cannot be residents of a public housing project and when application is made, a copy of a recent heating bill must be furnished to show whose name the account is in and the account number. Verification of income must also be provided.

For an appointment, call 669-7712.

Ward found innocent

A Riverchase man who was accused of fondling a nine-year-old girl while on a swimming trip last year, has been found innocent of the charges.

A Jefferson County jury last week found Gene Ward not guilty of sexual abuse after deliberating for about an hour.

At the time of the alleged incident, Ward had been chaperoning a group of youngsters from a Pelham day care center run by his wife.

County okays health authority

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The Shelby County Commission approved the incorporation of a Health Care Authority that can issue bonds to finance the construction of a clinic to treat adolescents with chemical dependencies.

The authority's board members will be Columbiana Mayor Buck Falkner, Pelham City Engineer Paul Yeager and Ronald R. Kilgo.

The authority was incorporated at the request of Alston Ray, an attorney for the company wanting to build the chemical dependency clinic.

The incorporation makes it possible for the authority to arrange financing for the approximate $5 million needed to finance the 20-acre, 38 thousand square feet, 80-bed facility, Ray said.

Under the plan, the board will issue bonds and lease the property to FloWarr Management, Inc. to operate the clinic.

The bonds will be payable from the revenue of the project. Neither the county nor the authority would have a financial obligation, Ray said. After the debt is paid, the company has an option to purchase the property. The arrangement simply "allows them to get cheaper money," Ray said.

The clinic, expected to begin construction around the first of the year and take 18 months to complete, will be near Pelham.

Folmar to speak at Republican kick-off

Montgomery Mayor Emory Folmar, chairman of the Alabama Republican Party, will be guest speaker at the kick-off meeting of Shelby County's 1986 Republican campaign.

Folmar will present the 1986 Republican "plan for victory" at the meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Pelham City Hall Tuesday, Nov. 12.

"I am excited about all the interest from prospective candidates and Republicans throughout the county," said David Bradley, chairman of the Shelby County GOP. "The Republicans will offer another group of top quality men and women as candidates to the voters for the 1986 Republican primary election."

"We are expecting a large turnout at this meeting, and I am sure there will be some surprises including announcements from more disenchanted Democrats who join the ranks of the Republican Party," said Karen Gardner, publicity director for the Shelby County GOP.

Principal participants in the company are George B. Warren Sr. and George B. Warren Jr., Marion accountants. The elder Warren was administrator of the Perry County Hospital for about 30 years, Ray said.

The company has a similar facility for adults under construction in Autauga County, Ray said. Others are planned for Baldwin County and for the Tennessee Valley area, he said.

The commission also approved a $459,950 loan from SouthTrust Bank for financing of the AgriCenter. The 5.97 percent interest loan was taken for one year and will be repaid from the general fund, said Commission Administrator-Clerk Myra Davis.

Bid openings for masonry, ready-mix concrete and structural steel for the AgriCenter, originally scheduled for last Monday, were delayed until Nov. 1 at 11 a.m.

In other business, the commission:

- denied a liquor license to the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5963, citing neighborhood opposition;

- approved an application for a class A liquor license for both on and off-premises sale to The Beverage Place, to be located in Inverness Plaza at the intersection of Valleydale Road and Highway 280;

- moved its Nov. 11 meeting to Nov. 12 at 9 a.m. because of Veteran's Day;

For zoning change

Field Stone case to be reheard

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

The Shelby County Planning Commission agreed last Monday to reconsider a decision made in August to change the zoning in Field Stone from R-1 to R-2.

After listening to residents of the area surrounding the subdivision off Caldwell Mill Road, commissioners were convinced all of the facts pertinent to the case had not been brought out when the vote to rezone was taken.

R-2 zoning requires a half acre lot size, whereas the surrounding R-1 zoning has a minimum one acre requirement.

Residents argued the increased density would decrease their property values, intensify the existing drainage problems and perhaps set a precedent for breaking up R-1 zoning.

There was also a complaint from one resident whose property was contiguous to the subdivision, that he had not received notification of the hearing as other property owners had.

Since the zoning case is still undecided, a hearing on whether to approve the preliminary plat on the 56-acre subdivision was continued.

Field Stone developer Dick Baker and engineer Larry Weygand said they are addressing drainage problems with the proposal to construct water detention ponds, which are a new concept for this county.

The ponds are designed to hold runoff water until it has time to soak into the ground.

County Engineer Gary Ray said he approves the design plans that have been submitted by Weygand.

Questioned about whose responsibility the upkeep of the ponds would be, Weygand said the developer will bear the total cost.

A hearing for changing the zoning back to its original R-1 was set for Nov. 18. A hearing will also be held on that date to consider proposed changes in subdivision regulations which would allow family members to divide a family estate without planning commission approval.

Action taken at the Monday meeting included approving the final plat for Pineywood Forest subdivision and rezoning 18 acres north of the Cahaba River from agricultural to R-5 - multiple dwelling district.

During the discussion of the rezoning request made by developer Randall Thompson, it was agreed to ask the county commission to do an economic analysis of the area.

Commissioners wondered if services cost more than the taxes derived from the area.

Before giving approval for the final plat of Pineywood Forest, the commission had developer Steve Chambers remove two lots which did not comply with R-1 zoning from the proposed 12-lot subdivision.

Because Chambers had agreed to spend $8,000 on improvements to Piney Wood Road, the Shelby County Commission passed a resolution asking for the planning commission to approve the plat so work could commence.

The county engineer said he hopes to start the work in November and have it completed during the first part of December. Flagmen will be used on the road while the work is in progress.

Chambers agreed to start no more than two homes in November and two in December.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

Memories still fresh

This is how it started: Bill Wharton called me from Texas and told me Ike Wharton was living at Fair Haven Methodist Home in Birmingham. I called Ike to make a date to go out there and he told me Marvin Archer lived there also. Since Marvin was in Dothan and wouldn't be back for 10 days, we decided to make a later date.

Bill and Ike grew up in Four Mile and Marvin Archer grew up in Westover. Today, in the mail, I got a letter from Leon Archer, Marvin's brother, who also grew up in Westover.

Before it's all over, I'll go over and see Ike and Marvin and read and answer Leon's letter. A lot of yesterdays will come back and we'll remember them. You see, we're old rats in the barn at Alma's Place.

A barn that has been redone a dozen times, one way or another, since we were there. But it's still the same place. The girls are still pretty and the days are still sunny and the boys play football and baseball and basketball the same as then.

They still have homecoming and the old folks come back, a little bigger around the stomach, and they sit a little farther from their plates at the banquet. But they have a fantastic time, with big talk and laughter thick as bees on daisies.

But the ranks get a little thinner every year, this one and that one slipping away, while the years keep piling up. But the memories are still fresh, and time slows down for just a little while, so those who are left can remember over and over.

And suddenly, there is a guy named Bill Wharton and another named Ike Wharton and another named Marvin Archer and another named Leon Archer and another named Skillet Bird, and the memories will be fresh again and time will slow down for a little moment while we remember and remember and remember.

The weekly Good Morning column, written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member FDIC.

Political savvy pays off

When it comes to organizing a political campaign, nobody does it better than the Wallace folks. They've been doing it for years, and history suggests they've done it successfully.

This expertise was brought into sharp focus 10 days ago when the Alabama Young Democrats met in convention in Montgomery. One of the highlights of this session was to be a straw poll among the delegates to determine who were the favorite candidates for the various state offices in next year's primary election.

Whether Wallace was aware of what was going on is not known—he was still in the Orient—but some of his young staffers concluded that it was important that Wallace win the poll. Some of them, understandably, very much want Wallace to run for another term next year. If he doesn't, some of these young men will be out of a job.

With that as their motivation, they set about to lock up the vote for Wallace. They did it impressively. When the votes were counted, Wallace had lapped the field. He got 55 percent of the vote, more than double the runnerup, Bill Baxley.

How did it happen? Organization. During the week before the convention some of the Wallace people organized new Young Democrat chapters at several two-year colleges, and carefully screened the new members. If you weren't a Wallace crony, to use the governor's word, you didn't qualify. These new chapters, of course, had votes at the convention.

Even more interesting was what happened in Montgomery. Early Friday evening, only hours before the Saturday convention, an employee of the Governor's Office showed up at the Montgomery Young Democrat headquarters with a check for $1,000—membership dues for 100 new members. Again, you can be sure that there wasn't a Baxley/Graddick/James/McMillan supporter in the crowd. The following day the Montgomery chapter, which was assigned 17 votes in the poll, went 14-3 for Wallace.

Thanks to all this effort, and no little expense, when Gov. Wallace arrived back in Montgomery a few hours after the poll he was greeted with the news that he had won an overwhelming victory.

The moral of this little drama: You've got to get up early to get ahead of Wallace folks.

Editorial said out of line

Letter to the Editor:

I normally feel that writing to your paper about what has been published is a waste of time, but your edition of October 24, 1985, was so out of line that I feel compelled to write.

I will not dignify Lou Workman's rantings and ravings by an answer, but I would like to note that your paper seems to have an inordinate amount of space available for him. Surely there are other frustrated novelists in Shelby County looking for a free publication.

Your editorial really does your readers a disservice as it is misleading and shows no investigative depth into reality. Perhaps this is all you are capable of so my specific comment may or may not mean anything to you.

1. You say expenditures exceeded revenues by $1.5 million while your paper's story on Page 1 says the difference is $900,000 to $1,000,000. Perhaps $500,000 doesn't mean anything to you, but it does to us.

2. The Commission, at the end of our budget considerations on Thursday, Oct. 17, voted verbally 4-1 in favor of the budget. Apparently you made no effort to call Chairman Snowden or Commissioner Davenport to check on this, preferring to sensationalize by leading the public to believe that two commissioners only decided on the budget.

3. The information required by law from the Tax Assessor was late, inaccurate and not properly certified to the commission. Perhaps even your paper can follow that up to determine why the budget was delayed.

4. The budget of Shelby County has grown from $6,899,000 in FY 82-83; $8,049,000 in FY 83-84; and $9,027,000 in FY 84-85 to its present level of $10,300,000. Four of the present five commissioners developed this growth and took the surplus from 0 to $1.5 million dollars at the same time. Isn't it strange that you never took note of this accomplishment but are so quick to criticize these same four people using some (not all) of the surplus they created to solve a problem which we feel is of one year's duration.

5. There is no question as to whether I am right or wrong on the ad valorem issue, the question is how much money is missing. That really ought to be your story.

Jim, don't the people of Shelby County deserve more in the form of accuracy and facts from you before you sound off like some other frustrated letter writer about an issue this important?

Commissioner
John W. Ames

Rushton commended for stand

Letter to the Editor:

I may be but one small voice in the county, however, I believe others may join me and become a large loud voice.

I'm speaking of the vote of the county commissioners who approved the budget that exceeds expected revenues by $1.5 million. I wholeheartedly agree with Commissioner Gregg Rushton in that we should not spend what we do not know we have. If these funds do become available, then we should decide how to spend them.

Commissioner Ames believes there has been "a glaring error in the expected ad valorem taxes." If he is wrong, where does he plan to get the extra money? I would think it much wiser to spend only the funds we are sure of having.

I believe that we should all write the commissioners and let them know that we stand behind Commissioner Rushton's lone dissenting vote and that they should reconsider their irresponsible vote.

Mr. Rushton is to be commended for pointing out such poor judgement by his fellow commissioners. I, for one, will stand behind his one lone vote.

Columbiana Council resembles soap opera

Letter to the Editor:

The fall listening and watching season approaches and Columbiana City Council's soap opera: "As The Flume Flounders" seems to be in limbo, possibly waiting for a political replacement. It seems to me there are still a number of unanswered questions from this long running summer series. Perhaps the star of the show should elucidate. I wish to state at this letter's outset, or apologize to Big B Drugstore if need be; I see them as a giant conglomerate caught in the middle of a small town enigma.

1. Is Big B a "business" or is it "industrial development"? There is a vast difference.

"Business" is the buying and selling of commodities and services and connotes a profit motive. "Industry" is the production and manufacturing of goods and commodities. (Should be controlled locally by a duly appointed industrial development board).

The attorney general opinion says, "according to state law, a municipality may spend money for the promotion of industry within the municipality." According to the mayor's interpretation, in view of this, we could help Big B start a store in Alabaster, Calera, Wilsonville or anywhere else within 15 miles as long as it is in the county.

2. The city attorney stated succinctly on 2 July, "Legally, a city can't spend city's funds for the benefit of a private corporation or individual, and that is the way it is." Why do we (the city) pay a retainer for his legal expertise, if we are not willing to respect his rulings?

3. If the contractor had to have the pipes as early as June, or he could not proceed, why were they not buried until August 23, after the store was already built?

4. Councilman Owen stated 2 July, "the city has helped area businesses in the past, and I'm not against helping Big B..." Does Owen understand the pipe was not helping Big B? It appears it was helping a private contractor! Maybe the mayor and the two council members who voted to pay for these pipes would be agreeable to listing the business helped in the past and the dollar amount in each case. I think city taxpayers would be interested in the devious ways their money in spent; I know I would.

5. Why was the matter never brought to the council's attention, until it was "after the fact"?

The 'pipe deal' (sic) was consummated in plenty of time to make a regularly scheduled council meeting; or, the law makes provision for calling a special meeting. As a matter of fact, when the subject was broached on 2 July, that date was not a regular meeting night (not a first or third Thursday)! A 4 July article in the Shelby County Reporter (SCR), quoted Austin Johnson, the contractor, saying "construction on the Columbiana store began about seven weeks ago" - (makes it 16 May).

6. 11 July, SCR, quotes the mayor saying: "it cost him $2,000 in commission." At 10 percent on commercial property his commission could have been $7,500 but probably wound down to about $5,900. Did that cost him $2,000, or was he counting some $1,600 chickens that had not hatched?

7. 11 July, SCR: How can a council person work for the mayor "for as low a price as he could", since he is also a member of the governing body? Was there a conflict of interest here? Aren't bids usually the low figure a contractor thinks he can do the work for? Why wasn't the excavating sub-contracted for bids? Has the competitive bid law been "grand-fathered" in favor of something more covert?

8. 9 September, Birmingham News: I seriously question whether or not the mayor's signature on a purchase order obligates the city in any way, unless, of course, the purchase order has been properly and timely presented for consideration of or by the governing body. It seems like it would have to be an extreme emergency or a very grave situation if handled otherwise.

9. 5 September, SCR: Big B shows sales rose 20.2 percent for the 26 week period to $83,284,000 from $69,277,000 in the previous year. Big B Discount Drug Stores operates 113 Big B stores in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi and Tennessee and is opening 20 drug stores in this fiscal year. If the pipe was their problem, it does not strike me they would shy away from Columbiana for such a small item.

10. September 12, SCR: The mayor said he was not going to pay for the pipe- "I'm going to let Sherman Pipe take action. They can sue the city and if the city wants to sue me, that's O.K." I feel like my family and I, and many other similar groups live, pay taxes, and use facilities of the community and are part of the city.

Pray tell what have we done that we should be sued by Sherman Pipe?

Shelby FD thanks supporters

TEMPUS FUGITS

Now, after the council meeting of October 10, it appears we have the fall replacement for the "summer soap."

"Whose House Is This?" or "Guess Where I Live?" could become equally as exasperating. It appears the people of Columbiana will now have a second court invited to try to determine where council person McCord lives. It used to "take a heap of living in a house to make a home;" now it seems a night or two on the davenport each week is the only requirement. It will be a couple of weeks before the next episode!

Hang in there.....

SMC

first two weeks of November.

Ames agreed that the financial condition of SMC has created confusion.

"It's the sort of a situation where the more you find out, the less you figure you know," he said.

At Monday's commission meeting, Ames made public the August year-to-date statement of revenues and expenses of SMC. He compared these to figures for the month of September and raised several questions.

Although SMC showed a $522,970 loss from operations for the year up to August, a $268,412 gain was reported for the month of September alone.

Another change Ames cited was a large increase in the deducted cost for charity patients, from $201,351 for the month of August to $1,032,553 for the month of September alone. The year-to-date figure for charity costs in August was only $389,846.

He also noted that while $147,376 was deducted in August for uncollectable debt, $452,964 was credited in September.

"I'm not saying it's wrong; it just looks odd," Ames said. Several changes in September "all come in one month after our calling for an election," he said.

Heartsill said the reason for the differences is a normal accounting procedure of year-end adjusting. The September statements for the last three or four years reflect similar year-end adjustments, he said.

The total adjustment for last year was around $650,000, he said.

One such adjustment was including Medicare capital pass through payments in the contractual adjustment column for September. Deductions for contractual adjustments changed from $682,766 in August to $137,931 in September.

Heartsill explained that the Medicare pass through payments — of which one-twelfth was credited to the September figure for contractual adjustment — reimburse the hospital for fixed expenses such as the depreciation of the building. The federal government separated reimbursement for such expenses from the reimbursement for treatment of Medicare patients, which is based on fixed payments for certain illnesses.

In adjusting the September statement, the ratio of Medicare patients was compared to the total number of patients. The reimbursement of pass through payments had not been included in the revenue statements before September, Heartsill said.

Auditors will apply the adjustments throughout the year. That application should make the $254,793 year-to-date loss from operations in September a gain of about $400,000, Heartsill said.

Auditors will make various positive and negative adjustments, Heartsill said, including moving bankruptcies from the uncollectable debt column to the charity column, putting unpaid Medicaid bills in the charity column.

Heartsill emphasized efforts to cut expenses, citing a decrease in wages and salaries from $9,623,211 in 1984 to $8,061,830 in 1985, accomplished largely by two lay-offs. Supplies and other expenses were reduced from $8,850,909 in 1984 to $8,117,702 in 1985.

Expenses for ambulance subsidy were cut from $137,310 in 1984 to $94,091 in 1985. The change from operating an obstetrics department to paying Caraway Methodist Medical Center for deliveries of babies of indigent mothers was also cited as a saving.

Although unaudited figures show a $254,793 loss from operation, Heartsill said the excess revenue over expenses may be a more accurate reflection of hospital finances. The gain or loss from operations figure includes an expense for interest on bonds, but that expense is not paid from operations, he said.

The $1,243,680 for interest was part of a total operating expense of $18,949,630 for year-to-date in September 1985. The payment of that interest comes from the ad valorem tax receipts, which were $1255,825 for 1985. Heartsill stressed that the four-mill tax is used only for payment of bonds and that any extra money is set aside for that purpose.

Heartsill also noted that the depreciation expense, included in the operating expenses, is not a cash outlay expense. Combined with the interest expense, this makes 77.5 percent of operating expenses that are not cash outlay expenses, he said.

The excess revenue over expenses includes patient service revenues; deductions such as bad debt and indigent care; operating expenses such as salaries, supplies, depreciation and interest; the four-mill tax, interest income and disposal of assets for a total of $1,461,153 at the end of September.

All figures for 1985 are unaudited. SMC financial statements are audited each year by an independent firm and the audits are approved by the state Examiner of Public Accounts. An audit by Ernst & Whinney will be completed the third week of November and presented at the Nov. 26 SMC board meeting.

Halloween Safety Tips

1. Always Walk With Friends Or Adults
2. Carry A Flashlight With You
3. Be Careful Crossing Streets
4. Remember to Say Thank You
5. Check Your Treats Before You Eat Them
6. Stay In Your Own Neighborhood
7. Wear White So People In Cars Can See You.

Make Halloween scary and fun

The Alabama Poison Center believes that Halloween should be scary and fun, not scary and dangerous.

But with the sinister foul play that tends to increase during the Halloween season, Halloween has indeed become a dangerous holiday. Much of the danger can be avoided by taking the following safety precautions:

Feed your children before they go out Trick or Treating. They will be less likely to snack before you have a chance to inspect their candy.

Talk to your children about the importance of not eating their candy until you have had the chance to check it.

Parents should inspect all of the "goodies". Do not allow your children to eat anything that (1) is unwrapped (2) is not in its original wrapper (3) has holes in the wrapper (4) is homemade.

Cut fruit in half to check for foreign objects like razors or needles.

Limit the Trick or Treating area to your own neighborhood. An adult should accompany all Trick or Treaters.

Leave before dark so that children will be home earlier. The darkness may add to the "spookiness" of Halloween but it also adds to the danger.

Have the children wear something light or reflective on their costumes and trick or treat bag.

If you have any questions about your Halloween outing, suspect a problem or have a poisoning emergency, call the Alabama Poison Center (open 24 hours a day, 365 days of the year) 1-800-462-0800. All services are free.

MHS Bulldogs explode to 27-0 area win

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Montevallo Bulldogs exploded to a 27-0 area win over Oak Grove Friday night; the Dogs playing, coach Richard Gilliam said, like their coaches had thought them capable of playing all year.

"We had a good week of practice beginning last Wednesday," Gilliam said, "and by Friday night the kids played an excellent game on both sides of the ball."

STATS

Montevallo	Oak Grove
14	FD 3
308	rushing 30
49	passing 42
4	turnovers 5
85	penalty yards 56

In addition to being a pleasant surprise for Bulldog coaches and fans, the game eventually held a surprise for the Bulldog team as well. After thinking that their state play-off chances died with their loss to Briarwood last week, the win over Oak Grove puts the Dogs back in the play-off picture again.

Should Montevallo beat West Blocton in its season finale Friday night, three teams would finish with a 2-1 area record. Tie-breaking factors indicate that Briarwood would win the area championship and Montevallo would place second because they beat Oak Grove in head-to-head competition.

"We had discounted the state play-offs," Gilliam said, "but if they play the rest of the season the way they played against Oak Grove I wouldn't be embarrassed to take them anywhere."

Gilliam was reluctant to pick out individual superlatives in the win.

"In a game like this, everyone did a good job," he said.

Good offensive line blocking opened holes for Charles Devinner to get his second straight 100-plus yard game, rambling for 126 yards and a touchdown.

Sean Roberts, Slade Blackwell and Demetrius Paschel also got touchdowns, while Steve Spear, Norman Payne, Charles Towner, Eric McCord and Slade Blackwell led a defense that was also keyed by a good pass rush from the down linemen.

"They were so hurt by losing the first homecoming game in many years last week," Gilliam said, "that they really regrouped to give good effort."

"We took a look at our purpose and goals as a team last week," Gilliam added, "and some very positive leadership emerged."

SCORING SUMMARY

The Bulldogs scored twice in the second period, the first touchdown coming an eight-yard run by Charles Devinner and the second on a one-yard sneak by Slade Blackwell. Blackwell added both PATs to give the Dogs a 14-0 halftime lead.

Montevallo added two scores in the fourth period on long runs by fullbacks Sean Roberts and Demetrius Paschel. Roberts covered 30 yards and Paschel 55 enroute to a 27-0 win for the Dogs.

Eagles give Alverson big win in 14-0 decision

Win is coach's 50th

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

It was not "the most important milestone in the world" to Calera Eagle coach Danny Alverson. In fact, win number 50 in his seven year career at Calera almost became a milestone around his neck.

"I wasn't sure it would ever come," Alverson said, "at least not this year."

But win number 50 did come, Friday night in a 14-0 triumph over St. Clair County. And the same circumstances that made the win hard to come by made it sweeter as well.

"This has been a bunch of kids that responded well to coaching and that had to learn a lot," Alverson said. "The hard times have made winning more fun for

Win over St. Clair sets championship tilt

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Calera Eagles are survivors.

Danny Alverson's young team survived four turnovers in their first five possessions before bouncing back to take a 14-0 win over St. Clair County.

The Eagles have also survived a difficult opening to the 1985 season and are beginning to think, Alverson said, like Eagle teams in past years have thought.

"The Eagles are on a roll," Alverson smiled and joked after the win — his 50th as an Eagle coach. "This puts the memory of a rough season behind us and people are actually beginning to think the play-offs are a possibility."

The play-offs are more than a possibility for Calera. They are a certainty if the Eagles can win their final game of the season against Brighton. That would make Calera 3-0 and area champions.

A loss in the game would leave the Eagles tied with both Chelsea and Brighton at 2-1 and Calera would not advance through the tie-breaking system, Alverson said.

Yet, Alverson said his team is thinking more about what it can do than what it can't and that is making them survivors.

Against St. Clair County, less than four minutes remained in the game when Calera first maneuvered into scoring position.

STATS

Calera		St. Clair
8	FD	10
141	rushing	109
15	passing	2
6	turnovers	2
73	penalty yards	59

After Byron White's punt was downed at the St. Clair nine yard line, the Eagle defense pushed St. Clair into a corner and forced them to kick out of the endzone.

Mark Jones returned the punt for the Eagles, rambling to the St. Clair 21 before being hauled down.

Kenny Richardson carried to a first and goal on the five on the next play, but Calera was soon hit by a 15-yard penalty. Undaunted, Jones rambled back to the six on a keeper and Steve Seay scored from that point.

"It looks like it won't be easy from this point," Alverson said, "but I think these kids are ready to accept the challenge."

Alverson was most impressed by the performance of the Eagle defense during the game as they fought through six turnovers to preserve the team's first shut-out of the year.

Offensively, Alverson tabbed the play of Mark Jones as the key, despite the fact that the senior quarterback played with a severely bruised shoulder.

"It hard to single people out," Alverson noted however. "To be fighting for the area title after losing 21 of 27 players last year is a great reflection on everyone of these kids."

Vincent heads to state as county squads conclude area, region volleyball play

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

For the first time in four years, the Vincent Lady Yellow Jackets are headed to the state volleyball tournament.

Debbie Barnes team took both area and region championship honors during play last week and will begin state tournament pool-play in Mobile on Thursday.

"These girls have really progressed and improved this year,"

Barnes said of her team after their region win over Ashville. "They had a tough year last year but most of them came back and improved more than any team I have ever coached."

There were no heroes in the Jackets region win over Ashville. "They all played well during a long, tough night of volleyball," Barnes said.

The Jackets took a 15-9 win in the first game of the best-of-five region match, then dropped the second 13-15. An equally tough 15-12 win in the third game left the Jackets playing for the match in the fourth, but Vincent had to survive several game points after being down 14-11 before coming back to win that fourth game 17-15.

Vincent advanced to the region tournament with wins over B.B. Conier and Randolph County High School in area tournament play. Eight-grader Angie Garrett keyed the Vincent wins by setting her way to tournament MVP honors. # Raiders roll to win over Edgewood

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Shelby Academy Raiders got back on the winning track last Friday with a 28-7 win on the road against Edgewood.

Though it was a game Raider coaches expected to win, at this point in time in any season, any win is a big one.

"It was good to be winning again," SA coach Dewayne Kervin said. "That beats losing every time."

The win gives the Raiders a 7-2 mark through nine games of 1985 and will be a springboard, Kervin hopes, for a good effort in the final two games of the regular season.

The Raiders must yet play Bessemer-Faith and Cosa Valley. While two region losses make Shelby's play-off chances slim, wins over their final two opponents would give the Raiders a district championship.

The Raider offense sputtered early in the Edgewood game, but Shelby defenders came up with big plays following three different turnovers deep in Shelby territory to keep Edgewood out of the endzone early in the game.

STATS		Edgewood
SA	FD	9
20	rushing	50
206	passing	101
104	turnovers	0
4	penalty yards	20

"We gave them the ball three times inside the 30," Kervin said, "but the defense did a super job to hold them out until the offense could get started."

Once the Raider offense got on track, Mike Upton and Doug Thomas led Shelby to four touchdowns before Edgewood scored on the final play of the game.

Upton rushed for 101 yards in 18 carries while Thomas passed for more than 100 and rushed for 56 yards in only six attempts to key the Shelby offense.

Defensively, Kervin would recognize no individual, saying the entire unit played very well.

Vincent Pickett added both PAT kicks.

Doug Thomas scored on a one-yard run in the third period and Ricky Shaw scored on a seven-yard jaunt in the fourth quarter to give the Raiders a 28-0 lead.

SCORING SUMMARY

Mike Upton scored two second quarter touchdowns on runs of four and 12 yards to give the Raiders a 14-0 halftime lead.

Edgewood's Bill Jones scored on a three-yard run on the games final play to make the score 28-7.

Warriors fall to McAdory

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Thompson Warriors will be playing for nothing but pride when they take the field against the Pelham Panthers this week.

For the first time in many years, a win in the Warriors' final game cannot put Thompson into the playoffs or into the area championship. A 10-7 loss to McAdory last Friday night took care of any playoff hopes Doug Wheeler's team entertained.

But pride is a lot to play for, Wheeler said, and despite their loss to McAdory, the Warriors are still a team backed by years of tradition.

"We're not playing real well right now," Wheeler said, "but I hope these kids can still respond to a challenge."

Against McAdory, Thompson fell behind early and could not put together a comeback. The problems were typical, Wheeler said, of the problems that have plagued the Warriors throughout the season.

STATS		Thompson
McAdory	FD	9
13	rushing	154
101	passing	16
135	turnovers	4
1	penalty yards	40

"When things go badly we don't stay together and regroup," Wheeler said. "If I knew what caused it, I would sure work on fixing it."

Injury problems — another factor that has haunted the Warriors throughout the season — also served to make the McAdory game more difficult.

"We were shuffling people in and out due to injuries and had some people playing at less than full speed," Wheeler said.

The Warriors are missing two-way starter Dana Washington who had knee surgery following an injury in the Oak Grove game and must now deal with injuries to Alfred Pickett and Dennis Null.

One bright spot for the Warrior coaches continues to be the hard play of Demetrius Gaiters.

SCORING SUMMARY

Carl Morgan scored on a one-yard run to give McAdory a first half lead. Darrin Jarvis added the PAT to make the halftime margin 7-0 then added a third quarter field goal to give the Jackets a 10-0 lead.

Shane Horrell scored for Thompson in the fourth quarter on a one-yard run. Randy Littleton's PAT made the score 10-7 but the Warriors could draw no closer.

Volleyball

Beverly Kelley.

For only the second time in five years, the Thompson Lady Warriors will not be in the field when state volleyball tournament play begins in Mobile this week.

After winning area championship honors last week, the Lady Warriors fell to Ramsey in their region championship match last Saturday.

"Ramsey had beaten us each of the five times we faced them this year," THS coach Lynn Rushing said. "They have gotten a lot stronger throughout the year. We have improved as well, but not to that extent."

While the loss to Ramsey was not pleasant, Rushing said her squad lost to a team that should finish among the state's leaders.

"I had officials from Birmingham tell me this was the place to be on Saturday because this would be one of the best matches in the state."

The Lady Warriors advanced to the region match-up, after beating both Homewood and Pelham to take area championship honors in tournament play last week. Susan Parvin, Lori Glasgow and Becky Wallace gained all-area honors for their play during the tournament to lead Thompson to the win.

Parvin, Rushing said, played well as the only setter in Thompson's 5-1 offensive scheme.

"She is really the quarterback and she has played well all year," Rushing said.

Pelham finished second in the area behind all-area performances from Julie McAlevy, Vivian Smith, Melody Dunaway and Darla Cowart.

The Montevallo Lady

Bulldogs claimed area championship honors by beating Briarwood in area tournament action last week.

The Lady Dogs defeated the Lady Lions 15-7, 6-15 and 15-3 in the first game of the double elimination match then handed the Lady Lions a 15-11, 12-15, 15-4 setback to win the area championship.

MHS coach Dorothy Bishop tabbed senior setter Donna Grayson's performance as the best of the tournament for the Lady Dogs.

"She is our only senior and she played well," Bishop said. "I was proud of the entire team for their efforts considering their age and lack of experience," she added. "I'm really looking forward to next year with this group."

The Lady Dogs fell to Moody in Saturday's region championship game 15-5, 17-15 and 15-3.

The Chelsea Lady Hornets finished third in their area tournament behind St. Clair County and Brighton. Shellee Burdett made the all-area team for the Lady Hornets.

Patriots claim title with 21-14 win over Pelham

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Homewood Patriots took a 21-14 win over the Pelham Panthers in Pelham Friday night. The win meant an area championship for the Pats.

The loss left Billy Tohill's Panthers in a must-win situation in Friday's season finale with Thompson if the Panthers are to combine a first-ever state playoff trip with their first-ever winning season.

While two first-half turnovers that led the first-half Homewood touchdowns were the tangible contributors to the Pelham defeat, the "first-ers" were probably equally important intangible factors.

They have been in this situation so many times," said Pelham assistant coach Kevin Crook. "Our kids haven't been in so many big games."

The turnovers made the difference," Tohill said afterward.

"We played with them but the turnovers hurt. I'm not sure our kids have won enough big games to know how to go about winning a game like this."

STATS
Pelham	Homewood
7	FD	15
92	rushing	186
50	passing	85
3	turnovers	2
10	penalty yards	15

The Panthers claimed a turnover of their own early in the third period and began a march near midfield that would eventually tie the game at 14 all. But on Homewood's next possession, the Patriots fashioned their best drive of the night to score the touchdown that would eventually be the difference.

"We just need to get used to winning these kinds of games and making the big play when we need it," Crook said. "I think the kids are still afraid something bad is going to happen instead of looking for something good."

SCORING SUMMARY

Pelham took an early lead when Norman Saia caught a five-yard TD pass from Mike Bramblett.

Homewood scored twice in the first half on short runs by Ed Thornton.

The Panthers recovered a fumble on Homewood's opening possession of the second half a drove to a tying touchdown. Tony Jeffers got the TD on a 20 yard pass from Bramblett.

Thornton's eight-yard run capped Homewood's final scoring drive of the night late in the third period leaving the final 21-14.

Billingsley blasts Chelsea in 44-0 shocker

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

It was appropriate, Chelsea coach Mike Utter thought, that the sun came up behind clouds on Monday morning.

To put it nicely, Utter said, his Hornets' game with Billingsley last week was a bad one.

"We survived it," he said, "but it wasn't fun."

The Billingsley Bears combined speed and quickness with physically strong play to take a 44-0 win over the Hornets on Chelsea's home field.

Utter said his Hornets just had a bad night and didn't play well. "They are not that much better than we are," Utter said, "but we helped them look that way."

STATS
Chelsea	Billingsley
9	FD	15
109	rushing	360
70	passing	0
4	turnovers	2
0	penalty yards	0

The Hornets must now regroup to face a Vincent team that is also rebounding from a loss before heading into state play-off competition.

"We're going on to bigger and brighter things," Utter said. "Right now we are concentrating on Vincent, then we'll see who we play the next week."

The Hornets' opponent will likely be decided at Calera rather than Chelsea. Should the Eagles win their finale with Brighton, the Eagles would be the area champions and Chelsea would probably face Marion County, the area nine champion.

Should Calera lose, Chelsea looks to be the area champion after tie-breaking factors are enforced, and the Hornets would face the winner of the Millport-Parrish game.

"It doesn't really matter who we play," Utter said. "We have to be more concerned about ourselves than about our opponents. We have to play our best."

After surrendering two straight losses, Utter is confident the Hornets can bounce back.

"Sure we're disappointed," Utter said, "but we still have a good bunch of young men. These kids can respond to a challenge. They'll get back on the right track."

Billingsley scored twice in the first period, once each in the second and third quarters and twice in the fourth quarter to take a 44-0 win. The Bears got touchdowns from Neil Greenwood, Bruce Speigner, Norman Lasiter and Melvin Parker.

CVA loses quarterback, game against Bessemer

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

To have only two letters, if is a very big word.

Coosa Valley coach John Niblett is aware of that fact, yet he still believes one big if could have made the difference in his Rebels' loss to Coosa Valley last weekend.

"If our quarterback hadn't broken his arm with eight minutes left," Niblett said, "we would have won the ballgame."

"The kids were giving all they had in that comeback."

The Rebels fell 41-28 to a visiting group of Rebels from Bessemer-Faith Academy. In addition to the rivalry always felt between the two schools, this game was emotionally charged by the fact that Bruce Breland left Coosa Valley to lead the football program at Bessemer after winning a state title with the Harpersville Rebels last season.

"The kids played with a lot of intensity," Niblett said. "I was proud of their effort. We showed a lot of class and courage coming back from being down 27-0."

The Rebels scored to cut the margin to 33-28 with eight minutes remaining in the game. CVA quarterback Tad Niblett was injured on the two-point conversion play following the TD, however. His injury, the last in a long line of CVA hurts in the last two weeks, proved to be the straw that broke the Rebels' back.

Coosa Valley lost leading rusher Kerry Shaw to a neck injury in last week's loss to Grove Hill. Robert Strickland suffered a back injury against Bessemer and Mike Payne left the game with a concussion. Niblett's injury — especially since Payne was his back-up — was hard to overcome.

When Niblett left the game, 17 completions, 332 yards and three touchdown passes went with him. The Rebs would not complete another pass on the night.

played."

Niblett hopes to have most of his wounded players back for this week's encounter with Patrician. Shaw is gone for the year, however, and Tad Niblett's status is questionable although a special cast may allow him to play.

SCORING SUMMARY

Bessemer took a quick 13-0 lead on a one-yard run by Chuck McRee and a 52-yard pass from McRee to Chris Carter.

Coosa Valley answered with a 20-yard pass from Tad Niblett to Jeff Martin to cut the margin to 13-6.

75	rushing	264

The game was not without other heroic efforts, coach Niblett said. The CVA offensive line received praise for their pass protection while Robert Strickland, Scott Thompson and Darin Robertson got praise for their pass reception efforts.

Toby Green had an interception and return that set up a CVA score and Bobby Crumpton made 14 individual tackles in the game.

"We're pleased with their effort," Niblett said. "We're not satisfied with losing but we're content with the way they

Wildcats fall to Dallas County

by K.A. Turner
Sports Editor

The Shelby County High School Wildcats won't be making a trip to the state play-offs this season. Dallas County decided the matter with a 13-7 win over the Cats last Friday night.

While SCHS coach Randle Cassidy is disappointed in not making the play-off trip, he was not disappointed in his Wildcats' efforts in the game.

STATS
NOT AVAILABLE

"They tried hard," Cassidy said. "We weren't really disappointed in the effort they gave. It just seems like the big plays you need to make this time of year just aren't falling our way."

Big plays... a 23-yard field goal try by Phillip Howell that would have given the Wildcats a lead and momentum just before the half that hit the goal post and bounced away... a Dallas County squib kick to begin the second half that hit a Shelby County man and bounced 20 yards backwards into the waiting arms of a Dallas County defender... big plays that didn't fall the Wildcats' way.

Shelby County did show improvement against a Dallas County squad whose team speed and quickness was better than Shelby County's, Cassidy said.

The coach credited Johnny Boose with good running effort behind an offensive line that was much improved over its performances over the past two weeks.

Edmund Buie and Tony Revis continued to play well for the SCHS defense as well, Cassidy noted.

SCORING SUMMARY

Johnny Boose scored Shelby County's only touchdown on a three-yard run in the third quarter. Phillip Howell added the PAT that — at that point — tied the game at 7-7.

Dallas County put together a long drive in the fourth period to win the game.

Lady Falcons finish second in tourney loaded with Division I competition

The fact that they were the only team in the field that wasn't NCAA Division I didn't seem to bother the University of Montevallo volleyball team at the Ole Miss Invitational last weekend. The fifth-ranked Lady Falcons surprised a few "big time" schools and came home from Oxford, Ms. with the second place spot.

Montevallo, reeling from a three-match losing skid, got back on the right track in the opening match of the Lady Rebel round-robin by belting Southwest Louisiana Friday afternoon 15-4, 15-6, 15-7. Friday evening saw the Lady Falcons suffer their only defeat in the tournament, 5-15, 12-15, 11-15 at the hands of Southeastern Conference power Ole Miss.

Closing out the tournament Saturday with a pair of wins left the Lady Falcons with a 40-10 record heading down the home stretch. UM belted Mississippi State 15-5, 15-6, 15-5 in the morning and closed out the invitational by slipping by the University of New Orleans 15-12, 15-7, 13-15, 15-6.

Montevallo placed a pair of players on the Ole Miss All-Tournament squad. Senior hitter Candi Nicholas added the honor to her growing list of accomplishments this season, while sophomore defensive specialist Laurie Washburn joined Nicholas on the squad. Rounding out the all-tourney team were Mary Boutee of UNO and Delores Flowers, Angela Scott and Yolanda Biebrich of Ole Miss. Biebrich was tabbed the tournament Most Valuable Player.

Nicholas also added another milestone to her already crowded list of honors since becoming a Lady Falcon. By registering 54 kills during the tournament she broke the Montevallo record for kills in a season. Nicholas now has 623 kills, 24 better than UM assistant coach Karen Kreger, who held the previous mark.

Montevallo will stay off the highway for the next two weeks. Thursday night the Lady Trojans of Troy State visit Myrick Hall in a match scheduled for 7 p.m.

Alverson

all of us."

Alverson's career record now stands at 50-22. His record at Calera is identical, because Alverson has been an Eagle all of his life.

"It is an honor for me to be able to give something back to a place that I love," Alverson said of his relationship with the school. "Working with the kids at Calera is what makes me the happiest."

Alverson began his football career as a player for the Eagles in 1967-70. He then coached six years as an assistant under Rick Cairns, the man Alverson credits for teaching him "a lot about football and a lot about life."

Seven seasons ago, Alverson took the head coaching reigns from Cairns and embarked on a coaching career that — though still young — has already included two area champions and three state play-off appearances. In 1983, his Eagles went 10-3 and finished in the semi-finals of the state playoffs, losing to eventual champion Sweetwater.

That is traditionally competitive. "I'm most proud," Alverson added, "of the young men that made it possible. They try so hard and do so much to keep our winning tradition alive."

Even better than the wins, Alverson is proud that football has provided a vehicle for six of his Eagles to go on to college.

Alverson is pleased that the milestone has been reached. It gives him a chance to look back with pride on a Calera program

Cleere: discovers hidden art talent

Cleere...focusing on simple things

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer
When you have a gift, you have to give it back.

That's the way Maylene artist Bill Cleere says he feels about his talent.

Cleere didn't even realize he had artistic talent until three years ago when his wife Ann gave him painting lessons as a birthday present.

"My paintings turned out well, and the teacher encouraged me to continue," he says.

Cleere went on to study with another well known artist and his work started winning some jury show awards. Other artists were encouraging in their appraisal of his work, Cleere says, and gallery owners began asking to show his work.

At that point, Cleere and his wife decided they had to make a decision about their future and whether he would pursue his art fulltime.

Cleere was then selling business forms, a job he'd worked at for 10 years. Before that, he had been a high school English teacher.

He quit his teaching job when his wife, also a teacher, gave up her job to start a family.

"My income just didn't stretch far enough," he says.

After a great deal of soul searching about making a career of his art, Cleere and his wife decided to take the gamble.

His painting of a lighthouse made the cover of a trade magazine the following year and the editor liked it so well he asked for another painting.

Commenting on the progress of his work once it became his sole means of support, Cleere says "You surprise yourself with how good you can get so quickly."

Cleere continues to exhibit in galleries around the country and participates in art shows such as the one Brookwood Mall last weekend.

He and eight other artists, one of whom is a sculptor, have also opened a gallery in Homewood to exhibit their work.

Although he never did a painting until three years ago, Cleere says the talent was always there.

"I think I inherited it from my father," he says. An employee of U.S. Steel, the elder Cleere drew in his spare time.

"I remember as a kid watching him sketch," Cleere, "and I'd do a little doodling myself."

When it was time to choose a career however, Cleere decided on teaching. He started at Birmingham Southern and then transferred to the University of Alabama.

His interest in art showed up in courses he took in art appreciation and art history. "I didn't get the practical application," he says, "but I did get the theory."

After graduation, Cleere taught English at Sparkman High School in Huntsville for three years, then turned to selling to boost his income.

He admits that he's a better painter than he was a salesman, and he also says the work is a lot more interesting.

Pointing to a 24x36 canvas on which the center of interest is a minnow bucket, Cleere explains, "I like to do simple things - things that people can relate to. It also makes me feel good to be able to give joy to someone else when they look at my pictures."

In talking about his method of painting, he says many of his pictures "just evolve."

"When I put on the undercolors, it creates a mood, and I go from there," he explains.

However, he says he's now trying to put more planning into his paintings.

Many of Cleere's paintings are scenes done from memory. The first painting that won a prize after he'd only been painting six months, was a scene that "reminded me of a place I'd seen on the Cahaba River."

His second painting that appeared on the cover of the trade journal, Alabama Purchaser, conveys what Cleere calls "the quiet mood of snow and the feeling of the stark reality of winter."

Sheriff's Dept. works around the clock

by Elizabeth J. Patterson
Staff Writer

The Shelby County Sheriff's Department is one of the busiest agencies in the county, providing patrols, criminal investigations, serving civil papers and operating a jail.

The department now has 24 deputies on constant patrol in the four divisions of the county. Four more deputies are to be soon added for more North Shelby coverage.

The deputies answer accident reports, complaints of domestic problems, burglarly alarms that have gone off and even missing dogs, said Sheriff Buddy Glasgow.

Upon request, deputies make extra efforts such as checking the homes of people who are out of town. Much of their time is also spent delivering subpoenas and other legal documents.

Citizens within the city limits may call the city police for help first and the police will contact the county if necessary, Glasgow said. However, he added, the department is very willing to help if needed and is open to any call for assistance. He praised the cooperation between law enforcement agencies within Shelby County.

One area where the agencies often work together is in the investigation of felonies. The county has about 400 felony reports each month, with the most common being property crimes, Glasgow said.

The department has a clearance rate of arrests in about 23 percent of the crimes reported.

Workers at the sheriff's office receive many calls for information, opinions and advice.

"If we don't know, we can find out," he said. When his office makes calls to the attorney general, district attorney and to other county offices, "it gives us a better insight to what's going on in other agencies."

Office workers also dispatch many of the volunteer fire departments, work with warrants and other legal papers to be delivered, handle accident reports and a daily blotter of complaints and other activities. Pistol permits are issued either at the office or through the mail. The jail usually holds about 70 prisoners a day with a quick turnover to the state prisons, Glasgow said. Prisoners work during the day on garbage pick-up, highway work, grass cutting, repair of community centers and other duties.

The department also offers help with neighborhood watch programs, self-defense seminars and drug education programs.

An answering machine records messages for the secret witness number, 669-9116, started about five months ago.

The office will soon have a special phone which can receive print-out messages from deaf citizens who have similar phones. About 20 deaf people in Shelby County will be served by the phone, which costs about $200.

The department has about 30 vehicles, including patrol cars, motorcycles and a helicopter.

Along with the 24 deputies, the department employs five investigators, 20 jail workers and five general office workers.

James Jones is chief deputy. Capt. Wayne Lucas and Sgt. James Mitchell are supervisors of the jail. Capt. Reed Smith is chief investigator.

Lt. Wayne Watts supervises patrol division and car maintenance. Other patrol supervisors are Sgts. Bill Davenport, Bobby Boyd, Neil Crim, Loyd Anderson and Phillip Walker.

Glasgow has been sheriff for about seven years.

County women join firm

Dianne Gilchrist, president of The Personnel Advantage, a temporary and permanent personnel service firm, announces the addition of two new staff members to the Hoover office.

Anita Collum Winslett joined the company as a personnel counselor. A native of Calera, she has worked in the Shelby County area for the past 12 years. Responsible for the development of client placement opportunities, Winslett has had previous experience as a personnel counselor.

Freida Crump also joined the firm as a personnel counselor. Previously owner of Crump's Sporting Goods of Alabaster, Crump has lived in Alabaster for the past 10 years. Crump was formerly a teacher in the Shelby County School System. At The Personnel Advantage, Crump is responsible for new business development.

"We are pleased to have such fine representation for Shelby County," Gilchrist said. "Many of our clients are from the Shelby County area and this gives us an opportunity to service our clients with professionals that many of them know."

The Personnel Advantage is located at Century Park South.

Cleere

The painting shows a large metal wash pot at the base of a tree on a snow covered landscape.

Seascapes are also a favorite subject. He remembers an art show when a customer admired a painting of a lighthouse, but wanted the face of Christ worked into the picture in a subtle way.

"I told him I'd see what I could do," Cleere says, "and when he came back I had it done and he bought it."

Working in acrylics makes it possible for him to work quickly and make such changes says the artist, who also works in water-colors.

Cleere is presently working on a seascape for his 15-year-old daughter Jennifer. "She liked it so well when I started it, I decided to do it for her."

Another picture Cleere has begun is a portrait of Jennifer and her brother David, 16, when they were children.

"It's taking a while to do," he explains, "because it's difficult getting the eyes just right."

Pleased that he's doing so well with his new career, Cleere says, "I do this better than anything I've ever done before."

And the seed was lying there dormant all the time, he says, just waiting for the right time to come to life.

Brownies, scouts play at Chelsea camp

by Bert Seaman
Staff Writer

Brownies and Girl Scouts explored Camp Kanawahala on a recent weekend as the Cahaba Valley Association held an annual Playday event.

Field executive Susan Waldrep said it was the first time for some of the 200 girls to see the camp located on old 280 near Chelsea.

Junior Girl Scouts arrived Friday and spent the night, Waldrep said, with Brownies arriving on Saturday.

Girls hiked the trails winding through the camp's wooded acres, and also had a chance to see the camp from out on the lake.

The view from the lake was provided by Marion Moss, ranger at the Girl Scout camp, who gave rides on a pontoon boat.

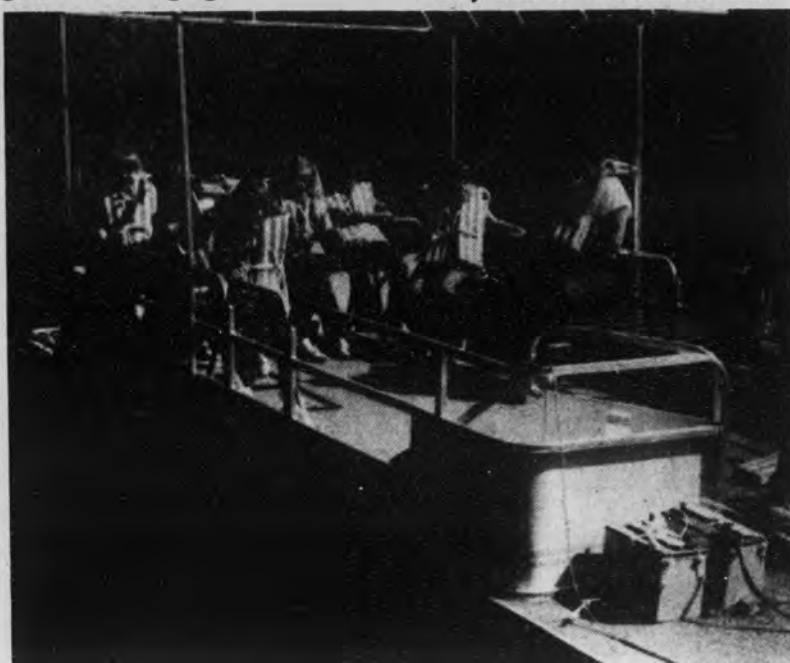

Other activities the girls engaged in during the outing, were making Halloween crafts, games and singing.

The closing ceremony Saturday afternoon included skits and a flag ceremony.

Karen Alley was director of the event which included girls from Valley Elementary School, Inverness Elementary, Helena Elementary, Our Lady of the Valley and Riverchase Middle.

UNA band performs at festival

The University of North Alabama Pride of Dixie marching band performed as the exhibition band at the seventh annual Central Alabama Marching Band Festival recently.

The UNA band's performance at Thompson High School in Alabaster was observed by an audience of 1,500, including members and directors of 11 high school bands, their parents and school officials.

Jim Harrell, president of the Thompson High School Band Boosters Association, the sponsoring organization of the festival, was very complimentary of the Pride of Dixie performance in a letter to UNA band director Edd Jones.

"The performance given by the Pride of Dixie was an inspiration to every school band member in attendance Harrell wrote.

The Pride of Dixie band has 140 members from more than seven states. Many of them attend UNA on band scholarships.

Intern program gives job experience

Shelby County's V.I.P. program provides vocational students with on the job experiences.

The Vocational Intern Program or V.I.P. has been available to eligible students for the past twelve years in Shelby County. V.I.P. is a co-op program for high school senior students who are enrolled in specialized vocational courses.

Shelby County schools offer a wide range of vocational courses such as auto mechanics and offset printing. In fact, 15 different specialized courses are taught at the Area Vocational Center in Columbiana.

The center serves 11th and 12th grade students from all seven of Shelby County's high schools. Agribusiness, Home Economics and Industrial Arts are taught in most of the high schools.

Students are placed on the V.I.P. according to their individual readiness. This readiness is determined by their vocational teacher and is based on past records of achievements, aquired skills, mature attitude and excellent attendance. A

At this time, the state delegates will participate in the business meeting and vote for a proposed change in the Association's by-laws, and elect a new president, vice president and five directors to the American Angus Association board.

The annual meeting is held in conjunction with the Annual Convention and Banquet, and the 1986 National Angus Show during the North American International Livestock Exposition.

Vocational education

DECA teaches about careers

DECA is a national student organization providing a program of activities which compliments and enriches the instructional program for students enrolled in Distributive Education.

Each D.E. teacher is expected to organize and maintain an active DECA chapter in order to provide every D.E. student with the opportunity to participate in the many learning activities offered only through participation in this student organization.

The DECA chapter at the Shelby County Area Vocational Center has 44 members. These students work a minimum of 15 hours a week in the marketing field.

The officers for the morning class are Mike Holsomback, president; Cindy Sealer, vice president; Mike Lucas, treasurer; and Tammy Davis, secretary. All are from Thompson High School.

The officers for the afternoon class are Gene Self, president; Shelby County High School;

Stephanie Milligan, vice president, Shelby County High School; Jan Foster, treasurer, Chelsea High School; and Sonya Peoples, secretary, Montevallo High School.

The DECA teacher and coordinator at the Area Vocational Center is Betty Fulton.

Each year students participate in district and state competition with other schools in the area of their chosen career fields. Winners from these contests participate on the national level.

Contests which this DECA club have been involved in, were held at Bessemer Tech, Jefferson State Jr. College and in Montgomery. Students enjoy this competition as well as the opportunity to meet students from around the state.

A fund-raising project is a must to obtain the finances to host a DECA Employee-Employer Banquet at the end of the school year which is the high light of the year. Students chose to sell M&M candies during the month of October.

On-the-job training helps special ed students

On The Job Training for Special Education students is often an effective alternative to the traditional vocational programs. This program is primarily for Junior and Senior high school students. Students are placed on jobs that are considered a realistic employment opportunity. Many students work on their own school campus while others are employed in various businesses in the Shelby-South Jefferson County area. The students are supervised by Jenny Pilgreen. Supervision includes working with each student's particular exceptionality.

Interns

suitable intern station must be available that provides further vocational training in an occupation related to the vocational course. A schedule is designed for each V.I.P. student to allow the student to attend all the required courses then leave school to do internship with an employer off campus, instead of attending the vocational course.

V.I.P. coordinators, Pryor Murphree and Linda Major, work closely with teachers, students and employers to insure that all state and local policies are met and that each student intern receives the appropriate training. Coordinators visit the employers and students regularly at their intern stations and report evaluations to the student's vocational teachers.

Many employers have been very cooperative to give eligible students real job experiences. Most of these students have full time employment after graduation as a result of the V.I.P.

Pelham police practice for emergency operations

by K.A. Turner
 Staff Writer

9:40 a.m.
 The Pelham Police Department dispatcher receives a call.
 Officer down!

9:41 a.m.
 The Pelham dispatcher calls the department's Tactical Operations Unit into action.

9:50 a.m.
 The unit — gathered at an abandoned log house near Oak Mountain State Park — has scouted the situation, found a lone officer lying beside his car in the driveway of the home and planned a rescue procedure.

9:52 a.m.
 The unit roars into action, making the rescue in less than one minute.

9:55 a.m.
 Rescue mission completed, the unit now turns its attention to the criminals inside the house.

There is no Pelham Police officer lying in a hospital, and the department is not investigating the shooting of two fugitives.

But had the practice situation encountered by the Pelham Police Department's Tact team been a real one, the officer would have been rescued and the fugitives — in this case — shot.

The PPD Tact team spent a week of intensive training recently, training designed to prepare the unit for action in any volatile or unusual situation encountered by the department.

The training is designed to relieve those situations without firing a shot, said Birmingham Police Officer Mike Morgan, the instructor in the Pelham school.

"We don't want to get anyone hurt," Morgan said, "including the bad guys."

"Sometimes," Morgan said

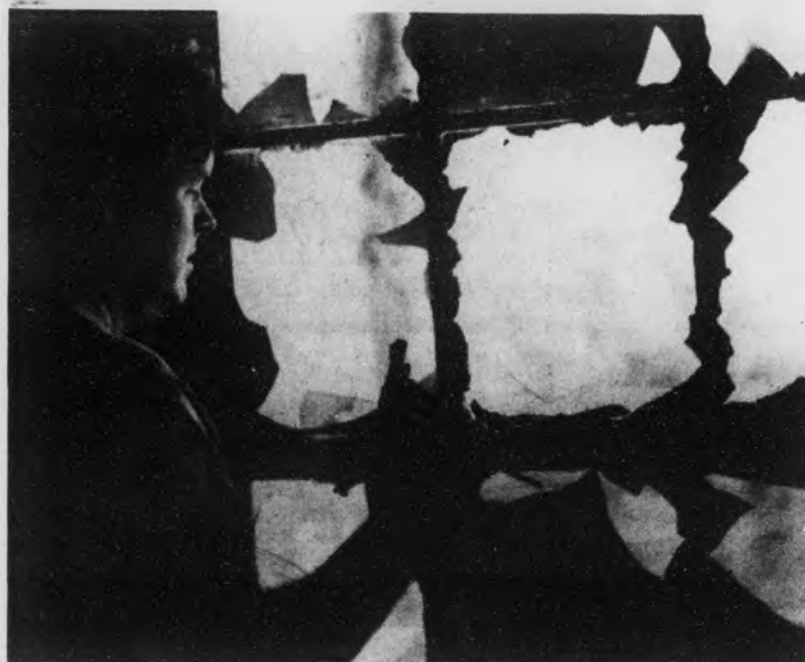

however, "the bad guys force you into shooting. That is what happened today."

"Today" was a problem situation created by Morgan and two friends from Birmingham to test the Pelham Tact team at the conclusion of their week of training.

The "bad guys" — Jay Michaels and Mike Earl — were Actress visits with students

Musical children's theatre performed at county schools

Wilsonville Elementary School students got into the act when a children's musical theatre came to their school Wednesday.

Asked for their opinion on who should marry the prince in the fairy tale East of the Sun, West of the Moon, some of the children chose the witch Gumnild. Others voted for her sister Dagmar. However, the majority of the students chose Katrina, the heroine of the tale enacted by the cast from Mobile's Children's Musical Theatre, Inc.

The production, which was also scheduled for other local schools, is sponsored by the Arts and Humanities Council of Shelby County, the Alabama

State Council on the Arts and Humanities with assistance from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The aim of the theatre is to boost the creativity of children and add to their reading skills.

Other offerings the local Arts and Humanities council plans for county schools, include two operas, a well-known mime and clown, and an art exhibit.

Anyone who would like to help the Shelby County Arts and Humanities Council in sponsoring these events, may send a contribution to Arts and Humanities Council, Post Office Box 1392, Alabaster 35007, or call Judy Trotter, 668-1262 or Ouida Bentley, 669-7471.

Tact team

allowed to use blanks as they shot from their hiding places inside the abandoned log home. The Tact Unit used no ammunition at all.

Morgan played referee and observed the unit throughout the problem situation.

His reports, while it contained the "shooting" of the two bad guys, was very positive.

"You can't argue with success," Morgan said, "and the unit was able to successfully diffuse the situation."

The bad guys were shot, Morgan said, because their erratic actions left no choice. When "bad guy" Jay Michaels, a WZZK DJ, started shooting at the police, they pretended to shoot back.

"You can't believe how involved you get in this until you do it," Michaels said. "It really scares you because it gets so quiet and you know they are planning something. Your mind runs rampant."

The Pelham officers became equally involved.

"After going through a week of hard training, it becomes real," said Sergeant Mark Delk, the unit's leader.

The problem situation encountered by the team culminated a 40-hour advanced course designed specifically for tactical squads. Topics covered included team movement, hostage negotiation, mental awareness and field problems. In addition, the officers involved also did some weapon firing and movement in stress situations.

The school — attended by the six members of the Pelham Tactical Operations Unit and three other officers from the Birmingham area — is the second such school for the Pelham unit. The team was organized and initially schooled in 1983, and Delk said has been used in two problem situations since its inception.

While its exclusive uses are infrequent, having a trained tact unit is like "having money in the bank," Morgan said.

"It provides insurance against improper reactions to bad situations in the future," Morgan said, "and makes them better police officers every day."

Joining Delk on the Pelham tact team are patrolmen Virgil P. Rice, R.S. Sasser, William R. Pinson, Timothy E. Gray and Bill Gray. While none of the members serve together on a specific shift, all wear beepers to keep them available on short notice and the team trains together six to eight hours monthly.

Pelham Patrolman Mark Hall acts as a negotiator for the unit as well and negotiated the culminating problem situation after posing as the fallen officer.

Sergeants Paul Bonnacarrere of Hoover and Richard Vogan of Fairfield and Patrolman Russell Black of Birmingham also participated in the course.

"I've done this kind of training all over the southeast," Morgan said, "and this is one of the most professional departments I have worked with. This community will benefit from what they have gone through."

UM water system one of state's best

UM water workers

The University of Montevallo's plumbing crew shows off the spoils of its labor. UM's water system won second place among systems in Alabama serving less than 3,000 customers. Pictured with the award are Jerry Thompson of Pea Ridge, plumber's helper; Roy Ross of Pea Ridge, plumber and Carl Beasley of Jemison, water superintendent.

competition for the first time, UM was the only university to compete against small towns throughout Alabama.

"We missed first place by half a point," said Carl Beasley, water superintendent. The town of Rainsville in DeKalb County placed first.

"We're the only university that I know of which has its own water system," Beasley said, "so we are in a completely different situation from the people we were competing against."

A major factor in UM's success was a 30 million gallon, or one-third, cut in water consumption over the past 10 years. Despite the fact that there are more people using the system, the university's water usage has dropped from 116 million gallons a year to less than 80 million gallons.

Beasley's plumbing system improved the system by changing deteriorated pipes, stopping leaks and installing water-saving devices on lavatories, commodes and showers throughout the campus, doing "everything we could to stop the water from being wasted," he said.

Bats are unfairly persecuted

by Gordon M. Sears
 Special to the Reporter

Halloween is when bats get all their publicity for the year and even though they're fly-by-nights, they don't deserve the bum rap they get by being associated with witches and goblins and Count Dracula.

The facts about bats are 180 degrees off what most folks think they are. They are among earth's most beneficial animals and, far from being creepy, they're gentle, intelligent, clean and more than willing to mind their own business—which is more than can be said for many others.

Bats are the major predators of night-flying insects and one gray bat, which sadly is endangered, will catch up to 3,000 insects in a single night. There's one colony of free-tailed bats in Texas that does away with more than 250,000 pounds of insects in one night—and the colony isn't nearly as big as it was just a few years ago because misguided humans have harassed the bats.

These and many other facts of bat life are in a colorful booklet, "The Most Famous Bat in the World," being distributed free by Bacardi Imports, Inc. The Bacardi companies are among bat's best friends because a registered trademark of Bacardi rum is a bat.

For example, the booklet points out, bats are not blind but have very good vision. They are more closely related to humans than to mice and, unlike mice, most have only one baby per year. Insect-eating bats have very sophisticated echo-locating (sonar) systems and will definitely not get entangled in one's hair. And, finally, bats are not all rabid. In fact, very few bats contract rabies and, unlike other animals, they don't get aggressive when they do; they just die.

Most Americans are completely unaware of how much they owe to bats, completely apart from their de-bugging abilities.

Many bats have no more taste for insects than you do. They prefer fruit or nectar or something else—even frogs.

So, if it weren't for bats' work in pollinating plants or dispersing seeds we'd have no bananas, peaches, cashews, chewing gum, tequila, kapok, rope or durian fruit. And probably we'd have no rain forests, and rain forests have a very direct effect on the whole world's climate.

If you want to know more about bats or want to have a bat house in your yard or just want an attractive booklet to read, contact Bacardi Imports, Inc., Bat Booklet, 7475 NW 7th Street, Miami, Fla. 33126.
